The fire broke out in the southwest angle of the building, the worst place it could occur, as it was that point which the high wind of the morning struck, and swept over the entire surface of the speculative fire. The burning of a stove-pipe in the Crown Treasurer's office was the origin. The fires were usually lit in the morning by the care-taker a couple of hours before the county officials arrived. The caretaker visited the rooms occasionally to see that the fires were burning properly, a very necessary precaution on his part with the wood stoves held still in favor by the County Councillors. To-day the usual routine was adopted, and the accident occurring between the visits of the caretaker and before the Treasurer arrived the flames gained a headway which at their discovery already sufficiently told of the doom of the whole building. Individual exertion was quite useless; and nothing could be saved out of the office, while that of the County Clerk's opposite had peremptorily to be abandoned to its fate, on account of the thick volume of smoke driven from the Treasurer's room. While the alarm spread like a flash of lightning inside the building, the situation was made plain to passers by, and the city fire brigade received a prompt notification. The sound of the city bells was wafted back as a solemn intimation that help—unequal and futile, yet help for all that—was near at hand. The Merryweather steam engine was brought up very quickly, ready for service.

SAVING THE PROPERTY.

Meanwhile efforts were made to save the documents. The County account books and records are contained in the safes of the Treasurer and Clerk, and as there is little confidence in their fire proof qualities under such a trial, it is feared that they are lost—a loss only second to that of the building itself. Debentures, money and other valuables have gone with them. The first attentions were directed towards the Registry Office, where deeds and records of the public's property were kept. These were all removed in safety, in advance of the flames, which spent most of their energies in their upward flight to the Division Court Room and County Council Chamber. Mr. Rose, the Registrar, had the deeds removed to a safe place, and the numbers of persons whose anxieties were aroused by the danger to their titles may rest in tranquility it not satisfaction. Sheriff Ferguson was able to remove the public books, papers and records from the safes, but his private books he left a prey to the flames. The Clerk of the Crown, Mr. P. O'Reilly, secured the writs registered with him, and the records of the past forty years. Mr. Ben Clark, [illegible] and whatever was valuable in the Judge's Chambers, together with the furniture of the caretaker, Mr. Ashley, was removed in safety. The offices in the northern ends were almost a shabby wreck before the fire reached them. One removal excited alarm. Some large boxes of Government documents, which should never have been in the building were taken out during the fire, supplied [illegible] they by the aid of a lively spark, on the ground in a line with the wind and the flames.

THE FIRE BRIGADE.

The steam engine [illegible] up very soon, the hose was quickly laid, the water turned on speedily—all that the brigade could do was done with celerity. But the supply of water was restricted to one Hydrant, that on Barrie street, near St. James' Church; and one poor stream could alone be supplied, though the engine was in trim for two more branches. In less than an hour, too, this hydrant had to be abandoned for one much more distant, on Bagot street near the Public [illegible] and ample, was laid in all directions, and the one stream was put in constant service. But the effect on the fire was not perceptible to the least. It very soon enveloped the whole west end, and the Division Court room became a seething caldron of flames. The flames could be seen making sure progress to the dome, and a fresh lament came forth as first the black smoke and then the fiery forked flame shot up from its handsome sides. Then all hope of saving even a hair of the building perished.

THE DOME FALLS.

The fire seemed to gain fresh vigor as it caught the woodwork of the interior of the dome, and it raged furiously, shooting the flames far up into the air. The flagstaff for a long time seemed to defy the devouring element, but at last it fell a helpless victim, and soon in one mass what was left of the dome fell also. It dropped down almost, it might be said, prettily, and gracefully at least. The heart entertained of a destruction of the beautiful [illegible] by conversion of the fine cupola work into this dirgelike.

THE PROGRESS.

In less than two hours from the outbreak the flames invaded the east wing, with its fine offices and worst of all its spacious Queen's Bench room, with jury, judge's and council rooms adjoining. The firemen still [illegible] and manfully, but had an elephant on their hands. It was utterly out of their power to control in any way. The destruction went on with steady strides until after one o'clock, and then the Court House was a smouldering ruin, and but a small crowd was left to view it, [illegible] as all must have been with the exception of the [illegible] agents, and those of the spectacle.

PRESENT APPEARANCES.

The four walls, which were built in the days of thorough contract work and liberal building estimates, stand solid and complete, and as we have said, perfect in front. The portico, a costly work, is quite uninjured. But the back wall has been badly used. For even this much being spared a never generous county has reason to be thankful. The sorrows to-day over the loss were not for the destruction of the property alone, but partly because it was felt that the county would never replace it.

THE ACTUAL LOSS.

The building cost £25,000—$100,000—in conjunction with the [illegible] in the days of cheap material and cheaper labor. Even at this figure it ruined the contractors. As it stood this morning before a second-hand stove pipe used it up, it was worth $150,000 in itself. The County Council showed the want of capacity for the charge of such a building, not in the absence of proper water hose alone. The actual knowledge so far (and the inquiries have been most diligent) about the insurance to reach only $15,000, $5,000 each in the Western, Imperial Risk and B. A. companies. This [illegible] the pitch dark one.

THE OUTLOOK.

The Division Court which was opened yesterday, had to have adjourned to-day, but of course been adjourned indefinitely. The City Hall, or some other public room, will have to be engaged for the Assizes next week, and the county offices will to-morrow probably be located about the city. A special session of the county council will be called contingent the government granted. But one of the features was present at the fire, as they live a distance from town.

When a girl crops her front hair and wears it down over her forehead in a Mexican Mustang, and then ties a piece of red ribbon around her neck, we can wonder at the number of pale-faced young men that throw away their ambition and pass sleepless nights in trying to raise down on their upper lip?

Jarves the art writer, pronounces tobacco the active agent in the decline of fine manhood in Europe. The supreme test of the virtues of the eight in the days of chivalry, which was the highest ideal of fine manners, was his self-denial and desire to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WATER WORKS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir, I mann trouble ye again
Tae let ye ken the ratepayers free,
Some men's got water on the brain
And wisdom lack.
If ye've o'er mon sense a grain,
Ye'll keep them back.

Or they will swell ye'r easement bill.
The toons prosperity they'll kill:
Their water works, the truth tae tell
Is just a fob,
Some ye wid think the toon wid sell
The get a job.

But burnt bairns dread the fire.
So let them an' their schemes retire:
There's water tae ye'r heart's desire
Within the toon.
Folk that is wet an' cold as higher
A'e trimble doon.

AU BON MARCHE.

Au Bon Marche, or The Place of Bargains, is the unpretending title borne by the largest, gayest, and most famous of all the many shops of Paris. Everybody knows it.

Stroll an immense, dazzling, shifting world as it is! Miles of counters stretch off in every direction, like the rays off a star fish. Thousands of people are walking about, yet the place does not seem crowded. Tempting things confront you at every turn, all ticketed in plain figures; all cheap, or seeming so to American eyes, which do not readily take in such marvels as good four-buttoned kid gloves for a dollar, or full-trimmed black silk petticoats for fourteen. The number and variety of articles are almost incredible. Provision is there for every human want. Adam and Eve, fresh from Eden, could enter by one door, and at an hour's end walk forth from another, completely equipped from head to foot, from stockings to umbrella. Next day if so minded, they could return and exchange all these purchases for others. Even if Eve's dress has been cut, even if it has been fitted for her, it will make no difference. The privilege of exchange at the Bon Marche is unlimited as the privilege of purchase. Nay, Eve is instigated to change her mind, for at the top of her bill she will find this printed notice: "M. Aristide Boucricault trusts that all ladies making purchases at his establishment will feel entirely at liberty to bring them back if for any reason they desire to do so, receiving at their option other goods in return, or their money." And unless Eve has a stronger mind than some of her daughters she will not disdain now and then to avail herself of this extraordinary privilege.

But the distinguishing feature of the Bon Marche, the point which it exceeds similar shops, is not this privilege of exchange, is not even the exquisite and accurate fairness of its every transition, which will compass sea and land to rectify a mistake of ten sous in an account, but the unvarying cheerfulness, readiness and good humor of its employees. Politeness, urgency, and good humor which never seems to fail, however, taxed. Never once have I observed in a clerk of the Bon Marche that sudden change from "gay to glum, from lively to severe," which in other shops falls and envelopes you like a pall as soon as you announce your decision not to buy.

Commenting on this fact to a resident of Paris, I was told that the system pursued by the Bon Marche toward its employees was new and unique, different, from that of other establishments of the same class.

"Get less: to see it if you can," advised my friend. "It is a good deal talked of just now among the philanthropists of Paris. You will be interested."

So I asked for leave, addressing myself to a dignified, grey haired chef de rayon, or manager of a division, we should say at home. I was American and particularly pleased to hear of schemes for promoting the comfort of working people. Might I see the Bon Marche from top to bottom? Nothing could be more cordial than his reply. Certainly! He would conduct me himself. Trouble? Pardon! It would be a pleasure. And calling some one to take his place, he led the way up stairs.

First into the library. I had seen it before, but was glad to see it again. This pleasant retreat for weary shoppers is a large well-lighted room, with book-cases, easy chairs, and a long table on which lie all the leading periodicals, French, English and German. There are fine engravings and photographs, a stereoscope, and a giant kaleidoscope for the amusement of little people. The library is seldom without occupants. Old ladies and gentlemen go their to read the papers while their younger ones pursue the business of the hour. Children and nurses find a quiet corner; tired ladies steal away to consult their purses and shopping lists. And just beyond is refreshment of another kind, for an open door reveals a tiny, tasteful restaurant, with a buffet and a white spread table bearing plates of cakes and sponge biscuit. Nothing could be prettier or more elegant than this little room and its appointments. The linen and china are of the finest. A superb screne of Japanese silk painted with birds and flowers cuts of draughts. Always a hot house plant in freshest bloom ornaments the table. A footman in blue livery brings your plate and glass of red wine or orgeat. You offer a gratuity; he shakes his head: it is not permitted, he tells you. All the shopping world can come at will and refresh themselves in this dainty lower, whose madeleines and tartlets seem to renew themselves miraculously, like the widow's cruse of oil.

Large as is the Bon Marche, another year will see it larger yet. An immense addition is building. When finished, the library and restaurant will open into a fine picture-gallery, whose dome will exhibit medallions of all the great French inventors and pioneers in mechanical discovery.

My guide leads up another stairs to the third floor, a large part of which is occupied by a system of rooms and bureaus, interlocked one of a department of state, where goods for the pronounced [illegible] Bon Marche are [illegible] to the lodgings of the employees.

"How many persons do you employ in your establishment?" I asked.

"Nine hundred and sixty in all," replied my guide. "Two hundred [illegible] more sleep on the premises, and all are fed here. This is the side for women. There are sixty of them and they have as you see, a separate entrance to them selves.

Knocking first, he opened two or three bed-room doors. Nice little chambers all of them, airy and ample, with two windows and fire-places with grates. White crocheted quilts covered the beds: there were curtained pegs for hanging up dresses, low cane chairs—everything as tidy and as fresh as could be. Some of the girls had each a room to herself, in others there were two.

"Is there an infirmary in the shop," I enquerried. "How do you manage if any one is ill?"

"If any one is ill she is nursed in her own chamber," replied the chef. "We have a woman to look after such things and to take care of all of the rooms."

Beyond was the ladies' parlor, a charming apartment, with the muslin curtained windows, sofas and easy chairs covered with chintz, a round table, a piano, a fire-place with fender of bright brass. Here the girls pass their evenings and their Sundays, and have their breakfasts on the Sunday mornings. Their dining-room was equally pleasant. Three large windows stood open letting in the soft air of May, and about the long table sat fifteen or twenty girls laughing and chatting. One of them recognized and rose to greet me with the instinctive courtesy of a French woman.

"I have been seeing your quarters," I told her.

"Are they not nice? Are we not well off here?" she answered, looking pleased.

"Indeed, you are. And what a pleasant dining room this is? But you have eaten up all the breakfast, glancing at the empty dishes.

"So we have; but is because we are all done. We have been nearly an hour.

I was disappointed not to see the food; but my curiosity was gratified in the men's dining-room, to which we next proceeded, and which is an immense place, capable of seating several hundred. The breakfast, or luncheon, for it was after eleven o'clock, consisted of pot au feu a savory conglomerate of potatoes, meat and gravy, red wine, bread and butter, and preserved fruit, great gallon jars of which stood here and there in process of being scooped out by dozens of hungry men. Garcons with white aprons were running in and out with fresh supplies of the steaming stew and fresh pots of jam, and on the walls hung this notice, which I could not sufficiently admire:

NOTICE.

The food of the employees must be abundant and wholesome, and the service prompt.

The most thorough entente cordiale should exist between the garcons de service and the employees.

M. Boucicault has designated to receive each day, any complaints or criticisms which the employees of the establishment desire to make as to

The dames can apply to him at (such an hour), the garcons de service at (such another). Hours under.

Could anything so effectually destroy to grumble as this cordial invitation?

Near the dining room is the kitchen and we enter for a minute. Great baskets of fresh lettuce stood on the floor; the tables were full of straw trays, on which were ranged rows of plates and tumblers glistening clean. A man in a side pantry was filling dozens and dozens of bottles of vin ordinaire. Upon the walls hung coffee pots and sauce-pans which shone like gold. Half a dozen white-aproned, white capped cooks were preparing dinner on a monstrous range; an appetizing and savoury steam rose like a halo and surrounded their heads.

Next we peep into the barber's shop where numbers of just-breakfasted clerks were having hair and beard brushed and trimmed; into the dining rooms of the stablemen and garcons; into the billiard-room, fitted with two fine tables for the daily amusement of gentlemen whose wives are shopping, and the occasional amusement of clerks on holidays; lastly into the music-room. Here, arranged on rack and shelves, was the equipment of a full orchestra, brass instruments, wind and string.

My conductor saw the astonishment in my eyes, and explained that the Bon Marche furnishes musical instruction gratuitously to all its employees, who choose to avail themselves of it. A professor comes for the purpose on two evenings of the week. The lessons are taken in the big dining room, and are open to all. Now and then the employees give a concert, to which they invite their friends; and the music is really admirable. On two other evenings in the week English lessons are given; on the remaining two, lessons in German. The establishment, therefore, is not only a means of livelihood to nearly a thousand persons, but a training school as well, where intelligent and ambitious minds can fit them selves for the higher positions and rewards of their fields of occupation.

I enquired concerning salaries, and was told that each person in the establishment received a stated sum in addition to board and in 200 cases lodging, beside which each has an interest in the sales, varying according to age, capacity and position. The chefs de rayons make, some of them 25,000 a year; the head woman 12,000. There is thus every incentive to zeal and yet the bodily wants of all are so comfortably provided for as to preclude the rapacious anxiety I have noticed in other shops, and which tells of the clerks' personal stakes in the sales.

Last of all I was taken through a series of galleries and staircases to the stables, which are at a little distance from the shop. Eighty horses and thirty-five men are accommodated here, not to mention some forty of the little wagons with "Bon Marche" on their panels which Paris streets know so well. Nothing could be more beautifully in order than those stables. The horses, large, sleek creatures, stood munching their hay in stalls and loose boxes, railed with varnished wood. Each stall was marked with the name and pedigree of its occupant, as [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

I was shown a wondrous harness-room, where every buckle flashed with polish, a huge omnibus, which each [illegible] de rayons to [illegible] department and brings them back, a great market van for the supplies of the household, and an infirmary where sick horses are lodged and nursed.

We have a park in the country also," said my conductor, taking a lump of sugar from his pocket and popping it into the mouth of a horse which was rubbing against his shoulder and whinnying expectantly; "a nice park with grass, where we send the horses who have been sick to graze and get strong. Oh, we are all comfortable here, madame; of that I can assure you."

"Our chef, M. Bourcicalut," he went on, "is a very great man: in my opinion, a very great man. Even as M. Rothschild is prince of bankers, so is our chef prince of commerce. Business is his pleasure and his life. He is seldom absent from his desk a single day. Nothing escapes his notice. He observes all, hears all, judges calmly is never excited. Believe, me, madame he is a great man."

And when last of all, I was shown the one tiny room in a corner of the great establishment where twenty-eight years ago the Bon March began its career, and thought of the magic of such growth, and of the thousand souls whose daily bread, whose comfort, and whose mental improvement are so generously cared for under its roof, I repeated to myself, "Yes, the man who has done this thing is, in his way, truly a great man."—Harper's Bazar.

Can You Afford It?

Can you afford to work hard all day, and read, study, or court the vagaries of society all night, thus wasting your vitality, exhausting your nervous system, and bringing on premature disease, decay and old age?

Can you afford to eat hastily, and then rush to study or business, withdrawing the nervous energy from the digestive system to the brain and muscles, and thus inducing dyspepsia in a few years, at most, to scourge and haunt and make you miserable for years or for life?

Can you afford to live on rich and highly seasoned food, eat champagne suppers, because an artificial appetite is thus gratified, rendering gout, dyspepsia, apoplexy, in the middle of life almost a certainty?

Can you afford to commit suicide through the indulgence of appetite and passion, adopting the fool's motto: "A short life and a merry one?"

Can you afford to indulge in fast living, dressing beyond your means, driving livery horses, or keeping a horse yourself, when your income is not adequate to such expenses?

Can you afford to smoke and chew tobacco, thus spending from five to twenty or thirty dollars a month, injuring your nervous system, and thereby transmitting to your children a puny invalids for life?

Can you afford to burn out your nervous system and demoralize your whole character by the use of alcoholic liquor?

Can you afford to make money at the expense of your manhood, your health, your just respectability and integrity?

Can you afford even to gain the whole world and thereby make of yourself a moral wreck?

Can you afford to rob your mind to clothe your back with silks and satins, and gratify a mere love of display?

Can you afford to be trickey, and thus defraud your employer of the just service you owe him, even though you get your pay, thereby making yourself a moral bankrupt?

"What's this boy here for?" inquired his Honor as a tearful lad of ten skulked out and stood before him.

"Fighting," answered Bijah.

"And then you—?" asked the court.

"Then I wollaped him," answered the boy.

"I was once a boy myself," said the court, "yes, sir, strange as it may seem I was a boy. I had my fights and my troubles, and I'm going to let you go. Be careful after this. I don't say that you must run when a boy kicks you, and I don't advise you to kick back—if there's an officer round. Go home, Bub, be good to your mother, respectful to your father, and be President of the United States some day."

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 8, 1875.

THE ASSIZES.

The Court opened here on Thursday last before Chief Justice Richard.

The first case was Purser vs. Bradburn, an action brought by Purser for damages because defendant, Bradburn had erected a building on a part of the premises plaintiff had rented for a saloon. Verdict for plaintiff and one shilling damages. F. Burnham and J. D. Armour, Q. C., for plaintiff. H. H. Smith, Sidney Smith, Q. C, and H. Cameron, Q. C., for defendant.

BERTRAM et. al. vs. FAUCHER.—An action on a promissory note. Verdict for plaintiff $650. Poussette & Roger for plaintiff. G. Edmison for defendant.

WRIGHT vs. HENDERSON.—This was an action of trespass to person brought by Wright against Henderson. The parties are neighbours in the township of Galway, are not, it would appears on the best of terms, and a free fight took place in which Henderson, his wife, three sons and a dog, assaulted Mrs. Wright, striking kicking and abusing her, the dog tearing her dress and legs badly.

Verdict for plaintiff $100, for damages to herself and $100 for loss to husband during her illness, etc. Mr. Dumble for plff; Mr. Scott for deft.

MITCHELL vs. BRADBURN.—Verdict for plff, $613, subject to reference. Mr. Scott for plff; Mr. Dumble for defendant.

REID vs. ULLYOT.—This was a replevin case as to ownership of a certain span of horses of which T. Cavanagh held a chattel mortgage from Mr. Mooney. Cavanagh sold them to Mr. Ullyott, but Mr. Reid claimed them, averring that Mooney bought them for him (Reid,) and Mr. ST. MOONEY and CAVANAGH were the parties interested. Verdict for plff., Reid, and $5 damages. Dennistoun Bros. & Hall and Mr. Armour, Q. C., for plff. Mr. Scott and H. Smith, Q. C. for defendants.

WARD vs. POPE.—An action of trespass and trover. Verdict for plff $400. Ward and Armour for plff.; Scott for deft.

CRIMINAL CASES.

THE QUEEN vs. RICHARD GRAHAM.—This was the late shooting case in the south of the town. Graham was found guilty of shooting with intent to do grevious bodily harm, and sentenced to 2 months in Jail with hard labor. A mild sentence considering the circumstances.

THE QUEEN vs. BRADEY.—Bradey had gone on a systematic appeal to the benevolence of the people, had hired livery horses and gone a begging in the name of a Mrs. Clarke, whom he said was in indigent circumstances. He attached the name of Mr. Peter Hamilton to his subscription list, and had induced a number of people to give him money, meal, flour, &c. When night came he paid his livery hire, and the balance he applied to pay his own board. Going to Mr. J. F. Dennistoun his suspicions were aroused, and enquiring of Mr. Hamilton found he had not put his name on Bradey's paper. This took place last week. Bradey was sent up by Mr. Hatton for trial, and got two months in Jail with hard labor. The Judge characterising his act as a mean one.

THE QUEEN VS A. B. DOWNER:—

This was a case brought against Downer for keeping a sum of money he was believed to have found, and lost by G. Rogers of Ashburnham. There was no case to go to the jury as there was no evidence of his having found the money although he had been known to have paid some accounts about that time, and no one knew how do obtained the money for the purpose.

THE QUEEN VS WOODCOCK.—

This was a case brought against a young man, Abel M. Wigmore of Dummer, on a charge of having sent strychnine to a young woman named Esther E. Lewis whom he had seduced, with a view to produce abortion.

J. D. Armour, crown counsil; W. H. Scott, defended the case.

Esther E. Lewis, (the young woman) sworn, said—I know the prisoner, I first became acquainted with him at my brother's wedding, about Christmas 1872, he came back and forward to see me about two years, I lived with my mother and brother in Belmont, my father is dead about five years, we lived about 10 miles apart, my brother is married to a cousin of prisoner, he accompanied me home from the wedding, he asked me if he might return again to visit me when he returned from the woods where he was lumbering, he pretended he intended to make me his wife, he came to see me about every three weeks when not away from home, he sometimes saw me at my sister's near Hastings, her name is Mrs. Shearer, she lived about 15 miles from me, the intimacy resulted in my being pregnant to him, the child was born last September, I received letters from him from Minden, the letter shown was addressed in prisoner's hand writing, the letter came in an envelope. (The letter was read.) He came down soon after and came to see me, I was then living at my brother's but was not aware of my situation, he then asked me to address some envelopes to myself for him as he complained of being a poor writer, I did so, about six, one came to me from Bracebridge and others with Minden postmark on them, I got several of the envelopes back by mail each containing a letter, the letters now shown were in them, in his hand writing. (One of the 7th Jan. 1874 was read, and one of 15th Jan. saying he could not get married just then.) He did not come to see me again, I went to Norwood in July and saw him in a hotel, my brother was with me, my brother was present only a portion of the time, he admitted he had not used me right, said he had promised to marry me and that he had told me to tell my mother so, he said he knew he ought to marry me but that he could not then as it was impossible, I told him I had heard a report of his going to marry another young lady, he asked me if it would not be better for me to go away for a time, I said I would go anywhere he wished me if he would but marry me, he said he would come at the end of three weeks and let me know what he would do, he did not come, his brother came to see me instead, I did not see him till I received this letter on the 31st July, 1874.

Norwood, July, 1874.

My dear Nelley—I am sorry for the way I used you, won't you forgive me? Oh. Nelly, take this medicine, I know it will make you all right and better, then I will come and marry. Oh Nelly, trust me, I will come, but don't tell anyone. Be sure and burn this letter right off. You won't be sick long, so don't be afraid Good by dearest for a little time.

Yours truly,
ABEL M. WIGMORE

I received it in this envelope, I got it from my mother's hand on 3rd of July last, I was then at brother's in Belmont. I opened it, there was a powder in it, a greyish-white powder, wrapped or folded in a piece of paper; my brother Thomas and my mother were present when I opened it. The letter was in prisoner's handwriting to the best of my knowledge. The letter was again read. Brother took the powder and kept it. Several letters were then referred to as received by her. I addressed a letter to him in February to Norwood; I wanted him to come and and see me; I had written to him in Minden; I wrote to him to Norwood and again to Norwood, also a third letter to Norwood, and one on the 9th of January, 1874. In one of these I asked him if he intended to forsake me or keep his promise; I did say I would try and go where nobody knew me. I did not tell him I would take medicine to get rid of the child. My friends did send for Dr. Patterson shortly before I wrote to him to Minden; I didn't know what was the matter till Dr. Paterson came. I was taking pills before this; no person recommended them to me; they were "Lady Huntington Pills;" never saw them advertised; I got them in Norwood; I took no more pills after I saw Dr. Patterson. On the 7th April I received a letter; I burned it; no person read it to my knowledge; they may have done so, but I think not; the letter came to me from Norwood; it was a short one. I did not answer it; I first wrote to him on the 9th of June after that. Next day after receiving his letter, on the 31st of July, I went to Mr. Pearce with my mother and brother; we took the letter and the powder in it, it was put back; it fell out of the envelope on my lap when I opened the envelope; it was not again opened till shown to Mr. Pearce; he advised us to go to Dr. Ford and get it analysed; we went to Dr. ford the same evening; told us what it was; he took it at first Pearce; Dr. Ford kept the powder. Mr. Pearce came to brothers and got the other letters. About a month after this I was confined.

Cross examined by Mr. Scott.

I became acquainted with prisoner in 1872; a few weeks after I met him at church; I was at home during the summer of 1873; he came to see me generally every three weeks; I received several letters from him in December and fall of 1873; we had no letters the first winter; I kept all the letters but one; I think I destroyed it. I got the first letter out of Hastings Post Office; it had been mailed in Norwood; I wrote to him several times before November 1873, to let him know where I was; answered his letter from Minden, but he came to see me before he got the answer, at least he said so. He said that he was going away and could not marry me, said he had changed his mind, and thought I had changed mine; said he had given up the notion of getting married. I may have threatened to shoot him, and no wonder I did. Here a letter of 9th of the June was read as follows:—

Belmont, 9th of June. 1874.

MR. A. M. WIGMORE,

SIR:—Your plan has failed, you poor contemptable coward, were you afraid to come again to the house where you have brought so much misery that you got your brother to come for you? Did you think I could be bought for money? No Sir. Not all the money ever owned by a Wigmore will make me forret or forgive. It is useless to speak of the past, not content with all the trouble and shame you have brought on me, you have slandered me to others, and tried to lay all blame on me, and sent your brother to insult me further by offering me money. You may tell such stories as you see fit to your friends and others. You and I know the truth, and there is another greater than we who has heard it all, go where you wish, I have no desire to look upon your false face again since you refuse to keep those promises which I once thought as true as Heaven. Since instead of pity I have met nothing but insults from you and your friends. I now hate you ten thous and times more than I ever loved you. Abel, do you remember when you told me you did not believe your father died happy? Are you not afraid you are going the same road. Do you ever think what the end may be? This world is now before us. Take your way, I will take mine Make your own case as smooth as possible. With all, do not try to shield me. Your conscience will not chide you, I know if you do tell more lies. You cannot tell blacker ones than you have sold your soul for now.

Leave your country if you please, take with you my good name and all my best prospects in life, and take with you my bitterest curse, and may you live to rue the time you ruined me as surely as I now rue the time I met you first.

May God show the same mercy to you if you ever call upon him in distress, that you have shown to me. If I live I have faith to believe that I shall triumph over you yet. If I die my blood will be upon your head, and my dying curse will rest with you and yours forever. You will never be happy again, you are a bad man, Abel Wigmore, and sooner or later you will meet your reward. You are free now, and I am bound. But I can wait and my day will come. I have many kind friends who know me before I ever saw you, and thank God all your lies will never make them desert me. Remember this if ever I get you in my power (and I believe I shall.) By that great God who has seen all my suffering, I will have no pity on you, and no good byo till we meet again.

I had no belief of getting him into my power then, I thought God would deliver him into my hands some day; mother brother and his wife were present when I received the letter on 31st July, containing the medicine, I also came day received one from Stoney Lake from Miss Robb, they were brought from Blairton by my mother, she handed me Miss Robb's letter first. She then handed me another, saying, "Here's another, I won't keep it from you." When I opened it the powder dropped out on my lap, I said then, "I think I have something now." The powder was a little one, I took it to the Magistrate, several friends sent me presents, I thought at first it might be one, I gave the letter to my sister-in-law to read it, she did so. I did not see the handwriting before the powder fell out, His brother came to see me, told me prisoner was going to New Zealand. I wrote to him on the 9th June, but addressed the envelope to his brother. I said not to burn the powder, as I had burned one letter and always since regretted it, and Mr. Pearce told me not to burn letters as that having said "changed his mind" was an acknowledgement that he had promised to marry me. I could not tell when anyone had been at the post office, mother might have been away. I put no letter in Norwood P. O., none in Havelock. I have seen strychnine about 15 years ago. I believe brother had some in the house at the time, he intended to take it to the woods with him to poison wolves. His wife told me she kept it in a bottle in a chest, his wife may have asked me if I had seen strychnine. I don't know when he got it, I don't know in which drug store.

Examined again by Mr. Armour: after the interview in the hotel with prisoner I wrote to him on the 9th of January. The day before Jas. Wigmore came to see me, said prisoner was in New York on his way to New Zealand, said he had received a letter from him dated New York.

Ann Lewis mother of the young woman was then sworn, said knew prisoner, he had been frequently at my house, remember getting a letter, got two letters on 31st of July last at Blairton P. O., she read the letter from Robbs first, I can neither read nor write, I saw a parcel, small, from one to two inches long fall out of letter on her lap, I think this letter came from prisoner, the parcel would go inside of an envelope, there was nothing outside but the address, Thomas's wife read the letter. I heard it read, Thomas took the letter and powder with it, he was afraid I suppose that she would take it, he put it in his chest and locked it up; we took it to Mr. Pearce, kept the powder in the letter; the same letters I got in the post office I delivered to my daughter, one of them I saw opened and it contained that powder; I went to post master a day or two after and asked him about the letters, he said then he did not remember it but he did remember me getting papers.

Cross-examined by Mr. Scott.

Thos. had been in the "bush," he had come home; we went to Blairton for groceries, I don't know when I sent for groceries before; son Thos. was with me. Esther told me she expected a letter from her sister; I don't remember the exact words she said, but said she expected one from her sister: Thos. did get one from her a week or a fortnight after; Esther told me a few minutes before leaving the house to call for a letter, when received Esther said there was no P. O. mark on it; I got the letter from the office and handed them both to her together; I think she read the one from Miss Robb; I saw the powder in her fingers and in her lap; I think we went to Mr. Pearce next day; he advised showing them what it was; at Mr. Pearce's office said it looked pretty bad. I knew her to take medicine now and then; she got Pills from Norwood, got them herself, she told me soon after she had been there; she had stopped taking the pills before she sent for Dr. Paterson. He gave her some medicine.

Thomas Lewis, sworn—Is brother to Esther Lewis; I was at Blairton the last day of July in the afternoon. I think; it was nearly night when I got home; mother told me she was going to the post office; she got two letters; she showed them to me; I cannot write; I cannot read writing nor write; I can write my own name badly; my mother carried them home; I saw them opened; I was by when they read one; I saw the powder fall; it was small, longer than broad; it fell into her lap; it was a bit of white paper; she was astonished and handed the letter to my wife to read; she read it aloud: I took the powder and said you must not take this; I kept it in my possession; I am not certain that she opened the powder; It was taken to Norwood the next day; I am not sure whether mother or sister had it; mother or Mr. Pearce took it to Dr. Ford; I saw prisoner about the 1st of June at Norwood; I spoke to him about her; all the answer he gave was that he was sorry; I went to talk to him about marrying her! he said that he could not then; I held no hard feelings against him then; It was at Mullin's; heard him say in answer to her question: Abel, didn't you tell me I might tell mother that we were going to get married? I did.

Cross examined by Mr. Scott.—The letters were got on July 31 from the Blairton post office, they said one came from prisoner, I can't say how many letters he sent her, I saw him just as the snow was going off, I had heard of her state, I came from the woods about July 1, I went to the woods in June but had been back during that time, I posted no letters at Blairton nor at Havelock, I never did except one for Alex Matheson, I bought strychnine to poison wolves in Cardiff where I was going to settle, I heard wolves had been seen there, I kept it in my wife's chest, I never use it, I saw it lately, none had been taken out of it, not to my knowledge, the powder was brownish mixed with a little white

To Mr. Scott—I had not heard when I left home when the court would sit, I saw it before I came away, it was not stirred.

Peter Pearce, Esq., sworn—I remember the young woman and mother and "brother coming to me; she came to me to make an affidavit; Thomas was with her; the second time they brought the letter and powder, they said they got it out of the Blairton, P. O.; the letter shown me is the same letter; it is dated July 1874; I remarked then that it had no post mark on it. The stamp was not defaced; it contained a powder when brought to me. The powder was neatly folded; I advised them to take it to Dr. Ford; Mrs. Lewis and daughter did so; they went away taking the letter and powder in it; I handed it to the old lady; shortly after Mrs. Lewis and Dr. Ford came to me; I went to the Doctor's office; the Dr. said he was satisfied that it contained poison; I opened it when I received it; I could not describe the powder; it was open on the Dr's. table; I knew it and got the Dr. to initial it; I took the information; the Dr. said he would send it to Dr. Croft for analysis if they would pay expenses; they did so, I asked them how they could prove the handwriting; they said they had letters from him; this was on Saturday night; Dr. Ford sent it to Toronto on Monday morning to Professor Croft. I got the other letters and went to the County Attorney and Clerk of the Peace; I issued a warrant two weeks after the information, he knew the paper now shown him as the statement made by the prisoner before the magistrate; saw him sign it; saw the letters from Minden and the one on the 31st July, now shown him. The letters were here compared. Believe the same party wrote them all as wrote the signature to the statement produced.

To Mr. Scott. I have had some experience in comparing handwritings in the Division Court, but not in Court of Assizes. The letters of January and July are in the same handwriting as nearly as can be; I have no doubt of it. The date shows a little difference in style, and so does the signature, but they after same pattern or style.

Dr. Ford sworn, said—I saw Mrs. and Miss Lewis on 31st July or 1st of August, they brought me a powder and letter; Mrs. Lewis handed it to me. I examined the white crystalline substance, and believe it to be strychnine mixed with a brown powder; I judged from taste and color; it was violently bitter. I did not examine the brown stuff, it was of no consequence. She then showed me the letter and envelope; it was about ten o'clock at night; they appeared anxious to find out what it was; I did not tell them at first; I said if they paid expenses I would get it analysed by Prof. Croft. Thomas Lewis was outside in a waggon; We went to Mr. Pearce's office, he instructed me to send it to Dr. Croft. I retained it till Monday and sent it as envelope initialing it to identify it; I sent the whole letter and envelope. I got those letters shown me in answer to mine; I received them by mail, one on the 6th of August and one the 1st of September.

To Mr. Scott:—I didn't tell them immediately what it was; I considered it a serious affair. The mother seemed to take it coolly; I could not see Miss Lewis's face to tell, she appeared anxious to find out what it was, she did not say much, nor express surprise. I have never heard anything against his character

Prof. Croft, sworn—I don't keep letters sent me, I did receive a letter; it contained a powder, this is the same, (the witness then produced a small phial.) This is the same letter and envelope, the powder was in a paper parcel, initialed I analyzed it; it contained strychnine, with a slight impurity iron dust or brick dust which gave it a brown tinge, without any doubt it was strychnine; 3.7 grains, enough to kill eight or ten persons; I put the powder through all the proper tests; I could not say what the brown part was, perhaps iron dust or brick dust.

To Mr. Scott—The mixture was about one fiftieth of the whole, strychnine is white.

Mr. Pearce re-called, testified to prisoner's former good character.

THE DEFENCE.

Roger Bates, sworn—I am postmaster at Blairton, Mrs. Lewis called my attention to this letter two or three days after, I remembered it, it was brought by stage to the office by the driver Cannon who drove the stage from Norwood to Marmora calling at Havelock and Blairton, It was addressed to Esther Lewis, it was a way letter, that is had not been in any office, I have no recollection of any other letter, there was another letter, it did not come with that mail, it remarked it as a way letter only required a one cent stamp, I think letters from Stoney Lake come by way of Norwood, Cannon handed this letter to me, I placed it in the proper box and afterwards gave it to Mrs. Lewis, I forgot to cancel the post stamp.

John Cannon, sworn—I was stage driver last summer from Norwood to Marmora calling at Havelock and Blairton, I remember the letter Mr. Bates drew my attention to it, I got it from Mr Wilde p.m. at Havelock, he gave me the letter, said he had got it after the mail was made up, he put on a three cent stamp and told me to give it to Mr. Bates which I did, I remember handing him the letter and when he told me about it I remembered it, this was about last of July, the letter was handed me by Mr. Wilde, I am quite sure I got the letter from him, I got other drop letters often, never got one from any of the Wigmores, I know Abel Wigmore, I have no memory of the day except as Mr. Bates drew my attention to this one about last of July.

Thos. Wilde, sworn—I am postmaster at Havelock, do not remember receiving this letter; it is customary to put way letters in the way bag; I told Cannon when he spoke to me I did not remember this letter; I usually put drop letters in the way bag, and passed on to the next office; I do not remember any of the Wigmore's dropping a letter in the office; I never put on a stamp, I keep no stamps, I mark them prepaid.

To Mr. Armour—I keep no stamps; I did not put on a stamp on any letter.

Dr. Paterson, sworn—Was called to visit Miss Lewis in spring of '74, latter part of February, I think, or beginning of March; I asked her if she had been taking any medicine, she said yes, some of Lady Huntington's pills; did not say much to her, as she said she was almost well; she had a nervous palpitation of the heart, I asked her if aware of the nature of the pills, she said she knew nothing about them; I believe they are used for procuring abortions. They are not advertised as abortion pills. Such pills are advertised as innocent.

The judge remarked that if sold for such purposes the parties ought to be indicted.

This was the whole case.

Mr. Scott then addressed the jury and made a very effective speech and earnest appeal to the jury on behalf of the prisoner, dwelling particularly on the letter and the threats in it, and the probability that some more simple medicine had been sent in the letter, and enplaced to obtain a means of punishing him.

Mr. Armour also addressed the jury.

The judges charge was strongly against the prisoner, as his questions to witnesses all through the trial foreshadowed. The jury was locked in for the night, as the trial lasted from ten a. m. till nearly six p. m. The prisoner's counsel did his utmost for him

Next morning, on the opening of the Court, the room was crowded to hear the verdict.

As soon as the judge took his seat the jury was called in, and amid breathless silence rendered the verdict "GUILTY" on the third count, that was the charge of sending her poison with intent to take her life.

The Crown Counsel then asked that the sentence of the court be passed on Abel M. Wigmore, against whom the verdict of guilty had been given.

The Judge asked him if he had anything to say why judgment should not be passed upon him.

To this prisoner replied: "I have nothing to say but that I never did this thing, and the great God above me knows I did not do it.

The Judge addressed him then referring to his position, to the result of his action, and the skill of his counsel in endeavoring to save him from the consequence of his folly; his words evidently indicating his own feelings. He then pronounced the sentence that he be imprisoned five years in the Provincial Penitentiary at hard labor.

The prisoner during the whole trial, showed no signs of fear or dread. When the sentence was passed he exhibited no change and soon turned round to converse with a brother who was near him all the time.

This is a peculiar case. Some aver the innocence of the young man—he is about 24 or 25 years of age,—and think that he may have sent her some simple medicine, but that it was replaced by the more deadly poison, by some of the young woman's, friends, while others think that he might have been foolish enough to send her this medicine without knowing its strength and deadly power. Be these thing as they may both are punished severely.

HEALY vs. SHEA.—Was tried on Tuesday. Mr. Hatton and H. Cameron for plff, Mr. H. H. Smith and Hon. Sidney Smith for deft.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES

The Board met on Tuesday evening. Present—The Chairman, and Messrs. A. Smith, McClelland, Robertson, Johnston, J. M. Smith, Hilliard, Edmison, and Rutherford.

A communication read from Miss Flavell, asking for increase of salary was received.

Accounts from Wm Helm, $1.50; Jno. Lesseur, $8.42; Geo. Green, $26.30; James & Son, $24.30; Jno. Friend, $23.68; W. Mathias, $166.48; Geo. Hilliard, $8; E. Courtney, $3; Jno. Cameron, $32 60, were referred to Finance committee.

The Secretary submitted a statement of Receipts and Expenditures for the previous months, showing a balance on hand $465.32.

Mr. McClelland explained that several of the accounts were due to men who expected their pay, and hence

He moved seconded by Mr. Robertson, —That the accounts of Messrs. Friend, Green, Lasseur, Helm and Mathias be paid forthwith if found correct. Carried.

Mr. J. M. Smith submitted a report of the Finance committee, recommending payment of the following accounts:

Henry Best (South Ward School)			$193 17
Henry Best	do	do	1 88
T. B. Clementi	do	do	4 50
Joseph Phillips	do	do	11 00
Insurance	do	do	4 75
P Taylor	do	do	2 75
Messrs. Bertram & Co.			6 21
R. Romaine			11 63

The committee cannot recommend the payment of $3.50 to E. Blackwell for acting as Janitor at the Auburn School as Mr. Mitchell had no authority for employing him in that capacity.

Your committee found on the 2nd of March the sum due the Town Treasurer according to the Collectors Roll for 1874, is $191.49.

A number of printed copies of the Rules of order having been found the committee deem it unnecessary to have another supply printed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The Report was received and adopted.

Mr. McClelland chairman of the Building Committee reported showing the expenditure on the South Ward School.

T. B. Clementi, surveying lot	4 50
J. Parnell stone for well	6 50
E. Thompson grading	32 50
M. McFadden sinking well etc.	15 25
T. D. M. Croly for sheds as per contract	391 97
James & Son Desks and Furniture	367 80
R. A. Brown Insurance	23 20
Mrs. Lasure cleaning rooms	10 00
S. Williams fitting cylinders	1 25
J. E. Belcher Plans and Specifications &c,	225 00
H. Best Furnace and Fittings.	195 05
T. B. Clementi surveying	4 50
Total	$5797 02

Your committee take pleasure in stating that the expenditure has not exceeded the estimates, as will be seen by referring to the minutes of February 3rd, 1874 in which your committee asked for $6000 to carry on the work and which was granted by the council for that purpose and in referring to the complaint of your Finance Committee as to the manner of paying the said moneys, they would just say, that the Town Council in their action authorizing their Treasurer to pay on receipt of the certificates the various amounts, did so without reference to the Finance Committee of this Board for which mode of procedure your committee are not responsible, as will be seen by the above statement. Your committe have the sum of $202.98 to their credit which will be required for filling and levelling the school grounds, and would suggest the planting of Trees &c.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was received.

The report of the Principal was then read and received, shewing the attendance Collegiate Institute ; public schools , and recommending the engaging an additional teacher, as Miss Matthews has now 96 to 100 pupils in her division, a number too great for one teacher.

A report was also read from the inspector of the Public Schools. He reported favorably of the reading and spelling of the pupils and of the manner in which arithmetic and English grammar are taught, and he had specimens of penmanship from seven rooms before the Board, which they examined and pronounced very good, in many cases very excellent. The report referred to geography as not taught satisfactorily to him but that the attention of teachers had been directed to this.—The report was received.

Mr. A. Smith brought in a motion to charge the regular monthly fees in the Collegiate Institute, but after discussion, On motion of Mr. Hilliard, seconded by Mr. Edmison, Messrs. A. Smith, Robertson, Johnston, Rutherford and Hilliard were named a committee to report on the advisability of imposing a fee.

The Board adjourned.

W. B. O'DESMONT, who was Treasurer of Riel's Provisional Government, has written a letter, enclosed to parties here, and addressed to Speaker Anglin, setting forth that if he be protected by the Dominion Government, he will come here and prove that Riel and Lepine instigated the Fenian movement in the Northwest; and also that he had no connection whatever with the murder of Scott. This letter is now in the possession of B. Devlin, M. P., for Montreal Centre, who will bring the matter up on the first opportunity.

PARTY GOVERNMENT.

—From the Montreal Witness

The subject of government by party has been somewhat discussed of late in various Canadian papers. It appears to have been started by the Canada First Party under the alleged inspiration of Professor Goldwin Smith, and comes up from time to time as opportunity offers. Owing probably to recent speculations as to the formation of a new political combination under the leadership of prominent members of the present Reform and Conservative camps, who are reputed to think that as presently constituted the former which has now the reins of power, is driving altogether too fast, the Nation recently returned to this topic of party government. The Confederation of the Dominion, it believe was brought about in order to deliver Canada from a condition of desperation to which party government had reduced her, and yet the framers of the new constitution built upon the same bad foundation, by continuing party government as the corner-stone of Canadian institutions. It seems to maintain that nowadays there cannot be any party division for the sake of principle, but only for that of place and power, and that in those circumstances party soon degenerates into faction, and faction involves corruption. Sir John Macdonald it believes would have preferred parity, but he fell a victim to the bad system, and, in order to keep his partisans together, practiced or allowed corruption of which he kept his own hands clean, and his opponents, while now dragging to light and exulting over the evidences of such malpractices on his part have given evidence in their turn of similar malpractices among themselves, which might become greater than they are under pressure of necessity. The state of affairs in England is referred to, to show them the system of party government was moribund there, when it was freshly adopted by the Dominion, and weighty authorities are quoted, to the effect that the country can never again be strictly divided into two political camps, each obeying unquestioningly the behest of a leader. The evil of party spirit is also illustrated in its effect on political trials, those of Lord Melville and Daniel O'Connell being particularly referred to.

It is, however, proverbially easy to point out the defects of a system, but difficult to suggest a remedy. So far as can be seen the article under review would have men sent to Parliament untrammelled by party ties, and left to act upon the impulsion from below of public opinion, as expressed through its usual channels—a return in fact to that pristine blessedness that is said to have reigned in the time of Horatius:

"Then none was for a party,
Then all were for the state,
Then the great man helped the poor,
And the poor man loved the great.
Then lands were fairly portioned,
Then spoils were fairly sold:
The Romans were like brothers
In the brave days of old"

Under whatever names they may be known however, experience shows that there will always be two grand divisions of a people living under a constitutional government—those in favor of things as they are, or conservatives using the term in a comprehensive sense, and those who want change, Liberals, Radicals, Progressists, or whatever they may be called, or, as they have been more philosophically defined, those loyal to men and customs as opposed to those loyal to principles. There are, therefore, in constant action powerful underlying forces tending to group men into parties. Partyism becomes no doubt bad, however, when it prevents the taking up and dealing with questions like the temperance reform, church establishments, and others that are waiting a solution that must inevitably come, for fear of losing the support of adherents of interests to which such reform are obnoxious. These, which are called burning questions, are always dreaded by parties in power as calculated to break up their ranks, and there is a tendency to shirk them—to love place better than principle or patriotism. It is just here the electors should be on their guard, to see that their parliamentary representatives may be depended upon to act squarely in the face of such questions, as in so doing they will do much to rid partyism of its bad features.

Another opponent of party government, although upon somewhat different grounds, is the programmist party of Quebec, and its opposition seems to be founded upon the propositions that partyism partakes of that freedom of thought, speech and enquiry which is so reprehensible in the eyes of the new Papal Church: that the chief end of governments and parliaments is the maintenance and endowment of that Church; that they ought to act in all political matters as that Church tells them, and, therefore, that there is no ground for any political parties in the nation at all. Such is the object the Ecclesiastical party are aiming at in this province, and the organ of the Bishop of Montreal recounts with grief the trouble encountered from this obstinate partyism. It wanted the Land-Swap covered up and settled quietly, without making it a public scandal. Failing this the Church was so good as to replace the discredited Ministers with the De Boucherville Government, but still the "heathen" raged, and the Church was grieved, and the resulting Ouimet Ministry [illegible] seems doubtless rather hard to this party that they should have so much trouble when even respectable Protestants and their newspapers seem willing to forward their aims one way or another; but it is to be feared there are too many in this province obstinately attached to opinions opposed to State Churchism and ecclesiastical domination to promise them much comfort for some time

We should not forget to notice that the Liberal pointed out what it called a contradiction in the conclusion of the Nation's article, where it alluded to the fact that a coalition of parties had been formed to rule the Manitoba Government, leaving virtually no Opposition, as an illustration of the blotting out of Party government; and went on to say that by subsidizing the press the new Ministry had bought over all the newspapers in the province, and that "the result will be "undisguised tyranny of unprincipled faction, "unchecked even by newspaper criticism, "which will plunder the public with as little "restraint as any Eastern Pacha, and pro- "bably with as little moderation."

So, then, faction can exist where there is no party government? This seems absurd, but probably what is meant is, that parties may combine for corrupt purposes as well as for the good of the nation, leaving the people helpless, as far as opposition is concerned, until lapse of time brings a remedy at the polls. But even here a counteracting influence is always available in the shape of a press that cannot be bought or silenced either by civil or ecclesiastical influences, and if the people fail to support such a press they have themselves to blame for the consequences. We do not believe such an honest, fearless press ever is allowed to die. It is only where the pretended tribune of the people descends to the promotion of selfish interests and truckles to power that it is wiped out.

We would be a great deal more at home in discussing this question if we could form a conception of any other system with which to compare the present party system. There are many evils not inseparable from the party system against which it is every good man's duty to contend. We have already taken the contested elections out of the control of party. The Civil Service patronage must go next. Mr. Mackenzie's Government went into power, admitting that it meant to use the Civil Service patronage, and the other patronage of the State, for the benefit of party, subservient always to the good of the State—that is, other things being equal, a supporter would always have the preference. To part of this doctrine at least they have faithfully adhered. It is hard to see how such preferences can be entirely avoided, but the infinite ramifications of the mischief which grows out of party patronage are only too familiar to us all. The member who shall carry through Parliament any effective measure of Civil service reform will be remembered among his county's benefactors.

PROHIBITION.

LARGE MEETING OF MEMBERS FAVOURABLE TO THE CAUSE:

THE ACTION DECIDED ON.

OTTAWA, March 30.

A caucus of members who are favorable to the prohibition movement, was held this morning. There were present Mr Geo W. Ross, chairman; Mr Gordon; secretary; and Messrs. W. Ross, Gough, C. Mcdougall, Kirk, Appleby, Church, Bain, Burpee (Sunbury), Oliver, Farrow, Smith (Peel), Sinclair, Hall, Flemming, Cushing, Biggar, Dymond, Burk, Laurier, Kerr, Skinner, Gilmore, Ross (Durham), Trow, Royal and Cook. Several others would have been present, but owing to the press of business on Committee on account of the approaching close of the session, were not able to attend.

The Committee appointed to consider the matter made the following report:—

Your Committee appointed to report upon the present aspect of the Prohibitory Liquor Law movement beg leave to submit the following:—

1. That in view of the inadequate legislation now existing to prevent the evils of intemperance, and the imperative demand by petitions and otherwise for a Prohibitory Liquor Law, the time has come when the friends of temperance, both inside and outside of Parliament, should unite on some common basis in order to secure such legislation as will effectually remove the evils complained of.

2. That it is essentially necessary that any legislation which might be secured of Prohibitory Liquor Law in its financial and political relations should be brought thoroughly before the people, in order to ascertain how soon, and in what manner, it would be most judicious to make a direct issue.

3. That as a difference of opinion prevails regarding the exact time at which such legislation should be demanded, as well as the nature and extent of the Prohibitory Liquor Law to be submitted to Parliament, it is desirable if possible to ascertain the opinion of representative temperance men from every Province of the Dominion, in order to arrive at some definite and final conclusion before the next session of Parliament.

4. That the Committee be instructed to prepar an address to the people of Canada, setting forth the present position of this question, and calling for delegates to a convention to be held in Montreal at such a time as the said Committee may determine to deliberate upon such matters as may then seem most important in the interest of the present movement for the prohibition of the liquor traffic.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) T. FARROW, P. SINCLAIR GOUDGE
GEO. W. ROSS, A. H. DYMOND, W. LAURIER, C. BURPEE, WALTER ROSS.

The following gentlemen were appointed a Committee to draft an address on the above report and to make arrangements for the convention.

Ontario—Messrs. G. W. Ross, Walter Ross, McDougall, Farrow, Dymond, Kerr.

Quebec—Messrs. Laurier, Devlin, Cushing.

New Brunswick—Messrs. C. Burpee, (Sunbury), Appleby, Gilmor.

Nova Scotia—Messrs. Goudge, Kirk.

Prince Edward Island—Mr. Sinclair.

Manitoba—Mr. Schultz.

British Columbia—Mr. Cunningham.

A general discussion took place as the best means of forwarding the cause. Several excellent suggestions were thrown out, and it was decided to press this session Mr. Ross's motion declaring that Prohibition is the only prevention of intemperance.

The meeting then adjourned.

INFORMATION FOR BRIDGES.

The following letter addressed to Mr. Sanderson is inserted by request.

BELLEVILLE, March 30, 1875.

My Dear Sir,—

I was up the County nearly all last week, but now hasten to reply to yours of the 23rd inst.

The information you require I was not able to give you from my own knowledge, but to-day I have had a conversation with the architect who built the bridge across the Moira at Belleville, of boiler plate. He informs me

That the bridge is 251 feet in length.

That there are three spans of 83⅓ feet each.

The width between the girders 18 feet.

The width over all 32 feet.

Depth of the girder, 4 feet.

Width of flange, 1 foot, 9 inches.

Cost of Bridge $10,900.

A like bridge was built there some 15 years ago with a depth of girder 3 feet, 4 inches, for $6,600.

When the last bridge was built iron was very high. Now such a bridge should be built for a sum between $3,000 and $9,000.

The girders are placed so as to divide the center or waggon tracks of the bridge from the sidewalks on either side.

With regard to the rivets, I have never heard of the complaint you make of their requiring attention. In fact the bridges are the least expensive after being put up of any that I know of. If you would require plans or further particulars of the Bridge. The Architect, Mr. John D. Evans of this place would furnish you with them, and which in my opinion would be necessary for you. In order to rightly understand the nature of the construction of this kind of Bridge, I may say in passing that they are an excellent kind of bridge.

Hoping that this is not too late, I remain yours &c, goes to Penitentiary ten years for the murder of a man named Henry Pearson, in the township of Montague. A whiskey quarrel lead to Halliday pouring hot water on Pearson, which caused the death of the latter. Pearson was 70 years of age at the time of his death.

JOHN MILLS.

B. A. Elvin.

We learn this morning that Mr. E. A. Elvin, late a successful teacher of book-keeping and Spencerian Penmanship, has reached our town for the purpose of opening a school. He has leased Dixon Bros.' hall over Hyman's Hat store, George St. where he will teach his day and evening school.

Macdonald & Elder

Have just received a large stock of their Spring and Summer Goods, which they are now opening out. The goods will be found stylish, cheap and good. Their advertisement will appear next week. In the meantime call and examine and purchase as you will require them soon. Summer is here.

New School House

The Board of School Trustees, Ashburnham, intend erecting a new two-story building this summer as an enlargement of their present school building. The plan is 66 x 26 feet, two stories of 16 feet and 11 feet respectively with a basement for hot apparatus, etc. Cost to be about $2,500 to $3,000.

Midland Railway.

We understand that Mr. Hugel has secured very favorable terms for his road securing for it running powers over the branch to the Pacific Railway from where it crosses the Midland at Orillia. This places the Midland and all places on it in a very favorable position so far as the road to the Pacific coast is concerned.

Found.

The mother of the child lately left at the door of the Protestant Home, and as she came and took it away the ladies are not inclined to prosecute her as they think she has suffered a great deal already Report has it that they are on the look-out for other visitors, but should such occur they will not let the perpetrators off as in this case.

$100 Damages.

The cure of Ephraim d'Upton was lately mulcted in $100 damages, for threatening his parishioners with excommunication and refusal of the sacraments if they should frequent the shop of a certain blacksmith in his parish. Richer, the blacksmith, was considered as too good a controversialist for the common people who employed him.

Fire

The building south of the market square was burned down on Monday night about 11 to 11:30 o'clock. It was a frame building, pretty old, and occupied by several French families. The origin of the fire is doubtful, but where so many persons were huddled together the wonder is that it escaped so long. The building belonged to Mr. E. Chamberlen and was not insured, we understand.

Spain.

Peaceful measures are daily taking the place of those opposed to the new king. The Pope has sent his nuncio to Madrid bearing instructions to the clergy to strive for the restoration of peace under Alfonso. The late civil war may have taught those in power to be moderate, but the chances are that the absence of reason on the part of the Republicans may make them prouder and more tyrannical. It is almost too much to expect harmony yet.

The Whistle-Wing

Mr. Calcutt has refitted and repainted the "Whistle-wing," and expects to commence her regular trips about the 20th instant. He has a new Palace Scow and other conveniences for pleasure parties. Captain Harrison will again have charge of her, and will do his utmost for the comfort of passengers and excursion parties.

The Other Side.

We have noted from time to time the prices at which farm lands have been sold in different parts of the county, and as most of the sales recorded lately were in Smith and at fancy figures, a ratepayer of that township wishes us to give the other side of the question. The west ½ of lot 24, in the 8th concession sold for $650 or $6.50 per acre. Lot 22, in the 8th concession sold for $10 an acre, and the greater part of the north and east of the Town is very poor indeed. This is certainly true, and not disputed by any one, but in no way alters the question that there are no signs of hard times among the farmers generally, as they are able to pay and in many cases have paid, fancy prices to obtain good farms, even paying $5 to $10 an acre more than property is worth to get it, and this is not unfrequently the case in our best Townships.

TOWN COUNCIL

The Council met pursuant to adjournment.

Present—His Worship Mayor Toole in the chair, and Messrs. Rutherford, Thornton, Dixon, McDonald, Benson, Hopkins, Paterson, Beal, Helm, Cahill, and Hamilton.

The Minutes of the previous meeting were read over by the Clerk and confirmed.

Communications were read from:

Mr. Hugel, stating that he had taken due notice of the passage by the Town Council of By-law No. 302, regulating the rate of speed at which Trains shall run through the Town, and enclosing a copy of the printed instructions to the employers on the road, urging due observance of the provisions of the said By-law. Received.

From Col. Haultain, Register, calling attention to a tittle to the Town Map, and asking to have the matter put right. Received.

From Dennistoun Bros. & Hall, complaining of a nuisance in front of their office and asking that it be abated. Referred to Health officers.

From Frank Dobbin and late members of the Independent Band, asking for the use of the instruments. Received.

From John Irwin and other members of the Fire Company, asking the Council to give them the Musical Instruments lately held by the Independment Band, promising to form a first class band. Received.

From Dr. Kincaid to the Mayor, asking to have an account of $7.50 for drugs allowed, and offering to supply them for $30 per year. Received.

From A. Bennett, asking the Council to pay his rent. Referred to the Charity committee.

From John Green, Sr. & Jr., asking for sidewalk and a bridge near their place. Referred to Street and Bridge Inspector with instruction to report.

From John McDonald offering to supply the town with hemlock and pine plank and cedar scantling, at $9.50 and $9 per thousand feet.—Received.

From Wm. Breakenridge, stating that he as Bailiff for the collector had lost several items of costs in cases where the Council had remitted the taxes of the parties.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

Petitions were read from Boyd Smith & Co., asking for a crossing across George Street opposite their office.—Received.

From Charles and others asking for a bridge across the Otonabee river near the Auburn Mills.—Received.

An account of $14.08 from Messrs. Douglass and Logan was referred to the Finance Committee.

A report of the Licence Inspector was read and received.

A report from the Inspector of streets and bridges, showing the quality of lumber &c. in the yard, to be lumber 17,661 feet, cedar scantling 4,842 feet, round cedars, 371.

An account from Benjamin Reynolds for $12.50, a quarter's salary, was ordered to be paid.

Dr. Kincaid's offer to supply medicine for Town patients was accepted, and ordered to be paid quarterly.

Mr. Cahill, as Chairman of the Finance committee reported:

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE,

Your Committee have taken into consideration the various matters referred to them and have decided to report recommending as follows.

With regard to the communication from the County Council in reference to open accounts between the two municipalities, your committee had made as thorough an investigation into the matter as possible, and beg to submit the results together with the recommendation of what we consider the best method of settling the matter with a view to establishing that good feeling between the town and county, which your committee think ought to exist.

In the first place with reference to the late iron bridge over the Otonabee river. We find that the total payments by the County, which your Committee consider legitimate, amount to $4,479.54; the total payments by the town $4,345.03, making altogether the sum of $8,814.57. Up to the date of the falling of the bridge half of this amount being the town's proportion, would be $4,407.28, exceeding the amount actually paid by the town by the sum of $62.25. This estimate does not take into consideration the sum of of $425 purported to have been paid to contractor, and which the Treasurer's books represents to have been paid which is at present under investigation, and if established will entitle the County to half of that amount, viz., $212.50, added to the former $62.25 would make $274.75, due the County on account of O B.

There are two items in the town account which have not been charged against the County, but which your committee are of opinion will be allowed by the County, viz.: an item paid Wm. Hamilton, travelling expenses, of $50, and Mr. Belcher's report costing $60. The half of this deducted from the amount shown due, would leave a balance due the county on the Otonabee bridge of $219.75.

We find also that the County payments on account of the Locks bridge exceed those of the town by the sum of $131.41, leaving a balance due the county on this transaction of $60.70.

With regard to the Court House grass account, your Committee find that the sum of $265, comprising the first item in this account, has already been before the Council twice and the Treasurer instructed to pay the town half within the years 1867 and '68, but which has not been complied with, and therefore consider this item should be paid with regard to the expenditure of 1874 and 1875. We found that the town's proportion will exceed the appropriation by about $34, which expenditure was authorized by the Joint Committee, the County having expended $982.43, and the town $136.07. This would leave a balance due the county of about $68.50,

Your Committee would recommend that as it is not desirable that the members of affairs should exist much longer, two opposit two members of this Council to settle their affairs with the County Treasurer and Warden on same such basis as set out in this report.

With regard to the petition of Mr. Carnegie and Rev. V. Clementi in reference to a central agricultural exhibition, would recommend this Council to grant the same sum and upon the same conditions.

We also beg to recommend payment of the following accounts:

Gas Co'y account ending March 1, 75	$216 80
Craig & Armstrong on rent of Fire Co'y	17 50
Davidson & Co, stationery for office	13 60
Douglass & Logan, on rent of Fire Co'y	30 00
Wm Rae, removing debris of bridge	20 75
W. Hopkins account Fire Company	39 25
Robertson & Walsh's account for printing	27 50
Jas Stratton, account for printing	108 55

We have examined pay lists No. 1 to No. 6, inclusive, amounting in the aggregate to 173.72, and found correct.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WALTER BEAL, Chairman.

Council Chamber, April 5, 1875.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Hamilton,—The Street Inspector was instructed to examine Lake and Park Streets, near the residences of Mr. Cocks and Gordon, and take such steps as may be necessary to stop the water flowing over said streets into those persons premises for the present.

On motion of Mr. McDonald, seconded by Mr. Dixon, Messrs. Beal, Rutherford and Edwards were appointed a committee to settle the account between the Town and County.

The Mayor was instructed to notify Mr. Romaine regarding the petition of Col. Haultain, Registrar, and have the maps made correct as required by-law.

Mr. McDonald moved, seconded by Mr. Beal,—That a gas lamp be put up on Aylmer Street opposite the Baptist Church.—Carried.

A by-law to amend the pedlars by-law was passed.

On motion of Mr. Hamilton the Council adjourned.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening.

Present—The Reeve, and Messrs. Bennett, Rombough, Mowry and Calcutt.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. Rombough, —That the account of Mr. Craig, overseer of highways, be paid; also the account of Mr. Swanston.—Carried

A By-law was passed to provide for—

On motion of Mr. Bennett, seconded by Mr. Mowry, the auditors were ordered to be paid $6 each, and a quarter's salary to Mr. Craig, as constable, fifty dollars.

On motion of Mr. Mowry, seconded by Mr. Rombough, the Treasurer was ordered to pay over to the Treasurer of the School Board, $300, in anticipation of School rate for 1875.

On motion of Mr. Rombough, seconded by Mr. Bennett, Mr. Craig was instructed to apply to Mr. Peter Clancey, for the share of the fees of scales due to the village.

The Council adjourned.

SOUTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

The municipal council of the township of South Monaghan, met in Benjamin Heaslip's hotel, Raillebore, on Monday, 29th day of March, 1875, at 11 o'clock, A. M., pursuant to adjournment. The members all present. The Reeve in the chair.

The minutes of last meeting were read and on motion, received.

Mr John Waterman presented a by law No. 193, being a by-law for the adjustment of the statute labor in the assessment roll for the year 1875.

Moved by J. Wood, seconded by Wm. Rutherford, that this Council do now adjourn for dinner.

The Council was resumed at 2:30

Lewis Bothwell handed in an account for having a road through his farm in the winter.

Moved by J. Wood, seconded by R. Pue, that this account be paid.—Carried.

Moved by J. Waterman, seconded by Wm. Rutherford, that By-law No. 193 be read a first time.—Carried.

Read a first time.

Moved by Joseph Wood, seconded by J. Waterman, that By-law No. 193, be now read a second time in committee of the whole, and that the Reeve do leave the chair.—Carried.

Joseph Wood in the Chair.

Moved by J. Barnard, seconded by J. Waterman, that the scale for the roadwork of the township of South Monaghan be: For not more than $560 dollars, two days; for no more than $1,200, three days; no more than $2,000, four days, and for every additional thousand dollars over two thousand, or any fraction thereof over five hundred dollars, one additional day.—Carried.

The chairman reported By-law No. 193 with blanks filled up.

The committee rose. The Reeve resumed the chair.

Moved by R. Pue, seconded by Wm. Rutherford, that By law No. 193, be read a third time passed and signed—Carried.

J. Waterman presented By-law No. 194, being a By-law to amend the fourth section of By-law No. 155.

By-law No. 194 passed its various stages and was passed and ordered to be signed.

Moved by Wm. Rutherford, seconded by J. Wood, that the Reeve issue his order on the Treasurer for whatever R. Byers may expend in opening up the boundary line.—Carried.

Moved by Wm. Rutherford, seconded by R. Pue, that J. Wood try to make arrangements with J. Smyth to draw some stumps on the road allowance in front of J. Smyth's not exceeding twenty or twenty-five cents each.—Carried.

Moved by R. Pue, seconded by Wm. Rutherford, that the Reeve issue his order on the Treasurer for the following amounts; viz:—

Lewis Bothwell, road for winter	$ 3 00
Councillors, one day	10 00

On motion the Council adjourned till Court of Revision to be held in the Council Chamber.

J. S. TURNBULL, Township Clerk.

THE WITNESS and the CHURCH.

The Archbishop of Quebec has forbidden Roman Catholics to read the Montreal Witness, so long as the proprietor publish Father Chinaquy's Lectures and writing against the Roman Catholic Church.

To this the Witness says:

WHOLESALE SOUL SLAUGHTER.

The National of this morning says:—"A fresh charge which places under "the ban of the major excommunication "all the faithful who shall read or sell the "Witness or advertise in its columns, if it "still continues to publish writings against "our Church, was yesterday read in the "various Catholic churches, and one is going to establish an English paper which "will combat the Protestant organ.

This is a gag law with a vengeance.

The Bishop must be making a good many mortal sinners. It is calculated that of the 4,000 copies of the Witness that go into Catholic readers, and of the remainder of its circulation, perhaps 5000 more, making 15,000, of whom not less than two-thirds will become mortal sinners. All this to take one or two thousand off her circulation. If our circulation goes down ten thousand, our course will not be altered until we are convinced by other arguments it is WRONG.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single care of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

The CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparation. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phthisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by sufferings and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every house hold and is last superceding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, billious choiic, cholera infantum dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more near; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all by agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electra Oil I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electic Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Prop'r, N. Y., and

NEW GRAPE,

EARLY CHAMPION.

After growing and fruiting this Grape on our grounds we can with confidence offer it to the public, as the earliest Grape in this country; ripening at least two weeks before any other of the hundreds of varieties cultivated. The bunches are large and compact; berry large, black covered with a rich bloom; quality good; strong and healthy grower, and an improvement, greater than we know of. It is particularly valuable for market and sells quick to shippers and others. Moreover we think it valuable as a WINE GRAPE.

We are permitted to refer to the following gentlemen who are on the Nursery business, Rochester:—Messrs Geo. John Wellman, City Treasurer, P. Barry Esq, H E Hooker, Esq, Geo Ellwanger, Esq, Nurserymen, J. H. Bramley, Esq, Wholesale Fruit Dealer, all of whom have seen the grape growing. We also annex a notice from the Rochester Daily Union and advertiser, Rochester August 23rd 1874.

A REMARKABLY EARLY GRAPE.—A novelty in the line of the grape was laid upon our table yesterday by Mr. R. J. Dodsell, of the Lake Avenue Nurseries, in the shape of a box of the "New Early Champion," a large and plump berry, which is the first to ripen in this latitude. It is considered and prized as a rarity by such connoisseurs as P. Barry, Ellwanger and others who have made grapes culture a specialty.

The recent case of death by strychnine poisoning from taking SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness of August 1st, renders great caution necessary not to confound Dr Wheeler's Compound Flixir of PHOSPHATES and Calisaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in orthography, and bear in mind that medicinally there is no similarity in action or effect.

HEART HUNGER

If you love me, darling,
Strait the ice spell
Which the heart's chill surface
Limpid waters well.

Oh, my heart is hungry
For the spoken word
We are paid in music
We are not a bird.

Roses give their fragrance
For our tender care,
Would you be less gracious,
Dearest one, so fair?

Were you bird or blossom
Go to me mine own,
I'd never live with music
Nor the dog has flown.

Not enough that duty
Every hour is done
Lest I die of hunger,
Feed me, little one.

Do not close the sun, dear,
To the warm, I wish,
Till they glow and sparkle
Love me with a kiss,

Clasp my neck, and lay your
Soft cheek close to mine,
At the touch, love's waters
Would be fairest to me.

That Affectionate Couple.

Everywhere that railroads penetrate and trains run, whether it be amid the snow drifts of a New Brunswick winter, or over the long inclines of the Rocky Mountains, along the valley of the Susquehana, or through the villages of New England; on express trains, accommodation trains and mixed trains; going east, west, north and south; from Monday to Saturday, and on Sunday, if there be any Sunday to run; no matter which particular car you are in, there, sooner or later, are found to sit the affectionate couple. They may not be in the train when it starts, but they are certain to enter it at one of the way stations. The affectionate couple never miss the train.

The affectionate couple are easily recognized, even before they have fully assumed their public character. They are young people; not youthful, exactly, but still having that indefinable something about them which betokens newness. The woman is undeniably dressed out in her best. Ditto the man. Her bonnet is very millineryish; his necktie is like a bit of tropical plumage. She wears ear-rings; he carries a very shiny bag of black enamelled cloth. Her hands have rather an uncomfortable look within their gloves; his overcoat sits uneasily, and his hat is only half at large upon his head.

The affectionate couple generally select a seat toward the rear, rather than the forward end of the car. They have a little delicacy, and will considerately have as many of their fellow passengers as possible from being obliged to witness their exchange of endearments.

The process by which the identity of the affectionate couple becomes finally and fully known, is a gradual one. The first step is for the young man to put his arm over the back of the seat behind the young woman. The next step is to bend his hand forward a trifle, so as to enforce a verbal entreaty when the time comes to utter it, with a little gentle manual pressure. Under these simple, but powerful influences, the young woman is presently seized with an irresistibly sleepy feeling. True, it is but the third hour of the day, she has ridden but a few miles; she has but a few more to ride; but she grows sleepy, nevertheless, and, before long, yielding to an impulse she cannot control, surrenders the coveted head to rest upon the eager shoulder of her waiting companion.

The affectionate couple are now complete. But only for a moment. The young woman suddenly finds the position somewhat constrained and awkward, or perhaps grows sensitive to the eyes and judgement of the two occupants of the seat immediately behind, and recovers herself to an erect posture But not for long. The young man is a man of perseverance, of courage, of indifference to the public eye. He is bent upon embracing—the opportunity And so on to the end of the journey.

Of course the affectionate couple are not a married couple. The woman is not sick or weary. She can hold her head up as high as anybody on occasion. Were the circumstances otherwise, we would excuse her. As it is, it is a case of pure treacle—and disagreeable at that

Who Can Cure the Fatal Appetite For Liquor

Some time ago, while working in the temperance field in an Eastern State, I was accosted one day, upon the street, by a gentleman friend, who said, "I wish you would go and talk with Mr. ——," naming a prominent official of the city in which I was then residing. "He is a noble-hearted man and earnest in his endeavors to break loose from the chains which, again and again the demon of strong drink has thrown and is throwing around him. If any one can assist him in his dire extremity it is you. Go and see him."

Thus urged, I entered his large and commodious office and received his kindly greeting. Being seated I stated plainly my business. He thanked me for the kindness of calling and we entered into conversation upon the subject which had brought us together.

Said he, "You can tell me nothing about the evil of intemperance. My peculiar official position brings me in contact daily with those who have been made miserable and degraded by it. I know the magnitude of the evil, and I know its gigantic power. Again and again, with my soul filled with honest and earnest resolve, I have taken the pledge only to break it. My official connections, acquaintances and surroundings are such that I am brought in contact with the temptation almost every hour in the day. I succumb to the social glass which promises to cheer and comfort me, but, alas, when I awake to my true condition, I find myself a slave to the monster intemperance. I have tried so often and so faithfully to break loose from its enthralment and have ever failed. I am well nigh discouraged."

I gazed upon him. A fine head, a noble genial countenance, and as he spoke the fire of deep emotion burned on his cheek and beamed from his tearful eyes.

"There is no help for me," he said.

"One thing you lack," I said, "Put your trust in God."

Then I conversed with him upon the goodness, mercy, loving-kindness, power and strength of the Most High, showing him that in His outstretched arms, and upon His open breast alone was there comfort and peace, and that His alone was the power upon which he must rely in his battle with his great adversary.

He dropped his head, and for a time seemed buried in deep thought. At last looking up, he said, "I never thought of that, but I feel and know that you are right—there is my only refuge."

His office business interrupting, we separated for a long time. Soon I saw and heard him in the prayer meeting. He had accepted the truths and promises of Jesus, and he was redeemed, regenerated, saved! To day there stands in his city no purer and more earnest Christian, or more zealous, working temperance man than he.—N. Y. Witness.

A Generous Pickpocket.

During an omnibus journey, a lady found herself seated next to a very flashily dressed young man, who left the coach before it came to her turn for alighting. When she did alight, what was her horror to find that her purse, containing, luckily, only ten dollars was gone. In vain was search made by the conductor in the straw: the missing article could not be found. Without any doubt, the flashily-dressed young man had picked her pockets and made off with the proceeds. But the lady, thinking she might have been mistaken, again searched her pocket. The purse did not meet her fingers, but something else did. Withdrawing her hand, she produced a massive ring set with what appeared to be a white crystal. After this proof there could be little doubt that her flashily-tellow-traveller had stolen the purse; so that lady was obliged to ask a friend who had accompanied her to pay both their fares and to resign herself to the loss. When recounting the affair to her husband that night, she produced the ring, which was probably considered a worthless bit of Birmingham ware, since thieves do not generally sport much jewelry. Yet the same stone was wonderfully brilliant, and the cutting very perfect, while the setting appeared somewhat heavy for brass. Altogether they were so struck by its appearance, that they next day took the gewgaw to a leading jeweler. What would he give for it? After some inspection he offered four hundred dollars, the stone being a remarkably fine brilliant and the setting pure gold. The above story is literally and absolutely true.

A NAMELESS SPELL

There is a certain air about the most agreable lady in full dress, that is formidable even to her husband. I have seen the spell work on him as her toilet progressed, until royall arranged, she admired of all admirers, in the festive crowd, he subsides into comparative insignificance, and has to pinch himself to be sure the divine creature of art is really his lawful wife, bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh. He may consider himself lucky if it is not as much of an enigma to her. It is easily to see then how difficult it is for a single man to make advances to a lady at a party. His condition is still more pitiable when one lady, more venturesome than the rest, essays to "draw him out." The leaves of the sensitive plant do not close more suddenly and effectively to the touch than does every pleasant thought and subject of conversation vanish from his mind: He answers her brilliant sallies in monosyllables with a perfect funeral countenance, and she gives it up as a hard task. No one can describe his relief when a bright, sensitive woman crosses his path. He takes to her as birds to sunshine, and the society-belle makes a note of it in her mind with surprise akin to curosity. It is entertaining to hear one of these fellows expatiate upon such a godsend. He does it something in this way: I was bored to death at a party, when this good women came along. Before she opened her mouth I felt at home with her, and when I heard her original remarks and charming sallies of wit I was captured quite." Ten to one that paragon of her sex set that man to talking of himself and the evening thus wore quickly away Herein lies a double moral, ladies.

The Rage of SealSkins.

Some thirty years ago sealskin was common enough. Boxes were covered with it, costermongers and calmen cut their caps from it. Then came a time when some cunning furrier discovered how to dye it a rich dark brown and to give it that exquisite soft and downy texture which is its chief charm. At once ladies adopted the luxury. It was soon found that for cloaks, jackets, muffs, dainty little hats, collars, cuffs, bags, portemonaies, for a thousand other articles of femine use, it was the most delightful, the most beautiful the most indispensable of all possible materials.

The demand for it increased with a rapidity almost marvelous, and the fashion, instead of wearing itself out, has, if anything, steadily increased. Indeed, the best Alaska sealskins, like the furs of the sable, the silver fox and and the Russian sea otter, command an altogether fancy price, and the handsome jacket of close texture and uniform color, with no white hairs to break the continuation of this tint, will fetch as many guineas as five and twenty years ago it would have fetched half-crowns. The result is that the luckless seals have had waged against them now for several years what practically amounts to a war of extermination.

Nana Sahib.

A writer in the Christian at work, gives what he calls "The true story of Nana Sahib's life." He says he knew him in 1857, when he was a young man of twenty two years, and adds:—"Only a few weeks before the rebellion broke out he was the honoured guest at the Government House in Calcutta, and was personally known to the writer as a young man of rare talent and remarkable for his manly beauty and native dignity and courtesy of manner.

"The idea of more people who read of the Cawnpore massacre is that the Nana was a sort of demi-brute, a deformity both mental and physically. The fact is this young man was a boy, and was led through the influence of Ranee Jansi—a most beautiful but dangerous and fiendlike woman—as well as through the influence of others of his own caste—among who may be counted the two sons of the Great Mogul at Delhi, and over and above all the King of Oude—to cast his lot with the parties to the rebellion."

It is generally supposed that packages and letters can be transmitted from place to place through pneumatic tubes with extraordinary rapidity in something less than at the rate of a mile in one minute. That is not even a high rate of speed can be attained is shown by the operation of the pneumatic tubes now used in London, where they have a line for carrying large packages and mail bags, and a large number of small tubes for sending telegraph messages. The messages are placed in carriers which are driven through the tubes by an air pressure produced by six air pumps worked by three fifty-horse engines. But when the length of the tube is only one mile the best through time made is not better than three minutes, and in longer tubes the speed is proportionately slower. It has been found that tubes of lead work much better than iron tubes, as the interior of the lead remain smooth

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FIRST PRIZE CALIFORNIA

WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

OPINIONS THOUSANDS proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberand, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, being an element of every solid and fluid of the body, and they are incapable of injurious results at any period from in fancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and nomore harm can result from taking any more than the prescribed dose than from eating to hearty a dinner. 50-tf

ACCIDENT INSURANCE.

MONTREAL, 3rd February, 1874.

MESSRS. FOSTER, WELLS & BRINLEY:

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to acknowledge cheque from the Travellers' Insurance Company, for seven hundred and fifty dollars, in full of my claim for Indemnity, under Policy No. 800,381, resulting from injuries received the 23th of August last. In sending testimony to the present manner in which the Company have settled my claim, I consider it a duty as well as a pleasure, to recommend Accident Insurance as one of the most valuable systems of underwriting of the present day, and the Travellers' the Greatest among of the largest worldwide and enjoying a reputation for solidity, promptness and liberality.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

For all the purposes of a Family Medicine.

Perhaps in the wide circle of human ailments there is none which requires less variation of treatment to suit individual cases, or in which a cathartic acts more uniformly alike in different persons, than in Costiveness. Hence a remedy which relieves this condition promptly and thoroughly must be of great service when taken for any of the various diseases which originate in it. Such a remedy, we have found, by abundant proof, these Pills to be. Established in 1847, they have long been recognized as the best aperient required by every family, as well as the most reliable and effectual remedy that can be employed by the physician. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate, by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action — remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which causes it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

As occasional doses stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, they thereby purify the blood, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so strong a hold upon the confidence of mankind, as has this remedy for pulmonary complaints. Its unparalleled efficacy, and almost miraculous character and power, to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known in every habitable quarter of the globe. While so adapted to subdue the severest attacks of disease and to save to the sufferer the most formidable and dangerous of all maladies, at the same time the most effective remedy for the relief and cure of the milder affections of the throat and lungs, is to be found. Such a medicine should be kept on hand in every family, for the protection of health and life, as no one is secure when these complaints are neglected, even for a short time, and should be provided with the remedies known to cure.

Although so-called Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers, who have been pronounced past recovery, have been completely restored to health, and the patient restored to sound health by the use of Cherry Pectoral. In curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, this medicine has performed wonderful cures. Many of these publish their certificates, so that the public may know where to look for proof, and upon this testimony we ask confidence. Cherry Pectoral they subdue and cure.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved, and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by the use of Cherry Pectoral in connection with the proper treatment. So generally are the above diseases known to originate from neglected colds, that we need not publish the certificates of the many who have been relieved by this remedy, but will assure the public that it is reliable, and may be safely relied upon to do all that is claimed for it.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, this Cure, and it is the only remedy that can be relied upon with certainty in the most obstinate cases of Ague and Fever, and other diseases of the same character which prevail in the valley of the Mississippi. The climate will forever, it is to be feared, be productive of these fearful diseases, and the public should be forewarned and forearmed against them. Every one who resides in the West should have a remedy at hand for the protection of himself and family. Such a remedy is AYER'S AGUE CURE. Many have been cured by it after all other remedies had failed, and where the climate has been thought to produce these diseases. Not only does it cure, but it counteracts the malarious influence of the atmosphere, and those who use it are not only protected from the disease, but enjoy good health, strong nerves, and vigorous digestive organs. For Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, or Biliousness, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver to healthy action, and purifying the blood. For Rheumatism, Neuralgia, or Kidney Complaints, it is an excellent remedy. For Female Complaints, and Ailments incidental thereto, Lowell, Mass., and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and Canada Life Insurance Company.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A DIVISION of FIVE YEARS' PROFITS of the Canada Life Assurance Company will shortly be made. Assurers on or before the 30th April next, will be entitled to one full years' share of three Profits; and as the continued prosperity of the Company warrants the expectation that they will again be of a most satisfactory and valuable character, assurers are invited to participate in them.

During the past 5 years, over 3000 new policies have been issued by the Company, and such an increase of new assurances well indicates the increasing confidence of the Public in this old established and purely Canadian Institution.

THE COMPANY WAS ESTABLISHED IN 1847,

The Amount of Sums Assured is over - - - $12,000,000

The Annual Income is about - - - - - 600,000

The Amount of Capital and Funds is over $2,000,000

Forms of Application, Detailed Reports, and Tables of Rates; may be obtained at the Head Office in Hamilton, or any of the Company's Agencies,

Select Poetry.

A DEED AND A WORD.

A little spring had lost its way
Amid the grass and fern;
A passing stranger scooped a well.
Where weary men might turn:
He walled it in, and hung with care
A bucket at the brink.
He thought not of the deed he did,
But judged that toil might drink.
He passed again, and lo! the well,
By summer never dried,
Had cooled ten thousand parching tongues,
And saved a life beside.

A nameless man, amid a crowd
That thronged the daily mart,
Let fall a word of hope and love,
Unstudied from the heart;
A whisper on the troubled waves,
A ripple on the shore,
A trifle light as air to him,
But mighty as the last!

THE GREAT PYRAMID.

STRANGE, IT TRUE.

Prof. C. Piazzi Smyth, Astronomer Royal for Scotland, has, within the last few months, published a remarkable work of over 500 pages, with 17 explanatory plates, entitled, "Our Inheritance in the Great Pyramid," which appears to have a remarkable bearing on science, as well as some of the leading Prophetic events of the world, but more especially in connection with Israel.

Professor Smyth, in a small phamphlet recently issued, containing some correspondence with the Royal Society of London, says: "The Great Pyramid is the highest and holiest subject that can ever occupy a scientific Society, supposed now, according to an increasing body of evidence, to have been erected under the eye of Melchisedek, and according to a design furnished to him by Divine Inspiration."

The Great Pyramid stands in latitude 30° at the centre of an arc which sweeps the Delta of Lower Egypt. Isaih appears to allude to this massive monument in the following language: "In that day shall there be an Altar to the Lord in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the Lord. And it shall be for a sign, and for a witness unto the Lord of hosts in the land of Egypt." (Isaiah xix. 19 20). This witness testimony of the Great Pyramid, according to the Astronomer Royal, was only to be made manifest in the Latter Days, and in accordance with what God had purposed upon mankind.

The Great Pyramid also stands in the geographical centre of all the land portions of the globe. Its base covers over 13 square acres, and it is built upon a rock levelled for the purpose. The four corner stones are let into the main rock, and the four sides of the building face exactly the four cardinal points of the heavens.

THE SACRED CUBIT.

The ten-millionth part of the earth's semi-axis of rotation is 25 Pyramid inches, or 25·025 British inches; which was suggested by Sir Isaac Newton, in his days, to be about the correct length of the Sacred Cubit employed by Moses Prof. Piazzi Smyth regards it as more than probable that the British inch was once the exact 25th part of the Sacred Cubit, and precisely the same as the Pyramid inch, but that through centuries it has deteriorated in length by a very small decimal.

The length of a base side of the Great Pyramid is 9,130 Pyramid inches; and this number divided by the Sacred Cubit, or 25, gives exactly the number of days, hours and minutes in the solar year; and by measuring the four sides, it gives the leap-year, there being precisely that difference in the length of one of those base sides.

HEIGHT OF THE PYRAMID.

The vertical height of the Great Pyramid being 5,813 Pyramid inches (484 feet) is a radius of a theoretical circle, the length of whose curved circumference is exactly equal to the sum of the lengths of the four straight sides of the actual and practical square base of the building; and as the data of its building has been determined, by its star-pointings, as well as by internal measurements in Pyramid inches, to be 2170 B. C., it therefore displays science three thousand years in advance of its own time.

The blocks of white limestone casing-stones, which once covered its entire four sides, forming a level and smooth surface, were nearly 5 feet in height, 8 feet in breadth, and 12 feet in length, and joined together with a film of cement no thicker than a sheet of silver paper.

DISTANCE TO THE SUN.

Mr. William Petrie, C. E., has computed from the Great Pyramid, the distance to the sun as 91,840 miles; while, a few years ago, one group of Astronomers computed the distance to be 91,500,000, and another group give it as 92,500,000; thus the Pyramid sun-distance, falling between the computations of them two groups of modern Astronomers, is perhaps as nearly correct as human science will ever determine.

The mouth of the entrance-passage is about 49 feet above the ground on that side, and descends by a very small bore, leading in a straight line to a subterranean rock-chamber 1000 feet below the centre of the base of the whole built monument. This subterranean chamber is 46 feet long by 23 broad, the sides and ceiling of which are finished, but there is no attempt at a finish of the bottom.

The ascending passage, leading from the entrance passage to the Grand Gallery, has its junction with the entrance passage at the distance of about 1,045 inches from its mouth, and is 47 inches in height, and 41 inches in breadth, and is at an elevation of 26 degrees. The Grand Gallery being 26 feet in height, is seven times the height of the passage leading thereto, and is also at an elevation of 26 degrees.

Near the entrance of the Grand Gallery, there is a hole or passage which descends almost perpendicularly to a natural grotto in the rock beneath the Pyramid's base, and from thence the passage descends still lower until it forms a junction with the descending passage, a short distance from the point where the ascending passage leads into the subterranean rock-chamber, which chamber is over 140 feet beneath the lower end of the Grand Gallery.

The Grand Gallery leads to the Ante-Chamber adjoining the King's Chamber. The doorway into the Ante-Chamber from the Grand Gallery is only 42 inches high, as is also the height of the doorway entering the King's Chamber from the Ante-Chamber, while the wall of the doorway into the King's Chamber is 100 inches thick.

THE ANTE-CHAMBER.

The Ante-Chamber is 116 Pyramid inches in length, 65 inches in breadth from east to west, and 149 inches in height. The grand symbol is this little chamber on the south wall is its division into 5 perpendicular spaces; while on the east and west walls there is a granite leaf, with a boss on each leaf. Here we have the Sacred, or the Great Pyramid's own, Cubit divided into 5 in the shape of this boss on the granite leaf, just 5 inches broad. "And further, that fifth part of that cubit of the Great Pyramid's symbolical design is divided before our eyes into 5 again; for the thickness of this remarkable boss is 1-5th of its breadth. So there you have the division of the Sacred Cubit into 5 x 5 inches."

THE KING'S CHAMBER.

The King's Chamber is shielded from the outside heat and cold, by a thickness of nowhere less than 180 feet of solid masonry. The principle of 5's is a grand tendency in the Pyramid, and is carried out even in its temperature; that is one-fifth the distance between the freezing and boiling points of water above the former. The temperature of the King's Chamber is 50 degrees, which is the mean temperature both of all lands inhabited by man, and the most suitable degree to man.

The size of the King's Chamber, in Pyramid inches, is 412 in length, 205 in breadth, and 230 in height. In this chamber there is a stone coffer of the same commensurable capacity as the sacred Ark of the the Covenant, the fourth part of the cubic contents of which is equivalent to the quarter corn measure of the British farmer.

The division into 5, of the wall courses at the King's Chamber of granite, aised to an equal height, strikes the eye of the traveller, as he enters the low doorway into that magnificently finished room, which is equal to fine jewelry polish. Each course round the room is about four feet in height, except the lowest course which sinks one tenth below the floor, so that the top of the lowest course is on a level with the top of the granite coffer. Two separate sets of measured numbers in Pyramid inches, for the length, breadth and height of the lowest course, give, when divided by the coffer's contents, 50. So we have the multiple of 5 x 5 = 25, and twice 25 = 50. Now 50 is a prophetic or Jubilee number; and it is somewhat striking that the King's Chamber stands on the 50th course of masonry from the Pyramid's base, whereon also stands the granite coffer, a vessel with commensurable capacity proportions between its inside and out, and walk and floor in a room with 5 courses composed of 100 stones, and with a capacity proportion of 50 to the 5 of these courses.

THE QUEEN'S CHAMBER.

50 Pyramid inches form the one ten-millionth of the earth's axis of rotation, and consequently the one ten-millionth of the semi-axis is 25 Pyramid inches the exact length, as already stated, of the sacred cubit. So we see that the King's Chamber is the standard of 50, or of two cubits length; while the Queen's Chamber is the standard of 25, or one cubit length; for it stands on the 25th course of masonry composing the Pyramid. The passage which enters the Queen's Chamber is a horizontal one, leading from near the lower end of the Grand Gallery. The one grand architectural feature of the Queen's Chamber is the niche in the east wall, which symbolizes, by its amount of eccentric displacement in the room, just one cubit.

We might expect to find that one ten-millions of cubic inches are indicated by this room's contents, as against the two ten-millions of the King's Chamber, which is almost exactly the case.

WHAT JOSEPHUS SAYS.

The statement is made by Josephus that the descendants of Seth, in whose line afterwards came Noah, Shem, Melchisedek, Abraham and Moses, betook themselves to studying Astronomy, with the special approval and help of Almighty God; and when they had perfected their discoveries, they set forth from their own land (which was probably Mesopotamia) to the land of Shinar or Egypt, and inscribed their discoveries there in two pillars, one of stone, and one of brick.

SACRED ARK OF THE COVENANT.

The Ark was kept in the Holiest of Holies, and with other things, containing the Divine Autograph of the Law of God written on stone. The Ark had a crown of gold round about the rim, and there was placed over it a lid made of pure gold, called the mercy seat, representing the throne of God. The size of the Ark, as given by Moses, is two and a half cubits long; one and a half high, and one and a half broad, cubits measure; which being reduced to Pyramid inches, or Sir Isaac Newton's and Professor Smyth's evaluation of the sacred cubit, and allowing 1¼ inches for thickness of sides and ends, and 2 inches for the bottom, would yield for the inside cubical contents, 71,313 cubic Pyramid inches; which corresponds with the cubical contents of the inside measure of the granite coffer in the King's Chamber in the Great Pyramid.

"Such, then, looked at in the light of science, three thousand three hundred years after its day of construction, must have been the actual Ark of the Covenant, built according to the inspiration communicated by Moses, after he had left Egypt for ever."

SOLOMON'S MOLTEN SEA.

Both the Molten Sea of Solomon's Temple, and the Ark of the Covenant, were what science in that day could not possibly have devised, that is to have made them correct commensurable. The molten sea [illegible] 2,000 baths, or 90 times as much as its layer, and also exactly 90 times as much as the internal cubic contents of the sacred Ark of Moses.

It is remarkable that the layer the subterranean rock-chamber, which chamber is over 140 feet beneath the lower end of the Grand Gallery.

The Grand Gallery leads to the Ante-Chamber adjoining the King's Chamber. The doorway into the Ante-Chamber from the Grand Gallery is only 42 inches high, as is also the height of the doorway entering the King's Chamber from the Ante-Chamber, while the wall of the doorway into the King's Chamber is 100 inches thick.

THE ANTE-CHAMBER.

The Ante-Chamber is 116 Pyramid inches in length, 65 inches in breadth from east to west, and 149 inches in height. The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 15, 1875.

THE SESSION

The session of the parliament of the Dominion was prorogued last week. The business of the Commons will be seen by the number of Bills assented to by His Excellency the Governor-General. Many of them will be found of great importance to the Dominion. It is certain that the greatest despatch characterized all the actions of the Ministry, and their efforts to reform the abuses in railway manage ment and expenditure on the part of the officials. The investigation of the Wallace Committee shows to what extent the public funds were placed under the control of parties not at all responsible, and who paid it away regardless of results, except to secure the continued friendship of contractors and friends of the late Government. The manner of supplying goods and material for the Intercolonial and Eastern roads affords room for great improvement. Friends of Ministers were permitted to supply goods and charge double prices, although they were only to have a small commission for their trouble. By this thousands and tens of thousands of the moneys of Canada were paid away to sons-in-law, and nephews of ministers. The leakage in his way cannot now be fully determined. The method of paying accounts and claims by the Chief Engineer, and others along the lines of railway has been stopped. The greatest looseness has been found to exist in almost every branch of the Pacific railway survey, but Mr. Mackenzie has put an end to this state of things on that line. The parties thus affected, are making a little fuss, are railing against the Government and endeavor to blacken them for doing their duty. The building of the Pacific road will entail an enormous expense on the Country, and every leak must be stopped lest the Country be ruined.

In reference to the different acts that have been passed, it is very difficult to arrive at any conclusion, but there is no reason to doubt that they are considered wise and necessary: and as all of them have been passed by large majorities, it may fairly be inferred that they are in accordance with the minds of the people's representatives. The Act providing for the establishment of a Supreme Court for the Dominion is the work of the present session, but was largely the work of the late Ministry. Sir John, however, fearred to introduce it lest he might be defeated thereon. It is now law and the result must be left to the future to determine.

Mr. Mills succeeded in carrying a motion to remodel the Senate. It was held that the appointment of Senators in the past was always with a view to provide for worn out political hacks, whose service to party was stronger than to country. While this may have been the case, many of the appointments have been good ones, yet, as might be expected, many of them have not But suppose the elective system was to be again introduced, would no worn out politicians be returned by both Reformers, and Conservatives? The truth is that while largely in favor of an elective senate, it would be too much to expect that only good men would be elected. Have we not seen men elected to enable them to obtain an office, on conditions of favors of some kind or other, and men are not so perfect that they would not do the same thing again. The Militia system of the Dominion has also been remodeled to some extent, but our confidence in preparing for defence by training our young men to play at soldier, is not very fixed. The only thing that can be reasonably expected from the Militia system is a large outlay, no matter who governs.

The action of the House in the matter of a Prohibitory Liquor Law appears to favor the early enactment of a law to that end. But we regret to find that the Ministry shows symptoms of weakness on this question. The great spring of their action is the revenue derived from the traffic and they are not reformers enough to reform this dreadful evil. But it will come, and they would have the blessings of thousands of those who now wallow in the mire if they would but take a bold stand, and do away with it. These are the important items that engaged the attention of legislators except an Incidental Law which perhaps was needed and may be necessary to some extent very soon.

The leaders of the Government have shown decided tact and wisdom in conducting the affairs of the country in general and are sure to retain the confidence of the people. The return to power of the party lately defeated need not be expected unless by some combination of opposing parties. The Conservatives hope to induce Mr. Blake to take the lead of a new party, the Canada First or any other, and then they would rally to his standard they say. Mr. Blake is not yet in need of their aid, and consequently, not likely to seek it. In the meantime they watch possess their souls in patience.

FIRE IN ASHBURNHAM

On Wednesday night last, about 11 o'clock, the Woolen Factory, Carding and Fulling Mill in Ashburnham adjoining the Mowry Foundry and machine shop, was discovered to be on fire. Alarm was immediately given, but before anything could be done the flames had so far advanced as to render it impossible to save the building or anything in it. The fire company was there in good time, and by using two branches of hose they were enabled to confine it to the building in which it originated. It was very fortunate for Messrs. Mowry & Forsyth, and for Mr. W. Rosebourgh, who had a planing shop, and Mr. Cope who had a turning shop contiguous, that the temporary bridge was passable, for without the steam engine it would have been impossible to save their property, and if they had taken, the saw mill and other property adjacent would have been in great danger. For although the Messrs. Mowry & Forsyth were able to stay the progress of the fire with their small engine, and also on a portion of the building used as a shingle factory by Mr. John Stephenson, they could not have battled successfully with the fiery element, without the aid of the steam engine.

The Fire Company did all that could be expected of them, and from the time the water began to be applied, used it just where it could be used to the best advantage. The value of the steam engine was never better tested than at this fire. By its timely arrival and well directed energies, not less than $10,000 to $12,000 worth of property, if not more, was saved from destruction. As it is about $6,000 will cover the loss.

Mr. D. Brook, who had the building rented, has lost everything, as not a dollars worth was got out. The loss of machinery will be between $2500 and $3000 the wool, cloth, etc., in the mill we are informed, was about $1,500, and the building could not be replaced for much less than $2,000, but it was somewhat the worse of time. Mr. R. D. Roger owned the building and a portion of the machinery in it. Mr. Brook owning the remainder Mr. A. Sawers had over $1,000 worth of cloth in it at the time to be dressed, which was completely destroyed.

There was no Insurance on the building, and only about $600 on a portion of the machinery. The remainder is a complete loss.

Mr. Brook is left without anything, he is also out of work, and, by this clear sweep, is left without means of commencing again. There is a movement on foot to aid him, however, which we trust will be successful. He is a deserving and hard working man, and certainly should have the sympathy of the generous public.

SMALL FIRE ENGINES.

The attention of the council of Ashburnham and of the town has again and again been called to the value of small engines that four to six boys could work in staying the spread of fires before the steam engine can arrive at the place: they can be so easily worked and are generally on hand a few minutes after the alarm. They can be taken from one place to another at short notice, and when used with sufficient hose are valuable, especially in saving contiguous property.

Several instances of this have been known both in the Town and Village. In Ashburnham, Mr. Rogers' small engine saved Mr. Wand's building last fall, or it would have been destroyed before the steam engine could get there. Last summer Mr. Morgan's small engine saved the Commercial House and adjacent block at the time of the Mills fire on brock Street, while the large engine was at work on the other side of the street. It is well known that the Commercial House then caught fire several times and would have been consumed but for the little garden engine and the perseverance of a few individuals who checked the flames in their incipient stages, and that where men could not get at it with pails. The Councils should lose no time in providing two or three each. Fire companies of boys could be formed and by their aid a great deal of property could be saved. Especially would one or two be useful in Ashburnham, where houses are small and scattered and at a distance from the steam engine. If a small matter may kindle a great fire a small portion of water at first may prevent one.

THE BRIDGE.

We are being continually accosted and asked, What is being done about the new bridge? To this we are forced to reply, 'don't know; guess nothing yet.' The committee is slow in its movements, but their time to act is coming. We might have had a bridge long since if our committee had not been so cautious. Well, caution sometimes is a virtue and the late bridge, no doubt, affords a useful lesson in this way. The Committee will meet on the 15th inst.. it is said.

THE TEMPORARY BRIDGE

Is doing good service. It is substantial enough until the waters rise to its height and then it cannot be expected to resist a shove of any magnitude. At the breaking up of the ice a bent was taken away, but Mr. Boyd replaced it in a few hours. It was disarranged a trifle in the east side of the pier, but nothing to render it in the least unsafe. A jam may come any day, and if so it is too temporary to resist a large one. We have admitted several letters on the subject of bridges and are still ready to admit others affording information to our County and Town Councillors. Still we would urge no longer delay. What sort of a bridge may be over the Otonabee to-morrow is doubtful, and at the best 'delays are dangerous.'

Supposing a total of 933, and the average given in the Guide, the average attendance would be about 680, which at $8,061 would make education in Port Hope, public schools cost from $12.80 to $13 per pupil.

DEATH.

Whilst the Bishop of Ontario was addressing a confirmation class in the Bridgeman in connection with St. Thomas Church, Belleville, in February, in referring to the communion, he represented as saying: "Notwithstanding his promise with his teeth the body and blood of his Lord." It is, therefore, inferred that he teaches Romanist doctrines The laity do not relish these teachings, and are not likely to remain at ease under them.

From a book recently published in England, we learn that the number of Roman Catholic Bishops and Priests in England has increased from 477 in 1829, to 1,864 in 1872; that the public and private chapels connected with that Church in 1829 numbered 449, and in 1872, 1,400. At the former date there were no convents or monasteries, while at the latter there were 232 of the former and 72 of the latter.

A few evenings ago the Catholic members of the New Brunswick House of Assembly, headed by Mr. Burns, had a conference with the Government in reference to making such modifications of the School Act as shall make it acceptable to the Catholics of the Province. It is rumored that the propositions put forward refer, first to the attendance at school of Catholic children in populous districts; to the mode of licensing the Christian Brothers and Sisters of Charity on certain tests; to the substitution for objectionable books in history and reading of others approved by the Board, and to the allowance of religious instruction after school hours.

THE WIGMORE CASE.

Information was laid before Jas. Edwards, Esq., J. P., on Tuesday, by Mr. Samuel Wigmore against Esther E. Lewis charging her with forging the signature, and writing the letter that contained the medicine lately referred to and sworn as received by her mother in the Blairton Post office. It is set forth that said Esther E. Lewis did write the letter herself, put medicine in it, sealed and stamped it, and got a boy to leave it in the Havelock post office. It is also stated that the witness, Cannon will swear that the said boy was standing outside of the post office, or not far therefrom, and did ask him, Cannon, if he had got the letter he left to be taken to Blairton. A warrant has been issued to arrest her, and also to bring the boy as a witness. The charge will be investigated to-day before Mr. Edwards. The result will be published in due time. In the meantime surmises are of no consequence. Public opinion is divided as to the past work of the actors in this sad drama.

CAMPBELLFORD.

There was an extensive fire in Campbellford on the 9th instant, consuming nine buildings. The fire originated in a grocery store, the losses are reported as follows:—

Store and dwelling owned by heirs of Mr. McColl. Loss $1,000; insurance, $600; occupied by S. & B. C. Johns as a grocery store; loss, $1,500; covered by insurance.

The overhead dwelling occupied by S. B. Crook, The occupants three in number, barely escaped; no insurance.

The dwelling north of the above, also owned by the heirs of Mr. McColl. Loss $1,200, insurance, $600, occupied by Dr. Pettigrew; goods removed.

Phoenix Hotel, owned by Daniel Collins, Jr. Loss $3,000; no insurance.

Building occupied by Blute & Brickley Loss, $2,000; insurance, $1,000.

Store and dwelling owned by Daniel Kennedy. Loss, $1,500, insurance, $300

Building occupied by J A. Mathewson as a grocery store and dwelling. Loss $2,000; insurance, $1,300.

Building occupied by John Whitton as a butcher shop. Loss not known; no insurance.

Saddler shop, owned by C. G. Adams, Loss $200, no insurance.

Building occupied by Head & Machun Goods saved.

Office owned and occupied by Robert Cockburn, Loss $3,000, insurance, $1, 800.

The building was occupied by David Adams. Loss $1,500, insurance $600.

A block of three small wooden buildings, owned by Hugh Gibb, no insurance

One occupied by Miss Rondle as a fancy goods shop Goods saved,

One occupied by John McCarthy as a shoe shop. Goods saved.

Store owned by C. G. Adams, loss trifling. Occupied by E. Nulty.

The Post-office and Montreal Telegraph Company offices in the brick building, occupied by J. M. Ferris & Co., was threatened, but by the precautions taken and by being pretty well protected by fire walls, it did not take fire, though the goods were nearly all removed, and only slightly damaged; covered by insurance.

LARGE FIRE AT GUELPH.

Guelph, April 12. 1875.

The most extensive fire which has occurred here for several years took place on Saturday night. The large Sewing machine factory belonging to O Raymond on Yarmouth street was burned to the ground. The men had stopped work at five o'clock and the place was closed up and left in charge of the watchman about nine o'clock. He says he made his rounds as usual, examined every apartment from the engine room to the attic near the belfry and found all safe, and no trace of fire. The first alarm was given about ten o'clock. A dense cloud of smoke was by this time coming through the roof near the belfry. Before the fire engine arrived the fire had gained such headway, having spread over the entire roof of the stone building (formerly Knox's Church) which was part of the factory, that it was impossible to save it. The books, papers safe, etc., were saved. Pretty much all the machinery and the sewing machines made and in course of construction were got out. How the fire originated is a mystery. It is impossible to tak what the loss amounts to, but it will be considerable, even after allowing for the insurance, which amounts on the property and machinery to $76,360.

Later—The number of men thrown out of immediate employment by the fire is about one hundred.

The total insurance amounts to $16,300 divided among the Western, North British Mercantile, and British American offices. The loss, over and above insurance it is impossible to find out until all the machinery and the stock, manufactured and in process, damaged by removal, is fully valued.

Mr. Raymond has secured the foundry on Paisley street (Messrs. Howard and Gray's) which he will fit up and temporarily use as a factory. It is expected that this one will be in full blast inside of a month. With commendable energy he has already arranged for erecting a magnificent factory on the site of the one burned on Yarmouth street.

Marchmont Home Destroyed.

Misfortune has fallen heavily upon the benevolent efforts of Miss Macpherson and her coadjutors, in their noble work of bringing out homeless children to this country, where homes might be provided for them. In the first place, fire destroyed the beautiful place which she had secured for the reception of the youthful immigrants on their arrival in this country, and testing amongst the destruction, by the same devouring element, of the new "Marchmont," which the liberality of the friends of this enterprise had provided.

Shortly after one o'clock to-day, the premises were discovered to be on fire, the supposed cause being a defective chimney flue. The alarm was at once given, and No. 4 Chemical, No. 5 Chemical, No. 1 Steamer, and the Hook and Ladder Company were on the spot as soon as possible. The flames spread with such great rapidity that the efforts of the firemen were almost of no avail. The chemicals bravely combatted the fire, which, however, spread in spite of the utmost exertions of the firemen. The steamer got to work playing through what was said to be 2,000 feet of hose, No. 2's men landing hearty aid in laying the hose, which was stretched from the foot of the hill up to the building. All efforts were useless, however, as the fire had obtained too firm a hold to be overcome.

The inmates were taken by surprise by the outbreak of the fire, which had obtained a good hold of the building before being discovered. It was first seen in the girl's room, and hence is supposed to have originated from a defect in the kitchen chimney. There were ten boys and girls in the place at the time, and the whole of the inmates numbered about 20, who were under the charge of Mr. Thorn, in the absence of Miss Macpherson and Miss Bilbrough, who left for Toronto yesterday. All, aided by the neighbors who flocked to their assistance, addressed themselves to saving the contents of the building, in which they were thought to have been successful, with the exception of the room, the contents of which were destroyed.

The sight was a most melancholy and depressing one, the children and their guardians thus thrown again upon the world, being the subjects of general commiseration.

It is, however, some satisfaction to know that there was a considerable amount of insurance on the building and contents, though not enough, it is feared, to cover the loss, which at the time of writing it was impossible to estimate with any near approach to correctness.

The building was insured in the Citizen's for $3,000 and in the Western for $1,250. Miss Bilbrough had $1,000 insurance in the Western on her effects, which were thought to have been mostly saved.

We are sure that Miss Macpherson and her co-workers have the sympathy of the entire community in this heavy blow and great discouragement which they have received.—Intelligencer.

Belleville, April 12.—The large grist mill near here, called the "Moira Mills," owned by S. M. Hicks, was destroyed by fire on Saturday evening. The building was of stone, and was completely gutted, most of the machinery being completely destroyed and the walls much damaged. Ford's paper mill, adjoining, was saved with much difficulty. Loss about $10,000 on the building; insured for $4,000. Loss on stock, $1,500; insured for $1,000.

FREE DISCUSSION

The matter of free discussion has been somewhat discourteously decided against in Montreal, and the Province of Quebec generally, especially on religious matters. This is producing an effect contrary to anticipations as the True Witness has nobly opened its columns to free discussion, thus taking a little of the wind out of the sails of the Sun. It says: "We regret that, owing to circumstances over which we have no control, we have been obliged to pass unnoticed a question addressed to us by "A Protestant," as to whether we would give place in the columns of the True Witness to replies to attacks on the Protestant religion in the same way as the Witness sometimes opens its columns to Catholics seeking to answer attacks made in its columns upon their Church and creed? We cannot pledge ourselves to insert any article or communication in our columns, whose contents we have not first perused; but we will have no objection whatever to allow any Protestant entrusting us with his real name, to reply through our columns to any attacks that through the same channel may have been made upon Protestantism. We cannot pledge ourselves to more than this."

The Montreal Witness says: "We hope that all who wish to see free discussion take the place of weak terrorism will encourage these two papers in the laudable work of enlightening the people.

An Act respecting insolvency.

His Excellency the Governor-General was pleased to reserve the following Bills for the signification of her Majesty's pleasure thereon:—

An Act for the relief of Henry William Peterson.

An Act respecting copyright.

His Excellency then delivered the following speech:—

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons:—

I cannot relieve you from your attendance in Parliament without thanking you for the assiduity and zeal by which, at an unusually early period in the season, you have been enabled to bring the onerous duties of a laborious session to a close. The session has been fruitful of measures fraught with great consequences to the country.

I have readily given my assent to the Act to establish a Supreme Court, and a Court of Exchequer for Canada—a measure, which has long been under consideration, and which is necessary to the completion of our judicial system. The Act respecting Insolvency will promote the interests of commerce by the wholesome changes introduced in the existing law. These changes will doubtless result in the more careful and economical administration of insolvent estates, give due protection to the creditor, and at the same time shielding from harsh treatment the honest but unfortunate debtor. To aid in the development and efficient administration of our great territorial empire in the North-west an important step has been taken by the passing of the Act providing for it a form of government modified upon her present requirements, and framed to meet the exigencies of the near future by calling into existence representative institutions whenever sufficient population shall have been found for the exercise of the functions of self government. The Postal Service Act will, by its liberal provisions and the removal of hindrances to free communication by mail tend greatly to the public convenience. In like manner much advantage may be expected to result from the passing of the Act respecting Ocean Telegraphy, preventing monopoly, and giving freedom of access to our shores to all lawful Telegraph Companies. The Copyright Act has been passed to protect the rights of authors and artists who may desire to avail themselves of its provisions, and to facilitate arrangements for the publication in Canada of the works of writers residing in other countries. By the Insurance Act great security has been given to the insured by the adoption of an effective system of inspection. The Act relating to Penitentiaries has brought these institutions more immediately under the direction and control of the Government, and the system of administration and inspection has been simplified and cheapened.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:—

I thank you for the supplies you have granted; they will enable my Government to prosecute the great public works to which the country has been committed, and will, I doubt not, contribute largely to the development of our resources, the growth of our commerce and the extention into the interior of settlements of hardy and industrious pioneers.

Honourable Gentlemen and Gentlemen:—

I congratulate you on the adoption of many measures, in addition to those enumerated, calculated to add to the public comfort and prosperity, to increase the stability of our institutions, and to promote confidence and good will among the different classes of our people. They, I doubt not will be found to appreciate your labors to these ends, and I trust that on their part they will above all things cultivate an unselfish love of country and devotion to the general good.

His Excellency then having announced Parliament to be prorogued until the 28th of May, left the Chamber for Rideau Hall, accompanied by his escort.

There was a very small attendance at the ceremony, owing probably to the fact that the prorogation did not take place till some days after the virtual close of business in the Lower House.

Trouble in the Camp.

—From the Port Hope Guide.

We have long thought that the Billingsgate style of the Mail would provoke a revolt amongst its shareholders and patrons, and that the respectable portion of the Conservatives would not endure for any length of time to be identified with a journal whose chief stock in trade was scurrility and slander. That our thoughts were not altogether vain, is evident from the fact that a large and influential number of shareholders are clamoring for a change of management, and insist on a committee to investigate the affairs of the company from the time it commenced business to the present.

This seem as if our prognostications that, like a dying chicken, it was giving its last screech, and therefore its bellowing was as harmless as the motive which inspired it was malignant—were not without foundation in fact.

We rejoice in the present uprising for a change in its management; for a party that could tolerate such an abuse of the press would itself be intolerable, and undeserving the confidence of the country.

That a large number of the Conservative party have reached this conclusion, is evident from the fact that a demand is being made for a change in the management of the Mail under a fuller and wiser chief.

We rejoice in the evidence of vitality and respectability which this effort to reform the Mail exhibits on the part of the Conservatives, and trust that in the future, if the present manager of the Mail is retained in his position, he will not pursue a course so utterly demoralizing and disreputable as that which has marked its pages since it became an Opposition organ.

In criticising the policy or administration of the Government, there is no need to be always surmising corrupt motives or dishonorable intentions, especially when there are no facts to sustain such charges; and the public invariably attribute such a course to a corrupt mind, meapable, from long continuance in wrong, of either doing right or thinking it can be done by others.

Admission to Collegiate Institutes and High Schools.

Notice is hereby given, that the next Examinations for admission to Collegiate Institute and High Schools will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 8th and 9th of June, 1875.

Any Candidate who fails at the above mentioned, or at any subsequent Examination, to obtain one-third of the marks in any subject will not be considered by the High School inspectors to have shown that "competent knowledge" of the subject which the law requires, notwithstanding his having gained fifty-per cent of the total. (See Regulations for the admission of Pupils).

In order to prevent any misunderstanding of the intention of the Regulations, Local Examiners are hereby reminded that the object of the Examinations is to prevent unqualified pupils from entering the High Schools, and that in fixing a minimum of fifty per cent of the total marks assigned, it is not expected that the power to exclude candidates who make a total failure in the fundamental subjects of primary Education—Journal of Ed.

The Normal School Session.

In future there will be but one Session of the Normal School instead of two.

The Session will commence on the 15th September, and will close on 15th July, with vacation from the third Wednesday in December to the Second Tuesday in January; and from the Wednesday before, to the Tuesday after Easter, inclusive.

The School will consist of two Divisions. The work of the Second Division will be entirely with a view to Second Class Certificates, and the First Division will be prepared for First Class Certificates.

The Second Division will be divided into two sections. The Junior Section will comprise student-, who, having passed the entrance examination, are preparing for Second Class Certificates grade B. The Senior Section will comprise, (1) students who are preparing for Second Class Certificates, grade A, having already passed through the Junior Section and obtained grade B certificates; (2) those who have obtained grade B, granted by County Boards, and passed a special examination in Arithmetic, Algebra and Natural Philosophy within certain limits; (3) lastly, those who have passed the entire entrance examination for this section.

The First Division will contain (1) the students who have passed through the Second Division and obtained Second Class Certificates, grade A; and (2) those who hold Second Class, grade A, certificates granted by County Board, provided they can pass in certain specified subjects.

These regulations will go into effect on the 15th of next September.—Journal of Ed.

The Beecher Trial.

The Rev. DeWitt Talmage has made a fierce attack upon the press for publishing the Brooklyn scandal. He objects, with good reason to the intermidable length of the reports in the morning papers, three of which brought to this house one morning, as he measures it, one hundred and twenty-three feet of impurity. He goes further, and demands that the press should abstain altogether from noticing the case, except to state at the conclusion the verdict of the jury. Dr. Talmage says nothing here against the existence of so much horrible rottenness in Brooklyn society, but much against bringing it to light. His is a very easy way of meeting a difficult social problem: suppress the record of the case and thus remove its power to poison. But doing away with the smoke does not necessarily extinguish the fire. Just as the outward evidence of impure condition of the blood reveals itself in the face, so God has seen fit, with a view to healing the people of an abominable social disorder, to bring it to the surface in connection with the most prominent men in the United States; and let the people shut their eyes to it at their peril. This breaking out of free-loveism is but a flag of distress, which it should not be the first duty of the rescuers to tear down. It is for the preachers to seek teeth and claws, it happily they may avert the social distruction which must be the continuance of so vile a state of things. Any newspaper, however, which, for the sake of adding to its circulation, or pleasing a morbid taste, publishes of these facts more than is absolutely necessary to enable the public, who are the real jurors, to judge righteously concerning the conduct of one of the greatest moral pirates (preachers) and one upon whose mental power a whole school of theological [illegible] provide deserves well at the hands of the world which Dr. Talmage [illegible] Wednesday.

The [illegible] Review brought out [illegible] four hundred pages on the [illegible] charge, of Rev. [illegible]

SUMMARY.

Provincial Exhibition.—Provincial [illegible] has been practically discontinued [illegible] the present season by the Government by the cancellation of [illegible] allotted the Hon. A. G. B. Bannerman by [illegible] administration.

—About three o'clock on Sunday morning three masked men entered the house of Mr. Charles Mitchell, farmer, near Lakeside, bound Mr. Mitchell and his daughter, ransacked the house, and succeeded in carrying off over $1,000 in cash. No clue to the perpetrators.

The Liberal says: A despatch from Ottawa tells us that Sir John Macdonald has left the Capital for Toronto. No one need doubt what he comes for; it is to marshal the forces for the coming struggle for the control of the Mail newspaper. Nor can there be any doubt as to which side he will take; it will not be that of purification. The present management of the Mail stood by him when the wiser the better section of the Conservatives would have thrown off his leadership. Now he will stand by the Mail directorate when the better section of the Conservatives would rid the party and the organ of it. They need each other, do Sir John and the Mail management, as it is.

Says the Huron Expositor: A few days ago a farmer in Hullet purchased a farm from another farmer in the same township. The bargain was completed and a portion of the money paid, and possession was to be given in the spring. The seller, however, after thinking over what he had done, came to the conclusion to back out if he could. He accordingly went to the purchaser and offered to return the money but the latter declined to go back on the bargain unless he got the money he had paid back, and $600 additional. After considerable parleying between the parties the seller agreed to the terms, and refunded the money, and handed over in addition $600 in hard cash for the privilege of being allowed to get his farm back again. Buying farms in this way is more profitable than selling them.

Amongst the local items of Montreal and Quebec respectively we find the following in a Montreal paper: "It is stated that no less than thirty three new Dry Goods stores are opening this spring in Montreal." And this from Quebec: "The going into wholesale of a couple of large retail dry goods establishment has thrown a lot of clerks out of employment, and now the most ambitious of the young men purpose opening a dry goods store for themselves. The supply of goods in this line will much exceed the demand, and somebody must go to the wall." It is long since the supply of dry goods has exceeded the legitimate demand in Quebec and Montreal, as elsewhere; but the popular belief retailing dry goods as a money making business does not seem to be shaken by any amount of adverse experience. We trust, however, that the above item about three-and thirty more taking the dangerous plunge will prove to be incorrect, or at least exaggerated. If not, the amount of disappointment and loss to be endured by say thirty of them before this time next year is painful to anticipate.—Monetary Times.

Dummer

As intimated last week our Dummer correspondents are over excited and indulge in personalities not very delicate, nor yet regardful of the tender feelings of opponents. This week we have been compelled to refuse a communication unless somewhat modified. The writer was unwilling to allow this and left for the Review office. For our part, "brute, dog, and skunk," are not polite terms and would be as well out out of communications.

Brockville Abortion Case.

The Brockville Recorder gives the following:—We understand that the Hon. J. H. Cameron has been engaged to argue the points of objection raised against the admission of the dying declaration as evidence before the Board of Judges at Toronto, also the other objections including the admission of rebutting testimony. Should the objections not be sustained, a petition will be prepared and and submitted to the authorities praying that the sentence be commuted to penitentiary for life.

Grip's

Cartoon this week fully sustains the character of the paper. This one represents the Bishop of Montreal pointing to a placard which prohibits the reading of the Montreal Witness, 'on pain of being left to die in their sins,' and pointing to the fact that the 'Witness' has been banished from the Quebec Legislature. Canada having a small book in her hand on her way to the Philadelphia world's fair, and saying, 'I am almost ashamed to go amongst the enlightened nations with this record.'

"Mail" Libel Case.

It will be remembered that the Hon. Mr. Crooks brought an action against the Mail newspaper for defamation of character in articles published by that paper after the Cornhill return from England last season. The Mail not satisfied with attacking his sale of the debentures, assailed Mr. Crooks as a lawyer and as attorney of the Colonial Trust & Loan Company. He did not seek large damage, but the defence of his character. The jury, after a long trial in the Toronto assizes, brought in a verdict of guilty, and one shilling damages.

North Victoria Election Trial

The court to try this protest or petition, opened on Tuesday in Lindsay before Judge Wilson. Mr. Hector Cameron and Mr. F. D. Moore appeared for Mr. Cameron; Mr. McLennan appeared on his own behalf. Mr. Cameron tendered a number of rejected ballots, 16 of which the judge was inclined to consider for Mr. Cameron. The respondent then put in rejected ballots. The Judge decided ten of these in his favor and one in favor of Cameron. This would leave Mr. McLennan 10 now and a majority of 4, equal to 14, and Mr. Cameron 14 by the investigation, or a tie. The argument was heard yesterday.

Beecher-Tilton Scandal.

We have refrained from giving the reports weekly received of this now notorious scandal. It may be that we have not fully met the wishes of many, but our doing so, in advance to publish it, would only be opening the way to the introduction of the state of things that prevail on the other side. A weekly report might amuse, but could not profit any one. The opinion is gaining strength that Tilton is a bad man, that he kept bad company and that he commenced the Scandal to have revenge on Beecher for a supposed wrong in dismissing him from the editorial staff of the Independent. Beecher, however, was not wise in associating in any way with Tilton, but it is difficult to blame him, as for long enough Tilton was a member of his Church, and may have carried himself smoothly, Beecher, too, may have learned of the Tilton family difficulties and in the kindness of his heart in endeavoring to settle them, got into blame. In the future his usefulness will be lessened, and his own pleasures clouded, although perhaps not completely overshadowed. The result of this sad case will be enough to publish.

DUMMER AGAIN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR:—In your issue of the 1st inst., I find that Mr. Chout has taken the liberty to state to the effect, that A. Watts, and I, are confederate in writing of him, and against the way in which the municipal loan fund is disposed of. I hereby inform Mr. Choate that I have written for myself, and not for Mr. Watts or any other man. It appears by Mr. Choate's last reply, he must have thought that, length, nonsense and exaggeration were all that was necessary to satisfy me or any other ratepayer in the Township, but he is mistaken, it won't do. What was his reason for changing my $400 per mile to $900 per mile? Then the nonsense, well, what is it but nonsense to publish a lot of little stanzas that are entirely foreign to the matter in discussion? Perhaps he wanted to show his ability in composing poetry, but he never composed it, not he; it is more likely he has been the unhappy recipient of those verses (with a small candle enclosed) from some one. But, however, writing those long articles may be a benefit to him yet, it will no doubt prove to more than one constituency his wondrous power in the use of that "master" of his—the pen. He may, for aught I know, be paving the way to a higher office than that of "the Man A." of the Dummer Council. Perhaps ere long he will make one great bound (and a great bound it will have to be) to the House of Commons. I think I see him going; very well, "He likes it." I mean, Sir, however, give credit to Mr. Choate for his request to bring a petition of the matter before the council. In two days after receiving the request I responded with a petition with 88 signatures; when I handed it to the council Mr. Choate asked me why I brought the petition. I told him it was according to his request in the Examiner. Oh! hush, say nothing about the Examiner. So in honor to his position I refrained. The ratepayers of the council, however, could not help taking notice of the 88 signatures, but Mr. Choate stated rather eloquently that if he wished he could get up a petition to have a good moral man beheaded. It would not be amiss for him to have one or two flasks of that monster "self" amputated. I shall not reply again to Mr. Choate in this matter.

Yours, &c.,
JACOB WHITE.

Dummer, April 12th, 1875.

SUMMARY.

An old veteran, who fought under Napoleon Bonaparte, died near Halifax the other day, aged 112.

In the city of Toronto there are over four hundred places licensed to sell liquor. The population is 66,000.

A good newspaper does more towards building up a town and county than any other public institution, and gets less for it.

Young men loafing and loitering around the streets of Port Hope are ordered by the police to move on, or the Police Magistrate.

Loafers stand around on the corners again to see themselves. Like other torpid animals they come out from their winter quarters when the weather admits.

Dunkin Act in Gananoque.—The Dunkin prohibition Act has been carried in the village of Gananoque by a majority of 19. Thanks because is rumbling on.

The Roman Catholic Bishop of Salford forbids, on pain of denial of the sacrament, the association of Roman Catholics with the Order of Good Templars, on the ground that Good Templarism is a religious association and [illegible] a secret society.

The total annual value of houses in Great Britain was in 1874, $41,023,725; seven years before it was only $34,879,455—a rate of increase in wealth truly astonishing.

Prof. Tyndall strongly recommended as a respirator for firemen one made of cotton wool saturated with glycerine and charcoal. With one of this kind the Professor says he has remained in a dense smoke for half an hour, where without it he could not have stayed a single minute.

The election of a Bishop of the new episcopal diocese of Niagara, took place in Hamilton on Wednesday; and resulted in the choice of Very Rev. Archdeacon Fuller, of Toronto, (father of Mr. S. S. Fuller, of Stratford) by a majority of 49 votes over his strongest opponent, Rev. Dean Geddes, of Hamilton. His Lordship Bishop Bethune, of Toronto, presided over the proceedings, and confirmed the election.

Cinnamon vs. Oshawa.—This long talked of suit was tried in Whitby, on Thursday before Chief Justice Richards, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff of $600, viz:—$400 for Mrs. Cinnamon, and $200 for the husband. It will be remembered that the action in this case was brought for compensation for injuries received by Mrs. Cinnamon, by falling through a broken sidewalk. J. K. Kerr and C. J. Jones, Esqs., for defendant, Hector Cameron and Lyman English, Esqs. Attorney's for plaintiff, McGee & Jones; for defendant, Lyman English Esq.—Reformer.

At the funeral of Mrs. Rose Gollogher, Mullabawns, Newry, in Ireland, the other day, a quarrel broke out as to the property the deceased had left. On the way to the graveyard the coffin was laid down, and the relatives fought for the cows and pigs. Several of the parties received serious injuries. After the fight the coffin was lifted and carried a little further, but before the graveyard could be reached another fight took place. The funeral obsequies were put to flight, and the cow was altogether disgraceful that the corpse had to be buried without any religious ceremony.

The rise of London, the metropolis of the British Empire, has often been remarked upon. It covers about seven hundred square miles, and has about four millions of inhabitants. It is said to have more Jews than Palestine has; more Roman Catholics than are in Rome; more Irish than are in Dublin; and more scotchmen than are in Edinburgh. The port of London has every day upon its waters a thousand ships and nine thousand sailors. About 40,000 are added to its population every year. Twenty-eight miles of streets are opened every year, and nine thousand new houses are built. In its postal districts 236,000,000 of letters are every year delivered. It has 120,000, inhabited cribbals, and as many beer shops and gin palaces, so, placed with their fronts side by side, would extend 70 miles. Every year 27,000 drunkards are locked up before its magistrates; and of its population it is calculated that at least a million are practically, if not theoretically, heathen.

Pleasant Accident in Guelph.—On Thursday, Mr. Lemon's two sons and several boys, all under 14 years of age, purchased three pistols for a dollar each, at Mr. McEwan's hardware store, they also procured powder, &c. All this was unknown to Mr. and Mrs. Lemon, who, upon hearing the noise from the pistols being discharged, had these dangerous articles taken from the boys' possession. They, however, still had some powder in a small flask. The elder boy of Mr. Lemon's, in presence of the other two and several younger children besides, engaged in making volcanoes, as he termed it, with damp powder, and, in applying flask, as it is said, to the fire from the flask, an explosion of course followed, and the flask burned, immediately the hand in a frightful manner. It is a matter of great surprise to the parents that the hand was not blown off, and the injury not of that worst kind to the other children who stood close by looking on.—Herald.

My Poetical Doom and the Voice of my Friends.

Brush, Ogleman.

Where is the muse who inhaled his fame—
Such beyond man I wish to sing—
For I have mine as people know;
They also their wished ruthless blows
And strive to injure me.
In word and action try,
Saying: O, his rhymes, we are tired of them;
There is enough to be admired in them.
Poor scribbler, he must die.

The winter nights, when I have time,
With a few leisure hours to spend,
I try some homely, simple rhyme,
But never thought it such a crime
As would produce my end.
My face about loudly, Fie!
His rhymes so weak and shallow seem
A torturous task to fellow him—
He and his muse must die.

They do their worst with tongue and pen—
The bitterest foe can do no more—
They tell it to my fellow men,
My proper place's some filthy den
Where hopeless criminals roar.
Their reason is—just why?
My line all void of grammar is,
Her mark of classic hammer in,
Ridiculo, I must die.

So say my enemies, with a sneer
Of puffed up pride and classic love;
A self-taught man they taunt and jeer,
They cannot stoop to such a sphere—
In spite their feelings were,
They time this head and say:
Up learned men and frown on him,
Up write lash and down on him—
Poetically he must die.

But I have friends and not a few,
Whose love like radiant beams diffuse;
They long have been and still are true.
They urge on me still to pursue
And nourish up the muse,
Saying: "Will you shall not die,
In past you much have done for us,
You wrote both truth and fun for us;
Your muse it must not die.

Bill, grasp your pen as you have done
With shaking hand tell-worth hand,
Though enemies may be ten to one;
There wavering ranks shall conquered run.
Around you we shall stand
Or chase them, as they fly,
With victor's hand to grab at them,
Or thrust a bayonet stab at them
Wound fatal they must die.

Both in our ballot and fist array,
Some secret and some open foes:
But plot and publish what they may,
They shall not crush your simple lay
With all their n'mious blows.
On that they may rely;
One hair they cannot hurt on you
Tho' they may spit and spurt on you—
Their baleful rage shall die.

They circulate their venomous spite,
Nor stop at a little lying
From coward, Bill, maintain your right
Till every foe the dupes hall bite
Unmasked, [illegible]
Hold up their drooping [illegible],
Up to the rope and toll the bell,
Chime out one loud and extra knell,
Saying: Friend, thy foes are dead.

DUMMER COUNCIL.

April 3rd, 1875.

Council met at the old town hall. All the members present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Great Female Remedy.

Job Moses' Periodical Pills.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

MARRIED LADIES.

It is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affection Pains in the Back and Limbs, on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics, and Whites, the pills will afford a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pill, by return mail.

Sold in Peterboro by Dr. Taylor, A. W. Kampt, W. S. Johnston, Dr. McCamus, Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co. C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

The CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparation. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phthisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by sufferings and disease.

The magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, clogged, deep-seated, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is last superseeding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for colds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, bilious colic, cholera infantum dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from at few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. J. Collard, of Smarts, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all be agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil I have sold calicsly out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes, Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to tal e well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

The recent case of death by strychnine poisoning from taking SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness of August 3rd, produces fresh additional necessity not to confound Dr Wheeler's Compound Elixir of PHOSPHATES and Calisaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in orthography, and bear in mind that medicinally there is no similarity in action or effect.

gious and irreligious; in manifesting forth in modes adapted to these and the approaching times, the original and ineffable inspiration of Scripture,—as well as the practicle reasons for expecting the return of Christ to an undoubted PERSONAL REIGN for a miraculous season over the entire earth.

"Never was there any building so perfect as the great Pyramid in tabulating both the past and future facts of the Bible given by inspiration and dug the Old Testament types of the Messiah. And if the Great Pyramid is not mentioned in so clear a manner in the New Testament, that all men may instantly see it, whether by name or figure, and may arise from its being connected with the second and future, rather than with that first and past, coming of Christ, which the new testament was mainly to chronicle and expound."

THE PYRAMIDIC METRIC SYSTEM.

Prof. Smyth believes that in the Great Pyramid is embodied the whole metric system which God gave to the Ancient Hebrews, and that the British nation being descended from, and identical with the lost ten tribes of Israel, should successfully resist the encroachments of French meticulation, and adopt the God-given, earth-commensurable system embodied in the Great Pyramid. "Some involuntary throbbing in the pulse of humanity," says he "is now telling all nations, with deeper truth that any philosophy can, that these are the last times of this dispensation."

Twenty-six governments have already adopted this Anti-Christian French metrial system, and it is stated that if Britian yields, other nations are expected to follow; "then all the nations of the world will have passed through the great French mill, whose whirling stones will never cease to grind, until, excepting only those sealed by God, 'it has caused all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand or in their foreheads; and that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the Beast, or the number of his name.'" (Rev. xiii. 16, 17).

Prof. Smyth, moreover, states that the French metric system, though not a hundred years old, is wanted by its promoters to override every other metric system in the world, of whatever age, and whatever origin; that all nations are to bow down to it; altho' it is found at every essential point, full scientific standards, and teeming with sacrifices of the comforts and conveniences of the poor.

The Great Pyramid system, he says, on the other hand, is the oldest metrological system in the history of the world; has its traces extensively among European peoples; and is next to perfect in all those scientific points where the French system fails. It is moreover full of benevolence and compassion for the poor and lowly, besides teaching that their anguish and woes will last but a very few years more; for then agreeably with the scriptures, Christ himself will again descend from heaven, this time with angels and archangels accompanying, and will give to man at last that perfect and righteous government which man alone is incapable of; and so shall the Saviour reign over all nations in the Millenial Sabbath of the world.

In fulfilment of the first prophecy in Genesis, which teaches, together with all the Prophets, that of the seed of the woman a truly Divine Saviour of Mankind, was to arise and appear amongst men: in further fulfilment whereof the Great Pyramid was [illegible] Christ—that prediction of Jacob—was a real historical event, and took place at a definite and long pre-ordained date—so His Second Coming, to reign over mankind, will likewise be historical, and will take place at a definite and also a primevally pre-arranged date. But immediately preceding the Lord's Second Coming, Anti-Christ shall arise personally, giving occasion for the 1st Christ, and working such signs and wonders as shall deceive, if it were possible, even the very elect.

"When that Second Coming has been appointed to take place, must be a most momentous question; and is one to which I can only reply, that, so far as the Great Pyramid seems to indicate at Present in the Grand Gallery, the existing Christian dispensation must first close, (in some partial manner or degree), the saints be removed, and a period of trouble and darkness commence." Though the Lord may have buried long the Grand Gallery in the Great Pyramid indicates that the judgements which are to precede His Advent are very near.

OUR ISRAELITISH ORIGIN.

The deep and rapidly increasing conviction that the British nation is descended from the ancient Israelites is now becoming, day by day, more clear and unmistakable. The works of Turner, Wilson Hine and others, as well as the operations of the lately organized Anglo-Israel Association, have largely contributed to the advancement of this view. Some of the most influential men of London, and various other parts of Britain, are at the head of this organization. One of the objects of the Association is, "to more fully develop and disseminate the truth of the proposition that the Anglo-Saxon race is descended from the Lost Tribes of Israel, and to promote research into the general history of Israel and Judah."

The idea is truly grand and wonderful, almost beyond conception, and has been stated of Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

"I feel scarcely did that it is believed that God is about to pour out His Spirit upon His covenant people, and in a miraculous way deliver and restore them to the land of their fathers."

Mr. Edward Hine of London, author of "Forty-seven Identifications of the British nation with the Lost House of Israel," says, "The present Parliament will retain its power for seven years, by which time we are so plainly taught by the marvellous teachings of the Great Pyramid, that our identity with Israel will be universally established, and our country issued into most glorious and righteous times." Again, says Piazzi Smyth, "the resemblance [illegible] to the symbol of the Great Pyramid, both gives us a species of 'Inheritance' interest in that building, and may include something else still more [illegible] coming universal Messianic kingdom, when 'all the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord.'"

The Great Pyramid points to 1881. Before then, what?

ODDS AND ENDS.

COMPLAINTS are made that no mails have reached Ottawa from Manitoba for seventeen days.

A YOUNG man named John McDowell was found frozen to death about four miles from Caledonia, in the Township of Oneida.

HON. WM. McDOUGALL.—The star of the Hon. D. L. Cameron has fallen, and the Tories are looking to replace him as the champion of the Ontario Opposition by cozzetting with that peculiar politician, Hon; Wm. McDougall, on the principle that in the event of the act making a diversion in their favor, the "end will justify the means." To secure William's entree into the House, the Conservatives generously offer their quondam friend the thoroughpaced Tory constituency of South Simcoe, for which they hope he will be triumphantly elected. Matthew Crooks must surely have fallen very low in the estimation of his party, or they would not seek to bury him in obscurity by filling his place with a "radical" like Wandering Willie.—Perth Courier.

Why did the fool stick? Kos—cause he fell.

When small boys are out on their travel it is proper to ask them, "Does your mother know your route?"

An uncle left eleven silver spoons to his nephew in his will, adding, "He knows the reason I did not leave him the whole dozen."

'Marry a widower, not I!' said Matilda, 'Babies are like tooth-brushes. Everybody wants her own.'

The girls who tend tables at Connecticut fairs, and resell kisses at ten cents a kiss won't give three for a quarter: Stingy.

'Do you take kindly to menial service?' asked a lady of an applicant. 'Well, yes, but I should prefer the hymeneal!' and won the girl.

One of the sufferers by a late railway accident was rushing wildly about, when some one asked if he was hurt. 'No,' he said, 'but I can't find my umbrella.'

'How much did he leave?' said an Aberdeen lady, on learning the death of a wealthy citizen. 'Everything,' replied the lawyer, 'he didn't take a shilling with him.'

'What's jography, Bill?' 'It's a tellin' of lyin lands that we know nothin' about by some chap that's never seen 'em.' Bill got a Government situation.

It's a good thing the weather is never cold enough to freeze the milk of human kindness because the dairy isn't particularly well stocked.

A young lady at Shakespeare gets up before breakfast and takes a walk of three miles for exercise, while her mother is splitting the days allowance of wood.

One person asked another if he believed in the appearance of spirits. 'No,' was the reply, but I believe in their disappearances for I have missed a bottle since last night.'

A Brooklyn woman remarked to a friend a few days ago: 'I don't feel very well, this morning. I do hope I'm not going to have a spell of sickness until the Beecher trial is finished.'

A young beau, at his sister's evening party began to sing, "Why am I so weak and weary?" when a little brother brought the performance to a close by yelling out, 'Aunt Mary says it's 'cause you come home so late every night.'

'Fellow travellers, said a colored preacher, if I had been eatin' dried apples for a week, and den took to drinking for a most I couldn't feel more swelled up dan I am dis minnit wid pride and vanity at seein' such full tendence har.'

A gentlemen drove a sorrowful looking horse into town last Saturday, and, stopping in front of Mowat's Block, he requested a friend to 'hold his horse a moment. Hold him up against the post—that'll hold him.'

It is rather amusing that, whereas every man in Plymouth Church is ready to pledge his life that Beecher is innocent, every man of them all is quite suspicious that Mrs. Tilton is guilty. Just how they reconcile the thing is unknown.

Our professor does wonderful things in [illegible] student; he actually made a new lip for a boy taken from his cheek. Ah, well I said his old aunt, many's the time I have known a pair taken from mine, and no very painful separation either.

Three Saginaw girls having met together concluded to pray for the welfare of their lovers, but the first one had not got far on her petition when it was discovered that they were all engaged to the same man. The religious exercises were at once terminated.

What is your name? asked a cenasstaker. John Corcoran. Your age? Twenty one. What nativity? Well, there's what bothers me. I'll tell you all you can make it out. My father was Welsh, but it is now a naturalized American citizen; my mother Engliah, and I was born in a Dutch frigate, under the French flag in Turkish waters. Now, how is it?'

A Beautiful Horse—There is nothing that can contribute so much to render the horse beautiful and elegant, to improve his condition and make him all that is desirable, as Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy; it has been used by many persons who use valuable carriage and other horses with decided success, and as well pleased are they with it that they always keep it on hand in case of emergency; it may be given at all times with perfect safety.—Remember the name and see that the signature of Hand & Co., is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto., Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

HAGYARD'S PECTORAL BALSAM will prevent or compound those dreadful pulmonary complaints which are aimed at by man; and Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers will as sure cure coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, and pulmonary complaints, as war and pestilence will destroy. Severe colds if not attended to, sooner or later lead to incurable consumption, and the strength of the strongest soon fails if neglected. The readiest and best means known for the cure of all consumptive, pulmonary and throat affections, which have been thoroughly tried for the last twenty years and have never been known to fail. Singers and public speakers will also derive great benefit from the use of these Wafers, at 25 cents per box.

Another Excitement.—The old world has another excitement more intensely interesting to neutral nations than the war. [illegible] has been discovered at the Cape of Good Hope, where the wonders of Sirius the entire seem to be eclipsed—while every one in this Dominion of ours is astonished at the wonderful effects of the Quickling Pain Lozenges in curing pain, cough, rheumatism, neuralgia, summer complaints, &c. For sale by all druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cents per bottle.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil a great healing for the hair.—The Canadian holds in a liquid from a large proportion of deodorized Cocoa-nut Oil prepared expressly for this purpose. No other preparation possesses the [illegible] which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. A single application renders the hair so matter how stiff, dry, cut and gloomy for several days. It is requested by all who have used it to be the best and cheapest.

It is an established fact that consumption can be cured; but is far better to prevent it. Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam of Wild Cherry. This standard preparation will speedily cure a cough or cold and even Consumption when it has reached its great power.

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Headache and Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE PURE FROM ALCOHOL

PURE! WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

VINEGAR BITTERS

WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by every body as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounder. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither mineral or any deleterious drug, they are safe to take, and leave no disorder for the system to contend with after they operate. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

Their controls by their powerful influence on the blood, which it purifies and stimulates into healthy action—assists the operations of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the system, restoring their regular action to health, and by correcting such of their diseases as may exist. Their agreement as the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continually taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Burnett's Extracts

The superiority of these Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the fruitless fruit flavors now in the market. They are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality, and are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small quantity only need be used.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this pre-eminent remedy for pulmonary complaints. During a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in the estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, even the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is never in injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the acute, distressing forms of disease, is literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgment we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all dealers in medicine throughout the world.

RELIGION AND DOCTRINE.

BY JOHN HAY.

He stood before the Confederation;
The unwilling nobles gazed at him.
He stirred not of their pride and blame;
There was no fear, there was no shame,
For once upon whose dazzled eyes
The whole world poured its light and surprise.
The same heaven was for test and star,
His first day's light saw ocean and shore,
To let him vision no new gained lore
On the [illegible] face of man.

But still they questioned, Who are these?
What host from heaven? What fire from sea?
These art not he who yesterday
Has hewned bagged beside the whig [illegible]

"—And if not he;
For I was blind, but now I see.
He told the story o'er and o'er;
It was his full heart's only lore;
A prophet on the Sabbath day
Had wonder-struck the people with story;
And made labor-worn who had been blind,
Their words passed by him like the wind
Which moves and heeds, but cannot shake
The hundred-fathom-rooted rock.

Their threats and fury all went wide;
They could not touch his Hebrew pride,
Their stones at Jesus and his band,
Nazarene and homeless in the land,
Their hands of Moses and his Lord.
All could not change him by one word.

"I know not what this man may be,
Sinner or saint; but as for me,
One thing I know, that I am he
Who once was blind, but now I see.

They were all doctors of renown,
The great men of a famous town,
With deep brows, wrinkled, broad, and vast,
Benches their wide shoulders;
The [illegible] of the Most was there
And Pharisee crowned their silver hairs.
The men they feared and laughed to scorn
Was unlearned, poor and humbly born;
But he knew better far than they
What came to him that Sabbath day;
And what the Christ had done for him
He knew, and not the Sanhedrim.

THE AMERICAN OBSERVATIONS OF THE TRANSIT OF VENUS.

We are now in possession of accurate information from all the American parties for the observation of the transit of Venus. At Pekin Professor Watson and Professor Young observed through a cloudy sky the first and second contacts, and made forty-four photographs during the first part of the transit. Operations were then interrupted by clouds until about an hour before the end, when the photographic work was resumed, and fifty more pictures taken. The third and fourth contacts were also observed, and measures of cusps taken with the double image micrometer.

The first contact was sixty-eight seconds later and the second contact was seventy-five seconds later than the computed times, while the third and fourth contacts were forty-three and sixty-five seconds earlier than the predictions. This indicates for the solar diameter a smaller value than the one used in the predictions, and agrees nearly with that deduced by Leverrier from previous transits.

It was pointed out by Mr. Hill, of the American Nautical Almanac office, in his memoir on the transit, that the English predictions would be considerably in error, on account of the adoption of an apparent diameter for the sun which was deduced from meridian observations only, and we may note that nearly all the English observers have reported an error in the neighborhood of two minutes in their predicted times of first contact. It seems to be finally settled, if indeed there was any doubt about it previously, that different apparent diameters must be used for the sun in reducing meridian observations, and for such observations as eclipses and transits of the inferior planets. This is quite analogous to the fact that the moon's diameter from occultations is considerably smaller than that derived from meridian observations. Professor Watson also notes certain evidences of an atmosphere surrounding Venus, and from his observations at third contact obtains an approximate value for its depth.

The American party at Kerguelen Land, under Lieutenant-Commanders Ryan and Train, has been only partially successful. Neither of the internal contacts were observed, but some photographs were taken. The English party on the same island observed the ingress and egress, the latter observation being satisfactory. All the English photographs were poor. The day was generally cloudy, but enough have been secured to compensate the culiarly valuable. From the party at Chatman Island, under Assistant Edwin Smith, of the Coast Survey, we learn that nothing valuable in the way of observations of the transit could be obtained on account of clouds. It must be remembered, however, that each of the parties has made important geographical, magnetic, and other determinations and that no one of our expeditions will return without completing its work of this kind, which work has a value quite independent of its bearing on the main question of the sun's parallax.

On the whole, the success has been marked; and although only one party (Professor Watson's) observed all the contacts, and although only one (Professor Peter's) obtained a very complete set of photographs, yet the ensemble of the observations of the Americans alone would suffice for an extremely accurate determination of the parallax.

The experience gained in these expeditions will be turned to good account in 1878 and 2004, in which years transits of Mercury and Venus occur; both belong visible to America. "The transit of all the parties had ample preparation with the apparatus provided for them; and in the matter of photographic arrangements the American outfits were particularly good, both theoretically and practically, and this reflection reflects great credit on the gentleman who had charge of the preparations. The highest testimonial has been offered by the Transit of Venus Commission to Dr. Henry Draper on an acknowledgement of his gifts (and gratuitous services) in preparing the practical details of the photographic process—a change for which he was peculiarly fitted by his long experience in such researches.

Detailed accounts of the physical observations of the transit will not be available for some time; but from even the remarkable observations of Spencer in Japan and De la Cave at Campbell Island, which captured Venus as she was just passing off the sun's disk. Preliminary reports indicate that Professor Watson's account of the atmosphere of Venus will be corroborated by several good observers. It may likewise be noted that the question as to the existence of a satellite to Venus is now finally settled in the negative.—Editor's Scientific Record, in "Harper's Magazine for May."

SCOLDS.

Are women the only subjects of this disease or are men similarly affected? This idea came into my mind after reading an anecdote told by Henry Ward Beecher, as an answer to the enquiry whether there was any cure for a scolding wife.

A certain deacon of a mild nature and a well balanced judgment, had hired a life of more prosperity; even the death of his first wife was blessed to him. (I have seen other men in the same fix.) At a suitable period he offered himself and was married to a spinster, who was neither handsome nor amiable. Not long after, his new wife, who was not wanting in good sense, said to him:

"Now tell me what you married me for? I was poor and you knew it. I was not of good disposition, and the whole town knows that I am homely. Now what did you do it for?"

"All my life has been a blessing," he replied. Everything has prospered with me. And when I read, "whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son he receiveth." I began to fear that I was not a christian, and I thought that if I should marry you I would have trouble enough to secure my salvation.

"Well," she replied, "if you think I am going to be your pack-horse to carry you to heaven, you'll be mistaken."

And thereupon she turned about and made him one of the best of wives.

Now don't forget, oh! thoughtful reader, when you are perusing my pages for new thoughts, that too free rein given to your tempers is only making you pack-horse to carry the ridicule of your neighbors.

And let me tell you that the man or woman who says, "I can't look back to my childhood without one regret; I can't see anything pleasant there that I should like to live over," is to be pitied. Make home the brightest place on earth to husband and children, there will be less attractions to saloons, less children on the streets at night, and far more comfort at home. And in the after life your children, they will look back on their youth with loving thought; and many times, when standing on the brink of ruin the thought that mother would not like this, has turned hundreds into the true path.

BERLIN'S BIG BELL.

The Berlin correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph writes on March 19: "The great bell (Kaiserglocke, or Emperor Bell), has been cast for the third time. Its final preparation and cooking must have been a tremendous business. A huge gulf was first dug in the earth, wherein the stuffing upon which the inside of the bell was to be moulded, was solidly built of a particular sort of masonry. The size of this brick and mortar receptacle may be estimated by the circumstance that fourteen full grown men can stand comfortably under the bell. When the stuffing was finished and hardened, a clay bell was constructed over it, of the exact dimensions to be given to the metal bell; the coats of arms and florid ornamentation of various descriptions were modelled upon this clay by the respective artists, and the inscriptions fixed upon it in letters made of wax. This false bell was then besmeared with grease, and the 'mantle' was again superimposed upon it, of clay well worked up with calves hair to bind it well together. As soon as the 'mantle' was completed it was lifted off, the false bell removed, and the mantle replaced in exactly its former position with the most minute care and precision, a hole being left in the apex through which to pour the boiling metal into the vacuum between 'stuffing' and 'mantle.' The furnace wherein the French guns, of which the bell is made, were cooked consumed 200 hundredweight of coal, and burned furiously for twelve hours, melting down and artistically stewing no less than twenty-two captured cannon, some of which were field-pieces of the Louis XIV. period, and were taken from the French Royal forces during their campaign in the Palatinate. When the fluid resulting from this grand brew of artillery was 'turned on' into the mouth of the casting, it flowed freely and incessantly for twenty-nine minutes ere the 'form' was full to the brim and took three weeks to cool. Disembarrassed of its 'mantle,' the dimensions of the bell are as follows:—Twelve feet in height, 11 feet in diameter, 33 feet in circumference; its weight is twenty-five tons, and its clapper weighs sixteen hundredweight. All the bells of Cologne Cathedral put together do not weigh as much as this monster, to ring which thirty-men will be required. The inscription is enclosed in a handsome arabesque, above which stands St. Peter, while beneath is depicted the coat-of-arms of the German realm. The inscription is worded in the Latin tongue, as are a couple of distiches on the opposite side, which may be translated, 'I announce to the people with my voice a heavenly message; souls are aroused by it and chime in eagerly. Those who opposed the halls of the temple, moved thereto by my voice, open at the same time, though heavenly porter, the gates of heaven?' A German inscription runs, translated as follows: 'My name is the Emperor Bell; I celebrate the Emperor's honor; I stand on a holy watch tower, and pray for the German Empire—that God may grant it peace and security.' The Kaiser-glocke will be hung up in the old belfry, under the present peal, until the Cathedral shall be finished, when all the five bells composing the complete peal will be definitely suspended at an elevation of 200 feet above the Cathedral square.

A specimen gun has been cast at the Royal Gun Foundry in Berlin. It is 7 feet 6 inches in length, and weighs 2 tons 10 cwt.

A Provident Wife.

We find in the last number of the New Zealand Hearld a touching incident in illustration of the great present dearth of respectable dress-making hands in that colony. It seems that a-to-do settler near Auckland was lately attacked by an illness which his medical attendant declared must terminate fatally, so severe where the symptoms. After lying in an apparently hopeless state for some days, he suddenly took a turn for the better, and, thanks to a strong constitution, made a rapid recovery. Not long after he had returned to business he was much startled, on opening an account presented at his office, to find himself charged with a full set of window's weed of an elaborately complete description. A domestic explanation naturally followed, and his wife reminded him that he had always made it a special desire that the fact of their having emigrated to a colony should never prevent her dressing as a lady. "And the dress-makers here you know," she added, "have matters so entirely in their own hands that they generally keep you waiting for months for any thing new. So when I was told that you could not possibly recover, I ordered what I knew you would wish me to wear beforehand: and now the things have only just come home.

The bill was promptly settled. Whether the husband was consoled for the outlay by the though that his provident wife had the things ready by her is a question that is left open to conjecture.—EDITOR'S DRAWER in Harper's Magazine for May.

The Secret of Snubbing.

You go to call on somebody, and are shown into drawing-room where the lady of the house is sittting with other visitors engaged in conversation. At your entrance a chill seems to fall on the company; one person takes up a newspaer, another a photograph book, and so on, while the lady of the house enters with you into a discussion on the weather. She, perhaps tries to make the others join in but they responded in monosyllables. You of course, take an early opportunity of going away, and hardly have you left the room than you hear the buzz of voices, and sound of mirth rising behind you. You feel decidedly "snubbed," and why? Because these people were all intimate with each other and not knowing you, they deemed it suitable to behave as though there were some good reason why they never could or should know you, as if in secret bond to each other not to admit a stranger into their fellowship. Yet, ten to one if you met one of them under circumstances, they would be charmed to make your acquaintance, and you would find them very pleasant. It is simply that they formed for the time-being a "clique" and you were an outsider. "Clique," is indeed, in sober earnest

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 22, 1875.

SUGGESTIONS AND THEIR CONSEQUENCES.

Immediately after the last election in the West Riding it was suggested to the defeated candidate that improper influences had been used against him. He suggested sending out circulars to find what the suggestions would lead to. A committee of investigation was suggested at the meeting of the Conservative Club. A protest was suggested, and it was suggested that Mr. Scott claim the seat, while on Monday he swore that he never expected to obtain it. It was further suggested to accuse Mr. Cox of corrupt practices, although Mr. Scott swore on Monday that he knows of no such practices on the part of Mr. Cox, but that it was suggested at the meeting as to 4 or 5 cases of promises of improper influences on his part.

It was also suggested that Mr. Scott claim the seat that he might not appear afraid to be examined, and PERHAPS it was suggested that his personal expenses should be kept under $30, and that he tell of hot whiskey for two, etc., for effect, and that other bills than those now paid might be unheard of. And notwithstanding all this Mr. Scott never expected to obtain the seat. Perhaps it was also suggested that from the personal knowledge of working past elections it was probable that some undue influences were possible, and that there might as well be a protest, and a suggestion might have been made that this would afford an opportunity to blacken Mr. Cox. Brains further in suggestion of corrupt practices were also named on the committee of investigation at the club. For instance the last two on it. See the evidence.

PER JOINT COMMITTEE ON A NEW BRIDGE.

The committee met on the 15th inst.

Present: the Mayor, Warden and the Chairman P. Hamilton Esq., and Messrs Beal, Benson, Rutherford, Choate, Barnhart & Sanderson.

The Mayor explained that the committee was changed by vote of the Council, and in consequence he proposed that the chairman be reappointed. Mr. Hamilton was therefore re-appointed.

The Town Clerk was appointed Secretary of the committee.

The minutes then read the resolution of the council appointing Messrs Todd, Hamilton, Beal, Benson & Rutherford, to act with the committee of the county.

The chairman read several communications on Iron Bridge contractors which had been addressed to the Town Council

Communications were also read from Mr. Benson, and Mr. Bradley, and several letters in reference to the King Bridge.

Mr. A. M. T. Croly being present stated that the King Iron Bridge Company would build an Iron Bridge for less than $80,000 further that he was authorized to state that the company would bear the expense of the Town Civil Engineer to Cobourg or elsewhere to investigate the Iron Bridge Company's Bridges.

Moved by Mr. Burnham seconded by Mr. Benson, that the Chairman of the committee advertise in the Peterborough papers, Daily Globe, Mail, and Montreal Gazette for plans and specifications, and tenders for the superstructure of a bridge over the Otonabee River, on the site of the old Iron Bridge, viz.: for plate girder wrought Iron Tubular Arch, and Wood truss. Also for other description of Bridges as above named. The Bridges to be 32 feet each, broadway of Bridges 16 feet, of sidewalks, each side to be 3 feet each.

Specifications guarantee required that the Bridges will be in good condition at the end of 10 years, bridges to be completed by the 1st day of August next. Tenders to be in by 2 p. m. on 15th May next. Premium for accepted plans to be named in contract prices. Plans to be addressed to the chairman, from whom other information can be obtained. Advertisements to be in daily papers till 15th May, once a week.

Moved by Mr. Towle, seconded by Mr. Sanderson that in accordance with the invitation of the King Bridge Co'y to have an engineer accumulate each information as may be obtainable in connection with the strength and durability of their bridges and the reputation of the Company to be accepted, and that he do proceed in accordance therewith to accumulate all the information obtainable as above at the expense of the said Company and report to the committee at its next meeting, provided that the King Bridge Company announce to the Chairman of the committee their willingness to defray the professional as well as the travelling expenses of such investigation.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Birdsall, seconded by Mr. Towle, That this Committee recommend that A. J. Brown, of Caledonia, be paid the sum of $80 by the Town and County for his services in attending the letting of the old Iron Bridge and obtaining information for purposed new bridge—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Sanderson, seconded by Benson, That this committee recommend the County Council to give the town free of charge their interest in the remnant of the old iron bridge on condition that the town will undertake to construct one good substantial iron bridge across the Otonabee River on the boundary line near Judge Dennistoun's, and to keep it up in perpetuity without further aid from the County.—Carried.

The committee, it is expected will meet on the 15th day of May.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening pursuant to adjournment.

Present—His Worship, Mayor Toole, and Messrs. Thomson, Dixon, McDonald, Dixon, Paterson, Helm, Cahill, Cook and Beal.

The minutes of last meeting were read and received.

Communications were read as follows:

From Messrs. Clementi and Barlee, asking for a lamp being placed at the corner of Aylmer and Dalhousie streets.

From Joseph Broult asking for a lamp at the corner of King and Aylmer street. Both were referred to the committee on gas.

From Charles Perry asking for the balance of the $6,000 asked for by the school board for the erection of the new school in the first ward.

From John L. Carsons, wanting to open a butchery on Front Stret.—Referred to the License Committee.

From E. Elvin, announcing that he was about opening a Commercial and English school in Peterboro, and asking for a license.—Laid on the table.

From Mrs. Bennett, asking assistance from the Council.—Referred to Charity Committee

ACCOUNTS.

From Octave Bovais, asking for $13.50 for board for Mrs. Binnette and family for 9 days.—Referred to Charity Committee.

From A. Goodfellow, for oiling hose. Ordered to be paid $4.50.

A petition was read from Henry Sovais and several others asking the Council to open up and widen a street running between King and Charlotte Streets.—Referred to the Street Inspector to report thereon.

A report was read and submitted from the committee appointed to open tenders and award tenders for plank for the current year. It stated that the tender of Mr. Hilliard was accepted at $6.75

The Band Committee, which was received and adopted.

A report from the Street Inspector on the matters submitted to him which was read.

A petition was submitted from James Sheridan and others asking to lay a sidewalk on the west side of Sheridan Terrace.

Moved by Mr. Dixon, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That Messrs. Helm, Denroy, Rutherford and the Mayor, a committee to take into consideration the communication of Mr. Elvin and report to the Council.—Lost.

Moved by Mr. Benson, seconded by Mr. Helm.—That the Town engineer be instructed to strike the grade of Smith Street during the ensuing week.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Helm,—That the Treasurer be authorised to pay the account of A. Goodfellow, $4.50 for oiling the hose.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Thornton, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That the Street Inspector be directed to provide Mr. Green with the necessary materials for the crossing asked for Chamberlain street, referred to in the first clause of his report, on condition that the applicants do the necessary work under the supervision of the Inspector.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Benson, seconded by Mr. Dixon.—That the scrapings off the streets be deposited at the end of Water Street in the ravine above the Caisse lot. Carried.

On motion Mr. R. Kelso and Mr. Wm. Cumming were heard in reference to an old line in the police court—The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

WEST PETERBOROUGH

Election Protest.

The Preliminary Examination of Mr. Scott before W. H. Weller, Esq., the Master in Chancery, was held on the 9th inst. Mr. Scott, Mr. Smith appeared for Mr. Scott, and Mr. D. W. Dumble for Mr. Cox.

EXAMINATION.

Q. You were a candidate in the last election contest for Ontario.

A. I was. The Returning Officer returned Mr. Cox elected, and I fyled a petition against the return.

Q. You state in the 3rd clause of your petition that corrupt practice, within the meaning of the Act, prevailed during before and after the election; what ground have you for saying so?

A. I was told that such practice did exist, that was the only grounds I had.

Q. When were you so told first?

A. Shortly after the election I was told that corrupt practices had prevailed, and after that there was a meeting called with a view to obtaining as far as possible what information could be obtained with respect to such practices.

Q. When you were no first told of such practices, and when were you told of?

I only remember that a few days after the election there were many persons suggested suspicious circumstances to me.

Q. Can you name any of the persons that so told you?

I cannot, I am speaking now of up to the time of that meeting.

Q. Can you name any of the suspicious circumstances spoken of?

A. I cannot.

At that meeting many of those practices were gone fully into and explained, as well as some of the circumstances spoken of before.

Q. Of what nature were the suspicious circumstances?

A. As far as I recollect offers made of money and considerations by persons to electors on the part of Mr. Cox and those I had reason to believe were Mr. Cox's agents.

Who were those persons?

Mr. Smith objected to asking questions of what had been heard.

Q. At the time those statements had been made did you make a memorandum of them?

A. I did not; I mean still before that meeting.

Q. Do you remember any of them?

A. No, I do not.

This meeting was at the Conservative Club Rooms, Peterboro. There is a Conservative association here.

I am the president now. I was not then. J. F. Dennistoun was then.

This meetiw was held a week or ten days after the election I think. Shortly after at any rate.

I called a meeting in my own name by sending out some circulars. I fancy there are some of them in my office, but I have none of them here.

I stated substantially in the circulars that it had been suggested corrupt practices had prevailed and improper influences on the part of the Cox agents, and I desired such information as could be obtained by a certain evening, when all were to meet at the Conservative Association's rooms.

They were printed and sent out.

Q. How many were sent out?

A. I could not tell exactly; fifty or sixty.

Q. Were they sent to members of the Association?

A. They were sent to my friends who took an active part in the election. Many of them were members of the Association. Some of them might not be.

Q. Did they respond by attending?

A. Most of them did as there was a large meeting.

Q. Did they bring in written reports?

A. No, not that I know of.

Q. Can you tell us the name of any persons who made statements at that meeting?

A. I decline to state names of any who gave information.

All the information was taken down in writing at the meeting. A committee was appointed to investigate this information and they went into another room and took it down as it was given.

Q. Who were the members of that committee?

A. I was one and Messrs. Carnegie, Tools, Smith, and one or two more whose names I don't remember,

Q. Will you tell us the names of any persons who made disclosures to that committee?

A. I decline to answer. Mr. Smith objected to being asked for any information except what was within Mr. Scott's personal knowledge.

Objection overruled. The master considered the question a proper one.

Mr. Scott—I decline to answer still, and Mr. Dumble may make application to commit if he chooses.

Q. Can you tell us some of the statements that were made to that Committee?

A. I decline to answer for the same reason, I hold that the information is privileged.

I have not got the writing that was taken down. I think Mr. Smith has got it.

Mr. Smith is my solicitor. I had it. I have not mentioned it in affidavit of production for the reason that I consider it confidential and privileged under the clause of the Act referring to privileged communications.

Q. Have you any knowledge of corrupt practices?

A. I have no knowledge of any such corrupt practices as referred to in the the third clause of my petition, except what I got at that meeting.

There were disclosures made to me since the meeting. I have investigated the matter. I got information at that meeting and parties have come to me since into my office and gave information in reference to charges spoken of at that meeting.

Q. Has the evidence grown stronger under investigation?

A. In some cases it has grown stronger and in some weaker.

Q. How many cases of corrupt practices have you heard of against Mr. Cox?

A. At that meeting and subsequent to it there were 4 or 5 cases, I think, spoken of by Mr. Cox himself.

Q. Is it in his class of cases that the evidence is weakened?

A. A little of both cases.

Q. Can you tell us of the little of both cases?

A. Of personal cases of bribery I could but would rather not for the reasons before given.

Q. Were any of this class disclosed to you since the meeting?

A. I think not, but would not state positively. All the additional information I received since was taken down and given to Mr. Smith, my solicitor. On second thought I remember of receiving information of one or two cases since the meeting, but they are included in the 4 or 5 named before.

I got information of a good many cases against others since the meeting. Think there were somewhere about thirty cases altogether.

Q. Did you find any cases in which Mr. Cox was charged with paying money for votes?

A. I did not. The evidence was altogether as to promises. This is not as regards agents.

Q. Were they promises of paying money?

A. I shall give no further information on that head. My information was received at that meeting. I decline to say that they were promises to pay money—decline to answer. I got allegation of promises of money and other promises, and the payment of money by those whom I had good reason to believe were Mr. Cox's agents. I decline to state who they were.

In the fifth clause of your petition you set forth that treating, bribery, etc., of voters prevailed; who were any of those persons as treated or bribed?

A. All the information I have is in the paper given to Mr. Smith, and I decline to produce the paper and decline to mention names.

Have you treat any of the electors yourself during the campaign.

A. Yes as I did.

Q. When did you treat and whom you treated?

A. Up at Buckhorn one instance, after a meeting was over, at Mr. Nicholl's hotel. Two of us drank. Mr. Morrow and myself took a horn before going to bed.

Did you treat on any other occasion?

I did at Bobcaygeon. I treated no other persons anywhere that I remember and none of my friends to my knowledge treated any considerable body of electors during the campaign. Do not know of any whiskey being used by my friends during the election day.

Q. Did you get any bills since the election from hotel keepers?

A. No, I did not. Mr. Moore has received no bills to my knowledge except two printing bills.

Mr. Romaine's..... $174 36
The Times..... 59 36

Q. Did you get any livery bills since?

A. I got a bill from Mr. Robert White but don't remember what it was. I think somewhere about $10 to $40.

Q. Do you know if that bill has no bill against me. Mr. David Henthorne has a bill against me. The bill has not been rendered.

I don't know how much it is.

Mr. Donnelly, I think, has no bill against me, don't think Mr. Cavanagh has any bill against me, none that I ever heard of.

Q. Has Mr. Daley in Emsmore billed you?

A. He rendered a bill before the election for the use of the hall, for this election and a previous one; it was paid, no bill has been rendered since, it was a small balance.

Q. Had you an agent in Emsmore during the election?

A. I had an agent there during the election, think it was Mr. Smith.

Q. Was Dr. O'Sullivan assisting you in Emsmore?

A. I understood he was up there for the purpose of assisting me.

Mr. Cavanagh was also up there with me, prior to the polling day, he was there at two meetings.

He was a supporter of mine and went up with me.

I think we had no central committee, do not know that he was a staunch supporter of mine, think he supported me think he voted for me, am not aware of his going up there without me in order to advance my interests, except on the polling day.

I know Angus McMartin, don't know that he took any particular interest in my election, think he was a supporter of mine, he had no charge of any particular duties in his section that I am aware of, had two meetings in Harvey one at Buckhorn and one at Lown Hall, saw him at both meetings, had a conversation with him at the first of the meetings. I have over think it was [illegible] that I asked to bring some persons in to attend the meeting.

[illegible] Hall, he is a supporter of mine, think he is not a member of the club, think I sent him a circular, he was at the meeting.

I know [illegible] Hall, he is a supporter of mine, think he is not a member of the club, think I sent him a circular, he was at the meeting.

I know John Hoylond, he is a supporter of mine, he was an active supporter of mine in Dunn, and did good additional day, but I cannot say that he was here before that day. I think he was not at the meeting. [illegible] Cavanagh [illegible] that he was not.

Think John Hoylond was a supporter of mine. He, I think, has no vote in the riding. He said he would drive some voters to the polling in Harvey; don't know whether he assisted me in the election or not.

Edward Phelan is a supporter of mine. Never heard of his team being driven for me on the election day; don't remember seeing him at committee meetings.

I think Doctor Bennett was a supporter of mine; don't remember that he promised to do anything for me; he said that if he had time before the election came round he would go up to Galway, but I don't say I took it understood he would go up to see my pensioners and to help me, but in what way I do not know.

Mr. Thos. Beavis is a supporter of mine, an active one; I don't remember sending him a circular; think he was not at the meeting.

W. H. Moore was my Agent. George L. Mitchell, jr., was a supporter. He was at that meeting; don't remember sending him a circular; he was an active supporter of mine, he is an enthusiastic politician.

Thos. Green, grocer, is a supporter of mine; don't think he was at the meeting.

I don't think David Henthorne was at the meeting.

Dr. Kincaid was not at the meeting; don't think I sent him circular. Rolt & Strickland was not there, but Major Boulton was.

I don't know that there was a committee at Lakefield.

Mr. Boulton did not speak at any meeting there. I had no conversation with him before the election. I did not look to him to make any arranges part at the first meeting they promised to form a committee, but I afterwards found what I got at that meeting.

There were disclosures made to me since the meeting. I have investigated the matter. I got information at that meeting and parties have come to me since into my office and gave information in reference to charges spoken of at that meeting

Oddfellows' Ball

The Peterboro Lodge of I.O.O.F. No. 111 held their annual ball in the Huffman House on Thursday last, it was well attended by members and friends and an enjoyable time was spent. The music and supper were excellent and reflected creditably on the caterers.

Ashburnham

Was visited during Monday night by a few rowdies from town, who broke the windows, doors and stove of Charles Brunnins, and on their way home pulled the railing off the temporary bridge—made night hideous with their yells, and otherwise disturbed the repose of quiet citizens. It is hoped that the parties will be found out and taught lessons of peace and quietness. The constable is on the track of suspected persons.

Dummer

A note appeared in the last Review over a Dummer correspondence, to the effect that we refused to insert it. This is not strictly correct. We refused to insert it unless modified, and that was done before publishing in the Review. All communications of public importance will get a place in our columns, but correspondents must eschew personalities. Hard names are not convincing arguments, but very often lead to anger.

A New Scheme

Was proposed to the Council on Monday evening, viz: a bonus for a Commercial and English School in town. The petitioner says, "In harmony with the wishes of numerous persons with whom he has been brought in contact with during his late Commercial teaching in this part of the Province, he has undertaken to build here a Commercial and English School for the benefit of his fellow young men." The motion not being one "for personal agrandizement" he prays the Council to code their hearty approval and grant a bonus for this as well as other enterprises" The Council would act wisely no doubt in aiding up an English School for young men.

West Riding

It is expected that Mr. Cox will be examined when the Master in Chancery next comes to Peterboro, the date of which is not yet known. Application for an order for Mr. Scott to produce papers and to be re-examined has been made in consequence of his refusal to give information on Monday. It is generally believed that a solicitor may claim to have privileged information, but no one ever heard of a principle being able to claim that because he had communicated it to his solicitor. The ridiculous side of the comedy is that Mr. Scott claims privilege because communicated to him at a meeting of the Conservative Club. It must be a secret society: Swore to secrecy with signs, &c., and SUGGESTIONS for passwords.

Mrs. J. M. Trout Toronto has been admitted to the practice of medicine in all its branches and is the first lady that has been so honored in Canada.

DUNNING AGAIN

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—In reference to the appropriations made from the Municipal Loan Fund by the Council of Dummer, I notice Mr White institutes that he has written for himself and not for Mr Watts or any other person. I am really pleased to find Mr White then had nothing to do with the manuscript prepared for Mr Watts to copy as an original communication and and which appeared in the last number of the Review, and I think Mr White will exonerate he quite as well pleased as myself, Mr White says he will not again reply to me in this matter. I must have made a tremendous mistake for I thought I was replying to him. If length, nonsense and exaggeration in a communication qualify a candidate for the Commons I will cut this thing as short as the pipe of peace, Mr White smokes in order that Mr White will have the necessary qualification, and in the mean time I will prepare for the saw logs. Not having ever composed my poetry I give Mr White credit for his original idea as to how I came by it and beg to suggest. In order to replenish my stock for the next deel, that He bring a pound or two of candles down to my place some evening when, and where He can smoke and I can chew, I did not change Mr Whites figures from $400 to $600 perhaps the printer did. On the presentation of Mr White's petition to remove two appropriations, no member of the Council was found to introduce a By-law or make a motion tending towards a repeal of the clauses under which those appropriations were made, not even Mr John Kidd.

Yours &c.,
T. G. CHOATE.

Warsaw April 16th, 1875.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—The communication, copied in part or not in whole, by Alexander Watts from manuscript prepared by a prof. sional gentle man who don't live more than fifty miles from this village, and which appeared in Friday's Review, is not worth answering or rather needs no answer as it fully answers itself, and while knowing that to touch on the unclean thing will result in my getting a dash of dirt myself yet, but when a person of such refined sensibilities; of such climate principles, with such a high sense of honor, and withal the possessor of an "educated mind" can stoop so low as to vent his spleen behind such a thing as Alexander Watts in such a communication surely there is some excuse for a "reptile" like I am for saying a word or two in defence, or for following his example,

At the outset let me intimate that I do not intend to make use of such medical terms as "skunk," unless simply to refer to in answer; for I would like not to "sink so low" that this article would require a note of condemnation as an excuse for its appearance. The term is not in any medical work in or about my premises, perhaps a faithful search in the dispensary would find it. I may use the term "physic" and perhaps give some, as the doctors say it should be taken in the spring. This much on what the learned John Snow would call the clearing of the subject.

In my first communication I gave Mr. Watts a friendly advice, which I was sure he needed, through a quotation of the greater Watts as follows;

"As you should carry about with you a constant and sincere sense of your own ignorance, so you should not be afraid or ashamed to confess this ignorance by taking all proper opportunities to ask and enquire for further information."

And having given it I naturally thought he would have sense enough to see the point but he hadn't, thereby verifying my statement, that he was wanting in common sense. Suppose for elucidation Doctor Bingham was treating a case of erysipelas and Mr. Watts should step in and say it is only a broken leg; or suppose a person who did not know the gospel of the filing of a saw from "put me in my little bed" should undertake to criticize any musical performance, in either of these cases the advize would apply. Before a doctor should undertake to discuss the principles of geology, he should first learn it, and so in municipal matters. Had your correspondent carefully digested those words before he penned his second epistle he would not have publicly exhibited how little he did know about what he wrote as the sequel will show

Alexander says, speaking of the above quotation, that I never got it as it stands from the Doctor's writings, and that as far as he is acquainted with them it is an act of deception and that my idea is to mislead. I refer him to the dispensary where a small red volume of Watts on the mind may be found; there at page sixty-two, or if the edition is not the same as mine, under chapter nine clause fourteen, he is sure to find it, If he fails let him get his friend with the spectacles, then having found it will he tell whose idea it was to mislead? Who committed the act of deception? or will he try to explain away these untruths by saying "it was a mistake." Oh! most holy Professor, most circumcised in heart! most educated mind what a figure they cut. He said, "we find by the By-law $400 are to be spent &c." when he found nothing of the kind by the by-law, then when brought to bay, it is only a mistake. Mistakes are not made with book- and ly laws open before him. I advise him to paste the quotation in his hat, hang it where he can see it the first thing in the morning and last at night, study it, let it ring in his ears in proper study will have such a salutary effect as to prevent him from making such statements in future, and should learn him not to be led by the nose, for he has been doing business lately on an amazingly small capital.

A very narrow ad contract view is presented by the Review correspondent as to the manner in which Dummer's part of the municipal loan fund has been disposed of, and I shall endeavor to set him right. For many years a constant and increasing demand has been made upon the Council for money to open the ninth concession road which, it is said would benefit a large number of eastern ratepayers. It has been stated, with much force, that no road money has ever been expended towards improving that section of the township which annually contributes nearly the whole of our road funds. To be clear, the clerk makes in addition to the resident collector's roll a non-resident one in which the taxes against non-resident lands are charged. An annual roll of this kind is sent to the County Treasurer for collection, these taxes when in arrear for three years are collected by a sale of the lands, the result is, a large amount is returned to the township every year from this fund, some years I believe as much as one thousand dollars have been so received. Now the Council having long before my time, set apart this fund as a road fund, said road fund being composed of only two other items viz: Clergy Reserve receipts and Licenses, both now very small, it is clear that the residents of the township have been enjoying the benefits arising from an improvement of their roads from taxes in the main collected on lands where no improvements are ever made. The law provides that the statute labor tax on non resident lands shall be expended in the locality from which it is collected, but these parts of the township being unsettled it was found impossible to give each lot the benefit of its own road tax so as to carry out the law from the fact that to send men from any settlement each year, so work up such small separate amounts would only result in nearly a total loss of the tax. Those parts of the township then furnishing a large part of the road funds, who will undertake to say the Council did wrong in giving relief in the premises when a suitable opportunity presented itself. I for one, think they did right but there were difficulties in the way as I shall explain. A part of the council said if a grant is made to the ninth line road, it will benefit the south and east, and therefore an equivalent should also be given to the northeast; while others advocated a central grant, for should one non resident part be benefitted, complaints would flow from those who with other parts put into communication as well. The Council taking this reasonable view of the case made three grants of four hundred dollars each, the south eastern one receiving from the money coming to the eastern division, an augmentation of ninty dollars while the centre one was increased one hundred dollars, fifty from the money belonging to division No 2, and fifty from No 3, simply because the road on which it was to be expended was the boundary between the two divisions. Now had these grants not been made it is clear the whole sum would have been divided on the balance was, and it is very clear that division Nos 3 and 4 being the northern and western ones, would have received the whole of the north east grant and half of the central one, viz: $650. Is there any intellect in our township so obtuse that he cannot see into this.

I am the party who suggested and advised the spending of $400, one of these grants on the white lake road, and I am willing to take all the responsibility, the centre grant was placed on the allowance between 10 and 11 by and with the advice of several of the Council, all of whom have lived their lives" here, and who I think understand the wants of the township as well as Mr. Watts who has not been a ratepayer for more than two or three years. Mr Wigmore placed his appropriation on the ninth concession road.

Much ado is made over the fact that a petition signed by 96 ratepayers—not one fourth of the whole—was sent in to Council and no action taken thereon. I will give part of the heading—

"That the said amount of $600 and $500 may not be applied to the said proposed roads (white lake and 10 and 11) but be equally divided among the four electoral divisions of the township to be spent on the main roads that are now open."

With all due respect to said petitioners, no one could not advise the Council to act upon their prayer because,

1st. They ask that $600 shall be equally divided between the four divisions, giving each $125, when $650 of the money would belong if withdraws to divisions 3 and 4 and $250 to divisions 1 and 2, which could show the account to stand as follows, division No 1, $125, division No 2, $125, division No 3, $325, and division No 4, $325, the latter two are the northern and western ones, which would be robbed of $100 each if the council did as asked.

2nd. The petition dictates to the Council what they shall do with the money which no public body having any regard for its dignity could notice. Had the petitioners asked that the money be withdrawn and expended in such other way as would best improve our roads it would not have been open to this objection, but they say in effect: you don't understand your own business, we will tell you.

3rd. "Not being lawyers" the Council are not sure they can repeal a M. L. F. By-law which has received the assent of the Government in Council. On the other hand they are quite unanimous that they cannot do so if objection were made against such repeal. A proper study of the quotation from Watt's would have saved all this trouble.

Now as to the White Lake road, I shall dispose of it in very few words. I thought I explained the matter so plain that it was not in human dullness to miss my meaning. I will try again. I was taught that the square of the hypothenuse of a right angled triangle equals the sum of the squares of the other two sides. Give a base of three miles say and a perpindicular of say four miles what is the length of the hypothenuse on White Lake road. Ans. five miles—but it is 7 miles along the perpindicular and base, the hypothenuse must therefore be shorter. The "educated mind" thinks it is no shorter, I am sure it is then, would it not be a good idea to survey it and demonstrate the matter by actual measurement? this is what I propose doing, and on behalf of the Council I pledge Mr. Watts it will never be built unless it is shorter. Then as to the great cost of opening the road I have an offer from a responsible party to open it as a passable waggon road for $400.

I need not answer the small claptrap that is advanced about the Council breaking their own by-law so far as it refers to the appropriation made between 10 and 11. If they have done so, surely this is the very thing Alexander wants. It he wants the by-law broken and he insists it is, what more would an educated mind require. The Council are satisfied to go on under it; and if they are wrong and spend the money without authority, they are amenable to the law.

Now, Sir, while I have this business on hand let me attend to a few little things in Alexander's last effort. With a perfect unconsciousness that he was squarely fibbing he has gone on in such a manner as to defy all power of face, like Tam O'Shanter of unwonted memory.

"He plunges on through dust and mire,
Despising wind and rain and fire."

But I must take care I am at the poetry again.

First he says, "I signed myself" ratepayers, &c, on behalf of those of the same opinion, then as "educated mind" should say "for ratepayers," &c, and there would have been no deception, and in this connection I will give him a quotation that is not poetry.

"All deception is a misapplying of those signs which by compact or institution were made the means of men signifying or conveying their thoughts." Let him paste this in with the other.

2. The $400 He found in the By-law but which He acknowledges He did'nt, he says He made a mistake, of course he did, but,

The King of France with twenty thousand men, marched up the hill and then—marched down again, Poetry again.

3. The Council said the Governor signed the By law. He backs clean out of this and acknowledges the corn there is bode for him yet but unfortunately.

"Grace abused brings fourth the foules deeds,
As richest soil the most luxuriant weeds."

There I am at it again, the people will never elect me after that.

4. "The white Lake Road will be no more direct than the one now open, my Arithmetic must be at fault or.

"A little Larning is a dangerous thing"

5. "Our Reeve has thrown away $300 of our Money" Has he indeed? I thought the Council not the Reeve prepared the By-law if so they would come in for a share of the blame but the money is on deposit yet. Will Alexander's explanation viz.: that the Reeve said he would carry out the By-law cover up his untruth, if the white lake road can be opened for $400 Mr Watts has recently advised me to let the job and here

"His gun has kicked and knocked him over,"

6th. "When I asked for light I did not ask where the money was to be appropriated, but why it was to be spent on open roads so useless." When and where did he ask this question? I fail to find it, but I do find in Watts on the mind,

"It fools have ulcers and their pride conceal 'em,
They must have ulcers still, for none can heal 'em.

I could multiply instances of this kind, but must pass on.

And as to my poetry Ioh, how it grates! what a thorn in the flesh it is! The "educated mind" says when I penned it I disgraced my township, sacrificed my principles, veracity and common sense, and allowed all and every particle of the attributes of my manhood, for the time being to sink as low as the brute creation. This is quite toplotitical and classical, he must have spent four hours in getting this fine sentence together, but I see it was only for the "time being" if so it is now all over, the township is safe, and I breath easy. Let me look at a little, however. I told Alexander

"To reform and be a better man,
Though great the change, I think he can."

Nothing very brutish about that, and I am sure it was good advice, for Alexander tries to impress his hearers with the same idea in prose, then fancy Alexander killing a dog which would in self defence turn on him and say your "skull is an empty hull quite inno cent of brains" Balaams ass could not equal such an exploit as this, and if he did I am afraid there would be more truth than poetry in his speech. But sir, the simile is not happy if it was got up by an "educated mind", and I leave him along with the sweet smelling animal he mentions.

Then I will have to import a donkey as there is none in the township. I think I know of a whole team but they are rather unequally yoked owing to the fact that only one belongs to each of the classes into which the world nowadays is divided viz: slow christians and wide awake sinners, and therefore would not be quite the thing for sawlogs yet if I sang this ditty they might answer my purpose.

"If I had a donkey what would'nt proceed,
Do you think I'd wallop him? no indeed,
I'd give him a pill and say proceed,
Get up Jimney."

And about Nebechadnezzar, I think my team are now down on all fours, with him feeding not on grass but on their finger nails.

I almost forgot to ask how have I sacrificed my principles in penning poetry? I am sound on the white lake road, sure pop.

It is reported here that when Alexander heard of my last article in breathless haste he ran to borrow an EXAMINER. Finding the communication he commenced to read. When he came to the braying he opened his eyes the full width, coming to Fader Abraham his mouth opened and muttered something very much like "by Jago" but on his arrival at the "empty bu" he fairly broke down, flesh and blood could stand it no long er and perspiration and profanity about this time appeared to have no limit, his eyes became at once a couple of water sluices in excellent repair, no run of maple sap was ever known to come up to his performances, this over I am told he ran home but the dose was too strong for he vomited up everything but his boots and socks, a blush has never been seen on his face since.

In my next I purpose discussing that hole in the ground, for I understand the author's throat perfectly, if I don't by some treachery get into it in the meantime look out for some startling revelations.

Apologizing for occupying so much space, I remain &c.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

The CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparation. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phthisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by sufferinr and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is last superceeding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, billious cholic, cholera infantum dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the moste skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; It can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electre Oil I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Riverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

IN SPRING THE NECESSITY OF TAKING a tonic to purify the blood, and restore constitutional vigor is universally experienced by the young or old, the indication arising from depraved nutrition caused by the depressing effect of protracted cold weather upon the nervous system, want of out-door life, exercise, and pure sunshine. Constitutions enfeebled, by age or disease are especially influenced by those causes, the appetite becoming poor, digestion feeble, the blood impoverished, and the vital powers depressed To restore nervous force and muscular energy Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya is a reliable remedy, speedily vitalizing all the organs and tissues of the body. 15-2ins

NEW GRAPE,

EARLY CHAMPION.

After growing and fruiting this Grape on our grounds we can with confidence offer it to the public, as the earliest Grape in this Country; [illegible] of hardiness, vigour of vine, and excellence of fruit, it is unsurpassed. The vine is a most abundant bearer, bunches large and compact, berries large, black, of good quality, and ripening with the first. In fact, it is in every way a desirable Grape, and an acquisition, greater than we know of. It is particularly valuable for market and sells quick to shippers and others. Moreover we think it valuable as a WINE GRAPE.

We are permitted to refer to the following gentlemen who are in the Nursery business, Rochester:—Major Gen. John Williams, Cay Transcript; Harry Esq, H E Hooker, Esq, Geo Ellwanger, Esq, Nurserymen, J. H. Stanley, Esq, Wholesale Fruit Dealer, all of whom have seen the grape growing. We also annex a notice from the Rochester Daily Union and advertiser. Rochester August 23rd 1874.

A REMARKABLY EARLY GRAPE.—A novelty in the line of the grape was laid upon our table yesterday by Mr. E. J. Donnelly, of the Lake Avenue Nurseries, it is the oldest of the "New Early Grapes," it has small bunch berry, which is the first ripen in this latitude. It is considered and prized as a rarity by such connoisseurs as P. Barry, Esq. Hillmans and others who have made grape culture a specialty:

The cypress tree is shading
Half on the sunny plain :
Unchanged, I wot, in each well-known scene,
Not a branch shows now in the hedge-rows green,
Just so the lark from the meadow sprung,
When Ida and I alike were young ;
Just so the primrose peep'd to Kate,
When I and April hailed the eight.

Yet, Nature's self pervading,
Is the sense of something gone :
The past is fading, fading
And the wheel of time rolls on.

The past is fading, fading,
And gathered in its hold,
Its mighty pinions lading,
Is much we prized of old :
The grass grows rank over many a grave
Of the young and joyous and gay and brave
Many a well loved voice is hushed,
Many a golden hope is crushed,
Many a happy dream is over,
With a smile of kindred, friend and lover.

The past is fading, fading,
The blood runs cold and slow ;
Harsh wisdom is degrading
The creeds of long ago.

The past is fading, fading ;
We cling and pray in vain
Where the cypress tree is shading
The tombs of all the slain,
Slain by the years and put aside,
The darlings of love, the idols of pride,
One by one the frail links part,
Hand drops from hand, and heart from heart ;
One by one the sweet things given
To brighten earth go back to heaven,
Till, love and life pervading,
Sighs the sense of something gone
And the past is fading, fading
And the wheel of time rolls on.

DOUBTING PRIESTS.

I believe that there can be no more critical and painful situation in the world for a man of clear intelligence and honest mind than that of exercising a ministry so elevated as the priest hood ; of ardent faith in his measures and pure faith in his motives, of abnegation and sacrifice in his ends, wholly devoted to giving faithful believers ideas of God and His providence, sustaining them in the combats of life and of passion, infusing into their souls the hope of immortality—and suddenly finding that the foundation of this ministry and the belief in the religion of which he is the preacher and the apostle is slowly dying, drying away in the inmost recesses of his being. Under these circumstances the priest appears, therefore, in the eyes of the world, if he forsake his ministry, a criminal apostate, and to his own eyes, if he remains in it a mountebank and an impostor.

Several Catholic priests have powerfully described the conflict of certain priests who, after being united to the Church, and having entered into their profession and made their eternal vows binding them to chastity and the renunciation of the pleasures of love and the joys of the family, meet in the world with a woman, perhaps destined by Providence to complete and beautify their life, and thus pass through all the circles of hell—hopeless love, unreasoning jealousy, a dropsical thirst of feeling without satisfaction, of infinite desires without alleviation on earth ; torn by ardent passions, insufferable remorse; victims of the strife between the voice of the heart and that of the temple ; excited by the very scenes to which they give consecration, the celebration of marriage between beings happier than themselves, the baptism of children born of holy loves, the enchantments of the family in which the priests appear to bless the felicity which can never be theirs, until, in this tremendous conflict they either fail and fall, forsaken of God, or die martyrs to their religion and their duty.

But there is another torment, greater still, of those who are born and brought up in pious families, with their eyes on the sacred books and their thoughts on the revealed faith ; who grow up in the shelter of the seminary, where the faith inspired at home passes to be a conception troadened in the intelligence ; who attain their maturity in learned universities, where these sentiments and conceptions become universal ideas, felt and believed by the whole being, sentiment as well as reason, and who eagerly embrace the priesthood in virtue of these convictions ; and while they exercise it doubt enters into the paradise of the soul, corrodes the mind, illuminates with its flashes the depths of the understanding, presents the sacred books as a history more or less human, hardly capable of resisting criticism, the dogmas, the material of their preaching, like symbols of dead ideas, the holy temple like a sepulchre of extinguished ages, all religion like a light which is passing to shadow ; and in this situation fate compels them to the alternative either of deceiving the world if they are faithful to their duties and listen to the interior voice of the soul, which counsels them to prefer to any thing in heaven or earth fidelity to what they think and believe to be true.

CARICATURES OF LOUIS XIV.—Louis XIV., as the caricature collections alone would suffice to show, was the conspicuous man of that painful period. The caricaturists avenged human nature. No man of the time called forth so many efforts of the satiric pencil, nor was there ever a person better adapted to the satirist's purpose for he furnished precisely those contrasts which satire can exhibit most effectively. He stood five feet two in his stockings, but his shoemaker put four inches of leather under his heels, and his wig-maker six inches of other peoples hair upon his head, which gave him an imposing altitude of six feet. The beginning of his reign was prosperous enough to give some slight excuse for the most richly developed arrogance seen in the world since Xerxes lashed the Hellespont, but the last third of his reign was a collapse that could easily be made to seem ridiculous. There were very obvious contrasts in those years between the splendors of his barbaric court and the disgraceful defeats of his armies, between the opinion he cherished of himself and the contempt in which he was held abroad, between the adulation of his courtiers and the execrations of France, between the rigorously enforced etiquette attending of the court and the dissolute ness of manners that prevailed.

The caricaturists of London and Amsterdam made the most of these points. Every town that he lost, every victory that he won, gave them an opportunity which they improved. We have him as a huge yellow Sun, each ray of which bears an inscription referring to some defeat, folly, or shame. We have him as a jay, covered with stolen plumage, which his enemies are plucking from him, each feather inscribed with the name of a lost city or fortress. We have him as the crier of Versailles, crying the ships lost in the battle of La Hogue, and offering rewards for their recovery. He figures as the Gallic cock flying before that wise victorious fox of England, William III., and as a pompous drummer leading his army, and attended by his ladies and courtiers. He is an old French Appollo driping the sun in wig and spectacles. He is a tiger on trial before the other beasts for his cruel depredations. He is shorn and fooled by Maintenon ; he is bridled by Queen Anne. He is shown drinking a goblet of human blood. We see him in the stocks with his confederate, the Pope, and the devil standing behind, knocking their heads together. He is a sick man vomiting up town. He is a sawyer, who with the help of the King of Spain, saws the globe in two, Maintenon sitting aloft resisting the severance. As long as he lived the caricaturists continued to assail him, and when he died he left behind him a France to demoralized and impoverished that he still kept the satirists busy.

Even in our own time Louis XIV. has suggested one of the best caricatures ever drewn, and it is accompanied by an explanatory essay almost unique among prose satires for bitter wit and and blasting truth. The same hand wielded both the pen and the pencil, and it was the wonderful hand of Thackeray. "You see at once," he says in explanation of the picture, "that majesty is made out of wig, the high-heeled shoes, and cloak, all fleur-de-lis bespangled.. Thus do barbers and cobblers make the gods that we wor ship."

MA SCOLDS AS MUCH AS EVER.

BY MAY MABLE.

"Ma scolds as much as ever," writes Cousin M., in her gossipy letter ; "and the worst of it is, she really has no little reason for scolding, now that we children are all grown up and out of the way, comparatively speaking. There are only two of us at home, and you may be assured we do all we can to lighten her labors. But if she can't find enough to do to keep her heart, hands and brains busy for her own family she must have half a dozen grandchildren or some adopted nurselings for whom to provide ; and then she frets and mourns because she must economise in her expenses in order to keep even with her yearly income.

"She is morally sure that her husband and children do not care how hard she has to work to save the property provided they can have plenty of spending money. She can't afford to have things like her neighbors, because the rest of the family must have all the extra fixing. She is certain that pa spends enough for fancy pipes and tobacco every year to buy her a gros grain silk. But when he offers her an equal sum she knows he means it as an imposition. He would not offer it if he thought she would take it ; when the truth is he would be glad if she would take twice the amount, dress nicely, take an occasional vacation and thus find rest and happiness and be the cheerful little wife she might be and was long ago.

"If it chances to be a stormy day and pa continues his work, she frets because he does not take care of himself and save her the trouble of nursing him through a siege of rheumatism. If he starts off to enjoy a social chat in some more amiable household, while the rain patters down, she thinks he might as well do some chores about the house and pick up and put away the traps that are scattered about.

"If Harry (her oldest son,) who is really the pride and joy of her heart, comes in from the field and marches to the pantry for some doughnuts or cookies which she has that morning made to suit his fastidious taste, woe be to him if he is found eating more than one or two of those great, lusty, fat brownies—and indeed it does seem that one ought to be enough for a really hungry man's meal ; but Harry declares that it takes a round dozen to pacify his growing appetite—a compliment to the cakes ma does not half appreciate ; and then she scolds because they are gone so soon.

"Thus it goes on, day after day worrying herself to death over what seems the veriest trifles ; making herself miserable and all about her unhappy. She never allows herself a moment's rest from earliest dawn till the last one of the family is locked in slumber. And she seems to think it a sin if others sit in her presence with folded hands. Does she suppose the world will cease her revolutions if her labors are delayed ? She is our dear mother, and because she is our dear mother we love and reverence her ; but how much closer might our sympathies be knit together if she were more gentle in her manners and more demonstrative with her loving caresses. Not one of us would think less of her if she would rest often from her wearisome rounds. Her charities are various. Are there any sick ones in the vicinity for miles around, it is her kind services that are freely given. But her own work must go on the same if she sits up half the night following one spent in watching to accomplish her purpose. It fairly makes one dizzy to contemplate her tedious round of self-imposed duties !

"Can it be necessary to drudge one's whole life away ?' is a question I often ask myself as I sit by my window and gaze upon the works of nature. And every twig, every blossom, the giant elm and cloud capt mountain, seem to shout, 'No, no ; there must be rest and change if we would develop all the organs of self culture or improve all talents given us by the Master."

EUROPEAN BREEDS OF NEAT CATTLE IN AMERICA.—Several of the more valued breeds of neat cattle were established early in the Old World, and improved during the period spoken of. Pedigrees began to be carefully looked after. The first volume of the English Short-born Herd-book appeared in 1822, but its pedigrees began at about this period or a little earlier. Only thirty animals are recorded that flourished in 1780 and earlier ; and while the blood of unrecorded animals afterward came in, for present purposes the pedigrees of all the thousands of thorough-bred short-horns date back to about that time, theoretically at least. Precisely when the first importations of this breed were made to this country is uncertain. It is now believed that they occurred very soon after the Revolutionary war, and there are traditions of several importations before 1800. Soon after that date importations began in earnest, and have gone on ever since. The first volume of the American Short-horn Herd-Book was published in 1846, the thirteenth last year, and in them are recorded some 33,000 pedigrees. Certain strains of this breed have thrived peculiarly well here, and the sale of one herd, September 10, 1873, at New York Mills, was doubtless the most extraordinary cattle sale that has ever taken place anywhere. At this sale 200 head sold for about $382,000, or an average of over $3500 per head, the higher prices being $40,700 for a cow, and several sold for over $20,000 each, a calf but five months old selling for 27,600. The Devons were also introduced early, and previous to 1840 were imported more abundantly than the short-horns, and perhaps have had as wide an influence on the improvement of American cattle as the last named breed, or even a wider. Now all the more distinguished breeds of Europe are successfully bred here, and five or six of the more numerous or important have American herd-books now published.

The effect of all this has been to enormously elevate the quality of American cattle ; and so completely has the mongrel or native stock been improved through these that in certain agricultural societies where premiums are offered for the best "natives" it is found that all that are offered as such are, in fact, 'grades,' having had an infusion of better blood within three or four generations. Even the Spanish cattle of Texas and California are being rapidly changed and improved through and by these better breeds.—Prof W. H. Brewer, in Harper's Magazine for May.

IN reference to the repudiation of the French Canadians in the United States, the chairman, Mr. Power, said that the Government had set aside several townships in the Northwest for such Canadians in the United States, of all origins, who may wish to take them up as free grant homesteads, and return to Canada. Mr. Lowe, Secretary of the Immigration Department, said terms for the transport of these people from all parts of the Union had been made with railway companies on such a liberal basis as to almost amount to direct aid to assist immigration to the Northwest Territories.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

GRATEFUL THOUSANDS proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Billous, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guaranteo of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores ; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins ; cleanse it when it is foul ; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, being an element of every solid and fluid of the body, and they are incapable of injurious results at any period from in fancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and no more harm can result from taking any more than the prescribed dose than from eating too hearty a dinner. 50-tf

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them ; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that is never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates ; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure :—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Loss of Appetite, and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Burnett's Extracts

The superiority of these Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market. They are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality, and are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small quantity only need be used.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so strong and universal confidence of mankind, as this PECTORAL remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its unlike a character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, but rest than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold round the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

THE SHIP BOY'S LETTER.

Here is a letter from Robin, father
A letter from o'er the sea,
I was sure that the spark I' the wick Last night
Meant there was one for me;
And I laughed to see the postman's face
Look in the dairy park,
For you said it was so wemanlike
To put my faith in a spark.

"Dear father and mother and granny,
I write on the branch of a gum
And think, as I sit on the part-hole
And look at the setting sun,
Father's smoking his pipe beside you
While you 'holy stone' the porch
Or getting clean rigging ready
For to-morrow's service to church,

"You mustn't be hard on the writing,
For, what with ropes and tar,
My fingers won't crook as they ought to,
And spelling is harder far;
And every minute a Larch comes
And spoil the look of my fun
And I hate 'em instead of I don't 'em,
And I smile out my curls of fo'ces

"Tell Susie I don't forget her;
But every Saturday night,
When we're chatting of home in the twilight
And our pups were all alight,
And I'm asked to toast the last I love,
I name sweet Susie Green."—
(O father to think of him doing that,
And the monkey source fifteen!

"And granny the yarns you spin all day,
In the corner of the door,
Won't be half so long and so tough as mine
When I see you all ashore.
You may be wont swallow flying fish,
But I'll bring you one or two;
And some Maltese lace for topsail gear,
And a fan for you know who

"Then good-bye to each dear face at home,
Till I press it with my lips,
While you pray each night for 'ships at sea,'
And God speed all on ships.'
I smile as I rest in my hammock,
Though storms may shriek and strain
For I feel when we pray for each other
We're sure to meet again."

ANIGHT IN A HAWK'S NEST.

In 185— I was engaged on the construction of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad (it was then called the Chesapeake and Charleston Railroad) having a sub-contract in the building of its grade. Though I had a large number of men and carts, with foremen, in my employ, I personally supervised the work, or in charging and exploding a blast of powder with my own hands, working as hard as any of my men, and exposing myself to the same danger they were; and the result was, my work received the commendation of the contractors and directors of the road for its thoroughness in filling the letter of my contract. This was a benefit to me; for, as soon as I finished one job, another would be awaiting me at good But in passing from one job to another I was often obliged to make a journey of several miles with my men and carts over the turnpike, through the then lonely and wild Blue Ridge and Alleghany mountains.

I remember once passing along this turnpike with some twenty carts and a score of men, and night found us tired and weary at a mountain tavern. We asked for a night's lodging, but the landlord, seeing us suspiciously refused it, with the plea that he had no feed for our horses, and provisions and bed for my men, and directed us to his nearest neighbor, four miles ahead. But our teams were weary, and I refused to proceed, telling the man we had enough feed for our horses and plenty of blankets for the men; and I directed the men to unhitch and prepare to stay. The man growled out that he could not feed us, and that we would be sorry for halting there, I replied that we had no fears on that point. How it was we were invited to the supper table, loaded down with the good things of the mountain chase, the golden butter, the good clean coffee and how it was we were each given a feather bed to rest our weary limbs on, —I never can relate; but, the next morning, mine host smilingly invited me to partake of his choice peach brandy, and confessed that he was afraid of us, because such a large procession of carts and men had never passed along that road before in his time; and he took us for a band of thieving gypsies. Because of the large number in my company, he reduced his bill after the wholesale style, and ended by giving us a jug of his favorite peach to imbibe along the way.

The time the adventure occurred that I am about to describe, I and one of my foremen, Bill Smith, were going to a new piece of work at Crown's tavern,—now a station on that railroad called cannelton. We went a day ahead of the men and teams, and were accompanied only by two horse-carts, that carried our baggage and tools. We were about three days following the turnpike as she crept along abreast the windings of the Kanawha river. There being no village along the way, we put up when we felt like turning in for the night, at the first log house, which, of course, in this thinly settled land, proved to be a tavern or house of entertainment; and I must say that, with the exception I am about to relate, we were generally warmly welcomed by the good people who kept these houses, and our wants were carefully attended to.

The second day of our journey was in as wild a looking region as I ever passed through. For hours we would travel along without the sight of a human being, or habitation along the skirts of a pine and chestnut forest, clothing the sides of the Sewell Mountain, and infested with bears, panthers, &c., and what is worse, outlaws.—men who had fled from justice to save their necks, and who subsisted like the traditional Robin Hood and Dick Turpin, upon the purse of the unfortunate traveler who chanced to fall in their way Having some 600 hard-earned dollars in yellow gold in our trunks in the carts, we were of course in a nervous condition during this day, yet we feared little, since we were well supplied with firearms. In that day was the custom for the men in a settlement to meet together every saturday afternoon (and God often on Sunday's) to practice firing at a target. These occasions would gradually wax in a shooting match for a turkey, and even, when it could be afforded by the contestants, for a beef. By long and assidous practice I became a crack shot, and had dazed congats with me in a shooting match. I am equal in this practice, because it was the common custom of the people there days, not because I thought it would ever be a benifit to me. I now felt that the time I spent this way was well spent, and I relied on my experience as a "shot" to serve me in the [illegible] region.

At the close of the second day of this journey, we arrived at a log tavern in the Sewell Mountain, now know as the Hawk's Nest station on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. It was situated upon a high bluff, where the Kanawha river made an abrupt turn like a half bent elbow. At the turn the river seemed to have no bottom, and the water boiled and bubbled there like a seething caldron. Logs floating down the river disappear here never to be seen again; hence the name given to this malestorm by the countrymen of the "Soop,"

The log tavern was composed of two rooms, and a loft, entered by a ladder. The front room was the bar room and bed room for travelers. The back room was the dining room. It [illegible] floors. No carpets cover on the floors. There was an addition of two rooms built to the house which served respectively as kitchen and family bedroom. The landord of this tavern was a man probably about sixty years old, gray-headed and pratly. Unlike the average landlord of this region who was always so newsy and talkative, this man was surly gruff in his answers to our questions. He had a bad countenance, which impressed me at once as in keeping with the bad reputation of this part of the country. My companion, who had seen much of the world and of the different phases of the character was quick to notice the evil look that beamed from the mans eyes. On the other hand, the landlady appeared to be an accomodating good hearted, pleasant little woman, who desired to make us feel at home during our stay there.

Supper was finally announced, and Bill and I sat down to a table set with excellent coffee, corn bread potatoes and a smoking joint of venison. It was the custom for the landlord to come to the table with his guests, to entertain them while eating, as well as to carve the venison or wild turkey and to wait upon each one present. But our landlord, on this occasion had disappeared before supper; and our good landlady told us with some hesitation not to wait for him as he had gone off to buy some fox skins from a neighbor in the mountains Bill and I glanced at each other simultaneously, and the worst fears were imprinted on our countenances. We proceeded to partake of the vivands before us in silence, but withal a good apetite.

After supper we proceeded to the bar room, where we engaged in smoking and discussing our present situation. Presently we heard voices and footsteps out side, and we instinctively arose to our feet, Bill exclaiming, "My God! here they come." Our trunks containing our money and clothes, were in the room. We proceeded to them at once, and placed them on a bed between us and the door, thus forming a sort of breastwork, and began to load some empty chambers in our revolvers. Directly the door opened, and in came five mountaineers, full bearded, dressed in buckskin trousers and jackets, and their heads covered with fox-skin caps, with the tails hanging behind. They were each armed with hunting knives and the old fashioned rifle, much in use twenty-five years ago. The old landlord brought up the rear. There was nothing in their appearance to commend them to our favor, and we felt uneasy in their presence. One of them—a six footer, whose hair fell down upon his shoulders, and whose countenance plainly said, "I am a desperado"—soon advanced as a leader of a band, saying, "Wa-al, strangers, how d'ye come on?" Then, looking towards our arms, said "Got some mouty purty shooting things ther?"

"Yes," I replied, "and as good as they are pretty. I have cut many a turkey's head off at ten rods with these fellows. I thought I would load up the empty chambers so that I would have them ready for use to-morrow if I should see any game. I could have killed a fox to-day, but they were all unloaded."

"Well, they must be purty good weepons, sartain sure. Say, stranger, what will ye take for one of them are weepons? I would like to trade you a mouty nice fox skin for one of 'em. I'll trade for the hull pack, if you say so."

"No," says I "I don't want to trade any of them off, as I find them very good friends when travelling.'

Advancing closer and reaching out his hand, he said" Let me look at one of 'em Cap." I drew back, saying, "No, I never let strangers handle my pistols, as they might damage them."

He gave me a dreadful look of anger and disappointment and withdrew from the rest of his companions. Bill said They are preparing for an attack." "Yes I replied," but we will be ready for them." "You're right said Bill.

We prepared ourselves the best we could, and awaited with anxiety their return. The door stood open, and the old landlord came in with only one man, and said to him, in his gruff way with a jerk of his hand towards the ladder, ,, you know where your bed is." The man sullenly passed us and ascended the ladder to the loft. We divided his intention was to come down in the night and murder us while we were asleep.

"Old man, "I said,' we are ready to go to bed; where are the keys to the door?"

He snorted out nervously. "I hain't got no keys."

"All right," says I, "I have four as good keys here as any man needs (showing my revolver.) and we are not afraid that any one will come in these doors, or down out of that hole in the ceiling." I spoke aloud, so that my auditor above and those outside, if their should be any, could hear. I looked at the candle and saw that it was burning low, and I said, "please get me a candle old man. I always burn a candle all night when I am in a strange place"

"I don't furnish no lights here; you needn't be afeared of anything in this house."

"Oh, I am not afraid," I replied, "but if you don't want to furnish candles all right; I always keep a supply along with me." [illegible] pours along with you. If you want one I'll draw out a candle and stick from my bed, and lit it by his, and then blow the burning one out and pass it to him. "Here is your candle," I continued handing him to him.

He took it and growling out something I have forgotten, shuffled away: "Good night, old fellow," I said, as he [illegible] would find us here in the morning, alive and well." My answer was a slam at the door as the old rascal passed out.

But Bill and I did not feel as hopeful as we spoke; so we examined the beds carefully (there were two in the room,) and took the feather mattress off one, and laid it under the other bed and crept in on to it. Our revolvers were within reach, and our candle burned upon the barricade of trunks. We dozed lightly. Once in the night I awoke with a start, thinking I heard some one in the room. I listened for a moment, and heard the cat-like tread of a villian in the loft stealing back to his bed, for he heard me get up. I cried out "Oh! you needn't mind getting up and coming down here to-night, for we are wide awake, and you might meet something unpleasant on your way down." He took nothing and was not disturbed no more.

The first thing we did when daylight came was to go to the stable and look for our horses,—for they were good ones and tempting prizes to a horse-theif, —and we were gratified to find them safe. We fed them and returned to the house for breakfast. Our villian of the loft had come down, and was warming himself by the fireplace. We gave him "Good morning," and he returned it gruffly, with his head hanging down.

After breakast we journed on and that night stopped at Hamiltons Tavern a stage-station 27 miles from the Hawks Nest. Mr. Hamilton was one of those genial, open-hearted, inquisitive, and communicative landlord's described in the earliest part of this narrative.

"Whar did you put up last night, friend I'he asked of me. I described the place to him as well as I could. He exclaimed with astonishment, "Lord you don't say; and came out alive! I tell you what, stranger, thar's mighty hard stories about that Haw's Nest."

A drunken stage-driver, lying on the floor, roused himself up and said, "whar did you say you stopped!—at the Haw's Nest! Thars more men been throwned down into that soop at that house than a six-horse team could haul. I have heard of lots of people putting up thar but I have never knowed one to come away. I tell yer what stranger, tha's sumping wrong with yer, or you'd have been a victim to. You're almighty lucky to get away with your life."

My suspicions were well founded, and only the show Bill and I made of our weapons and bravely, or rather braggadocio, saved us that night. I shudder to-night as I pen this narrative, and I have shuddered a thousand times, when I think of the night of terror and anxiety in the Haw,s Nest.

Success in Life.

Benjamin Franklyn attributed his success as public speaker, not to his talents or his powers of speaking—for those were moderate— but to his known integrity of character. "Hence it was said he "that I had so much weight with my fellow-citizens. I was but a bad speaker, never eloquent, subject to much hesitation in my choice of words, hardly

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 29, 1875.

EAST RIDING.

Examination of Dr O'Sullivan.

TUESDAY, April 27, 1875.

Dr. O'Sullivan, sworn—I was a candidate at last election of East Riding of Peterboro for a representative in the Local Legislature of Ontario. I was returned as elected. I commenced my candidature somewhere about the last day of December or 1st of Jany I received the nomination of the convention at Keene on the night of the 30th of December Accepted the nomination then We arranged for the holding of meetings, myself and members of the convention who were present, or at least some of them. Don't remember all the names. Messrs. P. Pearce, G. Read, H. Bennett, Carnegie, John Moloney, of Douro, and Daniel Haggart. Am not certain that R. Birdsall was there. Think Frank was. R. was not. There were one or two others from Norwood, via: Wm. Glynn, J. P. Brown, W. H. Stephenson. I don't recollect any one from Belmont. Messrs Moloney & Leahy from Douro. Was nomin. ated. Some of them assisted to arrange for meetings. There were others present whom I do not recollect. Those men all supported me and voted for me as far as I had any knowledge. Messrs. Carnegie, Haggart; and I think Mr. Pearce and some others may have made suggestions, but I don't recollect. The meetings were principally arranged by myself and Mr. Carnegie. The others made suggestions. We had to wait to get notices of our meetings. I looked to Messrs P. M. Grover, W. H. Stephenson, Birdsall, McGlynn, Moore and Smith to assist me. Had no committee as far as I knew. The men I have mentioned expected to take a more active part than others. Had no written correspondence with any of these people, only orally. Had a letter from Mr. Breckenridge early in the campaign. I have the letter or it has been filed. It is a letter of friendship. Have made an affidavit on production, but am not sure that it is among those produced. The letter expressed his pleasure at hearing of my candidature, and said I had succeeded as a teacher in that locality and also as a medical man, and drew the conclusion that he thought I would also succeed as a member of Parliament and as a politician, and offered me his support expressed in general terms. He suggested the necessity of a meeting at Westwood He did not suggest means necessary to be used to carry my election, merely the meeting. Got a letter from Mr. Burke I have not produced on my affidavit. It was previous to the nomination. He expressed pleasure at my being the candidate and of the prospect of my success, and that I would get a large support in Asphodel, but as his paper was non-political he would do what he could in a quiet way for me. Heard he had been canvassing for me; also heard of his refusing to buy votes for me. He told me of one man who had repeatedly offered his vote for sale, but that he had declined to have anything to do with him. Think I had only one letter from him. Had no letters from other parties in Norwood. Had no correspondence from Hastings whatever. The only letter from Westwood was Breckenridge's. Got a letter from Warsaw about the beginning of the campaign from Chas Armstrong. Produced it on affidavit. I had no written correspondence with parties at Keene. I expected Dr. McRae and Messrs. Gall and Van Ingen to work for me. The latter was not at the first meeting, but I understood he took a very active part for me in the canvass. There was a man named Campbell. I had no oral correspondence with those men. I only met Van Ingen once or twice. He expressed the hope that I would succeed. He said a larger conservative vote would be polled than usual, and he found the feeling favorable to me. I met a Mr. Murphy once during the campaign understood he was opposed to me. Messrs Birdsall, J. P. Browne and Burke gave me particulars from time to time. Mr. Carnegie took a very active part for me: I trusted a great deal to him 'I was not well during the campaign and had to trust a good deal to him as my agent: he mentioned those parties as working for me. My particular friends at Blairton were Mr. Bell, W. W. Armstrong, B. W. Turner. Dr. Payne, I understood, would vote for me, but not take an active part in the matter. I had no letters from any of those persons; did not write to them; talked to them. I had a meeting at Garrison's School House: Mr. Garrison presided. John Maguire, from Otonabee, was going to act for me as clerk or scrutineer on the polling day in Belmont. Mr. Armstrong and Turner were to do all they could, but I left Mr. Carnegie to make final and nearly all arrangements. I have no knowledge of Mr. Ryan, of Otonabee, taking any part for me. I don't remember the names of any one in Dummer except Mr. Armstrong spoken of and one who presided at the meetings who went to work for me. Mr. Carnegie had the arrangement of sending persons on the polling day. I don't know who went to Burleigh (my bookkeeper) went to Burleigh the day previous; his name is Michael O'Brien; his father lives in Douro; he had no particular knowledge of the people there that I am aware of; he was never there before with me, nor in Chandos, except on the election day and day previous; I think he went on Saturday; he was to assist John McDonald as clerk or scrutineer. He was to go to Apsley as my agent or clerk; he had no instructions from me, only to attend on the polling day. McDonald was to attend at the same polling place. The boy's father went with him; they took my horse. I understand my brother gave him seven dollars to pay expenses; three of which he returned on coming back; no other person went with him. Major Boulton was with me at a meeting before the polling day, and Mr. Cavanagh. We merely went and attended a meeting, and on our way back attended a meeting held at Lakefield. We all came back together; Mr. Cavanagh volunteered to go with me as he had an uncle up there. Mr. Cavanagh was not there on election day. My warmest supporters out there were Mr. McDonald Scotts, although I did not know them. one of Horan's, I don't remember his first name, Edward Sanderson I heard would support me; the Stricklands and Major Boulton were those on whom I depended for most support in the vicinity of Lakefield; I understand they took an active part for me, Major Boulton in particular. I met Major Boulton that time going to Apsley, I saw the Stricklands' afterwards. Mr. Stratton, myself and Mr. Boulton spoke at the Apsley meeting—at the Lakefield meeting, myself and Major Boulton. One of the Stricklands and D. Haggart that us there and also John Burnham; don't know of any supporters at Youngs Point of mine. My most active supporter in town was Mr. Carnegie; Mr. J. F. Dennistoun also attended a meeting in Ashburnham with me. and spoke on my behalf; Mr. W. H. Scott attended a meeting in Norwood and spoke on my behalf, and Mr. Carnegie spoke at every meeting at which he was present; think there was no Chairman at the Bend of the River meeting; the meeting was not mine. There was a meeting at the Indian River, a Mr. Leahy presided there, it was held in a room of Mr. Smith's hotel. Major Boulton was present and spoke and myself and Mr. Haggart, and I think Mr. Strickland, of Ashburnham. We had some refreshments after meeting but don't recollect any meeting after refreshments. My brother held private meetings in Keene; in Westwood, in Douro, and think he went over the greater part of the Riding and made arrangements for Clerks and Scrutineers on the polling day. He volunteered to come from Toronto: I learned from Mrs. O'Sullivan that she gave him $20; he brought $600 worth of campaign sheets intended for both ridings with him; this is all he got in connection with the election. I supplied my agent, Mr Carnegie during the election; I understand from Mrs. O'Sullivan that she gave him a cheque for $64, I gave him two cheques one of $250, one of $80, this was for expenses of the election. This is all I gave him; that is all Mrs. O'Sullivan gave to any person that I have any knowledge of; paid Mr. Carnegie; paid no bills but my own personal expenses. Mr Carnegie paid my horse hire; also the scrutineers, (those who were paid;) have had a few bills rendered to me since the election, handed them all over to Mr Carnegie, he showed the bill for publication to me. It did not include all the bills handed to me: he refused to pay two bills because the items were not given. Mr Brennan, of Hastings, put in a bill of $10 for keeping Mr Carnegie and myself and horse; was in Hastings. I instructed each hotel keeper to send in a bill so as to account for all; remained at Mr. Brennan's hotel from the evening till next morning; was there a while during another evening, but don't remember ordering anything except the keeping of the horses; they were Mr Moore's of Norwood. He drove me down to attend a meeting of a candidate of East Northumberland; didn't hear him soliciting votes, but I took it for granted he was assisting me. I wrote to Mr Brennan asking him to give the items; did not hear from him till after Mr Carnegie's return was made; he said he thought I was so very particular about items, but if I didn't pay him the whole I need not pay him anything at all. John Smith, of the Indian River, sent me a bill of ten dollars; Mr Carnegie objected to it in consequence of what he thought an overcharge for horses. Don't remember the name of the tavern keeper at Apsley. Mr Horses bill is in the list, Mr Carnegie put in at $4.50; there is a small account due Mr Green, of Hastings, for keeping my horse; know of no others; of $131 in accounts for horse hire. I Supplied the horses for myself and Mr Carnegie; the $64 was for myself and for persons attending my meeting; Donnelly supplied horses and Mr Ackerman, in Norwood, also; had one three or four days from him: engaged no horses myself; had horses to Apsley. I think Henthorns. Had a span of horses from Norwood to Garrison's; Mr Carnegie also had a horse that night belonging to the same person. did not keep a memorandum of personal expenses. Mr Carnegie kept account of everything except what I paid; I paid for Hall in Warsaw; for lighting it up &c., at Hastings; kept no account of my own personal expenses; know the amount in my pocket; my expenses were about $17, some of this was given to purchase at market, but I did not keep any account. Kept no account of what was given to boy; may have given 25 cents for expenses. The Apsley meeting is the only one at which Mr Cavanagh was present. Have no recollection of any person going from a distance to vote for me; I didn't send for any one. Mr Carnegie and my brother arranged for getting out the teams on election day; I am not aware of the arrangements except that there was to be enough horses to take out the scrutineers; I understood there was a mistake about ordering more horses than was required; they stood in the stable. I sent scrutineers to Otonabee, Dummer. I think and Apsley. There was a mistake about Donnelly's and Eastland's teams, because Donnelly had refused teams, not knowing my brother; don't know Mr. Donnelly at all to see him. Was in Examiner on election day; my brother was in Otonabee, Mr Carnegie in Dummer; don't know where Mr. Haggart was; John Maloney and Mr John Leahy were acting in Douro. Peter Phelan, I think, was not a friend of mine; he spoiled his voting paper; he made a large cross on back of it; I think it was no mistake. He knew better.

To Mr. Burnham.—There no proof of the personal knowledge that agents were sent out and hours engaged. did not appoint scrutineers; my blood boy is about 18 to 20 years of age. Mrs. O'Sullivan gave Mr Carnegie the cheque because I was not at home at the time. I gave Mr. Carnegie the money since the election. The $17 of personal expenses I kept no account was above what was in Mr. Carnegie's account. There were no teams engaged to carry out voters to my knowledge; know of no corrupt practices; was scrupulously exact to avoid anything of that nature, and repeatedly said I would rather be defeated than have anything brought up afterwards; had words with a friend of mine because of his treating, and told him to desist from it.

To Mr. Dumbie—The friend's name is T. Cavanagh, it took place at Apsley, after the meeting there He said it was customary for hotel keepers to treat when they went to each other's places. Mr. John Boyd was there and they were both treating; there were 5 or 6 in the room, two or three besides Boyd and Holmes and myself. He did not say he would go with me because he had friends up there he could influence. He did introduce people to me, saying they were my supporters.

To Mr. Burnham—John Boyd was not a supporter of mine.

This closed the examination.

THE WIGMORE-LEWIS CASE.

This case was again before Mr. Hatton on Tuesday, and Mr. Roger Bates was examined. Mrs. Ann Lewis had been subpœned but living in Methuen she was unable to be there.

Mr. Bates sworn.—Stated that he had been a witness at the late Assizes, that he knew the accused, that he remembered a letter, I got it by the stage; the mail comes on Tuesday's, Thursday's and Saturday's, the letter came on a Tuesday or a Thursday, I delivered it to Mrs. Lewis, it came in the week it was delivered. After the rumour about it I spoke to Cannon a number of times about where he got it; this was as quick as I found the general talk about it; Mrs. Lewis did speak to me about it, as to the day I gave it to her, it was probably a week or ten days after I gave it her when I asked Cannon; this was after the general talk; The letter we talked about was understood between us, he understood what letter I meant, it was spoken of as that letter for Miss Lewis.

To Mr. Dennistonn.—When asked first Cannon said he did not know how or where he got the letter, said he supposed he must have got it from Mr. Wyld or that somebody must have given it to him by the way; he did not state the name of any one from who he got it but said he thought he must have gotten it by the way; he did not say for a long time where he got it, it must have been a couple or three months after he gave it to me, although every time I saw him I asked him; sometimes twice a week, I enquired of him if he yet knew anything about that letter, his answer was continually "don't know, can't tell where I got it, suppose I must have got it from somebody," till I got angry he always gave me this answer. he then said he thought I was joking him, I thought than that he must know more about it than he professed to know. He positively professed to be unable to tell me from whom he got the letter. When he saw I was angry, he said he possibly may have got it from Mr. Wyld. This was after pressing him for three months. He said I may have got it from Wyld. I said, then see Wyld and let me know next time you come. He did not report as to Mr. Wyld the first time he returned, he said he had forgot to ask him. It was two or three trips before he said had he asked Mr. Wyld. He then said Mr. Wyld didn't know anything about, or couldn't remember anything about it. Cannon was fully aware of my object at the time. We did not speak of it as the letter containing something. It was spoken of as the letter to Miss Lewis in July. It was many months after Cannon got it before he spoke of it as the letter addressed to Miss Lewis, and before he said, he might have got it from Mr. Wyld. The matter dropped for some time before I asked him again. He then said the letter may have come into Mr. Wyld's office after the mail was made up, and that Mr. Wyld may have given it to him to take to the next office. I continued asking him about the letter till the middle of last winter, but he made the supposition that Mr. Wyld gave it to him after the mail was made up. He often brings way letters, sometimes half a dozen at a time, sometimes one, sometimes more. I had no difficulty in recalling his memory to the letter. He knew the letter perfectly well, as the letter addressed to Miss Lewis, just as well as I did. It was as late as October before he suggested getting it from Mr. Wyld. Up to that time he always declared he did not know from whom or where he got it, afterward said, "I suppose I must have got it from Wyld." He then did not say Mr. Wyld told him it was put in after the mail was made up. He merely suggested that it may have been so. This was merely a suggestion. Mrs. Lewis came to ask me as to the date I gave it to her, there was some talk about the day, as she said there were only thirty days in July, and as she got it on the last day it must have been on the 30th. She came expressly to know about the date of giving her the letter. This was after the investigation at Norwood. They have been accustomed to get letters at my office ever since they came to Belmont.

To Mr. Scott—When the letter came in I observed the peculiarity of a three cent stamp, and my mind was impressed with the loss of two cents, and I may have said so to him, but I cannot say so positively. The impression was on my mind and I may have expressed it. He cannot be under the impression that he told me at first that he got it from Mr. Wyld. It was not for months afterwards, (at least a considerable time) that he said so. I was always led to believe his statements, that he had got it by the way. That he might have got it from Mr. Wyld was merely suggested by him; the letter talked of was always understood, no doubt, she knew, the letter talked of, and very likely I spoke to him of the 3 cent stamp, but I would not be positive as to that.

It was shown that Mrs. Lewis had been subpœnaed; but could not come. Her son being present, said that if she should be able he would bring her on the 27th of May, to which day the case is adjourned.

His Excellency, the Governor-General, leaves Ottawa on Monday or Tuesday next for Quebec, and will sail by the Allan steamer on the 8th proximo. Several members of his Excellency's household will leave on Wednesday for a trip to Niagara Falls, and will hasten for Quebec in time to sail by the same steamer. His Excellency, we understand, will remain abroad for four or five months.

BLACK SHADES & DARK SHADES

Discussion—honestly and fairly conducted—of all public matters, in the end produces good results, although, during the discussion there may be injury done to some of the parties concerned: hence out of the present agitation in reference to school matters we hope to reap some advantages, notwithstanding the fact, that it is neither honestly nor fairly conducted. The causes leading to it are too well known to require explanation. They originated in personal feeling, arising out of imagined injury and disappointment, partly increased by the action of the Board of School Trustees.

The action of the Board in the matter of salaries could hardly be considered wise, but, no doubt, was the result of due consideration on their part, and believed to be in the interests of the school, and of the parents, guardians, and ratepayers. The twelve gentlemen who constitute the Board, are men interested in the cause of education as well as in any increase or decrease of taxes in town; and in general intelligence will compare favorably with any other twelve citizens that could be elected to take their places. They have been elected or appointed according to law, and take a lively interest in educational matters. We may give their names here as strong proof of this assertion. Messrs. James Stevenson, John Murray Smith, John McClelland, A. Smith, A. Rutherford, J. Edwards, Geo. Hilliard, Geo. Edmison, R. Robertson, Geo. A. Cox, William Johnston and S. White. They are the representative men, and all promoters of every good cause in town, yet we would not say that they possess all the wisdom of all the people, as we have had reasons for believing that they have erred

It will be remembered that there was a "Black" controversy concerning school matters, once, and it will be remembered too that it assumed a somewhat political shape. The common sense of the Board at that time was clearly manifested in removing the cause of the trouble, and in avoiding party issues The present difficulties are not of the same stripe to the same degree that obtained in the "Black" controversy. They are now of a lighter shade, bordering on brown, it is said. The motives may not be the same, but they are of the same nature. It is true that the thoughts and intents of the heart are not easily understood, but conclusions may be arrived at from circumstances.

So long back as the "Black" difficulty, the proposition to "write down" the Collegiate Institute, was understood in certain circles, unless Mr. Dixon would consent to allow Mr. Black to retain his position with an advanced salary. The threat "to write it down" was made to Mr. Dixon, to the writer and others, but the idea was puerile and was laughed at: and this may be the result again.

Mr. J. Coyle Brown has spent several days round town distributing petitions to have an investigation that would cost $400,—merely $400—to gratify a whim or perhaps spleen founded on personal antagonism to some teacher. And yet the people of Peterborough are urged to petition the Board to gratify that feeling, or perhaps worse. The object sought can be attained by waiting till the High School Inspector comes round, and then let the Board attend and judge of the result of his examination.

The peculiar style of argument in Mr. Brown's letters could be adopted by any writer on any subject. Just suppose a correspondent assailing the management of any of our bank agents, by asserting that something wrong existed: or suppose a correspondent assailing the County Inspector in the same way, but giving no particular instances of his neglect or malfeasance. Would Dark Shade consider that sound logic? That the subjects are badly taught in our schools except by one or two teachers, is a libel on the other teachers of the town, and will be found to be incorrect, on visiting the schools at any time. It is also very strange indeed that the same person could, at one time (and that not remote) almost advise the removal of a teacher to make place for a favorite, and now, in his letters, take the opposite course. But strange things do occur when self controls judgment or action.

It is true that the name of a correspondent is of little consequence in discussing any subject of general interest: but it is just as true, that not unfrequently anonymous letters on matters of even public concern, enable the writer to make false statements, and draw wrong conclusions, in the hope that he may wreak his envy on, or injure, his former friend, and escape detection. The more straightforward course would be to give his name and assume the consequence of his own statements, true or false.

The personal attacks of the writer on the Principal more fully demonstrate the motives that actuate him, than perhaps any other course he could have adopted.

We may return to this subject next week.

EAST AND WEST.

Some time since the eastern part of this county was excited over a letter, containing something in the way of medicine.

The western part is now coming in for its share in the way of letters containing something not altogether medicine. On Saturday night last Mr. Peter Pearce received a letter out of the Norwood P.O. through his son Joseph, who brought it home. It has no date and is anonymous. We do not understand it fully, but will give it to our readers. It has the Peterborough post mark on it, dated 24 April, 1875, and was taken to the Norwood post office the same day.

THE LETTER.

to peter perce esq.

dear Sir if you would be kind anoff to clear out for a few days and not apear for miss lewis for a few days until this tryail is over you will received the handsome sum of five hundred dollegrs.

Youre truly, a friend to the prisoner.

If this was intended to favor Miss Lewis it will be of no use to her, and if A. M. Wigmore, it is very foolish indeed

FIRE.

On Thursday morning, shortly after midnight, the dwelling of Mr. T. E. Belcher and J. C. Brown, inspector of Public schools, were consumed by fire. There are conflicting opinions as to where it originated, some asserting it was first seen in Mr. Belcher's sheds, and others that it commenced in Mr. Brown's shed, but where is not definitely known to us. The cause is ascribed by some to ashes laid away in the shed, and again by others to incendiarism. This is another unsettled question.

Mr. Brown's dwelling, constructed of wood, was completely consumed, and he lost all his kitchen furniture, except the stove—all the dell-ware, the beds and bedding of two bed rooms, a watch and gold chain, and other articles, besides damage to the furniture that was saved from the flames. He also lost his books and robes which were laid away in Mr. Belcher's shed. His loss he calculates at $300 and not insured. The building belonged to Mr. Green, of Pemelon Falls and was insured to the amount of $

Mr. Belcher's dwelling was consumed except the brick. He lost very little of his furniture except by damage in removing. He had commenced the duties of housekeeping but a few days and had not had not had time to insure. The building was lately owned by Mr. Davis of the late firm of Whyte and Davis, but had changed hands since the insolvency of the firm. Neither of the buildings would be insured to anything like the loss sustained. The engine was on the ground in good time, but there was no water available.

There present with great energy saved Mr. Fawcett's building, although in close proximity to the other, and by saving it, prevented an extensive conflagration.

The councillors for the 3rd and 4th wards should see that tanks be provided in suitable places without delay. At a trifling costs tanks can be built along the face of the hill and filled from flowing springs in sufficient quantity to meet any emergency. Why was this not seen to long ago? Money used in this way would be well spent. The use of small engines was again demonstrated, as Dr. Harvey, with a very small engine did admirable work in saving Mr. Fawcett's building.

The Council should provide four or more small ones without delay, and have them stationed in the outskirts of the town. Very often valuable property could be saved by being able to throw a few pails of water on the flames at their start, while by the time the large engine arrives, the saving of the property whence the fire originates is impossible. We hope to see this attended to by those who should see after our town affairs.

Mr. John Livingstone, a broker of Montreal has entered an action for $10,000 against the G. T. R. Company, for having illegally ejected him from a train on the 10th of March last. He took a ticket for Toronto on the 6th of March and left the train at Kingston, but when he again presented his ticket the conductor refused to accept it as good, and, with the aid of two brakesmen, ejected him from the train at Collins Bay.

CHEAP BREAD.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir:—Having been one of those who was favoured with one of those leaflets which during the last week were delivered about from house to house with an unsparing hand and from such liberal people as Messrs Munro & Dawson would try and make the people of peterborough believe. But my few remarks upon the trade and their statements may be the better way to explain their liberality, and first of all before beginning with the subject at once I would like to say a few words on (as they say) the years of conviction that and occasioning fresh outbreaks. A formal with a bakery in connection with our mills we could supply bread cheaper than any other baker". During last fall the the bakers could buy their flour cheaper elsewhere than from Munro & Dawson and withdrew one by one their trade from them, in the beginning of the winter season: hence their idea of a bakery, and to the bakery they went in January last fully prepared to lose 25 per cent of their profits on their flour Millers and to ruin all the bakers of this Town. In august last or thereby when the 4lb loaf was at 14 cents, Flour was $5. to $5.25: latter on in the season Flour fell to in price to $4 50 and the 4lb loaf was reduced 12 cents and remained so until about the time of the starting of Messrs Munro & Dawson's bakery when Flour fell to $3.75 per barrel and of coarse bread would have come down in price whether this bakery was started or not

Now to their statement or 23,000 loaves since they started say 13½ weeks or 1.700 loaves per week and the average of their prices to be 7 cents 1700 × 7 cents = $119 00 This 1 700 loaves if properly weighed would require 25 barrels of Flour at $3 75 = 93,75 which I consider fair work for their bakery leaving a balance of $25.25 to pay their expenses which cannot be estimated below 40. 00 per week and showing a deficency of $14. 75 to come out of the profits of their Flour Mill. To finish this valuable subject in your popular newspaper I would recommend every one to accept the invitation of Messrs Munro and Dawson. "We invite the people to look into this" "Do not buy light bread (their leaflet) (advts.)

To Editor the of the Examiner.

DEAR MR. EDITOR,—Knowing that you take so much pains to please your numerous readers, I think you will publish my friend's letter of the 24 instant, which I feel quite well assured will not fail to interest them. As my fair one is a good correspondent. I send you her letter, which I received last evening by the hand of Mr. H——, who thought, judging from his laughing eyes, that it contained an account of Cupid's life in miniature; but, as you will readily notice she does not mention Cupid, or his bows and quivers, but simply tells me that she is well—that brother is busy on the farm—that she and Julia are going to Saratoga in the dog-days, and that the learned Mr. Beal has rendered very important services by acting as critic in the town council. Miss L——'s letter says: "Mr. Beal, now a pork and flour merchant, is likely to relinquish his business and become a critic. Undoubtedly he will succeed, for already he has made Mr. E. A. Elvin seek a hiding place and wish for rocks and mountains to hide him from a face by no means handsome. Long have we felt the need of a professional gentleman of this description, but little dreamed that there was one in our very midst. Oh! how much talent lies dormant! How many have made their lives failures by choosing wrong vocations! Mr Beal, I am sure, belongs to that unfortunate class and like a desert flower has wasted a vast deal of his sweetness upon barren sands. Had this learned gentleman, whose acoustic tubes are so wonderfully acute, began life as a critic he might have shone like a star of the ninth magnitude in the literary horizon, and now been basking in some cool retreat away from the dust and hum of Simcoe Street. My learned friend has long felt a deep sympathy for those whose scholastic attainments are limited, and for this reason it is inferred from his late remarks that he intends to educate Mr. Elvin, who, as yet, is a stranger to his ample hospitality. I hope Mr. E. will avail himself of this excellent opportunity and shed lustre on his benefactor and Alma mater. Mr. Beal is, perhaps, a titled gentleman, may he has taken the degree of P. B. from some foreign university. I, in my illiteracy, would suppose that those initials meant Prince of B——ds, but should I be mistaken, he, of course, will give their true meaning. My learned friends education is not of the Ignis fatuus kind; undoubtedly he has penetrated the dark labyrinths of literary and scientific knowledge, made numerous optical excursions among heaven's sentinel watchers, measured the mountains of the midoi, penetrated far into the bowels of the earth, and measured the ocean the play ground of leviathans and the highway of nations. Now, let me ask, in the name of literature, who has a better right to criticise an unassuming young man than Mr. Beal?

A BREAD CONTEST.

In to-days issue will be found a letter on cheap bread. The people will, no doubt, see the point, and buy from him who sells cheapest; no matter who loses or where the loss falls. If Munroe and Dawson sell at lowest prices, and give good bread it does not concern the public which branch of his business enables them to do so. Let the people have cheap bread.

THE ACAPULCO MASSACRE

AN INQUIRY INTO THE PARTICULARS OF THE OUTRAGE.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Navy Department has received a communication from Capt. Queen, commanding the United States steamer Kansas, dated Acapulco, [illegible] he having been ordered there to inquire into the circumstances attending the death by violence of American citizens. Capt. Queen reports that about the fifteenth of March Procopio C. Dias and other residents of Acapulco, all natives and citizens of Mexico, organized a congregation for religious worship according to the Protestant creed. The meetings were held on Sundays and other days in the House of Dias, and were strictly of a private character. Dias and some members of his flock, when occasionally stoned by the populace and otherwise annoyed, but sustained no serious damage to their persons. In December last, the Rev. R. H. Hutchinson head of the Presbyterian mission in Mexico, was selected by the congregation to become their pastor, and to organize the congregation in a more formal manner. Converts were added to the church, and all the society numbered 68 persons; mostly natives of the country. Preaching and prayer meetings were held at Dias's residence. They looked for a suitable building for church purposes and soon rented one which had served as a Roman Catholic church, was subsequently used by French invaders, and afterwards occupied as a mercantile warehouse. The chapel was formally opened in January last, Mr. Hutchinson officiating as pastor.

THE MASSACRE.—On the 25th of that month after the services, the congregation retired without any fears of their enemies. Mr. Hutchinson did not at that time attend the chapel, the services being conducted by Mr. Diaz. There were present about thirty or forty members. A few minutes after 8 p. m., as the congregation were singing the last hymn, a disturbance was occasioned by a party of Mexicans, armed with machettes and muskets. From the testimony adduced on the examination into the disturbances, only six or eight of them armed men entered the building, the others remaining outside for the purpose, it is said, of finishing the Protestants who should attempt to escape. The struggle in the chapel did not continue more than eight minutes. Shots were fired, but the principal damage was done by the machettes. The Protestants, after the assassins retired, barricaded their chapel as a means of protection from the force outside.

THE KILLED.—Among the number killed, was a colored man named Henry Morris, a barber, and a native of Boston. His body was mangled. The head was almost severed from the body. He had frequently been warned by his friends no to go to the meetings, as there was reasons for believing that by so doing he would place his life in danger A woman was killed by a bullet passing through her head, and a man was found in a dying condition. This man was of the attacking party, and was shot by Diaz, who was badly wounded, having received eight wounds. The military commander and his aids soon reached the spot, and were directly followed by forty soldiers from the garrison. The District Judge and his secretary also appeared upon the scene, and ordered those inside to open the doors of the chapel. This the Protestants refused to do until they were assured the party so ordering were their friends. It was then ascertained, according to official inquiry, that three men and one woman had been killed, and eleven men wounded.

THE CURATE RESPONSIBLE.—Capt. Queen says the majority of the people of Acapulco influenced and approved the extermination of the Protestants. He has reason to believe that the teaching and influence of the Roman Catholic curate, instigated the assault. In his sermons he never condemned the outrage A petition has been presented to Gen Alvarez the Governor of the State, asking for the expulsion of the Protestants. Even if it should appear that the curate was implicated, the Governor would not have the necessary force to sustain him in the inquiry. Nothing has been done to bring the offenders to punishment. Any energetic steps to this end would have the effect of increasing the ex[illegible]

Judicial.

The 'Globe Gazetteer' learns that the Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State, is to be appointed to the Bench, either of the Supreme Court or of one of the Superior Courts of Ontario, and considers this a recognition of Mr. Scott's legal attainments, and also as acceptable to the Roman Catholics of the province, who are not represented on Superior Court Benches.

GREAT ATTRACTIONS

During yesterday the great attractions of the opening of Millinery rooms caused a lively stir among the ladies.

W. G. THOMSON'S

Show Rooms were unusually attractive with all the novelties. The Bonnets are beautiful, the ladies were admiring them very much. Of Flowers, Feathers and Ribbons, he has an endless variety, and his Mantles, Jackets, Fichus and Sleeveless Jackets are of latest styles. The ladies cannot fail to be pleased with their visit.

MESSRS. MACDONALD & ELDER.

Also opened their Show Rooms yesterday and had a very solid display of Bonnets, Hats, Mantles and Jackets. In Feathers, and Flowers of lastest styles, the most fastidious can be suited. They have also the new sleeveless Jackets beaded. There was a large display in Silks, Ribbons, &c. Their Stock is large and attractive.

DIXON BROS.

Opened their Show Rooms with a splendid assortment of all the attractions of the season. Ladies can please themselves in the latest styles of Bonnets, beautiful Mantles, Silks in variety, and in Ribbons and Feathers of matchless hues.

HALL INNES & CO.

Open their Show Rooms to-day. In French English and American Millinery, their Bonnets are beautiful. Their Mantles in Cashmere, beaded sleeveless, Jackets, and Lace, and Lace Fichus are charming, and will ensure a great demand. Their general stock is unusually attractive.

ADVICE.

We advise the ladies to visit all the Show Rooms, they are enchanting. The dull season has not prevented the importation of the most beautiful goods hitherto brought to Peterborough, but it must be trying to make selections.

AGRICULTURAL

A meeting of gentleman friendly to the organization of a Central Agricultural Exhibition was held here yesterday.

There were present, from Port Hope,—

Messrs. Foote and Grey, representing East Durham Association.

Messrs Powers and Harrison, Hope.

Messrs Brock and Thorndyke, South Victoria.

Messrs Drummond and Birdsall, East Peterborough.

Messrs Elmsley, Otonabee.

Peter Perren, Asphodel.

Messrs Truscott and E. Kear, South Monaghan.

Mr. Stanet, Cobourg.

Messrs Clementi and McClelland, Peterborough Horticultural Society.

Messrs Walton, Carnegie and Garbutt, West Peterboro'.

Messrs Dean, Millburn, Peter Hamilton and others were also present.

Mr. Foote, of East Durham, was appointed Chairman, and Mr. Carnegie acted as Secretary.

After some discussion it was—Moved by Mr. Powers, seconded by Mr. Clementi,—That this meeting is in favor of a Central Show in Peterborough this year, with a view to holding Central Exhibitions in Port Hope, Lindsay, Cobourg and Peterborough, as may be agreed. This was carried unanimously.

It was moved by Mr. Carnegie, seconded by Mr. Jos. Walton,—That the Chairman, and Messrs. Drummond, Brock, Peter Pearce and the Mover, be a committee to prepare some proposition or address to place before this meeting.—Carried.

The Committee retired and after some time reported in favor of a Central Exhibition this year at Peterboro, with an understanding that it shall be held in Port Hope next year, and the following year in Lindsay, and if Cobourg should come into the scheme, it is understood that it shall be held alternately at Peterboro, Port Hope, Lindsay and Cobourg. East Peterboro agrees to enter earnestly into the arrangement.

We have no space for further comment this week.

LAKEFIELD COUNCIL

The Council met on the call of the Reeve, on April 24th; 1875.

All the members present, the Reeve in the chair.

The minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. Beatty, Health Inspector, presented a report which upon motion of John Hall, seconded by John C. Sherin was received and adopted.

Councillor Hall introduced a By-law for the better protection of sidewalks, shade trees, and to prevent people collecting in groups on sidewalks or streets, which received its several readings and was passed.

Moved by John Hall, seconded by J. C. Sherin,—That the Clerk draw up a By-law to issue fifty one hundred dollars debentures to be dated July 1 1875. and he is hereby requested to have it ready by next meeting of Council and also to get the debentures printed, said debentures to be issued for school purposes, and bearing seven per cent interest per annum and one-eighth to be returned each and every year.—Carried.

The Reeve read the following communication:—

To the Reeve and members of the Lakefield Council:

Gentleman,—As I am leaving (D. V.) for England next month, I beg to tender my resignation as member of the Lakefield Council. Yours very truly.

ROBT. A. STRICKLAND.

Moved by John Hull, seconded by G. R. Shields,—That we hear with regret the necessity of Mr. Robt. A. Strickland resigning his position in the Council on account of going to England, and his resignation be accepted, and that the Clerk take steps to have the vacancy filled.—Carried.

A By law was introduced and received its several readings, providing for the election of a Councillor to fill the said vacancy.

Mr. Geo. Mealmoyl addressed the Council stating that the Council room was unfit for a Court room, there not being a sufficient number of seats and no separate room to hang the Judge's coat and hat in, and that they received an order from His Honor Judge Dennistoun to procure a room elsewhere and charge the Council five dollars for sitting for same.

The Reeve was requested to see Mr. Sculter, the Chairman of the School Board, about getting some more seats for the Council room.

On motion of John Hull, seconded by G. R. Shields, the Council adjourned until the regular meeting.

The nomination of candidates for the office of Councillor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R.A. Strickland, Esq., takes place next Monday at 12 o'clock, noon in the School House.

New Wesleyan Church, Toronto.

For some time past, mission services, under the direction of the Rev. W. H. Poole, of the Queen Street Methodist Church, have been held on Dundas St., and efforts made to erect a building and start a new Methodist congregation. The scheme met with great approval, and has progressed so far, that a neat church is now under contract, the corner stone being laid yesterday.

The church is in the gothic style. It is sixty-four feet long by forty-six feet wide, besides having two vestries, each thirty by fifteen feet, one being finished in white brick and the other to be rough cast. The church itself will be of wood faced with white brick. The front is to be surmounted with an octagonal turret. Pinnacles will be placed at the angles of the front. Access to the church is by two porches in the front, leading to a vestibule thirty-seven feet by seven feet, having a staircase leading to the end gallery. The auditorium is fifty-three feet six inches by forty-three feet six inches, and twenty eight feet high to the ceiling line. The church is lighted by four windows in front, and five windows on each side placed between the buttresses, and will be glazed with obscured glass, having coloured marginal lights. The interior walls of the church will be finished in rough stones and blocked. The ceiling will be divided into fifteen panels by the wood work of the roof. The communion will be enclosed with a neat rail supported by iron standards. Behind the platform and reading desk will be a recess having a moulded arch having corbels and supported on columns. The wood work of the interior will be stained and varnished. The church will accomodate about 500 persons.

Amongst those present were the Rev. W. H. Poole, Rev. Drs. Ryerson, Wood, and Green, the Rev. Messrs. Potts, Jeffrey, Shaw, Hunter, Smith, Armstrong, Drs. Whittles and Ogden; Messrs R. Wilkes, James Paterson, Robert Awde, W. S. Finch, James Hodgson, John Winchester, James Graham and H. Bird. A large number of ladies was present.

The Rev. Mr. Poole read the introductory address. The 620th hymn of the Wesleyan Methodist collection was given out by the Rev. Mr. Jeffrey. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Hunter. The Rev. Dr. Wood led in the dedicatory responses.

After 1st Corinthians, iii,9 to 23 verses had been read by the Rev. Mr. Shaw, that gentleman addressed the assembly.

Several other gentlemen also addressed the meeting and the ceremony closed shortly before four o'clock.

Most of the money required for the building of the church, $5,000 is already subscribed.

The opening of the church will probably take place in the middle of June.

UNION OF THE MARITIME PROVINCES.

A strong agitation is at present going on in the lower provinces in favor of a legislative union of the Provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward and Newfoundland, and although all such constitutional changes require more or less time for their adoption, the desirability of the "new departure" is so evident that its accomplishment cannot be very long delayed. This legislative union in other words is simply one Government and one legislature for the whole five provinces—or a substitution of one cheap general parliament and executive and one set of departmental officers, for the five sets of Houses and departments now existing. No great interests clash in the inter-provincial affairs of these maritime states, and as their inhabitants are a people almost homogeneous in origin as well as united in feeling and sentiments, there is no reason, politically speaking; why the change should not be effected without delay. The expense of the public service would be enormously lessened, and the money saved to the provinces by the consolidation could be advantageously used for the development of the mines, fisheries, and other leading interests of these fine provinces.

THE GREAT REFORM PARTY.

The Oshawa 'Reformer' says: We are glad to be able to announce that all differences of opinion between the Hon. Messrs. Mackenzie, Holton, Blake and Brown have been satisfactorily arranged; and that once more the great Reform party of Canada presents an unbroken front. It is intimated that the Hon. Mr. Blake and the Hon. Mr. Holton will, at an early day, enter the Government. We are sure that the whole country will rejoice to know that Mr. Mackenzie in the great task he has undertaken of conducting the Government will be aided by two of the ablest Reformers in Ontario and Quebec. Our opponents have been watching with intense anxiety every indication of a division in our ranks, and nothing would have pleased them better than to have seen Messrs. Brown, Mackenzie, Blake and Holton occupying antagonistic positions. With the party in Parliament united, and all working harmoniously the Opposition are powerless for harm. We trust that this movement among the leaders will have its effect upon the country, and that the Reformers in every riding throughout the Dominion will lay aside all party differences and unite in one determined effort to support and sustain in power Messrs. Mackenzie, Blake or Holton, and their colleagues.

If the Reform party desire to control the affairs of the Government they must, for the present, do it through the party in power. To maintain that party in power all must unite in sustaining the Government of the day. With the changes above indicated, we have no doubt the Government will continue to have the unlimited confidence of the country.

SUNDAY.

Lord Dufferin will be absent until some time in September next.

Hon. Mr. Smith, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, is recovering from his illness.

Lieut.-Colonel Walter Powell has been appointed Adjutant General of the Dominion of Canada.

The Rev. Gordon Thompson M.A., curate of Christ Church, Albany street, London, has resigned his curacy, and has seceded to the Church of Rome,

In January Mr. McDougall ran in East York as a Reformer. On Friday night he stated in South Simcoe that he had belonged to the Conservative party since 1867.

Lieut.-General O'Grady Haly, who will be sworn in as Administrator during Lord Dufferin's absence in Europe, which takes place in a few days, is expected to arrive in Ottawa in a few days.

Cardinal Manning says he has got a commission of warfare, and that he believed the Church was approaching a crisis the most fierce for 300 years. This is a fair notice to the Cardinal's antagonists.

Mr Harris, Engineer of the Canada Central Extension, has left Ottawa for Renfrew, in company with the secretary of the road, to make preliminary preparations for prosecuting the extension of the line.

Mr. Harris, Engineer of the Canada Central Extension of the Pacific Railway, has left Ottawa for Renfrew, to commence a survey of the extension of the Canada Central Railway, in connection with the Georgian Bay Branch.

The Galt "Reporter" says that a farmer near that town has 1,000 bushels of potatoes raised by frost, a loss to him of $8,500 at least. It is feared that heavy damage has been done to farmers' stores of potatoes by the severe frost this winter.

An English sportsman who visited the mountain towns of Italy during February saw as many as fifty starved deer found in the forests. Stags, last winter, often ran into the villages and died from exhaustion after being captured. Throughout Italy the weather was unusually severe.

A PLEASING SPECTACLE.—Moody, an American in London, and Varley, an Englishman in New York, each getting audiences of upwards of 20,000 to hear the pure Gospel of the Grace of God! Is not this a noble international effort? a blessed reciprocity? a sure token of the oneness of the Evangelical Church of Christ.

There are to be built on the Canada side of Niagara river this season two new hotels. The first is to be built at or near Table Rock; the contract is already let. It is to be a wooden structure and contain three hundred rooms. The other house is mid way between Table Rock and the new suspension bridge.—It will have one hundred and fifty rooms, and the rumour was that it is to be kept by a gentleman from Rochester.

What has become of the salary "outrage" invented at the beginning of the session by the Tory prints? They started the story that Ministers intended to raise their salaries to $10,000, and thereupon fell to and abused them for their woful extravagance. It was an unblushing lie, made to order to hang an outrage upon, and having served its purpose is quietly dropped. If the lying is to be deprecated the fertile imagination lavished upon it cannot but be to some extent admired

APPOINTMENT.—Our respected confrere and the "Father of the Canadian Press," David Wylie, Esq., of the Brockville Recorder has recently received the appointment of Militia Paymaster of District No. 4, Ontario, in place of Col. McDougall, lately deceased. Mr Wylie has our warmest congratulations on his appointment, which we are satisfied he will fill with ability and satisfaction; though his retirement from connection with the Canadian Press will be regarded with regret by his brethern of the pen in this country.

The news from the west in regard to a return of the dreadful grasshopper scourge is disheartening. A despatch from Missouri says that with the warm days of spring, which seem to have opened, myriads of grasshoppers are hatched and brought to light. Grave fears are entertained on account of this fact. The only hope of the farmers appears that the pests will leave their hatching places for other scenes and pastures new. The numbers are said to be greater than in former years. From St. Paul it is reported that the regions devastated last year are free from eggs this season, but that the counties mentioned are sure to be overrun, the soil there being full of eggs.

The Halifax "Reporter," of the 27th says: About forty Icelanders arrived here yesterday in the steamer Chase from Portland, in which place they had come from Quebec via the Grand Trunk Railway. They intend settling at Musquodoboit; and from their healthy appearance they bid fair to be a most valuable addition to our population which we have had for some time. They have for some time past been living in Ontario, but they found they were too far away from the sea, and the air was too dry for them: so that there is every prospect of the Nova Scotian climate suiting them. Dr. Clay has taken charge of them, and will see that they are comfortably cared for—probably at Eight Mile House—until homes are provided for them. The Government will probably introduce a bill during the present session granting 50 or a 150 acres to each family in their new settlement; and Mr. Archibald will take charge of the men, and superintend the new roads, etc, what will be required to be made, Mr. Anderson, the interpreter is with the party, and as soon as comfortably settled in their temporary homes, he intends returning to Iceland to bring out 25 more families. The women and children will remain at the Eight Mile House, or where ever they are located, until the new settlement is prepared to receive them;

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favourably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single care of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

The CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparation. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phthisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by sufferinr and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is last superceding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, billious choiic, cholera infantum dysentary, &c.

Price 35 cents per bottle.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN COLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the moare skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electre Oil I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electic Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and

NEW GRAPE,

EARLY CHAMPION.

After growing and fruiting this Grape on our grounds we can with confidence offer it to the public, as the earliest Grape in this country; ripening at least two weeks before any other of the hundreds of varieties cultivated. The bunches are large and compact; berries large, black covered with a rich bloom; quality good; strong and healthy grower, and an immense bearer, greater than we know of. It is particularly valuable for market and sells quick to shippers and others. Moreover we think it valuable as a WINE GRAPE.

We are permitted to refer to the following gentlemen who are in the Nursery business, Rochester:—Major Gen. John Williams, City Treasurer, P. Barry Esq, H. H. Hunter, Esq, Geo Ellwanger, Esq, Mumford, J. H. Watson, Esq, Wholesale Fruit Dealer, all of whom have seen the grape growing. We also subjoin a notice from the Rochester Daily Union and advertiser, Rochester August 23rd 1874.

A REMARKABLY EARLY GRAPE.—A novelty in the line of the grape was laid upon our table yesterday by Mr. R. J. Donnelly, of the Lake Avenue Nurseries, in the shape of a box of the "New Early Champion." a large and plump berry, which is the first to ripen in this latitude. It is considered and prized as a rarity by such connoisseurs as P. Barry, Ellwanger and others who have made grape culture a specialty:

PRICE one year old 50 cts.

THE LITTLE ROBE OF WHITE.

In a rosewood cradle a baby lay;
Its mother was stitching, stitching away
On a little robe of white.
One foot on the rocker, she hoped to keep
Her frolicsome baby fast asleep,
To finish her work that night.

In every fold of the garment she brought,
That loving mother fostered a thought,
Hopes for the little one—
And smiled on her babe with a happy pride
As it slept in state side by her side,
Till that little robe was done.

The cradle was hidden in laces and lace,
And hung was the light on a cushioned face.
The angels in its infant glee
Stretched out their hands and down to earth
How pretty it was, to bathe when you wear
That new little robe," said she.

In a rosewood coffin the baby lay—
Its mother had wept the night away,
Watching its dying breath,
With it clasped to her breast she prayed to keep
Her darling baby from going to sleep
In the cold, cold arms of death.

They buried the babe in the garment just wrought,
Whose every stitch held a hopeful thought
From that loving mother's sight.
On the marble stone she wrote, with a tear,
How many hopes lie buried here,
In that little robe of white.

In the Saviour's arms a baby lay
From its rosewood coffin far away
In the realms of love and light
The angels a garment had folded about
Its little form which will never wear out
A seamless robe of white.

PRUNING TREES AND VINES.

It is a common saying among practical horticulturists, that the best time to prune a plant is when such an operation is discovered to be necessary, and a man has a sharp knife in his pocket. This should not, however be considered as literally true, although volumes of nonsense have been written in regard to particular days or months in which certain kinds of plants should be pruned. It is not well to prune vines or trees just at the time the sap begins to flow the most rapidly in the Spring, because it is likely to issue from the wounds, discoloring the bark below, and making the plants look unsightly, even if no further injury follows. But if trees or vines are pruned early enough to insure a good frosting of the wounds for a few nights before the sap begins to flow, there will be little danger of what is usually termed bleeding. In many northern localities this may yet be done, and those who have neglected pruning trees and similar plants requiring it should not delay the operation, although it may be put off with some kinds until the leaves are fully expanded. But there appear to be many erroneous ideas prevalent among those who have had little experience in plant culture, and the most common one is, that vines and trees require pruning only once a year, which frequently leads to severe losses both in fruit and the vigor of the specimens.

A man, for instance, concludes that his apple or pear trees require pruning the branches having become too abundant for the free admission of light and air into the centre of the head, or because some of the leading shoots have become too tall, or the lower branches droop too much to admit of working the ground underneath. He therefore proceeds to thin out, cut back or trim up, several large or small branches, as the case may require. So far, the operation may be performed in a judicious manner, but in the months following it will usually be observed that numerous sprouts will spring from latent buds near the point where a branch has been severed from the main stem or elsewhere, and if these are permitted to grow it is at the expense of these and other parts of the tree; besides, in most cases they spring from the points where no shoots are desired, and will be removed at the next annual pruning. Examples of this kind may be seen in hundreds of orchards at any time during the summer months, the vigor of the trees being wasted in the strength of these sap sprouts, as they are usually termed by farmers. Now, the proper course to pursue is to visit the pruned trees once or twice during the season, breaking or cutting off these surplus sprouts while they are young, thereby forcing the sap in other channels.

We think of those who have had experience in the care of orchards will readily see the importance of this operation in connection with that of the regular annual pruning. Of course we do not assert that all trees require pruning every year, but if it is done, summer pinching and rubbing off surplus shoots should always follow. If trees are properly pruned at the start followed by judicious care in Summer, there will be little need of removing large branches as they become old. A fruit tree should receive its first severe pruning at the time of planting in the orchard, and there is little danger of reducing the top too much.

In planting peach trees, say one year old and five feet high, we would cut back the main stem to three or three and a-half, and all the side shoots to within one or two buds of their base, which, in ordinary varieties, would mean to within three inches. With pears, apples and plums, less severe pruning wil suffice; but we would reduce all branches to about one third of their original length, and if the trees some have been transported to a considerable distance, and become what dry during transit, a still further reduction will be beneficial. The ends of all roots severed by spades in the digging should also be smoothed of with a sharp knife before planting. This kind of pruning is the almost universal practice with nurserymen and others who have had extensive experience in tree culture. Of course there are men who claim that it is wrong in theory to reduce the natural number of buds and branches upon a tree in order to secure a vigorous, healthy growth; but we can assure our readers that it works well in practice, even if it does not exactly accord with some of the theories advanced to prove that it is wrong.

The next period in the life of fruit trees when very severe pruning may be beneficial, is when they have reached an age of unfruitfulness, either in consequence of having been permitted to overbear, or of neglect of pruning or culture. Old orchards which have become almost or quite barren may frequently become almost or quite barren may frequently be restored to health and fruitfulness by removing one-half of all the branches entire, and then shortening the remainder one-half, at the same time adding fertilizers to the soil. Considerable attention, however, will be requisite during the summer in removing the young sprouts which will issue from severely pruned branches. A few of the strongest should be permitted to grow, selecting those for this purpose which start at points where new branches are desired. Many of our old and now almost worthless pear and apple orchards might be restored by manuring and pruning combined. In removing large branches from trees, it is well to cover the wounds with grafting wax or some similar substance which will prevent the decay of the exposed wood.

PRUNING GRAPEVINES.

What we have said above in regard to fruit trees is also applicable to grape vines. If pruned before cold weather is entirely passed, there will be little danger of bleeding. Summer pinching of the most vigorous shoots, or well as rubbing off the feeble ones which always appear in greater or less numbers upon all cultivated vines, are very important operations. Annual pruning of grapevines is generally conceded to be necessary, but the equally essential manipulation in Summer is far too frequently neglected; hence the numerous complaints of failure to obtain well ripened fruit or vigorous canes for use the following season. A few canes and those of vigorous, sturdy growth, are far preferable to a great number and all weak and slender. The former are seldom secured without attention in summer, no matter how carefully the annual pruning may have been performed.

The lesson we would inculcate by the foregoing, is that the first step in the improvement of plants calls for a corresponding care in their culture. The first pruning which may be considered as having been done at the time of taking the bud or cion from the parent stocks, makes a second in the life of the tree or vine necessary, because henceforward the plant is placed under artificial conditions.—N. Y. Weekly Sun.

AN OBNOXIOUS LOVER CURED.

In early life—so early that I can not remember the removal—my father "pulled up stakes," and, carrying with him the household goods, went from Bourbon County, Kentucky, where I was borne, to Ohio. Notwithstanding a rough-and-tumble struggle with the world, he had a hard time to get on, owing to a numerous and rapidly increasing family. Well, family matters had not much improved when I had reached my thirteenth or fourteenth year.

At this time there lived in the neighborhood a young man by the name of Skinner. He had inherited a well-stocked farm, was good looking, and made a strong profession of religion. This latter qualification caused him to find peculiar favor in the eyes of my father who always was blinded by professions of extra piety.

This fellow had a strong "hankering" after one of my sisters, who was a very pretty girl. To her he was peculiarly distasteful. She seemed always excessively annoyed at his presence. Yet he was ever at her side. She dared not dismiss him entirely, for fear of the parental anger. Things went on in this way for a year or two, and as I partook largely of my sister's hatred to him, I resolved to get rid of him some way. cast about for a plan for some time, but nothing occured which gave me the [slightest hope of being successful.

At last returning home late one summer night from mill, I found the family at their nightly devotions.

Passing by the windows of the room in which they were assembled, I saw that Skinner was there, and pretty soon I descovered that he was nodding, and finally his head dropped. Now was my opportunity. I stole slyly into the hall, and reaching the hall door, which was slightly ajar, and close by which Skinner, was "on bended knee," I reached in and, quickly pulled his chair from under him, he rolled heavily, as a sound sleeper would, upon the floor. The noise alarmed all. The old gentleman stopped in the midst of his almost interminable prayer, and saw the position of Skinner. All the family laughed outright; even my mother smiled.

Skinner tried to pick himself up as rapidly as possible, but he touched the old man upon his tenderest point. It was evident, from his rubbing his eyes, that he had slept under the old gentleman's ministration; and had not my father a reputation far and wide for the fervency and strength of his ministrations, and was not. Skinner his professing brother? It was too much Slowly yet most dignifiedly did the old man approach him. "Begone, hypocrite!" he cried, in thunder tones "Never enter my house again."

Skinner was thunderstruck! He felt that he could make no apology that would not add to the insult. He had no suspicion of the exterior force which had aided him in his fall. He at once found his hat, took up his line of march, and completeld crest-fallen passed by me as I stood grinning in the shadow of the porch.

At a suitable time I entered, got my supper, was told by my brother in hurried whispers what had happened, and then I stole of to bed affecting ignorance and laughing most heartily, as I ensconded myself in the sheets, at the complete success of my plan.

LABOR-SAVING MACHINERY.

The savings in the operations of husbandry by the use of modern implements and methods is equal to one half the former cost of working. By the improved plow, labor equivalent to that of one horse in three is saved. By means of drills, two bushels of seed will go as far as three bushels scattered broadcast. The plants come up in rows, and may be tended by horse hoes; being in the bottoms of little furrows, the ground crumbles down against the plant, which is not so readily heaved out by the winter's frost. The reaping-machine is a saving of more than one-third of the labor when it cuts and rakes, and will eventually save three-fourths when it is made to bind automatically, as it shortly will be. The threshing machine is a saving of two-thirds on the old hand flail mode. The root cutters for stock, in England, and in some places in the Northern States and Canada, must reduce the labor of winter feeding. The saving in the labor of handling hay in the field and barn by means of horse-rakes and horse hay-forks is equal to one-half. With the exception of the grain drill, which had a precarious existence previous to 1776, all these improvements have been commenced and brought to the present relative perfection within the century now closing.—Harper's Magazine.

It is related of a certain minister who was noted for his long sermons with many divisions, that one day, when he was advancing among his teens he reached at length a kind of restingplace in his discourse, when, pausing to take breath, he asked the question: "And what shall I say more?" A voice from the congregation earnestly responded, "Say 'Amen!'"

To CHEESE AND BUTTER MAKERS.—We have seen a circular from a noted produce-commission firm doing business in New York and Montreal warning makers and dealers that a fall in the price of cheese and butter in the market would likely take place for the next few years owing to the hard times all over the world just now, and the over-production with in the past few years—and advising them to "cut their cloth" accordingly. Butter-buyers at least have found to their cost during the past season the butter trade is an unsafe one and dangerous when prices attain over a certain average figure—say twenty or twenty-five cents.

VEGETABLE VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

WE HAVE A CONFIDENCE IN PROCLAIMING VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases,—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of these remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. These sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood, and restore it to healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting disorder in the digestive functions remove the cause of disease.

Hence we are the first origin of disease.

Hence directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints for which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to restore the stomach and bowels to healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Dilatation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be somewhat larger taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

The superiority of these Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the fashionable fruit flavors now in the market. They are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality, and are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small quantity only need be used.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this exclusive remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the nations of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its unfailing character has power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by druggists the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

IN MEMORIAM

Alex. Walker, son of John Walker, Esq., Otonabee, who died January 15th, 1875, aged 21 years.

For the "Examiner."

A pent on whom we can rely,
In a momentum cold,
Ere that his pen was hardly dry,
Another friend was dead.

So transient is the life of man,
Daily news are telling;
How death hath laid in dust some one,
Or that some one is ailing.

One day we hear an old man's pass'd
Death's gloomy passage through,
The next, a youth has breathed his last,
Whom years on earth were few.

The next may be an infant child
Upon the mothers breast,
Who lately on the mother smiled.
When hushing it to rest,

Oft like the buds upon the trees,
Blighted by the frosty blast,
Is man, his oft so transient is
Like shadows flecting past.

The stroke was sudden, and was heard
Upon the family hill;
A youth for whom all had soared,
So sudden then to fall.

Without distinction, age, and youth
We see, by death laid low,
Speaking aloud the solemn truth,
All to the dust must go.

A. GRAHAM.

PRESENCE OF MIND.

If we would command good gifts from some beneficient fairy, as in the fine old times of magicians and genii, the first on the list would be presence of mind. Without this, indeed, all the others have but half their value; for of what use is a chariot which can be got ready only after you have finished your journey and waded through the mud on foot? or a fire-escape which appears at your windows only when you have been scorched and blackened in the flames! So of what good the wit which lags behind the occasion, and comes in limp and damp when the time of the arewerks has passed and the brightest flash falls dull and dim! or the courage which is only like the blind strength of Samson, eyeless, confused, without the power of discriminating means or the ability to discern opportunities? What we want is the presence of mind to make both wit and courage available on the instant and when wanted; the ready fact, the quick eyesight, the facile word, the prompt act, the use of the faculties which measure obstacles coincident with those which balance powers, so that we see where the danger lies, and at the same moment where the means of escape are to be found. Without this power of ready use, this presence of mind, no faculty we may possess has either full play or full value, and for all practical purposes we might as well be without these powers of which we cannot get the good or make full use when required.

Take a tender, timid, easily-distressed and distracted mother, with her child in flames, badly cut, half drowned, or in convulsions. Theoretically she knows exactly what to do. She has read it often; been instructed in all the stages of procedure, and knows the whole thing by heart, beginning, middle and end—in her arm chair. Put her knowledge to the test, and it has gone; exhaled in frightened screams, in agonized distress, in tears which do no good to her child or any one else, in wringing of hands and tearing of hair. When too late she remembers what she ought to have done, but, lacking presence of mind for the occasion, the moment of deliverance passed, and the child died or was maimed for life in consequence.

This is by no means an exaggerated picture of nervous incompetence, or an unfrequent occurrence. Among the saddest deaths of a family are those which might have been prevented had there been a little presence of mind with those in authority, and less yielding to hysterical confusion and distress. We are constantly exposed to dangers where we can either save ourselves by promptness and coolness; or where any are lost by flurry, blindness, and inability to act with understanding. A runaway horse is a case in point. Take a carriage full of ladies, say, with a driverless, bitless horse, careering like a mad thing along the road—death galloping by their side, looking them in the face whether they sit still or get out; but in the former cases the chances between destruction and escape nearly even, in the latter the chance of escape reduced to zero, those of destruction raised up to certainty. The women with presence of mind sit still, keep silent and hold on; those without presence of mind scream loudly and struggle to get out. Their screams only frighten the already terrified horse the more; and if they do get out they are either killed by the concussion of the fall, or at least have broken limbs by reason of the wheels passing over them. Those who hold on have all the chances in their favor. The horse may leap the bridge, may dash down the precipice, may break the fences and try conclusions with the express train; or he may be stopped in time, and no real harm done—all within quitte pour la peur! He may upset the carriage by dragging one side up the bank, or hustling it against boulders and telegraph posts; or he may keep fair and square on the middle of the road. So long as there remains an "if" in the quiver of chances, the balance is in favor of quietude, and presence of mind carries the day. And what is true of this kind of accident is true of every other kind. A stormy sea and a rickety boat; a sudden cry of "Fire!" by night, and the licking tongues of flame creeping through the stifling smoke; a severed artery, and the life-blood spurting out in jets; choking; drowning; the thousand-and-one perils that come upon us unaware—they are all continually to be passed over safely by presence of mind where want of this inestimable quality leads safe and sure to ruin.

One evil result of very careful home training is that children are not sufficiently to run their little dangers, so never learn how to get out of them when they come. And as presence of mind is, like everything else, a matter of use and exercise, we cannot wonder if the adult fails between the child that never learns, and that the habit of screaming for help, and stumbling per-alysed till it comes, survives the years when care was always about and help at hand. For our own parts, we advocate the system of "wise neglect" which allows children to run into small childish difficulties, and leaves them to get out of them again without help, rather than that which removes every straw from their path lest they trip over it, covers every smallest bruise with cotton wool, and suffers no free use of their faculties lest that free use should include the wholesome lesson of pain taught by experience and the unimportant consequences of minor mishaps. We think the cultivation of that faculty, or rather of that ready result of many faculties, called in the concrete presence of mind, worth a little pain and danger to attain. It may save life in the future to have a contusion now; and a scalp wound at sight is better than a crushed skull at eight and twenty. The most daring men are generally those who come triumphant out of danger; and those who fail and fall are, for the most part, men who as children were over cared for, and so have never learnt how to take care of themselves when the hour of peril was on them.

In conversation and the play of wit, presence of mind is a necessity, if one would not be worsted and put into the lower place. The most famous anecdotists, the most popular humorists, and their consequence and off-shoots, the most favourite diners-out, have had this quality in rich abundance. They could cap anecdotes, quotations, histories, strange events, with unfailing quickness and felicity. There might have been in the room some who knew more than they, but whose resources were unavailable because of the want of that mental readiness which is, in its way, mental vitality. The lesser light burned the brighter because it had the larger openings through which to shine: the larger gave no brilliancy at all, because its envelope was dense and let nothing through. Reading makes a full man, writing an accurate one, a speech a ready one, says our legal sage; and quickness of speech, like presence of mind comes from practice. No one jumps at once into the position of a smart speaker. He has to fall many times before he learns to run swiftly, and to suffer the consequences of more than one blunder before he hits on the right method of sharp reply, of ready humor, of answering fun with fun, and keeping up the ball without suffering it to drop for lack of breadth. But with practice much may be done, and the faculty called presence of mind is a thing to be learned like any other, those succeeding best who have most natural aptitude, but none being hopelessly incapable

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

It matters not how often you stoop, if what you stoop for is worth picking up.

Kindness is the music af goodwill to men, and on his harp the smallest fingers may play heaven's sweetest tunes on earth,

How many think to atone for the evil they have done by the good they intend to do, and are only virtuous in the prospective.

If you would win success, be punctual, courteous, honest, economical, agreeable in your personal habits, and regardful of your health.

To be bodily tranquil, to speak little and digest without effort, are absolutely necessary to grandeur of the mind or of presence, or to proper development of genius.

Thoughtlessness for others, generosity, modesty and self-respect are the qualities which make a real gentleman or lady, as distinguished from the veneered article which commonly goes by that name.

Look on the bright side of things, for none are so unhappy as those who are forever thinking how hard their lot is, and how much better off are others. Think of those who have less, and life will be joyous.

Women can do a great deal for each other if they will only stop fearing "what people will think," and take a hearty interest in whatever is going on to fit their sisters and themselves to deserve and enjoy the sights God has given them.

If you love others they will love you. If you speak kindly to them they will speak kindly to you. Love is repaid with love, and hatred with hatred. Would you hear a sweet and pleasing echo, speak sweetly and pleasantly your self.

There is seldom a line of glory written upon the earth's face but a line of suffering runs parallel with it; and they that read the lustrous syllables of the one, and stop not to decipher the spotted and worn inscription of the other get the lesser half of the lesson earth has to give.

Speak kindly in the morning; it lightens the cares of the day, and makes the household and all its affairs move along smoothly. Speak kindly at night, for it may be that, before dawn, some loved one may finish his or her space of life for this world, and it will be too late to ask forgiveness.

Economy is the parent of integrity, of liberty, and of ease; and the sister of temperance, of cheerfulness, and of health. Profuseness, on the contrary, is a cruel and crafty demon, that gradually involves her followers in independence and debts, that is, fetters them with iron that enters into their souls.

People have usually three epochs in their confidence in man. In the first, they believe him to be everything that is good, and they are lavish with their friendship and confidence. In the next, they have had experience, which has smitten down their confidence; and they have to be careful not to put the worst construction on everything. Later in life they learn that the greater number of men have more good in them than bad, and that, even where there is cause to blame, there is more reason to pity than condemn.

Councillor Rudd of the Irish bar, was equally remarkable for his love of whist and the dingy color of his linen. "My dear Dick," said Curran to him one day, "you can't think how puzzled we are to know where you buy all your dirty shirts."

HOW TO PLAY A PIANO.

It was a young woman with as many [illegible] as the planet Saturn has rings, that did it! She gave the music-stool a twirl or two, and fluffed down on it like a twirl of soap suds in a hand-basin. Then she pushed up her cuffs, as if she was going to fight for the champion's belt. Then she worked her wrists and hands to limber 'em, I suppose, and spread out her fingers till they looked as though they would pretty much cover the key-board from the growling end to the little squeaky one. Then these two hands of hers made a jump at the keys as if they were a couple of tigers coming down upon a flock of black and white sheep, and the piano gave a great howl, as if its tail had been trod on. Dead stop—so still you could hear your hair growing. Then another howl, as if the piano had two tails and you had trod on both of 'em at once, and then a grand chatter and scramble and string of jumps up and down, back and forward, one hand over the other, like a stampede of rats and mice more than anything I call music.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

FIGHTING EVIL.

Infinite toil would not enable you to sweep away a mist, but by ascending a little you may often look over it altogether. So it is with our moral improvement; we wrestle fiercely with a vicious habit, which would have no hold upon us if we ascended into a higher moral atmosphere. It is by adding to our good purposes, and nourishing the affections which are rightly placed, that we shall best be able to combat the bad ones. By adopting such a course you will have gone in all humility to form new alliances: you will then resist an evil habit with the strength which you have gained in carrying out a good one. You will find, too, that when you set your heart upon the things that are worthy of it, the small selfish ends which used to be so dead to it will appear almost disgusting; you will wonder that they could have had such a hold upon you.

SAVE MONEY.

"Put your money in your purse" if you can, young man; deny yourself a few of those expensive pleasures which are so evanescent, and which leave a sting behind. It may come hard at first; a few take kindly to self denial; but in years to come you will thank yourself for exercising prudence in youth. Habits are easily formed; and he who does not begin to save when he commences life for himself, will rarely begin at all; for where not even the needless of a modest fortune has been early acquired, family expenses will after a time, grow as fast as the income, and the two keep abreast ever afterward. The saving and keeping of the first hundred or the first thousand dollars is the key to future success, from the fact that it builds up business character; it compels the formation of habits of economy, and fixes them for life; it puts the worker on the right road; accustoms him to keeping out of debt, drills him into the homely science of keeping his financial matters snug, and builds up a granite determination to force expenses below income.

FOOLISH SPENDING.

Foolish spending is the father of poverty. Do not be ashamed of work. Work for the wages you can get, but work for half price rather than be idle: Be your own master, and not let fashion to society swallow up your individuality—hat, coat, and boots. Compel your selfish body to spare something for profits saved. Be stingy to your necessities. See that you are proud. Let your pride be of the right kind. Be too proud to be lazy; too proud to give up without conquering every difficulty; too proud to wear a coat you cannot afford to buy; too proud to be in company you cannot keep up with in expenses; too proud to lie or steal or cheat; too proud to be stingy.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 6, 1875.

SCHOOL MATTERS

The matter of the petitions that were handed round with so much expectation has ended in smoke. It was presented on Tuesday evening, but not even received.

There were 105 names attached, and of these, 79 have no children, or having children have none old enough to attend school. 61 of them have no children, 24 of them are unmarried, many of them have not been in the school during the last five years, and several of them, on enquiry, we find, have never entered it at any time. And yet they petition for an investigation of a something of which they know nothing. Of the 105 over 80 are confirmed Conservatives, not merely doubtful ones.

A MOVEMENT SEMI-POLITICAL?

Something since some members of the Board were approached with melancholy looks and sad expressions that town matters were all going astray. Mr. Dixon must be dismissed, they said. He was ruining the whole school! The young men who attended his classes were all becoming Reformers!—and if this should be permitted to go on, the whole of the young men of the town and county would become Reformers! One evidence of this was the boys wanted to hear Messrs. Mowat and Blake when they spoke on the Court House square, and they did go and hear them, and witness the result.

It is satisfactory to know that this feeling is not wide spread—that there are not many so rabid that they forget the truth so to injure a teacher, because they imagine his sympathies are with an opposite party. And it is pleasing to know that there are not many of these in Peterborough, but there are a few, for we have our information on this matter from good authority.

It may be said that Mr. Brown is a Reformer and that therefore he is not one of those of sad and melancholy countenance on account of the growth of Reform principles. Well, but he is only "the cat's paw" of more designing men—as we have his frequent visits of late to the Review Office.

The charges against the School are in keeping with the accusers. The first one is, "The little children are comparatively neglected."

The Board has all along had as many teachers as there were rooms that could be occupied, and even had teachers teaching in basements, in order to meet the requirements of the children and of the people, until new school houses could be erected. About three years ago they erected a new building containing five rooms, last summer they erected the South Ward School containing four rooms and all these are occupied; and as soon as funds can be raised they intend erecting a school in the North Ward, and one in the West of the Town, containing (probably) four rooms each, and all for the accommodation of the little children. The teachers engaged are well qualified for their positions, and have merited the approval of the Board and Principal. In fact they are well qualified to discharge their functions any that might be recommended by any of the disaffected parties: and it is new to them that they were neglecting the children under their care, as stated in the petition.

No. 2. "That many parents are dissatisfied with the progress made by their children."

This "many" is somewhat exaggerated. Some parents may be dissatisfied, and dissatisfied persons will be found at all times. All children cannot make satisfactory progress—and some will not try to make progress—they are idle truants and disobedient. But who is more to blame for these things, teachers or parents? There are at least 1000 Public School families in Town—of these, 900 at least are not complaining. Of the petitioners about 30 are young men, some of them not citizens, over 60 have no children indeed unless circumstances change, never will. How much attention therefore should be paid to the complainants?

No. 3. Refers to boys in the Collegiate Institute studying languages their parents do not wish them to study. This may be true in a very few cases, but for this neither the Principal nor the Board can be responsible. The law has been strictly adhered to, hence Mr. Brown must memorialize the Government to have the law amended.

No. 4. "Great dissatisfaction exists as to the general management." Of the Petitioners not five have been in the school for twelve months. Several of them not in five years, and others have never been in it. It would amuse the public to see the names of many of the petitioners in print, or troubling about school matters; but never mind. The 12 members of the Board are the best judges of the general management, and as they have been duly elected by the people or appointed by law, they are the responsible parties, and it is nothing short of an insult to them to ask an investigation, and this especially by men who really know nothing about the management at present, except what they get by retail from disappointed office seekers, or interested persons.

No. 5. "The schools are not giving an adequate return for the moneys expended." This one implies that the teachers' salaries are too high, perhaps it implies more—that there are too many teachers employed.

The teachers do not think their salaries are too high, as they have been applying for an increase at nearly every meeting of the Board for over a year. There is no class of public servants so poorly paid, and hence the continual resignations of young men who can do better in almost any other business.

There are not too many teachers in the public school department, nor are the salaries too high, they are too low. In the Institute, the Board should be best qualified to decide as to the number of teachers required, and as to the return for the money expended. It is their business to see after these thing, and anyone acquainted with the management of the Board will willingly admit that they have not failed to do their utmost in the interest of the people, and to secure a sound, liberal and popular system of education for the youth of this town, as the people, if appealed to, will testify. It is worthy of note, here, that all political considerations are dismissed from Board meetings. Messrs. McClelland, Hilliard, Johnston, and White as well as other members, are above discussing educational matters from a political standpoint; and, while we may have had reasons to differ from their views, we are willing to admit the honesty and uprightness of intention of every member of the Board.

To have 980 pupils on the rolls of the school, and no fault finders among the parents and guardians, would be an anomaly, but that there is any wide spread dissatisfaction with the school management or teachers, is without foundation, except in the imaginations of two or three persons.

TRUANCY.

In connection with this matter It may serve a good purpose to draw the attention of the Board to truancy. It prevails to some extent and should be checked. The appointment of a truant officer would cost but little, and the dread of him would deter boys and girls from acting truant for fear of detection and punishment.

THE PROMOTION OF TEACHERS AND THEIR SALARIES.

This subject has been engaging the attention of the Board for some time. Teachers when promoted always expected the salary paid to the teacher who previously had charge of the room. Last year the Board promoted several teachers but Mr. Perry at the close of the quarter refused to pay the salaries exposed, thus virtually promoting without any additional salary. The teachers felt indignant and justly so. Promotion was sought for the increased salary, and to rob them of it was wrong; in fact, an injustice to those who were considered worthy of promotion. Some members of the Board hold that salaries should depend on merit not on position: others hold that salaries should depend on the work required and retain no teacher who does not satisfactorily fill the position to which he has been appointed. This is the true position for the Board to take, and Mr. Johnston was right in his remarks that any other course was merely a way of cutting down salaries, by promoting from one place to another where a higher salary had been paid, but not allowing the higher salary. Very few teachers would desire to assume new responsibilities unless for better pay; and the teachers have felt dissatisfied that their promotion did not ensure them better pay.

The correct principle is to fix salaries according to the work required of a teacher, that is, attach the salary to the room If a teacher deserves a better salary promote him if worthy, or make his an exceptional case, granting a temporary increase, with an understanding that in case of a change of teacher, the salary revert to the old standard. The system of promotion on account of merit, should also be encouraged It would prove a motive to earnestness and progress on the part of teachers, and would not increase the general expenses: but promotion should never be permitted, unless when fully merited. No teacher of ambition would quietly submit to be sent from one room to another to suit the whim of the Board or of a Principal unless he felt it was in the interest of the school. or that he would secure a better, salary by doing so. Teachers, too, are very poorly remunerated for their time and labour, and in no way can a Board do them greater justice than by deserved promotion, and thereby ensuring a better salary to them Promotion without any accompanying gain is a very empty honor Very few members of the board would seek it.

TOWN COUNCIL

The Council met on Monday evening, pursuant to adjournment. Present, His Worship the Mayor, and all the members but Mr. Cook.

The minutes of the previous meeting was read and confirmed.

Communications were received from George Laidlaw, President of the Victoria road, asking the concurrence of the Council at a Convention to be held in Toronto on the 11th instant.

From D. W. Dumble and others asking the Council to erect a bridge over the Otonabee river at Dickson's Dam, and promising assistance.—Referred to the Joint Committee on the Otonabee bridge.

From Wm. Croft, asking the Council for directions where to deposit waste water,—Referred to the Health Inspector.

From Mr. Bennett, asking the Council to pay her rent.—Referred to the Charity Committee.

From Rev. M. Lynch, R. C. Pastor, asking for a grant to assist in the support of poor persons sent from here to Kingston.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From the County Clerk, enclosing a copy of report from the County Council, in reference to a bridge at Rom's.—Referred to the Joint Committee.

From John Dunlop and Joseph Buller, each asking for a sidewalk.—Granted.

From John Luney and others, from Wm. Bradshaw and others, Mrs. Orde, James Sheridan and others, asking for improvements on streets.—Referred to the Street Inspector.

From Isaac Simpson, secretary-treasurer of the Midland Cetral Fair at Kingston, calling attention that the proposed Central Fair to be held in Peterborough, has adopted the same designation.—Referred to the Agricultural Society.

A statement by Joseph Lundy of the plank used in sidewalks in 1874, was submitted and received.

Accounts from Jas. McDonald, $8.80, and from George D. Edwards, $55, were referred to the committee on Finance.

Reports from the Street Inspector, License Inspector and Town Physician were read and submitted.

The Finance Committee's [illegible] submitted, and on motion was received.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Your Committee have considered the various matters referred to them, and submit the following report:—

With reference to the petition received from the Board of Church Trustees asking that the balance due them on account South Ward School building be paid, or your committee recommend that the amount be borrowed from the Commissioners until such time as the debentures for the South Ward School can be issued, and that a by-law be passed to enable the Treasurer to obtain the amount of of 2,297.02 from the Commissioners for this purpose, the amount of $50 over and above the same plan, the School Board having to replace that amount paid by the treasurer to the Board out of the general reserve of the town, and in case the permission from Legislature cannot be obtained for the issue of debentures, that amount be raised by taxation.

Your Committee recommend that the Treasurer pay to Mr. J. J. Lundy the amount due on lot No. 10, North of Hunter and west of George streets, for interest on damages sustained on said lot by extension of M. R.R., he being the present owner of lot.

Recommend payment of Douglas and Logan's account for iron work on Brock Street bridge, $14.08; Scott & Edward's account, advice to Thomas Beavis vs. M. R.R., $4; John McDonald's account timber for Brock Street Bridge, $8.80.

Upon inquiry into the alleged omissions in the report furnished to the County Registrar, referred to in his communication of April 3rd, your committee find that Mr. Romaine has taken necessary steps to have the line filled in and certified to by a Provincial Land Surveyor which will be satisfactory to the Registrar. Your Committee have examined the pay list since last report, No. 8 amounting to $32.94, No. 8, to $92 40, being $45.44 for the two creeks, and find them correct, and amounts paid to employees are receipted.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WALTER BEAL,
Chairman.

Council Chamber, May 3rd, 1875.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr. Cahill, —That the Street Inspector examine the covered drain on King, between Aylmer Street and the Creek and repair the same where necessary.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr. Beal,—That the petition of Messrs. Ormond and Walsh and others, for watering the streets, be granted, recommending that the amount be collected from the property only benefitted. and that Messrs. Benson, Beal, Paterson and Dixon be a committee to advertise and award the tenders for the same, and that the Committee be authorized to extend the limits to be watered as far as petitioned for according to law.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr. Helm,—That the Street Inspector have the sidewalks on Sheridan Terrace repaired as soon as possible, as it is, lying in an unfinished state since last fall. and is dangerous for travel.—Carried,

Moved by Mr. Paterson seconded by Mr. McDonald—That as there are some sidewalks required for the benefit of No. 1 ward school, and the Mission School House and the Baptist Church, be it therefore resolved that Messrs. Hamilton, Beal, McDonald and Thornton be a special Committee to examine said places and report to the Council at its next meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Hamilton—That 200 copies of the Auditors' Report be printed in pamphlet form for distribution to the Ratepayers.—Carried.

Moved by Mr Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Benson—That the Town Engineer be instructed to examine into the making of suitable approaches to the River from the heads of Antrim, Dublin, and Edinburgh Streets, to be made suitable for fire purposes, and to report to the Council the costs.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Rutherford—That leave be granted to the Peterborough Manufacturing Company to move the building referred to in their petition.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dixon seconded by Mr. Cahill—That Mr. Cook be placed on the same Committee as Mr. Boyd, resigned viz.:—The Water and Gas, and appointments to office.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Thornton seconded by Mr. McDonald—That the Street Inspector be instructed to notify parties to take down the fences and other obstructions on Rubidge Street, between McDonald and London Streets.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dixon, seconded by Mr Helm—That this Council give the usual grant of two hundred dollars to aid in supporting the 57th Peterborough Battalion Band.

In amendment Mr. Benson, seconded by Mr. Hopkins—That the grant to the Military Band be one hundred dollars to be paid quarterly.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Thornton—That a special committee be appointed to regulate the present fire By-law and recommend such alteration as in their wisdom will conduce to the general welfare of the Town. The Committee to consist of Messrs. Helm, Paterson, Benson, and the mover.—Carried.

In accordance with a previous notice of motion, on motion of Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Helm—The matter referred to in Mr. Paterson's notice, relating to Chambers Street was referred to the Committee on sidewalks.

Moved by Mr. Benson seconded by Mr. McDonald that the Street Inspector be instructed to examine the road between the railway crossing on Water Street and Mr. Hilliard's mills, also the road between Water Street and the Methodist burying ground and report to this Council.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Cahill the Report of the Committee on Water and Gas was received and adopted.

Two By-laws were introduced to enable the Council to borrow from the Bank of Ontario the sum of $4,500 until the taxes be collected and to borrow the sum of $2,300 from the Commissioners for general business of Council until January, were read and proposed.

These sums are to meet liabilities of the Town to the Board of School Trustees to the amount of $6,900 for building the South Ward School.

A By-law was passed to enable the Council to collect the Poll tax immediately.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr Beal,—That Geo. A. Cox, Esq, M.P. and the Mayor be instructed to meet and assist such other delegates who may be in Toronto, in the interest of an Ontario Railway in connection with the Canada Pacific Railway.

Virtue's Imperial Shakespere.

Mr. Davis, agent for Virtue's Imperial Shakspere is at present in Peterboro' canvassing subscribers for the above work. It is edited by Charles Knight, and illustrated by superb engravings, from printings by the best modern artists, and will undoubtedly be favorably received by those who desire a beautiful and finely finished edition of the great English poet.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board of School Trustees met on Tuesday evening, [illegible] members present.

The minutes of the [illegible] meeting were read and confirmed.

The Secretary read a communication from Mr. Brooks, tendering his resignation as [illegible] to be retained in the Ward [illegible].

Accounts from J. Stratton, $16.60 and from Courtenay $8.40, were referred to the Finance Committee.

The Secretary read the petition of J. Coyle Brown and others, in reference to School matters, also a statement showing how much cash was in the Treasury.

On motion of Mr. McClelland, seconded by Mr. Robertson, the resignation of Mr. Hands was received and accepted.

A communication from Mr. Wood, teacher at Auburn, was read asking for a well for the use of the school, and requesting that the grounds be fenced in. Referred to the Property Committee.

Mr. J. M. Smith asked if anything had been done in reference to the amount due the School Board from the Town Council.

The Chairman said the Council had passed by-laws to provide the money, and it would be paid over in a few days.

Mr. Smith then submitted a report of the Committee on Finance.

The Committee had ordered the payment to Mr. Helm of $1.80, John Lessen $8.10, Geo. Green $29.30, James & Son $24.30, John Friend $23.65, W. Mathias $132.98 and $20.78, and recommended the payment to E. Courtney $3.00, Geo. Hilliard $8.00, John Cameron $32.60, Mr. Higgins $1.50. An item of $2.75 not on Mr. Mathias's pass book. They did not recommend, the master of E. Blackwell, they recommend to be paid by the board. The Committee referred to the large number of rons ordered and recommended the necessity for greater economy.

Also a report of the Committee on appointments, stated that owing to the crowded state of Miss Matthew's room, Miss McCready had been engaged to the unmuse holidays at $16.66 per month for time of actual teaching, and last new charge of a number of those that had been in Miss Mathew's room.

On motion of Mr. Hilliard, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, the communication of Miss Flavelle of 6th April was taken up. Mr. Hilliard moved that inasmuch as Miss Flavelle having been deservedly promoted, and expected that she would obtain the salary of the room to which she was promoted, but had not, except for one quarter, do receive the salary of the room to which she was promoted.

The Treasurer explained how Miss Flavelle had received no money for some time, owing to the dispute as to whether she should be paid at the same rate as her predecessor.

Mr. McClelland asked whether the Principal or the Board had promoted her.

It was held that the Committee on appointments had promoted her.

Mr. Hilliard then contended that she should receive the salary that had been paid to the teacher that had preceded her or the promotion was merely a sham.

Mr. A. Smith said if it was the intention of the Board to attach salaries to the rooms then Miss Flavelle had a right to the salary of her predecessor, unless it had been decided before her promotion, but if salaries were to depend on the merit of each teacher, salaries would be as arranged from time by the Board. He was satisfied that something had been said by the Committee on appointments in this case. He moved in amendment that the whole matter be referred again to the committee on appointments to report on.

Mr. Edmison thought it was immaterial whether or not a committee had reported The Board had sanctioned the appointment and Miss Flavelle was merely asking her just rights, and he would vote for it, he was satisfied she could enforce payment of the amount.

Mr. Edwards thought it should be decided whether the salaries should be attached to a department or to an individual, if this was understood the whole matter would be settled.

Mr. Rutherford was in favor of referring the matter to the Committee on appointments.

Mr. Johnston thought the salary should be attached to the room, for if not all the Board had to do was to promote a teacher to a higher room, but to retain the salary of the lower and they would at once cut down all the salaries. This was not the intention in this case, and he therefore held that Miss Flavelle had a right to the advanced salary.

Mr A. Smith contended that the whole matter should be settled, and make no invidious exceptions, in any case.

Mr. McClelland held that as the committee had reported, the report should be held as binding for the whole year.

Mr. Cox would vote for Mr. Hilliard's resolution, but thought it best to have the whole matter settled by referring it to the Committee on appointments.

Mr. Edmison moved in amendment to amendment that all the teachers, (unless otherwise arranged,) receive the salary of their predecessor. This was lost on a division, Mr. Edmison, Johnston and Hilliard voting for it, all the rest against it.

The amendment to refer the whole matter to a committee was then carried.

Mr. J. M. Smith asked that the matter of E. Blackwell be taken up and settled.

Mr McClelland explained that ones when the Committee was at Auburn the matter of cleaning and opening, and putting on the fires had been talked of, and Mr. Mitchell was instructed to engage this boy at $2a month, he thought. and this was low, and ought to be paid. It was referred to the committee on property, with power to order its pay ment.

Mr. Rutherford asked if in apportioning the cost of the public school and Collegiate Institute expenses of light, fuel and cleaning were considered.

The Chairman informed him that they were.

The Board adjourned.

ASHBURNHAM.

The Council met on Monday evening All the members were present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The Reeve submitted a statement from the Town Council for the keeping up of fire company, after discussion as to the amount. A motion was passed to pay the portion due by the agreement when the engine was purchased. The day for holding the court of Revision was fixed, viz., 27th May, at 7 p. m.

Mr. Orsige was instructed to rent a house for N. Waters.

The amount of the assessment Roll this year is $368,200. Last year it was $340,000. The rate last year was 18 mills on the dollar. This year 7 mills will raise as much money as was raised last year. The statute labor, however, being about doubled by the increase of assessment value, the Council passed a By-law to commute the labor at 20 cents per day.

The amount of next years taxes can easily be calculated by multiplying the assessed value by seven, and pointing off three figures to the right hand, then add 20 cents for each day's statute labor. An assessed value of $1,000 will have to pay about $8.00. The Clerk was instructed to have the Court of Revision advertised according to law.

CORRESPONDENCE.

 We wish it expressly understood that we are not responsible for opinions of correspondents.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Mr. Editor,—Sir, can you spare a corner in your valuable journal, for a few words about our bridge. The old Bridge is a thing of the past, let it go, and let us for a moment discuss the merits of the different kinds of bridges, called for in the advertisement of the Joint Committee, who, I have no doubt, desire to make a judicious and wise choice in their selection. The material specified is wood, iron or stone, to be used in constructing the bridge.

A wooden bridge would be the cheapest, in the beginning, but it is a precarious structure and might be short-lived, being constructed of inflammable material and liable to the same fate of the last wooden Bridge, (which by the way was a good one), and a bridge of this sort ought to be prohibited, it has but one redeeming feature to recommend it, that is; its cheapness, and I should charitably hope, that the advocates of a bridge of this class, are few in this enlightened age. The iron Bridge has many warm advocates, and we need not wonder for a good Iron Bridge possesses many good qualities, and is far superior in every respect to a wooden one; it will not burn up, (it might fall down,) and properly constructed with the best material, and no mishap occurred, it might give satisfaction and stand for a number of years.

But neither wood nor iron can compare with a stone bridge, it would be folly for me to enter at length into the merits of a stone bridge, suffice it to say, it possesses all the requisite qualities which any permanent structure can possess, in short, it is the ne plus ultra of bridges of any construction.

The committee should not be carried away, or even swayed by the cry of economy, to give their decision in favor of this or that class of bridges, on account of their cheapness, but decide (as I have no doubt they will) for the best interests of the community at large, not only considering the cost, but the durability of the different structures.

MECHANIC.

DUMMER.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I see from the Examiner of last week that Mr. T. G. Choate has charged me with "copying from a manuscript, my communication, in part or in whole," I deny having copied my communication or any part thereof from any manuscript prepared by any person either in Warsaw or out of it. Therefore, his statement in regard to it is positively untrue. This truthful person instead of discussing public matters has not only made false statements in reference to me, but he has left the subject of discussion altogether and has made an unmanly, cowardly attack on Dr. Bingham of Warsaw. Dr. Bingham has had nothing to do with the correspondence whatever. Mr. Choate's insinuations are without foundation, except in his own imagination, and I am prepared to prove this at any moment, but do not feel called upon to do so to please Mr. Choate. This is rather an humbling and unmanful position for our Reeve to occupy. Any man having a regard for his "dignity" in Mr. Choate's place would take back his statements proved to be when thus certified incorrect, and would hasten to apologize. Your readers will see what our Reeve will do. I will not follow him through his last communication of nearly two columns as it is only a rigmarole of nonsense. In his long epistle he took good care not to say anything about the collector's roll, nor the money he wanted from the "pet" councillor to unseat T. Ritchie. He says that there is nothing about his house as bad as the word skunk, When did he sweep his premises? I am glad he believes so, and hope others will accept his statement. Now if our Reeve had honestly discussed public matters we would have had some benefit out of these letters, but he left public matters and went at personal abuse. He should have been the last man to do that.

Yours truly,
ALEXANDER WATTS.

April 28th, 1875.

THE NEW BRIDGE.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—Will you please allow me a small space in the Examiner for a word of friendly advice to the Joint Committee, in deciding the fate of our bridge business, whether it is to be wood, iron or stone, as they will shortly be called upon to make a choice.

Of the three kinds of material suitable for bridge building (wood, iron and stone,) we have had a sad and costly experience of the first two, which, in future should be discarded, these have been tried and found wanting, in every essential property which constitutes a good and substantial structure, but I will not dwell upon the merits, or demerits of these perishable materials. My object is to say a word in favour of stone as the best material for building a substantial bridge, if good, sound, solid blocks are obtained, (not the scraps which are obtainable in the vicinity of Peterborough), but good, sound, heavy blocks brought from Dummer, or Young's Point, or Bobcaygeon, (something similar to the foundation of the W. M. Church), and properly built, would make the most durable and substantial structure; it would never burn down it would resist any amount of pressure of ice or water, or any other material which might obstruct the river, neither would it ever decay or perish or contract, or expand with atmospheric pressure. And not the least good quality which a stone bridge possesses, any number of pedestrians, or animals of any description could pass over it at one time, and always with perfect safety. It would require no repairs for a lifetime (except the road way). These are considerations which cannot be over-estimated or over looked, neither can they be contradicted.

The only objection which can be urged against a stone bridge is the cost, which I am free to admit is quite an item, as it will be thirty thousand dollars, or possibly when fully completed, might be in the neighborhood of forty thousand. Well, sir, suppose a good substantial bridge did cost forty thousand, is that sum calculated to exhaust, or even cripple our resources? I trow not; what is twenty thousand dollars to either the Town or County? the payment of which could be extended over a period of fifteen or twenty years, this would not oppress any man either in the Town or County, by that time our population would be doubled, consequently our business would be doubled, and we should be better able to pay our debts, better far to do this than to pay forty thousand dollars in Rice Lake, or some other wildgoose railroad scheme, which would never benefit town or county 40 cents. If the Government had built a stone bridge thirty years ago instead of the wooden structure, which cost so much and ended in smoke, we should not now have to erect another one; but now, when we are compelled to build a bridge let us be wise, and learn a lesson from past failures. Let us build a bridge that will stand for all time to come no matter what the cost may be in the beginning it will be the cheapest in the long run. I presume the cost of all the bridges with repairs which we have paid in this last 30 years would foot up a sum not far from the cost of a stone bridge, and yet we have no bridge, penny wise, &c.

In conclusion a wooden will cost from six to ten thousand dollars, and might not stand one year; an iron bridge would cost from ten to fifteen thousand, and it might stand a number of years, and it might not —witness the last Iron Bridge, in any case, rust would in time destroy it. No such calamity could possibly ever happen to a stone bridge, which would cost from thirty to forty-thousand dollars, and would stand as long as the Otonabee river runs which, I ask, would be the cheapest and best in the end.

I charitably hope the committee will have the good sense to regret those perishable materials—make a wise choice, and select stone for our bridge, regardless of cost.

Welland Canal Enlargement.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on TUESDAY, the first day of June next for the construction of a Tunnel, a number of Locks, Recluining Weirs, Bridge Abutments and Piers, Excavation, Dredging, &c., connected with several miles of the enlargement, also the extension and deepening of Port Dalhousie and Port Colborne Harbors.

The Works will be let in Sections, some of which are situated on the new line between Port Dalhousie and Thorold, and others, about one mile in length each, consist principally of deepening and widening the present Canal at places between Thorold and Port Colborne.

Maps of the several localities, together with Plans and Specifications of the Works, can be seen at this office on and after THURSDAY, the 20th day of May next, where printed forms of Tender can be obtained. A like class of information relative to the Works north of Allenburgh will be furnished at the Resident Engineer's office, Thorold; and for Works south of Port Robinson, Plans, &c., may be seen at the Resident Engineers Office, Welland.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—Except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted bank cheque or other available security for the sum of from one to three thousand dollars, according to the extent of work on the section, must accompany each Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for he works at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of Tender.

The cheque or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required on real estate or deposit of money, public or municipal securities, or bank stocks to an amount of five per cent on the bulk sum of the Contract, of which the sums sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.

This department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.

By Order.

Supher-Phosphate of Lime.

"Apatite (or Phosphate of Lime) derives its chief interest from its power, when used in conjunction with nitrogenous substances, of rendering ammoniacal salts by their original fertility, and of increasing the value for Agricultural purposes of such as have long been more or less sterile and unproductive."—Sir Jas Browne, F. G. S.

"Phosphoric Acid, in some form or other, has to be immediately supplied to most crops; and experience has shown that no description of fertilizing matter benefits roots so much as Super-Phosphate, and I rather recommend Soluble Phosphate of Lime to a state in which it is readily assimilated by plants."—Ure.

Accidents

Last week on the way home from school a little son of Mr. Alex Scott had an eye badly injured by a stone from a paling in the hands of another boy. A daughter of Mr, Scott also fell down cellar and received severe injuries on her head, and sprained her arm.

Dummer

The complainants in Dummer are not fully satisfied yet. This week contains a short letter, but of more moderation than some of the previous ones. We will claim the right to cut out strong words and phrases in the future, or reject the whole. The writers we know will thank us for it hereafter.

Well Merited Contempt.

The School Board on Tuesday evening paid no attention to Mr. Brown's petition, and in doing so acted wisely. The whole thing is the work of Mr. Brown, and originated in his disappointment at not getting the Inspectorship of the Town Schools, to which might be added other little private matters.

School Attendance.

The total number of pupils on the rolls in our schools for the month of April was 980. The average attendance was 810. There is no evidence in these figures of any falling off in our schools. When it is known that about one fourth of the population send their children to the Roman Catholic separate school, it will be found that the attendance at the schools is large compared to the population.

The Weather

Has been cold and colder during the last few days of April and first three days of May. Frost, rains and snow followed each other in succession with high winds. There has been no such severe weather at the same season for a long time. A change, however, is now apparent, and we know it will be for the better. The water in the river is already falling. It has not risen within some feet of its wonted height.

Opal Tar as a Paint.

Coal Tar is coming into very general use as a paint, two coats applied to shingles or out building effectually prevent the wood from decay. The tar makes a gum on the surface which excludes air and water. It is capital for the bottoms of posts, and costs but a fraction of the price of other paint, and may be had at any Gas Works. 81-3in.

Bargains at Fairweather's

W. Fairweather & Co. offer for sale all their stock at low prices. They are determined to sell all off by the first of July. In their Dress Goods, Silks, Millinery & Men's Clothing, they offer bargains. Par chasers would do well to call and examine their prices. The Millinery Rooms will be opened to-morrow in all the novelties of the season in Bonnets, Hats. Mantles, Silks, Flowers, Feathers, Ribbons, etc.

Five Park Lots in Ashburnham.

Will be offered for sale at the Commercial House on Saturday at two o'clock. They each contain from 4 to 5 acres, and are part of the old Beaver Meade property, four of the lots consist of what was known as the old Race Course, and contain over twenty acres, this will be offered in whole or in 4 parts to suit purchasers. They are finely situated for a market garden, and can be approached from the Locks road or from the concession line on the east side. Terms easy, and the title good.

Very Good

At the recent examination of Candidates for admission to Queen's College, two of the pupils who were prepared at our Collegiate Institute, namely R. J. Trumpour of Picton and Henry Bennett of Monaghan passed the examination prescribed by the Medical Council (according to the statement of S. Woods, M. A., who acted as examiner,) in a "most satisfactory" manner. There are at present four young men from our Collegiate Institute studying medicine at Queen's College, namely A. B. Hourigan, A. E. Daynard, and the two mentioned above.

In the Mud.

On Monday night about 12 o'clock, on Hunter Street, a man or something of that shape could be seen lying in the mud. At a neighboring hotel door could be heard another creature of doubtful nature, hammering away to gain admittance. His importunity, however was of no avail, the inmates made no answer. Finding his old friends would not lend an ear to his entreaties, he addressed a passer by saying, "Mister do you know anything about law? Is there no law for making a man drunk till he lies down and then won't let him in?" The truth was the man was coming to his reason, but let others think over his query.

Presbyterian

Rev. A. Tully, son of Mr. Wm. Tully, of North Monaghan, has been preaching, very acceptably, in the Rev. Mr. Roger's church here. He has been sent by the Presbytery. The congregation is looking for an assistant to their respected pastor, Mr. Roger, who has laboured amongst them over 40 years, but who now require a little relaxation. Mr. Tully promises to be a popular and faithful preacher, should he succeed to the pastorship of the Peterborough church and retain the confidence and esteem of the people as long and as warmly as the present highly esteemed pastor has, he might reasonably say he could depart in peace.

Sudden Death

Mr. Daniel McDonald, of Ashburnham, went to bed in his usual good health on Sunday night, and in the morning when Mrs. McDonald awoke, she endeavoured to awake him, but found his spirit had fled, his countenance having the appearance of deep sleep, but the body cold and lifeless. He is about 64 years of age, and was about the oldest settler in the old Scotch village. He was Treasurer of the village from its incorporation up to last January, has been a trustee over 24 years in succession and was a active member of the Orange Association. He was a native of Scotland, but has been in Canada, settled in Ashburnham about 46 years.

New Map.

Mr. Romaine's new map of the town is now published, and is in every respect a credit to him. The position of every lot in in town is clearly indicated. Every dwelling house and public building is in its proper place. The map is finely finished and mounted in best style. It is on a scale of four chains to an inch and hence everything on it is plain, and clearly laid down. The subscription price is $10 And when its merely local value is considered and its limited sale, the price is low. For exactness it cannot be surpassed, and in style of finish it equals any map published in America. Subscriptions will be taken and the map furnished at the Review office.

DUMMER COUNCIL.

April 24, 1875.

Council met at the Town and Agricultural Hall, Warsaw. All the members present, Minutes of last meeting confirmed. After some discussion it was moved by by Mr. Kidd and seconded by Mr. Robb—That no action be taken at the present time, in the matter of the petition of Jas. E. W. Kidd and three others.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Robb, seconded by Mr. Wigmore—That By-law No. 323 be amended by inserting twenty instead of ten dollars as to pay to Mr. Smiley for right of way.—Carried.

Mr. John Watson, senr., petitioned for right to that part of the road allowance opposite a road crossing a part of his land, and used in lieu of said allowance on part of east ½ of 11 in the 2nd con. The Clerk was instructed to see if any By-law has been passed for that purpose heretofore; if not to prepare a By-law granting Mr. Watson the occupation of said allowances, with the right to preserve the timber thereon, until required by Council.

Mr. A. Roche's account was fyled for future reference.

On motion of Mr. Robb, seconded by Mr. Ritchie—The Reeve was instructed to employ a surveyor to survey the White Lake road approach to the Narrows, and Ninth Line road.

The Treasurer was instructed to return the taxes on east ½ 10 in the 6th and 13 and 8th concessions to the County Treasurer for collection.

Orders granted:—To Samuel Smiley for land for road, $30. Wm. Kidd as Collector, $60.

By-laws passed—One to reduce the Statute Labor One to alter the boundaries of School Sections 2, 3, 5, and 11. One to appoint Township Officers, and one to provide for the payment of money.

Moved by Mr. Robb, seconded by Mr. Ritchie—That the Clerk advertise the first sitting of the Court of Revision at the old Town Hall at 10 a.m. on Saturday the 5th of June next, and that the Council stands adjourned to that time.—Carried.—Com.

ENGLISH AND IRISH.

Dr. O'Sullivan of Peterboro' has fallen under the ban of the Irish Canadian, and receives some strong home thrusts in it for exalting Englishmen above Irishmen. From an article in the Canadian, headed "Poking fun at the English" which indicates a toadyism to Englishmen not common among the sons of the Emerald Isle. We clip the following:—

"POKING FUN AT THE ENGLISH."

"The worthy Mayor of Kingston is a witty and facetious as well as a dignified and impartial Chief Magistrate. Laying aside the official toga, he can, by times, indulge in a good joke with as much gusto as any ordinary mortal as witness the following extract taken from the British Whig of the 24th inst. The occasion was the dinner of the St. George's Society. In reply to the toast, "Our Guests," his Worship said:—

"Irishmen and Scotchmen were willing to acknowledge that they were overshadowed by Englishmen in greatness and importance, and were willing to admit such superiority; but there is a deficiency in greatness of country, who values money by a standard of a different effect all over the world, and is pushing him prosperous and successful. No nationality was more highly developed mentally and spiritually than England, none had a character more to be sought after, and even the Irish agitator will give her the credit of having an imperial, generous people, honorable to their word. Her advancement and treatment of the colonies had never displayed a selfish grasping character, and we ought, indeed, to be fond of her."

It would be difficult to find so many glaring mis-statements of fact compressed into a space so limited as we have here from the lips of Dr. Sullivan, a Catholic and an Irishman. It is the first time that we ever heard that "Irishmen and Scotchmen were willing to acknowledge that they were overshadowed by Englishmen in greatness and importance." Will the Doctor point out the particular day, date or record that such an "acknowledgment" was ever uttered till he had the honor of its paternity? We are bold to say that he cannot lay his finger on a tittle of evidence in justification of his insulting assertion, and, in that case, what a sorry figure he must cut in a piece of toadyism highly unbecoming his civic dignity, and unworthy an Irishman with a proper sense of self respect. And his Worship spoken for himself, it would be impertinence on our part to object; but when he speaks in the above fashion as a representative Irishman, we beg to enter our protest against his assumption of a liberty as unwarrantable as it is unjustifiable.

About the good name of England and its 'talismanic effect all over the world," we shall not take issue with the Doctor. Perhaps, under the circumstances, his little claptrap in the connection is excusable, but when his sublime ideas culminate in a flourish and a boast that "no nationality was more highly developed mentally and spiritually than England," it is time we questioned the veracity of English judges on English beaches of justice, who have declared recently that the frequent acts of brutality committed by the English people, and reported regularly every morning by the press, forced them to say that the country was rapidly drifting into barbarism. Baby-farming, kicking to death, and violation of the person, are so common at the present day in England, that an English newspaper cannot be taken up that has not an account of some harrowing and disgusting crime in that category. When there is added to this the fact that many calling themselves Englishmen have not even ever heard much less know aught of the Redeemer of Mankind, it will be apparent that the Mayor of Kingston, when he indulges in the foregoing flight of fancy, is simply poking fun at the sturdy Britisher.

The Mayor's allusion to the "Irish agitator" is, like other statements, a gratuitous insult. It matters very little whether the people of England be "impartial, generous and honorable" to their word. They may be all that and more; but certainly the representatives of the people are anything but "generous, impartial or honorable" to Ireland. The Governess at of England have acted in bad faith towards Ireland—in fact deceived her—and having stripped her of all that was worth having, the Government of England turned round and added insult to injury. The few score gentlemen who are supposed to represent Ireland in the English house of Commons are described by such men as Astley and Lopes (both members of that House) as a 'disreputable band who are eternally prating about their rotten little Ireland." This ill consorts with Dr. Sullivan's idea of the "true-born Englishman," and his lofty sense of generosity, impartiality and honor.

Touching the colonies, and England's treatment of them, the less the Mayor of Kingston has to say on that subject the better for his Worship and the "great country" before which he salaams, even to the dust The Doctor is too well read in history to be reminded that it was a "display" by England of a very "selfish" and "grasping character that happily led to her ignominious expulsion from the fairest and richest portion of the American continent. Were it not for those splendid victories vouchsafed by heaven to the arms of Washington, it is more than probable that the mayor of Kingston, instead of to-day breathing the free air of Canada, would be "a stranger in the home of his fathers," where even now he could gauge the liberty enjoyed under the ægis of his idol nation by the sound of the curfew bell; or if he chose to emigrate, that a location in any of the colonies would be but a change from the frying pan to the fire.

Would the above show any strong affinity between the uncle and nephew in pandering to those whom Roman Catholics regard as their most deadly enemies, to gain political support. Even our own Doctor, it is well known promised to vote the Orange Bill, in order to secure Orange votes, we may hope for the truth's sake he intended to carry out his pledge but in doing so, would he not be making shipwreck of his promises to his own people as set forth at the meeting in the R. C. separate school room last December.

GAS EXPLOSION.

A WONDERFUL ESCAPE OF HON. T. N. GIBBS AND THREE OTHERS.

On Friday afternoon last, there was an explosion in the gas house of the Hon. T. N. Gibbs, of a singular character, and which, it is marvellous did not end fatally The building is situated a few yards from Mr Gibb's residence. It is built of solid brick walls and roofed with heavy timbers covered with slate, It contains the apparatus for distilling the gas and the gas holder. The latter is a large iron cylinder, about twelve feet in diameter. It is suspended over a huge tank some twenty feet deep, nearly filled with water. As the gas is consumed the holder sinks into the tank. During the winter, the water in the tank became frozen about the holder, and the attendant, in attempting to break the ice with a crowbar, broke a hole in the holder. Mr Chesher was engaged to repair it on Friday, and Mr Gibbs, with his gardener and coachman were in the building. All the gas in the holder had been, as supposed driven out, and it was raised to get at the hole. For the purpose of ascertaining whether there were any small holes a match was lighted, expecting that the direction of the flame would make them manifest. The raising of the holder must have partially filled it with the gas absorbed by the water, for in an instant there was a dull rumble like thunder, and the building was filled with a sheet of flame, splinters and mortar. The inmates got out one after the other, Mr. Gibbs coming out last. Their clothes were cut and torn and they were covered with dust. This, unfortunately, was not all. Mr. Chesher was burned about the arms, head and face, so badly that the skin peeled off in flakes. Mr Gibbs was burned, but not seriously, on the hands and face, his whiskers, eye brows, and eyelashes. The other two were also slightly burned, and all were cut and bruised. A glance at the building showed that their escape alive had been almost by a miracle. The heavy roof had all fallen in, the walls were blown outwards, a portion nearly to the ground, and the interior was covered with debris. The holder had been driven up with the mouth to the east this had thrown the violence of the explosion on that side of the building and blown the wall down. Fortunately, all stood on the west side. and thus escaped the first violence. The heavy timbers of the roof had then fallen across the holder, which held them just high enough for a man to stand beneath, or those inside would have been crushed. Dr. Clarke was sent on the ground and dressed their wounds. All but Mr Chester were out on Monday, but he will be laid up for some weeks. He is a very steady and hard-working man who has just began business for himself, and is heartily deserving of sympathy in the unfortunate circumstances.—Vindicator

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single care of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

The CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparation. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phthisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by sufferins and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, diphteria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is last superceeding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, billious choic, cholera infantum dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS EXCELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN COLD.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures Catarrh, Asthma and Croup. Fifty cents worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity lame back of eight years standing. The following are extracts from at few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the moore skeptical. J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes "send me 6 doz. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures are truly wonderful." William Maguire, of Franklin, writes "I have sold all he agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 2 doz. Thomas Electric Oil, I am nearly out; it can't be equaled. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes, "send at once a further supply of Electric Oil. I have only one bottle left. I never saw any thing sell so well and give such satisfaction. J. Thompson, Woodford, writes, "send me some more Electric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., writes—"The Electric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay. Lemoyne, Gibb & Co. Buckingham, P. Q., writes,—Send us one gross Electric Oil. We find it to take well." Price 25 cents. S. N. Thomas, Propr., N. Y., and PHOSPHOROUS, LIME, IRON, CALISAYA or Peruvian Bark. Dr. Wheal'er's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya combines these valuable remedies in the form of a delicious cordial. Phosphorus a brain feed; Lime, an excitant of nutrition; Iron, a blood maker; and Calisaya or Peruvian Bark, the only specific for chills and fever, and all conditions of nervous prostration and general debility. Phosphates are the only agents known that act immediately on the stomach, perfecting the digestion and assimilation of food, and determining the formation of pure blood. No combination ever discovered is so remarkable in building up constitutions run down with old complaints that have heretofore resisted all ordinary methods of treatment. Sold by all druggists.

NEW GRAPE, EARLY CHAMPION.

After growing and fruiting this Grape on our grounds we can with confidence offer it to the public, as the earliest Grape in this country, ripening at least two weeks before any other of the hundreds of varieties cultivated. The bunches are large and compact; berries large, black covered with a rich bloom; quality good; strong and healthy grower, and an immense bearer, greater than we know of. It is particularly valuable for market and sells quick to shippers and others. Moreover we think it valuable as a WINE GRAPE.

We are permitted to refer to the following gentlemen who are in the Nursery business, Rochester:—Major Gen. John Williams, City Treasurer, P Barry, Esq, H E Hooker, Esq, Geo Ellwanger, Esq, Nurserymen, J. H. Smalley, Esq, Wholesale Fruit Dealer, all of whom have seen the grape growing. We also annex a notice from the Rochester Daily Union and advertiser, Rochester August 23rd 1874.

A REMARKABLY EARLY GRAPE.—A novelty in the line of the grape was laid upon our table yesterday by Mr. S. J. Donnelly, of the Lake Avenue Nurseries, in the shape of a box of the "New Early Champion," a large and plump berry, which is the first to ripen in this latitude. It is considered and prized as a rarity by such connoisseurs as P Barry, Geo Williams and others who have made grape culture a specialty:

PRICE one year old 50 cts.

A WILL AND NO WAY.

It used to be said, "Where there's a will there's a way." But of late, it appears that "Where there's a will (and testament) there is no way" to get the benefit of it in behalf of any religious or benevolent object. The latest case is that of Mr. Horace Hawes, of California who left $2,000,000 to various schemes of benevolence and education. The will has been broken, on the ground of his alleged insanity. And really there is some show of reason in this; for a man who expects that his heirs at law are going to stand by and see his money squandered away on colleges and hospitals and missions, must have a crazy streak in him. At any rate, he must be utterly incapable of learning from experience and observation.

Mr. Cornell, who died the other day, was wiser. He was a business man, and he wanted to get the worth of his money; so he gave $700,000 to Cornell University, nearly ten years ago, "to found an institution where any man may have instruction in any branch of knowledge that he desires." He saw the University grow to existence, saw it gather about itself the gifts of Mr. Sage, Mr. McGraw, Mr. Sibley, and other benefactors saw within its walls nearly a thousand students.

We rejoice to see that the lesson taught by those experiences is not thrown away.

A week ago last Monday, Mr. C. Ross, a hard-headed Hoosier, residing in Terre Aute, Ind., got up bright and early and gave away $20,000 to various institutions in his neighborhood, having already previously given away perhaps $120,000 to various objects in the State. This is business.

There is another thing that wealthy men can do with a good deal of safety. They can imbue their children with such sentiments that they will feel it to be a duty and pleasure to use their property for God and man. When these principles are illustrated by example, when the young have before them for their imitation of life of self-forgetful benevolence, one may have as fair a certainty as human nature admits that his property will, after his death, be wisely and benevolently used.

But this plan of a man's hoarding his wealth all through his life, bringing up his children in the same line, setting them an example of selfishness, and then at last making a benevolent will, and giving away what he cannot keep any longer, is about played out. If you want to do a thing, why do it, and enjoy the doing of it, and enjoy it after it done.—Not. Baptist.

The Hungerford Murder.

On the fith day of the Assizes at Belleville, the above murder case began to be examined. The chief particulars we take from a brief summary in the Intelligencer as follows:—

"The indictment charged that Chas. Mauriand, the prisoner at the bar, 8th the Township of Hungerford, on Sunday 16th of August last, wilfully, maliciously, and of malice aforethought, murdered Mary Mauriand, The locale of the crime was the residence of the murdered woman's husband, a log house on lot 14, in the 11th concession of Hungerford, about one mile west of the village of tweed. From the evidence which was given before the Coroner's jury, at the inquest on the body of the victim, and which was gone over in substance by the Crown counsel in his opening address to the jury, it appeared that the prisoner who was said to have a very violent disposition had killed the deceased. There is no doubt on these points. All that was in question was the motive for the deed—whether it was the result of long and deep-seated hatred, constituting the crime of wilful murder, or whether the killing was brought about by a quarrel. done in a moment of passion, without intent to take life, and thus becoming manslaughter. Another theory has, it is said, been set up, that the prisoner was of an unsound mind at the time of the commission of the crime—which it is not denied that he committed—indeed, it is so admitted by himself. In support of the charge of premeditation, it was sworn before the Coroner's jury, that prisoner and his victim had been on bad terms for a number of years—variously stated at from three to twelve. The only person present at the time of the fatal occurrence was a little daughter of deceased, 5 years old, according to whose statement no cause of offence was given by her mother, who after getting prisoner his dinner about four o'clock on the Sunday afternoon, was on going out of the house, followed by the prisoner, who shot her with a gun or pistol. The child described her mother's face covered with blood from a wound in the head; she led her mother into the house; the prisoner followed, and on the wounded woman attempting to put her out, he threw her down. This was the last of the affair which was seen by the eyes of parties other than the prisoner and his victim;as the child ran away to give the alarm. The body, when viewed, however, showed that a portion of the skull had been beaten in by a blunt instrument; no less than six bullet wounds in and about the head; another wound, probably caused by a stove leg, which lay near her; and finally, there were stabs on the left shoulder inflicted with a dull case knife, and the throat was cut to a depth of six inches by the same weapon."

The evidence of guilt was so clear in all the examinations, in spite of the theory of the defence of insanity, that the jury agreed upon a verdict of guilty. Charles Mauriand is about fifty years of age, short of stature but of great strength. His complexion is very swarthy, almost as dark as that of an Indian, and his hair which was as black as the raven's wing, is beginning to be sprinkled with grey.—He wore a sort of a cunning yet anxious look, and seemed to fully realize the nature of the position in which he stood. He was defended by the counsel, Jas. O'Reilly, Q. C., of Kingston, one of the cleverest and most experienced of criminal lawyers, having been retained for that purpose; and also the Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q. C. The case on behalf of the crown was conducted by Mr. B. M. Britton, of Kingston.

DEATH SCENE OF REMARKABLE PERSONS

Mary Scotland,a great beauty, met the "gloomy king" with a degree of resolution not to be expected from her misfortunes, deserted by every friend except her faithful little dog. Sir Thomas Moore remarked to his executioneer, by whose hands he was about to perish, that the scaffold was extremely weak: "I pray you see me safe up," said he, "and for my coming down let me shift for myself." Chaucer breathed his last when composing a ballad; his last production is called, "A ballad made of Geoffrey Chaucer on his death-bed, lying in great pain." "I could wish this tragic scene was over," said Quin, the actor; "but I hope to go through it with becoming dignity." Petrarch was found in his library leaning his head upon his hand, when dying, and refused all attendants to remove him and place him before the window, that he might look upon his garden and gladden his eyes with the sight of nature: how ardent an admirer he was of nature as most poetically told in Zimmerman's 'Solitude.' Moore tells us he found Godfrey Kneller, (when he visited him a few days prior to his end) sitting up forming plans for the erection of his own monument; his vanity was conspicuous even in death. Warren has observed, that Chesterfield's good breeding only left him at last. His words: 'Give Dayrolles a chair,' and to his valet, when that person was announced. Bayle, when dying, pointed to where his proof sheet was deposited. Clarendon's pen dropped from his hand when seized with palsy which put an end to his existence. Bede died in the act of dictating. Rosamunson, when expiring Anacreon, choked with a grain of corn. Dion Iche." Haller, feeling his pulse said, "the artery ceases to beat," and immediately died. When the priest, whom Alfieri had been prevailed on to see, came, he requested to call to-morrow. "Desde I (that) will marry four-and-twenty hours." Nelson's last words were, "Tell Collingwood to bring the fleet to an anchor."

BOYS AND GIRLS.

How is it that we can see men who have moulded themselves on the anvil who won't let their boys be moulded on the anvil, too? As the leather-dealer pounds the leather together to make a sole, so the boys need pounding to make a man. If you don't you'll bring up a tender child—a child that won't wear well. And the same with a girl who is brought up without knowing how to work. There is misfortune's enough that fall upon the fair sex; there are adversities and sudden revolutions in affairs that more often fall like pitiless storms upon their heads than upon those of men, but of all adversities a foolish mother for a fair daughter is the most adverse; one who will not teach the child how to earn her living, who will not teach her faithful industry. Music may be heard instead of spinning; but in some way or other work should be part of the education of every boy, and the boy who is brought up without knowing how to work is not brought up at all; he is abused. The old Jews used to say that a man not brought up to a trade is brought up to be a thief, and I am of the same opinion to a great extent. So, then, parents, if you would bring up the best crops here that your ground will allow, bring up stalwart boys that are able to work and not ashamed of it, and bring up good stalwart girls who are able to work in the kitchen and about the house, and are not ashamed of it, either.

THE OLD FASHIONED MOTHER.

Thank God, some of us have had an old fashioned mother, not a woman of the period, enameled and painted, with her great chignon, her curls, and bustle, who white jewelled hand never felt the clasp of baby fingers; but a dear, old-fashioned, sweet-voiced mother, with eyes in whose clear depth the love light shone, and brown hair just threaded with silver laying smooth upon her faded cheek. The dear hands worn with toil, gently guided tottering steps in childhood, and smoothed our pillow in sickness, ever reaching out to us in yearning tenderness. Blessed is the memory of the old fashioned mother. It floats to us now like the beaueiful perfume from some wooded blossouf. The music of other voices may be lost, but the memory of her will echo in our souls forever. Other faces may fade away and be forgotten, but her's will shine on. When in fitful pauses of our busy life our feet wander back to the old homestead, stand once more in the room so hallowed by her presence, and dependence comes over us, and we kneel down in the molten sunshine, steaming through the open window—just where long years ago we knelt by our mother's knee, lisping "our Father." How many times when the tempter has lured us on, has the memory of those sacred hours, that mother's words, her faith and prayers, saved us from plunging into the deep abyss of sin. Years have filled great drifts between her and us but they have not hidden from our sight the glory of her pure and unselfish love.

An inebriated man, walking along the street regarded the moon with sovereign contempt. "You need'nt feel so proud," he said, "you are full only once a month, and I am every night."

Rather good, this; In a letter, after urging his lady love to come and see him, a poetic youth said, "But if it rains don't come, as you are so sweet you might melt, and be lost to your lover forever."

Bill S—— came home mellow the other night, and when his wife asked him what ailed him, he said he had been to the spelling-school and had (bic) got foul of hip—hip—popo—poppo—hippopoity—hip—pop—hippitypop—himbidippipimus—hiply—hip—hippitymus—or some such (bic) confounded words, and it had given him one of his "spells."

To err is human. No lives are past without erros. The best and meanest of God's human creatures can, without a great stretch of memory, recall the time when they got hold of the wrong end of the poker.

A sailors wife had just received the intelligence that her husband had perished at sea. She was visited by a neighbor who sympathized with her on her loss, and expressed a fear she would be poorly off. "'Deed will I," said the widow, "but he did all he could for me—he's saved me the expense of his buryn'."

"Why, Jimmy," said one professional beggar to another, "are you going to knock off already? Its only two o'clock." "No, you mutton-head," responded the other, who was engaged in unbuckling his crutch, 'I'm only going to put it on the other knee. You don't suppose a fellow can beg all day on the same leg, do you?'

An old woman on the day devoted to St. Michael the Archangel, going into a church in Paris, where there was a representation of that saint discomfiting the devil, put one large taper close to St. Michael and another close to the fiend. "Woman!" exclaimed the priest, "You are making an offering to Satan; you know not what you do." "I know what I'm doing well enough," was the reply; "but I do not certainly know where I am going, it is as well to have friend everywhere."

Economical Living.—Jekyll told Moore of a man who said his eating cost almost nothing, for "on Sunday," said he, "I always dine with an old friend, and then eat so much that it lasts until Wednesday, when I buy some tripe, which I hate like the old boy, and which accordingly makes me so sick that I cannot eat any more till Sunday again."

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. PURE AND TRUE. PERFECT. CALIFORNIA. DR. WALKER'S. VINEGAR BITTERS

VINEGAR BITTERS PROCLAIMS ITS, EDAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For all the purposes of a Family Medicine.

Perhaps no medicine is so universally required by everyone as a cathartic. Every one needs a gentle purgative from time to time, to correct derangements, and all diseases of the blood require the best and most efficient purgative we can obtain. The obvious reason, therefore, why Ayer's Pills are more popular and far more extensively used than any other cathartic, is that they have tried it, know that it cures them. Those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that when it is taken as it is found in a box—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cases are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by any person. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy functions.

For Liver Complaints and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction that cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Paralysation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists, to use them privately well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the communities it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of those here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are full, maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is novise it hurts any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgment we receive of the radical cures effected in almost all cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residents in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

Select Poetry.

SLEEPY HEAD.

Wake little sleepy-head!
This is no time for bed.
Wake for the fair earth means
Sweeter than baby dreams.
They say is pink and pearl;
The birds say, "Little girl,
How can you lie in bed?
Get up, dear sleepy-head."

Wake, little sleepy-head!
The bees are out of bed;
The butterflys are dressed
All in their very best;
The roses with clean faces,
Are smiling in their places,
It is too late for bed;
Get up, dear sleepy-head.

Wake with a grateful thought,
Of rest the night has brought.
Wake, nor forget to pray
For blessings on the day.
The sky is pink and pearl,
The birds say, "Little girl,
How can you lie in bed?
Get up, dear sleepy-head.

THE HABIT OF DISRESPECT.

Few things are more damaging to the character than the habit of disrespect which many people allow themselves to contract under the name of "sharpness," the "critical faculty," "not to be taken in," not to be humbugged," "letting one's hand be seen," and like delusive euphemisms, not one of which is true; the real source being their overweening egotism which regards no feelings and recognizes no rights in comparison with one's own. One of the commonest manifestations of disrespect is suspicion of motives, doubts of a man's honesty of purpose, integrity of design. Your lawyer advises you to such and such action; you cast about in your mind for motives, collateral issue which will be for his own advantage; you hesitate so long, doubting, that the right moment passes, and when you act as he advised, you act wrongly. By which you are confirmed in your suspicions that his motives were less than honest for all your life after, and cudgel your brains in vain to fathom his secret meaning. So with your stockbroker. He recommends you to take up certain shares which are depressed for the moment, but sure to rise in a short time. You lose the auspicious hour by going about among your city friends, trying to find a link whereon you can hook your clanking chain of suspicion that your broker has his own purposes to serve in his advice, and probably he is a large holder underhand of the stock in question, which he knows is going farther down, and which, therefore, he wants to get rid of to the first dupe he can persuade to buy. Even your doctor is not exempt, and if he urges an operation it is to show his skill, if he prescribes a new medicine it is to make you the corpivile of an experiment. No balming influence of faith stills your doubts or soothes your fears. You have no faith, because you have no respect; you have no respect because you are given up to the specious scepticism of self-glory and self-consideration.

It is a common saying that respect is the good breeding of the lower classes in their dealings with their superiors; but is not only the lower classes to whom this definition applies. It is as much a mark of good breeding from the high to the low as the reverse. The highly placed people who suffer themselves to speak haughtily, insolently to their inferiors, who have no respect for the humanity which is not tricked off with precious substances and fenced round with special honors, are to the full as wanting in good breeding as the poor maid who tosses her head and gives an insolent reply, or the less pert but still more insolent man who throws an element of personal menace into his disrespect. Indeed, as we have the right to expect most from those who know best, the ill-breeding of the highly placed people is more to their shame than that of the badly educated; for if training is good for anything at all, it ought to be good all through, and a fine manner is not to be put on for state occasions, like fine clothes, but a thing which is intergal to the nature, always there, like the shadow of the substance the echo of the voice. The women who go into shops and speak to those who serve them as if they were machines badly oiled, can scarcely wonder if the servers, taking a leaf of their own book answer them with either familiarity or rudeness, as their individual temperament controls. For even shopmen and women are human, and have their susceptibilities; and retalliation is an instinct not confined to social status, and not unpleasant to the majority to indulge. It is the same with servants and the whole class of subordinate employees. Respect breeds respect; the influence of the higher reacts on the lower; and insolence breeds insolence as the only method of self-assertion possible. We know this by ourselves. When we are snubbed and brusqued we involuntarily feel ourselves heckled and flushed, ready to fight, as our protest against the indignity just offered. To accept it meekly would seem to us dishonoring and mean-spirited; we resent, and we show our resentment, in a refined and befitting manner, granted; but our poorer brothers and sisters who are only resentful and not refined, most probably show their resentment in a rudely vigorous way enough. Still it is the same thing, and such as we would not provoke; but if provoked then should we understand and even respect it. Ugly as it is, it is better than the craven servility which accepts insolence as its daily food, and thrives on disrespect as courage thrives on danger. This is indeed as one of the most disastrous of all conditions—the clinging curse of slavery, the supreme disgrace of vileness.

Again the disrespect of disobedience in those whose function it is to obey is a manifestation of egotism as little rare as it is lovely. It is not always pleasant to obey. It never was pleasant since the first man broke bounds and went his own way, and by that stepped into destruction. But the great discipline of life is to learn to do that which we do not like to do as well as to give up that which we desire; and obedience is a virtue which has its own reward in the greater beauty it gives the character. Naturally there is neither disrespect nor wrong doing if absolute obedience in the higher wisdom, the true humanity. A marine in authority is not merely thinking to himself the divine right to rule, or deliberately the sub-lieutenant service of obedience, if his agents are sane men—and his orders those of a maniac. There have been many instances wherein disobedience has been the nobler method; but it is a dangerous doctrine; and the safer side goes to obedience in those who are told off to service. As a rule, the difficulties of management are not the sins of organization so much as those of maintaining authority and getting obedience. And as a rule, too, there is a greater difficulty in dealing with women than with men, because of the dislike to obedience natural to them. Women resent discipline, defy authority, feel personall agrieved at the necessity of personal submission, in all cases, save where a religious sanction is given to the rule. And even then we doubt if the discipline of a nunnery is ever as exact as that of a monastery, and if the Lady Abbess does not find it expedient to relax here and relent there, when too strict a code would create a petty mutiny in the cells. The nervous temperement of women leads them to acts of insubordination more easily than the quieter, steadier character of men; just as their more passionate partizanship leads them to the disrespect of intolerance and condemnation towards those who differ from them in speculative opinion. Even clever women—the women who take a foremost rank among the female thinkers and workers of the day—are not superior to this disrespect of intolerance; and instances are known to us where a difference of speculative opinion has been sufficient ground for violent personal attack, and the refusal to continue a long established friendship.

One of the dangers of the home life this same habit of disrespect—that which is bred by familiarity. People who are as beauty and sunshine for a crowd of strangers for whom they have not the faintest affection, are all ugliness and gloom for their own, by whose love they live. The pleasant little prettiness of dress and personal adornment, which mark the desire to please, are put on only to for the admiration of those whose admiration goes for nothing, while the house companions are treated only to the ragged gowns and threadbare coats, the tousled hair and stubby beard, which, if marking the ease and comfort of the sans facon of home, mark also the indifference and disrespect which do so much damage to the sweetness and delicacy of the daily life. And what is true of the dress is truer still of the manners and tempers of home, in both of which we find too often that want of respect which seems to run side by side with real affection and the custom of familiary. It is a regrettable habit under any of its conditions, but never more so than when it invades the home and endangers still more that which is already too much endangered by other things. They allow habits of disrespect to be formed—rude, rough, insolent, impatient—and salve over the sore with the stereotyped excuse, "They mean nothing by it, and their disrespect is not what it seems to be, the result of strong anger, uncontrollable temper, but it is merely a habbit, then it ought to be conquered without loss of time, being merely a manner that hurts all parties alike. And really it we analyze it, we shall find that the secret of the fine manner of the upper classes resides in the dignified respect they demand for themselves, but they pay to others. A high-bred person, angry does not brawl and scold like a fishwife, and the steel with which one of the "superior people" wounds his opponent is polished, keen, deadly if you will, but not brutal. The self-respect inculcated from the beginning would prevent any coarse explosion, such as the uncultured classes permit themselves to use only too readily and self-respect has no finer method of expression than that of respect for others. But while we praise and admire the results we decline the discipline of the method, and give ourselves up to the various vulgarities included in disrespect as privileges of our conditions and the Briton's right of speaking his mind. Perhaps if we could get it plainly implanted as an article of belief that disrespect is an unpardonable vulgarity, we should be quicker to mend our ways, and to pay the tribute we all claim for ourselves as our inalienable due from others, as also their inherited and inalienable right.—The Queen.

THE BIBLE USEFUL TO SOUL AND BODY.

When Oliver Cromwell entered upon the command of the Parliament army against the Royal forces, he ordered all his soldiers to carry a Bible in their pockets (the same which is now called Field's Bible.) Among the rest who complied with this order there was a young wild fellow, who had run away from his apprenticeship in London, for the sake of plunder and dissipation; yet he was obliged to be in the fashion, and seem a puritan though he was not one. Being one day ordered out on a skirmishing party, or to attack some fortress, he returned back to his quarters in the evening without hurt; but when he was going to bed, pulling the Bible out of his pocket, he observed a hole in it. His curiosity led him to trace the depth of this hole, when he found that a bullet had gone as far as the eleventh chapter of Ecclesiastics ninth verse; he read the verse: it was "Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth; and let thy heart cheer the in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thy heart, and in the sight of thine eyes; but know thou that, for all these things, God will bring thee into judgment." The circumstance had its effect upon his future conduct; and he used pleasantly to observe, that the Bible was the means of saving his soul and body, too.

When does a fine sentence assume a lady's name?—When it is me-ow-ed.

It is a pleasant thing to see roses and lilies glowing upon a young lady's cheek; but a bad sign to see a maple face break out in blossoms.

A doctor's wife attempted to move him by her tears. "Ah!" said he, "tears are useless. I have destroyed them. They contain a little phosphate of lime, found in the eyes of children and women."

BRIGANDS.

Brigandage seems to be an institution peculiar to Europe, and flourishes especially in Italy, where travelling is rendered unsafe by the murderous bands of robbers who infest the mountainous districts. The habits and characteristics of these freebooters are not without interest when looked at from a distance, though a close acquaintance with them is to be avoided if possible. Around Naples and Salerno they are so numerous that travelers, and also the inhabitants of these cities themselves, are in constant dread of of the robbers, and scarcely dare venture beyond the gates of the city without an armed escort.

The robbers are in want of money, and the best way, they seem to think, to provide themselves with this necessary article is to steal it. When they capture travelers they help themselves to money, watches and jewels, and anything else that may be of value. But that is not all; they take the captives into the mountains and hold them for something more, and they are careful to insist upon having as much as they can possibly get. If the victim is a nobleman or some wealthy aristocrat, they think he will be worth about £10,000 pounds to release him, but if he is an ordinary mortal, with no influential friends, one or two hundred pounds will be sufficient. In several instances have been kept three of four months by the brigands, and negotiations were pending before they have been allowed to see their friends and even to visit neighboring cities, to make personal appeals for raising the sum demanded. But this only happens when parties of two or more were captured, one being allowed to go away at a time, and the rest held as hostages. Sometimes when the ransom is not forthcoming in a reasonable time, the brigands cut off the ear of a victim and send it to his friends with the intimation that the other ear will come soon unless matters are hurried up. This usually has the desired effect.

The brigands generally treat their prisoners well and civilly. They look upon them as lawful prisoners of war to be exchanged for money. Sometimes they parole them not to attempt to escape, and allow them to do what they please, and at others they put them in charge of watchful guards, who have orders to shoot them if they try to get away. If pursued, however, and too much encumbered by their prisoners, they kill them, on the principle that dead men tell no tales.

The appearance of the brigands is rather picturesque. The leaders are often tolerably well educated men, and they sometimes make their demands upon a party of unfortunate travellers, whom they propose to rob, in terms of the most ceremonious politeness. Their courtesy, however, does not make the object they have in view any less disagreeable to their victims. The costumes of a band of these outlaws encountered on the road between Salerno and Paestum is described as follows: They were dressed in long jackets of brown cloth, the color of withered leaves. These were provided with immmense pockets on the sides of a circular shape, and others on the breast. Besides, there was a slit on each side of the jacket that gave entrance to two more large pockets commodious enough to hold anything in the shape of garment. One of the brigands in searching for a missing article drew out of these different receptacles for plunder a pairs of trousers, two shirts, three or four pounds of bread, a bit of dir

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 13, 1875.

ECONOMY NEEDED.

Last year our Council did not keep a close account of expenditure until it was found necessary to pay the bills and the result was an expenditure of over $6,000 on streets and bridges. This should not have been over $3000, which is quite large enough for one year.

An account of cedar for last week has been handed to us, and from it we gather prices paid, and they appear somewhat enormous: for instance, 6 posts 10 feet 5 cts per foot, $5.60; 4112 feet at $20 per 1000 $82.24. Then follows several items amounting to nearly 4000 at $20 per 1000 ft. As those pieces were merely posts quartered, the nice little sum of $20 a thousand ought to pay somebody. Posts are charged 5 cts a foot, or for 8 feet posts 40 cts, for 16 feet feet post 80 cents, that could be obtained we are told for from 15*to* 30 cts. If our informant is correct in his estimates, then in cedar alone, the Council should exercise more economy.

The Bills of cedar and pine for the year stand somewhat as follows: cedar 42.295 feet cost$740.49, pine238.540 feet, $2,385.38, total $3 127.87. This sum with what was in the yard at the commencement of the season must amount to about half the whole expenditure. The Council should estimate the absolutely necessary expenditure early in the season and keep within their estimates unless for unforseen items, which cannot be very numerous or costly, and thus by a little economy cut down the expenses to the lowest possible amount that would be found to meet the requirements of the progress of the Town. It is true that undue niggardliness might be as great an evil as undue extravagance. The happy mean, if it can be attained, should be always kept in view.

This year the Council has taken matters into it's own hands, as there is no street and Bridge Committee. This will necessitate a strict account of everything or they will lose sight of the amount in the general demand for improvements to suit every one. The amount of each week's expenditure and votes should be submitted to the Council, as checks on their liberality. One cent on the dollar should meet all our wants. And will do so with one economy, except what is being spent on capital account such as new bridges and permanent improvements.

STRANGE IF TRUE

On the 5th instant about 10:30 p.m., a young woman was found lying on the sidewalk near Ormond & Walsh's drug store, Simcoe street, apparently dead The Chief Constable was sent for and he had her removed into Mr. Walsh's, when Dr. Burrit was sent for to see what was the matter. He found her in a low state from exhaustion, or in some fit. He used remedies and brought her round so as to speak, when a bed was prepared for her, and a woman got to sit up with her. The doctor says that if she had been one half hour longer unseen, and unattended to, she must have died. As soon as she recovered she gave her history about as follows:—Her name is Minnie Laidlaw, and is from the Convent in Lindsay. Her father's name she gave as James Laidlaw, of Ops, near Fenelon, she is about 17 years of age. and she has a sister about twelve. Her mother, she says died when her sister was very young and by a will left a farm of 150acres to her two children The father since married. He, some time ago, had the two daughters placed in the Convent for life, and this one was to become a nun, or take the veil in a short time. She did not like her position nor did she wish to be a nun, hence, on Wednesday while washing and putting the clothes on the line she saw a favorable opportunity to escape, and did so just as she was—in her underclothes, an old skirt, a little jacket. and without hat or bonnet. She ran almost the whole way to Peterborough, she said, and while considering what to do in a strange place, she became unconscious, and was found as described. She was endeavouring to make her way to an uncle for protection, she says her father was a Protestant and that her mother was also that her uncle and cousins are protestants, and she bewails the sister being still in the Convent. She was sent forward on her way to her uncle whose name we did not learn. If this story is true it is a strange one: a Protestant father placing his children in a nunnery is difficult to accept. When the girl was found she had no stockings on her, no dress, no hat and much exhausted but the journey would do this. It is worth while knowing the truth of her story, and learning the whereabouts of the little sister, and also the motives of the father in placing them there. Can it be true as this girl relates that children can still be placed in Convents to enable cruel-hearted parents to live at ease on the property, and is it true that a wife can induce a father to imprison his children for life. The girl stated that she had partly learned dress-making, and that she had moved for Mr. Dumbum. This may lead to the unravelling of the whole matter. If her story is not true it should be known in order that falsehood may not gain currency.

Since writing the above we are informed that her father once a protestant, but marrying a Roman Catholic wife, became a Catholic with her. This is the story of the girl.

WHAT HAVE THEY GOT OUT OF IT?

Mr. Cox was examined before Mr. Weller this week, and the evidence will be found in another column. The greater portion of it is taken up with an act that shows the generous character of Mr, Cox and which will rebound to his praise rather than to his hurt.

The whole affair is somewhat as follows—Some time since John Rush, son of Mrs. Rush, ensured his life in the "Canada" for $1000 and paid one year's premium of $35.20. When the second became due Mr. Rush felt himself unable to pay it, but being urged by Mr. Cox to try, he gave his note, and when the note was due he paid it. Shortly after he went to Mr. Cox and said he regretted paying it as he wanted the money very badly. Mr. Cox then said to him, assign the policy to me and I will return you the last premium and see after it myself. Rush did so, the assignment being duly recorded in the head office, Mr. Cox paid back the $35.20, and afterwards paid another premium, but before the fourth became due, the young man died. Mr. Cox then applied and obtained the amount of Insurance$1000 for his own use. Mrs. Rush, however, mother of the young man was left in not affluent circumstances, and Mrs. Cox prevailed on her husband to use the interest of the money to assist Mrs. Rush during her life, he retaining the capital. He very generously consented and applied it to build a house in which she might reside free of rent during her life. She preferred remaining in a cheaper house and got the rent of the other one. Some time afterwards a brother to the deceased attempted to make it appear that Mr. Cox had got the assignment surreptitiously and wrote to that effect to the head office—and this together with the necessity for repairs on the house, caused Mr. Cox to retain the rent for a time, feeling somewhat annoyed at the brother for what he had done.

About December or January last the Rev. Mr. Fish went to Mr. Cox and represented to him that Mrs. Rush was suffering. Mr. Cox refused to do anything unless the son would apologize for his offensive act and until they should satisfy themselves that the money was Mr. Cox's own locally and morally, and that what he had done for Mrs. Rush was through kindness. After entreaties by Mr. Fish he relented and paid her $40 and said he would do so from time to time.

This act of generosity on the part of Mr. Cox, Mr. Scott tries to show was an attempt to bribe the Rushes to vote for him. The public, however, will be able to judge this matter from other than Conservative political motives and will give Mr. Cox credit for a degree of generosity, not often found among his opponents. Very few men indeed would have consented to bestow on Mrs. Rush the liberal sum of $80 a year when she had no moral or legal claim to it, and that too while those benefitted were misrepresenting him to the public and at the head office of the Company. And not of this generous act of a liberal heart, Mr. Scott seeks to make political capital, even going so far as to bring in old conversations of years past to assist him; but of no avail.

But apart from all this, had they no respect for the friends of their supporters to thus drag before the public gaze those little private affairs of Mrs. Rush, that respect for her would have left to herself and the secrsy of private household matters. But no: no personal respect will prevent them in their efforts to injure an opponent. The bitterest hate and the most secret family concerns must be made to conserve the interests of the party.

NORTH VICTORIA.

As we last went to press we received the intelligence that Judge Wilson had decided that Peters, who gave 40 dinners to Cameron's voters, was not Cameron's agent, and that consequently the Act could not be construed as that of an agent, and consequently, he decided in Mr. Cameron's right to the seat, he after a scrutiny having a majority of 2 votes. Those, however, who know Peter's and not a few round Bobcaygeon do, know that he is not the man to give 40 dinners to voters without a guarantee of the return of the last cent which he spent, and notwithstanding the warnings of Mr. Cameron. Peters will be held by every one knowing him, as just the man to be an agent, and yet bear with telling that he must not do so and so. Mr. Cameron told him that he could not tell him to give those men their dinner, but that he could not present him doing so. Peters no doubt understood this, and acted accordingly. Mr. McLellenan has applied to set aside the judgment, hence the whole matter may be reversed as it deserves to be.

It is true that in some cases it may be a hardship to have candidates suffer for the acts of unprincipled men who may be acting as agents, but if agents cannot be made to suffer a sufficient penality for there own acts, then Candidates have just as good a right to suffer for the illegal acts of their own supporters, as any Candidate has to suffer for the illegal acts of their opponents, as must be the case if such men as Peters be not considered agents.

Suppose Mr. A, a candidate, to know the character of one B. who is on his side, he knows that he will use any possible means to win; B has a vote but nothing else besides, A knowing this uses him, but takes opportunity now and then to warn him not to exceed the law. B understands the whole matter, but disregards the warnings of Mr. A, treats men as was done in Sammy Platt's case daily while tavern keepers canvassed and treated and kept a list of Platt's votes, and as in Peter's case gave dinners to nearly all the voters in a Township, yet in both cases the parties are not held as agents, will this not open the way to the return of all the corruption and extravagance of the past, and will it not bring to the fore ground a worse class of political renegades to whom punishment is nothing, and to fine them is useless, for they have nothing wherewith to pay. We are told that it is a pity to unseat a man for the act of an agent, but is it not a greater pity to deprive a another man of the seat through the act of a partizan of his opponent? and is it not more just that a man loss the seat because of the acts of his own friends than that innocent party be deprived of his seat, while the other who winked at crime and the wrong doing of his friends, obtains and retains the seat.

WEST HASTINGS.

Examination of Mr. Cox before the master in chancery. Mr. Dumble for Mr. Cox, Mr. Scott, for himself.

I was a Candidate at the last election for this constituency; I became a candidate in December or in latter part of November; I received the nomination of the Reform Convention; don't remember dates of Conventions, as there were two I think about the 10th of November. It was called for the purpose of nominating a Candidate; I think the notices were signed by Mr. A. Smith; I think he was chairman of the previous election. I think I had been consulted about the meeting by Mr. Smith and Mr. Stratton, and it resulted in his issuing notices, calling the meeting; I don't remember any other conversation about calling a convention previous to this conversation; I don't think there was any understanding previous to meeting who should be the candidate; had been asked to become a candidate by Mr. Sanderson, of Smith who was one who asked me if I would allow myself to be nominated, Mr. Ullyot also asked me; do not particularly remember others; do not remember Mr. Bertram asking me to become a candidate; don't remember either P. Hamilton, or Wm Hamilton asking me; told those who spoke to me I did not think I could accept it on account of my business. Don't know how the meeting was called: think by notinces sent through the Riding; don't think there is a Reform Association in the West Riding of Peterboro: there were present at first meeting called, Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Smith, Mr. Stratton, but don't remember Mr. Dumble or Mr. Bertram being at the first one, but he may have been, I think Mr. J. Walton was there; can't distinctly remember the others just now. Was nominated by Mr Sanderson; of Smith; do not remember the seconder, but I think Mr. Taylor, of Smith; think there were no other nominations; don't remember any one speaking but myself. I replied that I could not give a final answer until I communicated with the companies I represented. There was a time fixed for my giving an answer; think the adjourned meeting was to be held in two weeks.

Mr. Dumble objected to asking questions in reference to any thing done before being a candidate.

At second meeting, Mr. Dumble, Mr. Stratton, Mr. Bertram, I think Mr. Smith Mr. Kerr, I think, & I think Mr. Robert Walton, Mr. Wm. Hall was at one meeting, don't know which one, don't think Mr, Boyd was there; don't remember Mr. McWilliams being present; Mr. Dumble, Bertram, Cox, Mr. Fitzgerald I think Mr. Tierney a part of the time, but can't say Mr. Moloney was present. Mr. Smith was chairman at one meeting, Mr. Kerr, I think at one, they appeared to be unanimous as to my candidature so far as I could judge. There never was a previous understanding that I was to be a candidate, persons have said to me that I would have to be the next man, but nothing but general conversations; can't state how long back those conversations took place, nor any particular person who talked to me; don't remember any conversation in Jan'y 1874, with any one, I then supported Mr, Bertram, I was chairman of the Committee.

Mr. Dumble objected to Mr. Scott going outside the record,

Master—Ruled to what effect.

I intended to vote for Mr. Bertram from the time he came out as a candidate, and did both at that election of 1874 and at the previous election.

Mr. Dumble objected to Mr. Scott going back to matters of years before Mr. Cox was a Candidate.

The Master ruled to that effect but permitted the following question:

Had you any doubt at any time during January of 1874 which candidate you would support?

Mr. Dumble asked for a ruling on the question, and also on a question in reference to whether Mr. Cox had had a conversation with Mr. Dennistoun as to an agreement at that election, or understanding, that he, Mr. Cox, was to be the Candidate at the next election, or at any future election.

Mr. Cox answered this question by saying he remembered no such conversation, or anything of the kind.

The master ruled the question foreign to the matter, and thought all questions should refer to the present election contest.

Mr. Dumble objected to those questions, as merely framed with a view to newspaper articles, and irrelevant.

To Mr. Scott.—

Have no cash book except my business cash book, in which there are no entries of a private nature; have a private bank book, it will show the nature of bank payments during the month of December; have no entries of my general expense account; could tell what I paid anything for from the cheques; produced no book; was told by my Counsel that it was not necessary because not subpoenaed to do so: paid no expenses but what is published, except my personal expenses; was asked to pay no bill; I referred one to my agent, and he found it incorrect, and he refused payment; It was from Mr. Kearny; he did not say for what, gave no items, it was about $50; he said Mr. Bertram had engaged his room for a committe room: there was another bill of $10 from Mr. Eastland, but it was not for me, it was for a Mr. A. Smith, and consequently the published bill was $10 too large; remembered paying Mrs. Rush a cheque for $40, think in January, don't know whether before or since the election, gave it to Rev. Mr. Fish to give to her; I give her a cheque of that nature every six months; there was an insurance on her son's life of $1000, he paid the premium for one year, at the time for paying second premium, he said he could not, I urged him to do so, when he gave his note for it endorsed by Dr. Kincaid; he paid the note; in a few days he came to me and said he was sorry for paying me as he needed the money very much; said if he would transfer the policy to me I would repay him the money; he did transfer it, and I paid him the money: when the next premium became due I paid it, but before another became due he died and the policy became a claim, and I got it paid; his mother being a poor woman I agreed to let her have the use of the money during her life; built a house for her to live in, she thought she would live in a cheaper house and did so and received two rent of the other for three or four quarters; the house was left idle for a winter and I had to repair it, and her son misrepresented the transaction to the company and annoyed me, when I refused to give her any more till he apologized: she was afterwards satisfied that I was doing her a kindness and endeavored to make amends for what he had said; remember a conversation with you; do not remember when it was, she had previously got rent; the house had been built; don't remember refusing to make payments: if I did refuse it was in consequence of being vacant, or of paying large fly for its repair; received money by post. The House was built in 71-72 I think. I think after the conversation with you, he said something offensive to me. I had a conversation with Mr. Rush, and said I would pay her 8 per cent interest instead of rent. In the meantime I learned that they had misrepresented me at the head office. I then made up my mind to pay no more until they were satisfied that they had no claim. I felt that giving them a gift of $80 a year, and them misrepresenting me was unworthy conduct. I had to produce a certificate of his age before getting the payment of the policy. I got a certificate and got Mr. Hopkins to get his mother to sign it, she did so, and her sons represented at the head office that by misrepresentation I had got the assignment; Mr. Fish had represented that the old lady was in want, and I then sent her $40 and said I would do so half yearly, on her account, as he had represented her as doing all she could to get her son to apologize; I very likely was aware of her son's name being on the voters' list, but I never asked them nor expected to get their votes; do not know that Mr. Fish took an active part for me; he frequently advised me not to have anything to do with the Election; don't know that I spoke to him during the canvas particularly. There was a committee, Mr. Ullyot was Chairman; think I was at the first meeting, can remember only some of the names of those present; Mr. Ullyott, Smith, Bleecher, Edminson, and Dumble were there; don't think J. B. Dixon was there, nor Mr. Wm. Hall; Wm. Hamilton and Peter Hamilton I think were there; don't remember Mr. Boyd being there; think Mr. Ullyot was not appointed at first; Mr Edmonson was Secretary, there was no treasurer; think there were no minutes kept of meetings of committee; was not at committee meetings after, there may have been committies in each ward; was at a meeting in the south ward, and I think, at one in No. 2; think Mr. Peter Hamilton was Chairman; several person were there, don't know all their names; think there were no Frenchmen there; there was no committee of Frenchmen for the French people; was at the 2nd Ward committee at Mr. Sproule's; was there a few minutes; Walter, Paterson, Jas. Stinson and Mr. Watson were present; don't remember a committee for the 3rd ward; was not at the 4th ward committee; think Mr. Mills got the keys for room in No. 1 ward and heated the place; think they met twice in that place; don't think the committee of 2nd ward met except at Central Committee rooms; Mr. Sproule was a supporter of mine, I think; don't remember seeing him particularly there; if being in the room constituted a member of committee he was a member I think; never asked him to go and see anybody; did that myself; don't remember any person being with me canvassing in Town; in the Township of Smith a son of Mr. Manning was with me; had no committee in Smith that I know of; had no private meetings in Smith except at Selwyn in the temperance hall, after a public meeting. Mr. Bertram asked them to remain; don't remember that he said anything except "to remain;" there were present Francis Sanderson, Mr. Bell and Mr. Manning, the names of the others I do not know; this was about ten or twelve days before the polling, it may have been more than that; we had a meeting at Bridgenorth and Young's Point; at Young's Point we did not ask any friends to remain; did not canvass much in the Township of Smith, only one day; know two of the Elliotts; don't remember any conversation with them about election; don't know that I would be sure of their votes any way; went to Enniesmore once and came through it once on coming from Galway; Mr. Bertram went with me to Enniesmore, Mr. Tierny, Mr. Moloney, Mr. Peter Hamilton, and Doherty were there, the letter was not with me; they were friendly disposed to me I think, but I do not know what you mean by active supporters; canvassed Mr. Flood and a person near him whose name I don't remember; had no committe there; there were ten or twelve there one night when I was there. We discussed the advisability of holding a meeting, Mr. Black, Mr. Crough and others I did not know the persons, finally they decided not to hold a meeting; there were ten or twelve person present but I do not know that they were my supporters; would judge Mr. Tierny to be an active supporter of mine, he never canvassed with me, he was not in Galway with me; he drove me to Enniesmore; was only twice in Enniesmore; don't remember that Mr. Betram had a meeting there before this one referred to, when I came from the back country I met Mr. Tierny there expected he would be there and he told us when we arrived that he had told people that we would be there; P. Galvin, Sullivan, Telford, and Flood were there; all were friends except one noisy supporter of Mr. Scott's; Mr. Tierny went with us only this one night except one at Young's Point where I met him.

I don't remember writing to any one in Galway or Harvey; have no recollection of any one writing; held meetings in Harvey the first was in the latter part of December; think Mr. Bertram went up with me; the first meting was in the Town Hall, it was a meeting of our own friends; the Reeve, an opponent was at the meeting; he stayed till the close; think they spoke of a committee but there was not material present to form one; did not state that in the present state of the law it was not desirable to form a committee; did not hear Mr. Bertram stating so; these were no arrangements except asking our friends to assist us; we got there about 2 o'clock; at one time we had our dinner at Mr. Wood's and he went with us; Mr. Wood was at the meeting, I considered him a friend; don't remember his giving advice what to do; Mr Bertram and I spoke, the chairman made a few remarks, Tarlington was there and Blewett, and Mr. Brodie: don't think any Johnstons were there, if so don't remember them; during the week between the nomination and election another meeting was held: at that meeting Mr. Wood was Chairman I think; think there was a man there named Moffatt; think he may have been at both; had not met them men before; meant when I asked them to aid me to get all they could to vote for me; the second meeting was a general meeting, several were there who were against me; at the second meeting there were about 30 present; immediately after we went to dinner and had a meeting of friends; Mr. Bertram distributed voters' lists, went to Ventress's school Mr. Reed of Bobcaygeon was Chairman; there were others present, in all about 30; did not call at any place in the Township to canvass; did not hear anything said about any persons in that Township getting dinners; Mr. Tarlington had spoken to me about a claim for dinner at the previous election, I had nothing to do with it; never heard of voters getting their dinners that day; and I do not know that they were supplied with dinners; was in Galway and had a meeting in some school house at Collin's I think; next day after the Harvey meeting Mr. Bertram went up with me, we met Mr. Philp on the way and he then went with us to Collins'; think he went to Kinmount also; saw him other the meetings, he went home that night; had seen him in Peterborough and gave him voters' list, he said he would help me did not see him in Harvey; don't remember what I said to Mr. Phelps when I met him; I may have asked him how it was likely to go with us in Galway; don't remember what he said about the canvass or about any one canvassing for me; understood he was assisting me; think he did as he was friendly to me; don't remember the name of the chairman; Mr. Phelps said nothing about election matters; did not ask him to go to Kinmount; he did not ask me to go; don't remember who was chairman at the Kinmount meeting, Mr. Geo. Bertram, J. Bertram and myself spoke, it was a joint meeting of the two Ridings; don't think Mr. Phelps was at that meeting; saw P. Eastland and E. Phelan at the hotel; saw none of my friends from Peterborough there; saw John McWilliams after at the Kinmount meeting, think he went to Minden; always looked upon him as a supporter of mine; am not aware of anything he did for me; don't remember asking him to see persons for me; have seen him on the street, may have spoken to him about the election; don't remember him asking me to become a candidate; one day I think, he introduced me to some persons as the candidate; don't think he expressed any desire that they should assist me; don't remember seeing Jonathan Dixon in in the canvass; don't know who acted as agent for me, don't know that Phelps acted as agent for me, have had no account from Mr. Phelps, I have had no letters from him. Think Jonathan Dixon was in Harvey on election day; don't know what he did or was to do, think he went there on Saturday, Mr. Dixon never said a word about supplying dinners there, may have been in the Central Committee rooms six or eight times; stopped very short time, mostly went alone in my canvass, never took Mr. Tierney with me, went once with Peter Hamilton to Mr Hopkin's, and some other places, McMahon was one, some we found in, some not. Mr. Hamilton went to introduce me to parties I did not know. don't remember him being with me at any other time, didn't canvass the French vote except one, Clement Gordon pretty early in the election, he once kept a hotel, spoke to him before the acceptance of nomination; was not then quite decided as to acceptance, asked him if he would support me; asked him nothing as to how I would run among the Frenchmen; spoke to another French man, he pitched into me about licenses; another Frenchman who had no vote, I spoke to but not much, I likely may have asked him how the French vote would go. Asked Lewis Laplante but he said they would all vote against me; expected Mr. Gordon and his father to assist me, understood that Cardinelle was assisting me, Cardinelle, I understood, was a Grit; I did not understand what Cardinelle did for me, talked to Cardinelle during the election, don't know when or where it was, casually met him and talked to him, did not ask much about the French vote, saw T. Laplante in the Committee room, do not know that he was a member of Committee. did not know of him canvassing for me, never sent him canvassing; got a bill through post office, thought it a joke on a temperance man as it was for drinks, and was for $50, no person came to me about it, it had no name attached, considering it a joke I immediately destroyed it, think I may have showed it to Mr. Donnelly; don't know who sent it or from whom it came; it was never settled by me, nor by any one else that I know, Peter Hamilton was in Bertram's shop once when spoken of, I looked upon it as a joke, and I don't know that I thought of it since; never got any other letter; I do not know Peter Duval. Mr. Bowie came to vote for Mr. Stratton and myself, Mr. Taylor also came from Lindsay, and Mr, Ball came from Lindsay to vote also, his wife told me after the election, she said he was on a spree, I regretted it, but could do nothing for her. Timothy Pearce voted for me, I heard he was from home before the election. Don't know of any one coming from Minden to vote for me. Remember of no other bill since the election being received except that of James Kearney, I never told anyone to get in all the outside votes they could, and that they would not lose anything by it. Had no Committee in Lakefield to my knowledge, understand Mr. Sherm and Mr Hall were friendly to me, also Mr, Cochrane, Mr. Graham, and Mr. Shields. Think I spoke to Mr. Hull, Shields and Cochrane, don't know what I said, don't know that I understood that they were assisting me, merely that they were Reformers, don't remember asking Mr. Hull or Mr. Cochrane to do what they could do for me, don't remember seeing them at the meeting particularly. Major Boulton, Mr. Hull, Bertram and myself, spoke, did not ask my friends to remain, I left matters to the people there. Mr. Taylor I understood was going to North Monaghan and was to vote there, think it likely I did hear that he would go to North Monaghan that day to vote there, think he come down on Saturday or Friday, may have understood from him that he was going to North Monaghan, don't know in what capacity he went, don't know that I understood the doubts about his vote, heard he had sold his property in Peterborough about that time, don't remember his being sent there to get his vote, it is possible it may have been. Was under the impression that that was the reason he was sent to North Monaghan, do not know that he was sent there to act as agent, I signed papers in blank and afterwards the names were filled in.

Adjourned till two o'clock on Wednesday

Wednesday examination resumed.

My personal expenses were not more than $20. but I think were $14 to $16, lent no money during the election except in way of my business, have got all the money back I lent then. Mr. Bertram was an active friend and accompanied to nearly all my meetings. neither remember asking or following his advice except consulting him about meetings; after writing my address I may have submitted it to him, to Mr. Dumble and Mr. Stratton. Have received no letters or accounts since the election from George Sproule, nor did I hear of any from him. Have no other reasons for supposing my brother, A. Cox, friendly to me, than that he is my brother, he had no vote. He never told me he spent money for me in connection with the election, my committee spent no money in connection with my election, nor did they subscribe any for me, have not heard of any money being paid or promised since the election. Don't know that Mr. A. Smith was an active supporter of mine, although I know he was friendly to me, don't know what he did for me, he was chairman of a public meeting, and Isaw him at Shaw's polling place, but don't know in what capacity. I know Robert Taylor, had no conversation with him, nor do I know that he was a supporter other that I think he voted for me.

To Mr Dumble—Did not at any time previous to, during or after the election pay to any person or persons any money to influence a vote or in payment for a vote, my committee spent no money in connection with the election, I never heard of it and I may say positively that there was not any money subscribed in connection with the election by my Committee. I have not heard of any money being paid or promised to be paid since the election. I have seen Mr. A. Smith at my Central Committee once or twice, don't know that he was an active supporter of mine, but was friendly to me, but was not so active as in previous elections. Gave C. Gordon no authority to work for me, I deputed no authority to any person outside of Peterborough to assume any responsibility, knew of no person bribed or disqualified or unduly influenced who voted for me. and I know of no person duly qualified, who tendered their ballots and were refused. Mr Ullyot procured a number of circulars of the Election Law against corrupt practices and had them (open distributed, and the same was published in the EXAMINER.

To Mr Scott—Do not know that I said to any one during the election that I would have work next season, promised no work to any man, have no recollection of doing so.

This closed the examination

The undersigned beg to submit Abstract of Receipts and Expenditures for the Municipality for the year 1874.

We find Vouchers for all the payments save two, one for $3 and one for $2. No doubt but these amounts were paid and the Vouchers will be forth coming.

An item of $21.25 on the Treasurer's book as interest on money advanced by him we consider should be passed by the Council in the ordinary way, and we recommend this sum be not included in this year's expenditure. The balance on hand 31st December 1874 is $100.08

All of which is respectfully submitted.

AUDITORS REPORT.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—We, the undersigned Auditors of Town accounts, beg leave to report:

1st. That we have carefully examined the Town accounts, vouchers, &c., of the Treasurer of the Town, the Treasurer of the Town Trust, and the Treasurer of the School Board, and have prepared therefrom the following statements, numbers Numbered, 1 to 15, viz.—

No. 1. Detailed Statements of the Receipts and Expenditure of the Town Treasurer.
No. 2. Abstract of Receipts and Expenditure of Town Treasurer.
No. 3 Statement of Assets and Liabilities of Town Council.
No. 4 General Financial Statement of Town Trust.
No. 5, Abstract of Receipts and Expenditure of Town Trust.
No. 6, Town Council in account current with Commissioners of Town Trust
No 7. Statement in detail of principal sums due by sundry parties on account of South Reserve land purchases
No. 8. Statement in detail of the Debenture Indebtedness of the Town, showing when sales were made and what debentures fall due each year.
No. 9, Memorandum and suggestion relative to the School Debenture debt.
No. 10. Midland Railway account, showing instalments paid and amount remaining unpaid.
No 11. Midland Railway account for arrears and interest.
No. 12. Abstract of Receipts and Expenditure of School Board.
No. 13. Statement exhibiting the Expenditure and Receipts for common school purposes and for High School purposes as adjusted in the accounts audited.
14. The Board of School Trustees in account current with the Town Treasurer,
No. 15. General Financial Statement of School Board.

2nd, Town Treasurer's accounts—The Treasurer's receipts including the balance brought over from former years, fall short of the disbursements in the sum of $2,048 43, which sum under ordinary circumstances would represent the balance due the Treasurer, but we are of opinion that from this amount there should be deducted $425, the sum of $425 having been charged as disbursed in the year 1872 in excess of actual payments made that year. In the accounts of 1872 there is a charge of $601 94 as having been paid in March to Messrs. Whyte and Davis on account of the Iron Bridge, we have learnt from the Treasurer of the Town that the sum actually paid to Whyte and Davis at the time the $601.94 was charged as having been paid was only $176,94, the difference, viz., $425 having been left in the hands of the Treasurer, and he informs us that he was afterwards instructed to hand over this money, the $425, to the School Board. We have further to report in this matter that in the month of April 1872, your Treasurer paid to the School Board, $425, taking a receipt from the School Treasurer and making a charge of this payment in his books, in this way a sum of $425 which was only once paid was twice charged in 1872. The receipt of $425 (for schools) not having been regularly passed through the books to the credit of the school account and all payments to the School Board including the $425, payment having been charged as on regular account (see statement No. 14). We are satisfied that the $425 bridge rebate has not gone to the schools, although we believe it was intended it should. We think the following changes should be made in the manner of keeping the Town books,—the non-resident tax fund should be accounted for by itself, as also should the account of money received from the Railway and paid to the parties interested as compensation for damage to property. Special arr

The Bible Christians intend having a Bazaar and Tea on the Queen's Birthday in their new church, Peterborough. A very good way of celebrating the holiday.

Boots & Shoes

Mr. A. Conner has opened out a choice Stock of Boots and Shoes on Hunter Street in the stand lately occupied by Mr. J. B. Fowler. Mr. Conner is well known by the people of the town and County, and will, no doubt, secure a large patronage.

Auction Sales

Don't forget the Auction Sale of Furniture on the market on Saturday 15th inst, at 12 o'clock, noon. Also at the Caisse House at 2 o'clock p.m., 30 parcels of valuable Land, and in the evening at 8 o'clock p. m., the great sale of Crockery and Glassware, &c., at the store of Mr. E. Calcutt, Hunter Street; near the Hoffman House, D. & J. Haggart, Auctioneers.

Sale of the Methodist Church Property

The sale of this property took place on Tuesday, Dr. O'Sullivan purchased the parsonage with 73½ feet frontage for $4600 The 30 feet next to it was also sold to the Dr at $620. Mr. Dumble and Cox bought the next two lots of 30 feet each for $1,480, a lot to the west sold for $550, another lot for $620, making in all $3,230 worth sold. Two lots remain unsold, and all the buildings, and worth at least $2,000. The property will therefore realise about $10,000.

A Story

Lately a story of kidnapping a boy near Cobourg, carrying him to Peterboro' keeping him a night and then sending him away gained currency in a Cobourg paper. After due enquiry we find the whole to be a tissue of falsehood, and we conclude that some young son, perhaps of a respectable townsman has been on a spree strayed away from home, in good spirits, and concocted a kidnapping case when he returned, told the Editor of the Star his newly-made story and thus gulled the unwary quill driver. The Star should seek more light before giving currency to boys thrilling narratives.

A Scoundrel

Calling himself Fowler, and who had been sticking bills for Mr. E. C. Hill, went to Lakefield on Saturday last, made out several small accounts in the name of the EXAMINER office, and collected one or two of them, One of these accounts has been sent to us, and bears the signature of R. Romaine per Menzies as receiving payment. The fellow has left for parts unknown, but others had better have a sharp look out for him. He never was engaged in this office, and is an entire stranger. He worked for Mr. Hill and collected round town in his name. All persons should take good care that they know those to whom they pay money.

Admission to Collegiate Institute and High Schools

The examinations for admission to the Collegiate Institute will be held on the 8th and 9th of June, and by the regulations of the Board of Public Instruction candidates must not only take 50 per cent of all the papers, but must take 33⅓ per cent of each paper, before they can be promoted. All the work will be submitted to the High School Inspectors, as heretofore, and thus make them accountable for all admission to the High School and Collegiate Institute. If any, therefore, gain admittance not fully qualified, carpers must attack those Inspectors, not the teachers.

Remains

Of several human beings were discovered in the bank near Mr. Wm. Metheral's blacksmith shop, on Friday last, by some boys at play. On Saturday curiosity seekers searched into the bank a little farther and found two others. Two skulls appeared to be those of men, one of a woman, and one of a child. The teeth of the one supposed to be a woman's were perfectly well set, and evidently not an old woman. They are probably the remains of some of the Aborigines of Canada, who made this place of fording the waters a general rendezvous, or camping ground. How long since laid in their resting place, none now living can tell. An ear ring was also found, made of bone, neatly cut and showing that the citizens of these parts had intercourse either with Europeans, or had skill in using sharp instruments. Is it not wonderful that the spirits of the decaying bones have borne the trod of white men those many years, unseen and unheard of?

Religious.

Miss Geldard and Miss Mudy are holding revival meetings this week in the Baptist Church every evening, and conversational meetings in the Y. M. C. A. room, at three o'clock. They are very sincere and earnest in their appeals to Christians to work for their Master, and to urge sinners to accept a Saviour. Their voices are sweet and their appeals tender, persuasive, and somewhat plaintive, adding to the effect of their earnestness. Miss Mudy's youthfulness and beautiful Scotch dialect adds a musical effect to her touching words. Miss Geldard is much older than Miss Mudy, and has a clear and sweet voice for her age. Both speak the truth earnestly. Their influence upon their audience is due largely to their sweetness of language, and earnest exposition and application of the words of Jesus. Not a few christian people are opposed to Women speaking in the churches, or preaching, while others are willing to use every means in their power to induce the wayward to return to their Saviour. The curiosity of women preachers is taking many to hear them, however, and perhaps the word spoken may be followed with power. It may be that some going to hear the women may hear the truth and be made better men and women. Even the investigation of their scriptural right to preach may lead to an investigation of the truth that may end in conviction. There is no sin in hearing them at any rate, and so long as they preach truth and duty, and lead the people to read the scriptures they are doing good. Reading that book never leads to evil, and may lead to making better citizens of all who do read it. Because some who read are hypocrits, there is the greater necessity to more earnestness on the part of others.

A plaintiff at the Woodstock Assizes has obtained a verdict awarding him $2,000 against a person who bit off one of his fingures, probably the highest price the cannabal has ever paid for "a square meal."

LOCAL NEWS.

PORT PERRY.

The Assessment Roll of this village shows Real Estate, $341,975; Personal Property, $47,800; Total, $388,675. The Observer does not give the population. the village no doubt does contain men and women and children and of the latter not a few: witness the greeting about the Standard.

MILLBROOK.

On Thursday, a boy named Crozier, aged 10 years, accidentally shot his little brother with a revolver.

The last issue of the "Messenger" contains some wholesome advice to boys. It is headed "Satan Abroad," and is not complimentary to those young men who are out on the streets of that village on a "lark"

BOBCAYGEON.

Dr. McCamus has bought out Mr Tuppers drug business.

Mr. I Junking has been appointed Post Master at Bobcaygeon.

ATTEMPT TO FIRE A STEAMER.—On the night of the second inst., a bundle of straw was placed in one of the berths of the Steamer Novelty, a keg of coal placed on it, and the lot fired with the intention of burning the steamer however, shutting the door of the state-room the fire only smouldered for want of vent, and finally went out. This is the second attempt to burn this boat, the property of Mr. Boyd. Last summer his scows, loaded with lumber, were fired, and also his new mill. All the attempts so far have failed, and a strict watch will be kept in the future.

LINDSAY.

The population is 5,589, and the amount of Real and Personal Property is $961,829.

UNKLE'S BODY FOUND.—The Warder says: "The partially decomposed remains of a female infant child was found in a two acre field belonging to Mr. Carlin, in the north-east part of the East Ward on Saturday last. The lot in question was unoccupied during the winter. Early this spring, Mr. Carlin had erected a small house in one corner, into which he removed, with his family on Friday last. While crossing the lot on Saturday, he found a small bundle lying near a pine stump and on turning this over, found it consisted of the body and clothing of an infant a good deal decomposed. Enquiries as to the parent have proved fruitless, nor is it known whether the child was exposed to cause death.

Mr. J. W. Dunsford has been appointed Police Magistrate for the Town of Lindsay. The appointment appears to give general satisfaction. Even the Incependent is pleased.

The Boats are making their regular trips on the back waters.

PORT HOPE.

The Council has submitted a By law to grant aid to the Midland Railway to the amount of $75,000 the last step in aid of Railway progress that must repay Port Hope The Completion of the Midland Railway to the Georgian Bay will make it one of the best Roads in the Province, and must make Port Hope one of the greatest shipping Ports on the Lake.

The Tenders for watering the Streets were $13 and $12 per week, for this Season.

TEMPERANCE DEMONSTRATION.—Committee on Temperance Demonstration met as per adjournment in the Temperance Hall, Jas. Gray Esq., presiding, The meeting was well attended, almost all the Temperance organizations in the county being represented. The following resolution was moved by Mr. Mountier, seconded by Mr. E. Taylor: "That the Mass meeting which a former meeting resolved to hold on the 1st of July next, to be held in Port Hope, and was carried almost unanimously. On motion the following were then appointed as a general committee: Jas. Gray, E. Taylor, Jas. Gorbett, Geo. Wilson K. S. Libby, A. Choate, C. Mountier, S. Caldwell, J. Dunbar, A. Jenkins, J. Devany,—Detoe, Jos Hooper. H. Chester, R. H. Holland, G. Eve E. B. Dyer, R. Grant, P. Randall,— McKeown, J. D. Caldwell, Dr. Herriman, B. Clancy, H. Murphy, Jno. McCarter, M. Gargan, and R. S. Hockey. The meeting then adjourned to meet in the same place on the eighth of May, at one o'clock p. m. A full attendance is requested to appoint a working committee and make all necessary arrangements.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL

May 1st 1875.

The fifth meeting of the Council was held. All the members present save the Reeve who was detained by severe indisposition. On motion of Mr. Leary seconded by Mr. Birney, Councilor Rolison was appointed presiding Officer during his absence,

An account amounting to $14.57 was received from the "Times" office for printing &c., the two first items of $10.32 were not recognized, as no orders were given for their insertion, and the Clerk was requested to call on the proprietors respecting the other charges.

A By-law reducing the statute labor charged by the Assessor received it's several readings.

A By-law appointing James Howden overseer of Highways in place of Owen Curtain, Chas. Crombie for Wm. Laing, James Brown for E. Chamberlain; and John Doig, pound keeper instead of Jas. Howden, was finally passed. The council adopted the report of the Auditors and finally Audited the same, ordering 100 copies to be printed in sheet form for distribution.

Moved by Mr. Leary seconded by Mr. Brownscombe, That reports have reached the Council that Spirituous Liquors are being sold in the Municipality without license for same, contrary to statute. Be it therefore resolved that the Inspector of taverns be, and is hereby directed to bring such before D. G. Hatton; Esq., Police Magistrate, for violating the 25th, sec. of the license Act of 1874, and that a copy of this motion be forwarded to the Inspector informing him that the council will sustain him in the discharge of his duty.

Moved by Mr. Leary, seconded by Mr. Brownscombe, that the Council having noticed two of the window blinds of the Town hall broken, said to have been done by some of the Pupils of the Public School of the section, That Mr. Sutton, Teacher be written to, to find out the offenders and notify their parents so that the necessary repairs be at once made to prevent further trouble and expenses being incurred in the matter.

Orders on the Treasurer were given in favor of J. Edwards and S. J. Carver Esqrs, for the sum of $3 each for services as Auditors for past year.

The Council adjourned to the first Friday in June then to meet as a Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll.—COM

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—In the last issue of the Review, I saw a sneering squib asking who is Tierney, of Peterborough, P. L. S., that has got an appointment on the Pacific R. R. Survey. I wish to tell the Editor of the Review he is a young dry goods clerk that was raised and educated in Peterboro, and the "Beau Ideal" of Donald Don O'Beirne the thrasher, and the son of decent parents of a real old celtic stock from the historic hills of Tipperary.

Lest that the Editor of the Review be as ignorant of geography as he is of logic or common sense, I will tell him that Tipperary is a County in Ireland that recently elected John Mitchell to represent it in the Imperial Parliament. The Editor of the Review reminds me of an animal that snaps at the heels of every Pedestrian, and which is one of the lowest animals except the grave rat. I would advise the Review not to be quite so snappish with a political opponent; his honor and reputation will lose nothing by the appointment of Mr. Tierney, and I am satisfied the young man will bring no shame or stain on the escutcheon of his worthey frather Mr. Wm. Tierney, whom the Review would delight to honor if he could purchase his political support, but like a good son of Tipperary he cant be bought.

Yours, &c.,

ROSCOMMON.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT! A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robertson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Hart, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with Liver Complaint for several years and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried it. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, &c., and think it is equally as good for horses as for man." A Mayhew, Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundred bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rosan, Township Percy, writes, "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great benefit to mankind."—A. M. Hamilton, Wartworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured It is a most remarkable medicine.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cts.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Great Female-Remedy.

Job Moses' Peridocal Pills.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

MARRIED LADIES.

It is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affection, Pains in the Back and Limbs, on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysteries, and Whites, the pills will affect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

$1.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the the Dominion, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pill, by return mail.

Sold in Peterboro by Dr. Taylor, A. W. Kempt, W. S. Johnston, Dr. McCamus, Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co. C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

IT IS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE that a remedy intended for popular use should be not only thoroughly reliable and scientific, but incapable of producing dangerous results. The treatment of old lingering complaints is necessarily protracted, and if delsterious drugs are taken in the system for a long time, they may accumulate and do more harm than good. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calissya, containing elements of the tissues, repairs diseased bone, muscle, and nerve, and renews constitutional vigor in the same manner as our daily food, with no more liability of injury. It may be taken in all forms of debility in the young: or aged, with positive certainty of permanent benefit. 19-2in.

Welland Canal Enlargement.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on TUESDAY, the first day of June next, for the construction of a Tunnel, a number of Locks, Regulating Weir, Bridge Abutments and Piers, Excavation, Dredging, &c., connected with several miles of the enlargement, also the extension and deepening of Port Dalhousie and Port Colborne Harbors.

The Works will be let in Sections, some of which are situated on the new line between Port Dalhousie and Thorold, and others, about one mile in length each, consist principally of deepening and widening the present Canal at places between Thorold and Port Colborne.

Maps of the several localities, together with Plans and Specifications of the Works, can be seen at this office on and after THURSDAY, the 20th day of May next, where printed forms of Tender can be obtained. A like class of information relative to the Works north of Allanburgh will be furnished at the Resident Engineer's office, Thorold; and for Works south of Port Robinson, Plans, &c., may be seen at the Resident Engineers Office, Welland.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and—in the case of firms—Except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted bank cheque or other available security for the sum of from one to three thousand dollars, according to the extent of work on the section, must accompany each Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for he works at the rates stated, in the offer submitted.

The amount required in each case will be stated on the form of Tender.

The cheque or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required on real estate or deposit of money, public or municipal securities, or bank stocks to an amount of five per cent on the bulk sum of the Contract, of which the same sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.

This department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any Tender.

By Order,

F. BRAUN, Secretary.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION.

*NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Partnership heretofore subsisting between us, the undersigned, as ILL NATURED REPORTS.

If cats have nine lives ill-natured reports have ninety and nine. It is as hard to-day as that old Hydra who battled with Hercules, before the advent of the destined conqueror. You cut off one head and another sprouts out in its place, while you are busy pounding to powder one joint of the interminable tail, another is rattling mischief. To your last meet every charge false as hell like a man, see them fall away into the mist as you meet them, and refuse to endure investigation; impossible to bear dissection; the instant you have seen the cloudy shapes vanish and take a tangible form, the heads sprout out afresh, the disjointed tail rattles out ominously; heads and tails may both be the weaker for your onslaught, but they are not destroyed, there always remains the imperishable core, that pineal gland of indestructibility. There is something in it. You are told by a mischief making busy body that your friend has spoken of you unkindly. When you sift what he said and what she said, and what they both said together, and what some one else was heard to say, you find a mere nothing, a bubble, a foam of froth, misinterpreted and mishandled. This is made as clear to your understanding as that two and two are four not five, and that each magnet has two poles. Nevertheless, if you are of the ordinary sort, and have not a strain of magnanimity and working common sense beyond the grasp of most, you are never wholly satisfied. It always seems to you as if there must have been something in it. You scarcely know why you think so, or what that something was. Matters have turned out better for your friend on enquiry than you had ventured to hope at the beginning. You can come to nothing definite nothing in the least degree probable or provable; all the same it is the one well known point that sticks, the one little burr that clings fast and is never wholly dislodged. There must be something in it, else why was it ever said? So let the report of a man's insolvency creep out into the world in which he lives; though no ill is presented to him twice, and his banker's account is as satisfactory to the management as it is pleasant to himself; though he lives as he always lived, within his income; though he dies, not to say unembarrassed, but positively affluent; yet it will never be forgotten that it was once said he was on the verge of bankruptcy, and how did he escape? And though no one ever saw the breaker's ahead, or fathomed the sandy shoal in which it was said he had drifted, yet none the less will it be stoutly maintained to the end that there was a shoal over which he floated dexterously, for there must have been something in the report. It does not signify so much if this report gets afloat concerning a private individual; all that he has got to do is to keep on and never mind. But it is different when it is said of a man in business, a bank, a firm, or a company, then unfortunately the words prove themselves. The report becomes true because it is said to be true; the pressure put on the concern by the frightened creditors and shareholders is too sudden and too sudden and too heavy to be withstood; and so the house goes down while it was perfectly secure, because people said it was tottering. It is the old story of the mad dog. Give the bad name and hang him, out of hand. Clearness, decision, proof, which are the necessities of all positive science, all accuracy of knowledge, are the qualities we dispense with in our dealings with each other. Here the wildest improbabilities are received as not so very unlikely if you think of this and allow for that; the loosest statements are nursed up into the twin sisters of proved facts, nothing is too lazy, nothing too inactive, for evidence of the most positive kind, and reputations are ruined for a phrase and lives destroyed for an "if." We cannot be too strict in our requirement of proof before we accept an ill-favored report of our neighbor as true: and we cannot be too stern in our determination to have nothing to do with that cloudy remnant of disjointed slander. "There is something in it, else it could not have been said." It could have been said when there was nothing in it. Let us understand this clearly and act on it our action the rejection of all that will not bear the strictest analysis and the strongest daylight. —The Queen.

BLACKMAILING MINISTERS.

Rich men of position are more liable to attacks of blackmails than clergymen. When they have actually compromised their characters by sinful deed, they often pay smartly to keep their accusers quiet. In many cases they pay also, when entirely innocent, to avoid annoyance, scandal and discomfort. The papers mention several cases where clergymen have been made to suffer in this way, though innocent of the least taint of wrong. Rev. Dr. Philips, of New York, was one of them. No one who knew him doubted his purity. Yet a gang of harpies beset and threatened him, and he actually paid them money twice to shake them off. But that only increased their greed, and he punished them with the sword of law and sent them to prison. More recently an Episcopal minister was assailed, and did exactly what every manly man ought to do. He had the accusers arrested. The Evangelist gives the case of a distinguished clergyman who was visited a year or two ago by a man who professed, probably falsely, to be a reporter for a city paper, who began in a very mysterious way to hint at an ugly story, which had been furnished to the paper, but which might, "for a consideration," be suppressed. But he found that he had attacked the wrong man. The clergyman, instead of turning pale drew himself up with scorn, and bade the scoundrel do his utmost. He urged him to go ahead by all means, to publish all his lies the very next morning, and he would have him in the tombs before night. The blackmailer preferred not to continue the conversation but went down the steps quicker than he came, and disappeared around the corner.—Baptist Union.

An Indian and a white man were passing along a street, when the former espied a window full of wigs, and pointing to the owner who was standing in the doorway, said "Ugh! him great man—big brave—take heap scalps!"

What parts of the body are most useful to carpenters?—The nails

When Sheridan was asked at an amateur play which performer he liked best, he replied, "The prompter, for I saw less and heard more of him than of any one else."

A lady who asked her lover if he would like to see the ladies faces was surprised to hear him say he had rather see her eye brows (e).

A brilliant young gentleman remarked, the other day, to a lady with whom he was bowling ten-pins, "I think, miss, that you would have made a capital baker." "Indeed, Sir! Why?" "Because you make such excellent rolls."

COURTESIES TO PARENTS.

Parents loan upon [illegible] and especially their sons, [illegible] than either of them imagine. Their love is a constant inspiration; a perennial fountain of delight, from which our lips may quaff, and be comforted thereby. It may be that the mother has been left a widow, depending on her only son for support. He rides her a comfortable home, sees that she is well-clad, and allows no debts to accumulate, and that is all. He seldom thinks it worth while to give her a caress; he has forgotten all those affectionate ways that kept the wrinkles from her face, and make her look so much younger than her years; he is ready to put his hand in his pocket, to gratify her slightest request, but to give of the abundance of his heart is another thing entirely. He loves his mother? Of course he does! Are there not proofs enough of his filial regard? Is he not continually making sacrifices for her benefit? What more could any reasonable woman ask?

Ah, but it is the mother-heart that craves an occasional kiss, the support of your your youthful arm, the little attentions and kindly courtesies of life, that smooth down so many of the asperities, and make the journey less wearisome. Material aid is good as far as it goes, but it has not that sustaining power which the loving, sympathetic heart bestows upon its object. You think she has outgrown these weaknesses and follies, and is content with the crust that is left; but you are mistaken. Every little offer of attention, your escort to church, or concert or for a quiet walk, brings back the youth of her heart; her cheeks glow, and her eyes sparkle with pleasure, and oh! how proud she is of her son.

Even the father, occupied and absorbed as he may be, is not wholly indifferent to these filial expressions of devoted love. He may pretend to care very little for them, but, having faith in their sincerity, it would give him serious pain were they entirely withheld. Fathers need their sons quite as much as the sons need the fathers, but in how many deplorable instances do they fail to find in them a staff for their declining years.

My son, are you a sweetner of life? You may disappoint the ambition of your parents; may find pour intellectual strength inadequate to your own desires, but let none of these things move you from a determination to be a son of whose moral character they need never be ashamed. Begin early to cultivate a habit of thoughtfulness and consideration for others, especially for those whom you are commanded to honor. Can you begrudge a few extra steps for the mother who never stopped to number those you demanded during your helpless infancy? Have you the heart to slight her requests, or treat her remarks with indifference, when you cannot begin to measure the patient devotion with which she bore with your peculiarities? Anticipate her wants, invite her confidence, be prompt to offer assistance, express your affection as you did when a child, that the mother may never grieve in secret for her son she has lost.—Rural New Yorker.

PROVERBIAL ETIQUETTE.

1. Being set at the table, scratch not thyself, and take thou heed as much as thou canst, not to spit, cough and to blow thy nose; but if it be needful, do it dexterously without much noise, turning thy face sidelong.

2. Take not thy repast like a glutton.

3. Break not bread with thy hands, but cut it with a knife, if it be not very little, and very new, and that all the others did the same, or the major part.

4. Cast not thyself upon the table with thine arms stretched even to thy elbows. And lean not thy shoulders, or thine arms, on on their chair indecently.

5. Eat not with cheeks full, and with full mouth.

6. Sop not in wine, if thou be'st not the master of the house, or hast some indisposition or other.

7. Taking salt, beware that thy knife be not greasy, when it ought to be wiped, or tho fork; one may do it neatly with a little piece of bread, or with a napkin, but never with the mouth.

8. Blow not upon thy meat, but if it be hot, stay until it be cold.

9. Smell not of thy meat, and if thou holdest thy nose to it, set it not afterward before another

10. One ought not to rest on the table-cloth bones, parings, or such like things; notwithstanding, if one be constrained to spit something which was hard to chew, or which causeth irksomeness, then may one throw it dexterously forth, taking it decently with two fingers, or with the left hand half slant, so that it be not a liquid thing.

11. It is indecent to spoil the table cloth, and that which is worse, to clean one's face, or wipe away one's sweat with the napkin, or with the same clean one's nose, or one's dish.

12. Suck no bones, at least in such wise that one may hear it; take them not with two hands, but with one solely and properly. Gnaw them not, nor tear the flesh with thy teeth, as dogs do.

13. Cleanse not thy teeth with a table cloth, or napkin, or with thy finger, fork, or knife; much worse would it be to do so with thy nail; but use thy toothpick.

14. Sing not with thy mouth, humming to thyself, unless thou be alone, strike not up a drum with thy fingers, or thy feet.

15. In coughing and sneezing, make not great noise, if it be possible.

15. In yawning, howl not, and thou should'st abstain as much as thou canst to yawn, especially when thou speakest for that showeth thee to be weary, and that one little accounted of the company.

17. When thou blowest thy nose, make not thy nose to sound like a trumpet.

18. To sleep when others speak, to sit while others stand, to walk on while others stay, are all things of ill manners.

19. Hearing thy master, or likewise thy preacher, wriggle not thyself, as seeming unable to contain thyself within thyself, making show of thyself to be the knowing and sufficient person to the misprice of others.

20. When thou sittest, put not indecently one leg upon the other, but keep them firm and settled.

21. Gnaw not thy nails in the presence of others, nor bite them with thy teeth.

22. Take head light with thy spittle when thou'dst not the face of him with whom thou speakest, and to that end approach not too nigh him.

23. Set not thy fingers, grey hairs turn thy beard, thy moustache, or thy stockings.

24. Puff not up thy cheeks; fall not out thy tongue; thrust not out thy lips; wry not the mouth; set not one of thy elbows higher than the other.

25. Buttonhole not thy neighbor!

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE

PURELY DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

GRATEFUL Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

For Medicine.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so thoroughly upon the confidence of mankind, as has this world-renowned remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the nations of the earth, it has risen higher and higher in the estimation, as it has become better known. Its unrivalled character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted in milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them. Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, and the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, as the reader can assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Burnett's Extracts

The superiority of these Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market. They are not only true to their names, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality, and are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small quantity only need be used.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so thoroughly upon the confidence of mankind, as has this world-renowned remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the nations of the earth, it has risen higher and higher in the estimation, as it has become better known. Its unrivalled character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted in milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them. Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, and the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, as the reader can assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is powerless to leave any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by druggists all around the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.

WATCHING AND WAITING.

From my upper window at the close of day,
Sadly watching pastors on their homeward way,
Sadly, sweetly thinking of the joy and glee
When one came, my babies, home to you and me!

In the dusk, with faces close against the pane,
Peered we through the starlight, snow, or summer rain,
Happy hearts and faces ceasing through the gloom
For the coming step that was sure to come.

Hark! I hear its echo! babies mine once more!
Hear the latch-key turning in the opening door!
From my knee your opening fourteen as the gloom
Whitks I flood with rainbows all the darkened room.

Don't you fly to meet him, open wide the door;
Closely are we gathered to his heart once more.
Tender kiss and blessing greet your childish glee,
But the warmest, babies, always was for me!

Past my tears are falling o'er the memory sweet.
While I catch the echo still of passing feet;
Feet through summer starlight or through wintry rain,
Never, O my babies, will be come again!

We are now the wanderers in the dusk and gloom,
He the one that's waiting in the happy home.
From his upper window, though we may not see,
He's watching, O my babies, to welcome you and me.

THE GLADATORIAL GAMES.
"It was an overpowering sight to see the Coliseum crowded from the arena to the topmost range of the stone seats, eighty thousand spectators, one 'great crowd of witnesses'—one terrible storm cloud gathering its lightnings around the conflicting in the centre.
"Never have there been dramas like those. These were no fictitious combats, no feigned terrors, no counterfeit deaths.
All was terribly true.
Those tens of thousands—senators, young nobles, and patrician women, mingled with the dregs of that corrupt populace—were there for a spectacle that delighted them all equally, the combats which were certain to end in torture and death for the majority of the combatants. The more the slaughter the greater the excitement.
On this particular occasion it was no criminal reserved for this mode of death as an alternative of some other execution. The combatants were chiefly gothic captives fresh from a recent imperial victory in the North. They were to fight with wild beasts, which had been brought in great numbers from the African coast, and with gladiators by profession.
There was no denying the fearful excitement of the spectacle. The hush of expectation among the eighty thousand, holding their breath in suspense until the gates were opened, was as overpowering as the shout which broke it, echoing to the other end of Rome. Some of the professional gladiators, known to the crowd were hailed with tumultuous applause by their friends. Those were said to be eager for the fray.
But those captive strangers of the fair races of the North—never shall I forget the hopeless appeal in some of their countenances, frank and fair, as they looked up to the pitiless masses of gazers which encircled them, for whose amusement they were to spend their last strength and courage, tearing each other and being torn to pieces!
But ah! my children, it is not, after all, those Goths that have been torn to to pieces, but that cruel Rome herself.
There was no unmanly flinching from the combat. At first I well remember the fascination which rivited my eyes to it. There was a chance in each individual case of escape; and for a while I watched one and another in the desperate struggle for life, in the trembling hope that each one I watched might conquer and escape.
But as one and another fell mangled and helpless on the sand, and more and more terribly clear it became that the purpose was not escape, but slaughter the end desired and expected by this great, pitiless mass of spectators—not life but torture and death; as fell after fall was met, not with cries of pity, but with yells of triumph from the crowd around me, as if I had fallen among a company of demons.
I turned distinctively to Zosime—so joyous, so generous, so affectionate always to me—for a glance of sympathy.
Never shall I forget the transformation of her face. Her cheeks were flushed, her eyes flashed with a fierce and cruel fire, her breast panted. She look like one of those beautiful, terrible tigresses in the arena below, ready to spring on her prey.
At that moment one of the Gothic captives, who had made a brave and desperate fight, lay prostrate, bleeding and exhausted on the sand, and it was at the choice of the crowd whether he should die or live.
To my horror I saw her join the rest in the fatal signal for his death. A dagger was plunged into the helpless form, and with one more writhe of anguish he died.
I saw no more of the combat in the arena that day.
A yet more real and terrible conflict seemed going on around me, as I watched the faces growing fierce and fiercer and heard the cruel shouts and yells.
The devils, it seemed to me, were visibly loose and raging around me, as visibly and audibly as in any one of the assaults and temptations of Anthony in the desert, contending for the possession of all this Roman multitude, and winning it—winning these human hearts to every diabolical passion; contending also for the possession of the gentlest heart beside me, and winning—having already won it—revelling in their conquest, and filling those beautiful eyes with infernal fire.
Dreadful and legends came back to me. I thought of the fate, false ghastly woman Lamaism, who could win and return human love, and yet whose love was death to what it loved.
My love to her seemed to undergo something of the same diabolical transformation. It could not cease yet it was mingled with loathing.
I felt the spell never to be overcome in future.
And will the double Sanctuary of love

old affection and the new horror I gazed on her, I became sensible that other eyes than mine, those of a young patrician I had seen at our house, were watching her intently, until their intense gaze seemed to fascinate her own towards them, and soon I could not but see that for those two the arena with its combats the spectators with their shouts of triumph or derision, ceased to be, and they alone were present to each other, all beside becoming misty far off, and indifferent as a half-forgotten dream.
I was startled from my spell-bound gaze on Zosima by the final cry of that great multitude, when at last two men clad symbolically as Mercury and Pluto, stepped forth on the bloody arena, one armed with red-hot iron, to test if any of the victims still lived, and the other with an axe, to give the death blow.
For the gladiatorial games were originally sacred funeral rites, human sacrifices to the dead.
And so the terrible combat ended. And so, alas! my fond delusion vanished, my hope of gently winning that joyous, beautiful creature to the source of all true joy and beauty. I had thought myself gently drawing a creature like myself, whilst I had been unconsciously contending with passions cruel, real and terrible as volcanic fires, or murderous lightning, or the billows and storms of the great sea, on whose shore I was playing as a child. I had been striving to quench Vesuvius with the spray of a garden fountain, or brave Empedocles in a toy boat with silken sails."—Sunday Magazine

Mr. Coffin's Spelling Match.
THE OLD LADY PUTS HIM DOWN WITH ONE OF HER SPELLS—STRIKING EFFECTS

The other evening old Mrs. and Mr. Coffin, who live on Brush street, sat in their cosy back parlor, he reading the paper and she knitting, and the family cat stretched out under the stove, and sighed and felt sorry for cats not so well fixed. It was a happy, contented household, and there was love in his heart as Mr. Coffin put down his newspaper and remarked:
"I see that the whole country is becoming excited about spelling schools."
"Well, it's good to know how to spell," remarked the wife. "I didn't have the chance some girls had, but I pride myself that I can spell any word that comes along."
"I'll see about that," he laughed, "come, now, spell buggy."
"Humph! that's nothing—b-u-g-g-y buggy," she replied.
"Missed the first time—ha! ha!" he roared, slapping his leg.
"Not much—that was right."
"It was, eh! Well, I'd like to see any body get two g's in buggy, I would."
"But it's spelled with two g's, and any schoolboy will tell you so," she persisted.
"Well, I know a darn sight better than that!" he exclaimed, striking the table with his fist.
"I don't care what you know!" she squeaked; "I know that there are two g's in buggy!"
"Do you mean to tell me that I've forgotten how to spell!" he asked.
"I looks that way."
"It does, eh! Well, I want you and all your relations to understand that I know more about spelling than the whole caboodle of you strung on a wire."
"And I want you to understand, Jonathan Coffin, that you are an ignorant old blockhead, when you don't put two g's in the word buggy—yes you are!"
"Don't talk that way to me!" he warned.
"And don't you shake your fist at me!" she replied.
"Who's a-shaking his fist!"
"You were."
"That's a lie—an infernal lie!"
"Don't call me a liar, you old bazaar! I've put up with your meanness for forty years past, but don't call me a liar, and don't lay a hand on me!"
"Do you want a divorce!" he shouted, springing up, "you can go now, this minute!"
"Don't spit in my face—don't you dare do it, or I'll make a dead man of you!" she warned.
"I haven't spit in your freckled old visage yet, but I may if you provoke me further!"
"Who's got a freckled face, you old turkey-buzzard."
This was a little too much. He made a motion as if he would strike, and she raised him by the necktie. Then he reached out and grabbed her by the right ear, and tried to lift her off her feet, but she twisted up on the necktie until his tongue ran out,
"Let go of me, you old fiend," she screamed.
"Git down on your knees and beg my pardon, you old wild cat," he replied.
They surged and swayed and struggled, and the peaceful cat was struck by the overturning table and had her back broken, while the clock fell down, and the pictures danced round. The woman finally shut her husband's supply of air off and flopped him, and as she bumbled him up and down on the floor, and scattered his hairs, she shouted:
"You want to get up another spelling school with me, don't you!"
He was seen limping around the yard yesterday, a stocking pinned round his throat, and she had court plaster on her nose, and one finger tied up. He wore the look of a martyr, while she had the bearing of a victor, and from their tone out buggy will be spelled with two g's in that house.—Detroit Free Press.

Dresden Chimney Sweeps.
There is a class of citizens of Dresden whose home is even higher than the office of the pigeons, call the cats; but when, though occupying the most distant of positions in the city, whenever the bell sounds "Fire," and the fire-engines are conducted by every description of citizens, [illegible] are stationed from [illegible] block, and, as though this were not enough, they smear their countenance with an application of the same joyless hue. Bare footed as they are, they walk the streets, when they descend thither, with folded arms and downcast eyes, as if their very glances, not to mention their touch might chance to soil the immaculateness of somebody's shirt-bosom. Nevertheless, their complete blackness gives a strange force to their appearance—a condensation of meaning, so to speak, of the very darkest import. They are an embodied lesson to mankind. People of one color—of one consistent idea, however gloomy—are sure to be more remarkable in the world, than the gayest of piebalds.

This singular tribe never appears to have any interests or sympathies in common with humanity. Never are they seen conversing with a friend; and as to sweethearts and wives,—good heavens! the thing is inconceivable. A species of awe invests them; in the most turbulent crowd their persons would be respected, and a pathway would be cleared for them whithersoever they might choose to pursue it. Pat they are seldom seen on earth; their abode in the upper air. In the early morning, when most men are asleep, we may see their lonely figures far aloft, silhouetted against the pale tints of the sky, and gilded perchance by the first rays of the day's sunshine. What are they doing there at such an hour? Are they priests of an unknown religion, bound by dark vows to this sable garb and these mysterious rites? Mark you crazy anchorite—with what weird agility he clambers to the top of that tall chimney, and stands with the sleeping city at his feet, himself the blackest object in it—a blot against the pure heavens. Does not he look rather like the Devil, setting his foot upon the conquered world? Can it be that, under the impression that they are merely a useless and harmless, albeit personally unprepossessing order of the community, mankind may have been harboring in its midst a deputation from the kingdom of darkness!
What is that creature doing on that chimney? He seems to have a rope coiled round his arm; now he unwinds it, and lets it slip rapidly down the chimney's throat, till it must have reached the house's deepest entrails. Is there anything below which he wants to catch? See how he jerks the rope up and down, and how curiously he pores into the sooty hole. His motions remind us vividly of a fisherman bobbing for eels. Is this the devil bobbing for a human soul? What bait does he use? not worms, surely! more probably it is a deed or mortgage or perhaps, the good name of a young woman. Ah! was not that a bite? yes, he has caught it at last, whatever it is; and mercy on us! with what an ugly eagerness does he haul his booty up. If only it would come unhooked; and, after the experience of this one mortal peril, have a chance to be wiser for the future! but that is not to be; the black fisherman is even now stooping to grasp his prey. Let us vail our eyes from the ghastly spectacle of its last struggles. Heaven grant that ugly hook never come dangling down into our own fireside circle!
Nay, but this gloomy fantasy is unworthy our common sense; in fact, it was only the last trace of a nightmare from which, at this early hour, our brain had not entirely freed

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 20, 1875.

STREET OPENING.

The Town Council has again been discussing the opening of certain streets at present not used. The street between Messrs. Dumble and Bradburn is not now used, and appears to be of no value to any one except those owning the property on each side of it. To open it and make it passable would cost a very large sum; and if opened it would not be travelled by a dozen persons in a season. The wisest course would be as proposed by Mr. Cook on Monday evening, viz.:—Sell it and use the price of it to build bridges, and repair other streets in the neighborhood, that are used. The idea of two streets to be opened and kept in repairs for all time, for no purpose whatever, appears too foolish to be entertained for a moment, and we therefore hope that the more reasonable course (to sell the property) will be entertained.

There is another street to which we may now refer, that is the continuation of Murray street from Mr. W. Hamilton's foundry west. This street is of no value to any one except Mr. Hamilton who should have quiet possession of it. The cost of opening and maintaining those streets would be much greater than any benefit could possibly accrue to parties near them, except to those who are really using them. A petition, we understand, is in circulation to sell those streets and apply the proceeds as stated above, and the council will, doubtless, give it a fair consideration.

BRIDGES

The subject of Bridges is one that has been so much before the people of this county and town that to propose one is not likely to meet with favor. The Otonabee and the lakes so cut the county up, that a greater number of bridges is required in this county than in many others.

The mistake in the material and construction of the last iron bridge and the consequent cost of constructing a new one, makes the County Council wary in undertaking other structures much needed. The Locks Bridge is a useful one for those entering the south end of the town. One at Judge Dennistoun's has numerous advocates. And a proposed bridge across Dixon's Dam has also its friends. A bridge at this latter place would be almost the continuation of the Norwood road into town, and would also be in a right line to the Warsaw road. It would afford approach to some of the finest building sites in Ashburnham, and but a very short distance from the centre of the town, and as parties interested propose to raise one third of the cost by subscription the town and county might reasonably add the other two thirds, or one third each.

It is talked of giving the old iron of the old bridge towards erecting a bridge at Judge Dennistoun's. If the parties interested in securing a bridge there will supplement it in the same way that is proposed and indeed offered in the case of a bridge at Dixon's Dam, both bridges may be secured for a trifle over the cost of one bridge.

The project is one that ought to be encouraged by both town and county councils, but especially those who help themselves ought to be encouraged, if the bridge will serve a useful purpose and be of public interest as this one would be.

RAILWAYS AGAIN.

Mr. John Fowler was in town this week, and held a railway meeting on Tuesday evening.

He explained the different railway projects and movements now agitated, and gave a great deal of information on railway matters, especially as to Huron and Ottawa railway, through Peterboro,' &c. He gave the following figures as to what bonuses would be expected to secure the early construction of it,

From Ottawa City	$250,000
" Lanark County	200,000
" Kingston City	50,000
" Hastings County	100,000
" Frontenac and Addington	50,000
" The Town and County of Peterborough	250,000
" Durham in part	150,000
" Ontario County	150,000
" Toronto	300,000
Total	$1,500,000

And as the total distance is 230 miles this would be $6,500 per mile exclusive of government aid:

He also read letters from Mr. Howland President of the Board of Trade, and from W. McDougall, offering their hearty co-operation to secure the construction of the road at as early a date as possible, and in promoting its interests.

The object of the meeting was to lay before the Peterborough ratepayers the advisibility of sending a delegation to Toronto on the 1st June, to an adjourned convention called by Mr. Laidlaw, President of the Victoria Railway Co'y,

At the close of the meeting the following resolution was passed :

Moved by Mr. W. H. Scott, seconded by Mr. Wm. Hamilton.—That the Town and County Councils be requested to unite in sending a delegation to the railway convention, to be held in Toronto on the first day of June next.

The greatest unanimity prevails in reference to the road from Ottawa to Toronto via Peterborough, and if certain of its being constructed in a short or reasonable period, the people would liberally aid it by bonus and otherwise. In the meantime, the town must watch our interest in all railway projects. The Cobourg railway and extension northward the Midland Railway and the Huron and Ottawa projected Railway are all of importance to Peterborough, and what can be reasonably done for one or all of those projects should be done. Everything calculated to affect them injuriously should be guarded against, and anything that might even remotely benefit one or all of them should be encouraged. Our interests are theirs to some extent, and vice versa, their interest are ours to a large extent. At any rate, we have been torn by dissensions in the past, until we have cut ourselves off and permitted our roads to remain undrained and neglected. The time for discussion should be considered past, union should be promoted, and then we may expect better things in the future.

THE LATE PETER PEARCE ESQ

Last week, just at going to press, we received the sad intelligence that Mr. Pearce had received injuries that day, which resulted in his death. We sincerely regret the occurrence, and tender our warmest sympathies to the family in their sad bereavement. The accident occurred while assisting in raising the end of a stable from which the posts had fallen, when the frost left the ground. He, his son, and several other men were raising the frame and had got it to the usual place: and secured. During the operation a portion of the roof appeared to be ready to fall, and the men had supported it with posts or scantling. Just, however, as they had got the frame to its place, a sudden gust of wind caught the portion of the roof referred to, and carried it away. Mr. Pearce and another young man were in the direction the wind was blowing, and seeing the roof falling, endeavoured to get out of the way. Mr. Pearce in running had to climb a little ascent which somewhat retarded him, and when almost safely away was struck by the extreme corner of the falling roof, and killed. The young man kept close to the building and escaped uninjured.

Medical aid was at once summoned, but was found of little avail, He had received injuries near the shoulder and towards the spine; some of his ribs were broken, and it was believed one of them had penetrated the lung, and caused internal bleeding that caused death in about two hours after the sad accident. Truly may it be said that in the midst of life we are in death.

Mr. Pearce was one of the oldest settlers of the Township of Asphodel, and among the first who made the thriving village of Norwood his home. He had resided in the village or its vicinity, as Belmont is only a short distance from it, for about forty years. During that time he had taken a very active part in all public and municipal matters, was a member of the County Council, with the exception of two or three years, from its first organization, representing Asphodel first, and then Belmont, whither he had removed. He was a very active Magistrate, cases being taken to him from all portions of the eastern section of the county, and he was largely employed in arbitrations and in settling other local disputes.

He was an advocate of every thing that he believed tended to the progress of Norwood, his own village, and indeed of the County, favored gravel roads, railroads, and building school houses, and was one of the warmest advocates of the interests of the Norwood High School, of which he was trustee from its commencement till his decease.

In his early political life he had taken the side of Reform, but ever since the writer made his acquaintance he was on the Conservative side. In 1867, at the introduction of Confederation, he was spoken of as a Candidate for the Local House, but through a little arrangement in favor of Mr, George Read, he was appointed Returning officer. Again in 1872 he was a candidate, but through other arrangements and promises, Mr. Read was allowed to contest the Riding. In 1874 and 75 Mr. Pearce received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, but was again used as previously by more designing and selfish men to make way for Dr. O'Sullivan. He was a man well versed in all the municipal and political questions of the County, Province, and of the Dominion. He was largely in advance of those who worked with him, being the head and shoulders above every Conservative in the Riding, although forced to give way to some of them who could be better used for party purposes.

As a citizen he was hospitable to a fault, ready to entertain all who might pass by, and as an opponent was blunt but forgiving and generous, and so far as the writer is concerned, although always on opposite sides in politics. Mr. Pearce was honorable and true to his promises. He was free from the bitterness and spite that too evidently manifest themselves in too many of those disappointed office seekers who take an active part in political contests. He has left no equal in the East Riding, no man to take his place in Local matters, or of public interest, or as an advocate of the rights of the village that has the honor of affording a resting place to his ashes.

His remains were interred on Friday last, the Rev. Mr. Clark, W.M., improved the occasion from the words, "There is but a step between me and death." There was a very large cortege of relations, friends and neighbors, who met to do him honor even in his death. The orangemen of the district also joined in the funeral ceremony, performing their last and duty to a brother of their order. It was said to be the largest funeral ever hitherto seen in Norwood.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The County Council met in special session on Tuesday, to receive, and open and award tenders for a bridge across the Otonabee river to Ashburnham. Present, the Warden, R. F. Birdsall, Esq., and Messrs. I Garbutt, Millar Blezard, Chesto Burgess, Colborne, Sanderson, Blezitt, Burnham, Boulton, Costello, Moloney, Wells, Brown and Collins.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The Warden read the following address :—

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

To the Municipal Council of the County of Peterborough,

Gentlemen,—According to your instruction at the last session of the County Council plans and tenders for various descriptions of Iron bridges and also for a wooden bridge have been advertised for and received. The documents are now in the hands of P. Hamilton, Esq., Chairman of the Joint Committee.

There are a great many competitors numbers of plans and descriptions are on hand, which will require careful examination and critical comparison of their different merits and prices.

In view of the difficulty of so large a body as the united Town and County Councils dealing as a whole with such a subject, The Town Council last night authorized their representatives to open the tenders and report upon the same, to a meeting of the united Councils in conjunction with the County contingent of the Committee.

If this course meets with your approval it will be necessary for you to grant authority to the joint Committee to open tenders which you have not yet done, and to report to you upon the same as soon as possible.

Since our last meeting a sad accident has removed from us Peter Pearce, Esq., of Norwood, who has been for many years a prominent and energetic member of this Council and who was several times honored with your confidence as Warden.

It would be but a grateful tribute to his memory were you to direct your clerk to convey to his family assurance of your earnest sympathy with them in affliction.

There are some matters of County business which might be referred to on this occasion, but as you are obliged to meet again in a few weeks it will probably be advisable at this meeting to devote your attention to the main subject under deliberation, and postpone the consideration of affairs to the next session.

Signed, R. E. BIRDSALL,
Warden.

Mr. Golborne moved, seconded by Mr. Blewett,—That Messrs. Garbutt, Blezard, Boulton, Moloney, Costello, and the mover be a committee on the Warden's address.—Carried.

The Council adjourned to allow the special committee on the address time to report.

The Council resumed.

On motion of Mr. Garbutt, seconded by Mr. Golborne, the committee on the Warden's address reported.

The report was adopted on motion of Mr. Moloney, seconded by Mr. Sanderson.

THE REPORT.

The select committee on the Warden's address beg leave to report :

1st. That they would recommend that the tenders for the bridge be opened by the Joint Committee in the County Council Chamber in the presence of the public.

2nd. That the Warden, and Messrs. Boulton, Garbutt and Miller be a Committee to prepare a resolution to be placed on the minutes of the Council and to draft an address of sympathy to the family of the late Peter Pearce, Esq.

3rd. Your Committee would recommend that no business taken up during the session of the Council, save that of the bridge.

Signed, I. GARBUTT,
Chairman.

The Joint Committee then proceeded to open the tenders in presence of both Councils. They were as follows :—

Accounts from D. Heathorn for drawing engine to fires and also for expenses taking a man to Harvey, $57.50 Referred to the Finance Committe.

From the Times office for advertising for Tenders for Bridges. Referred to the Committee on Bridges.

An account of R. White for drawing engine to fires $8. Ordered to be paid on certificate of Chief Engineer.

A report from Mr. Cumming, Inspector of Streets and Bridges, it recommended the building of a side walk on Rubidge street, and also making a drain to the Bay. The length of drain 363 yards, to cost $47,. Received and adopted, the cost to be kept within the amount if possible.

Mr. Hulse's communication was referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr Rutherford said charities were nearly equal now to what it was during the whole of last year, recommended caution and greater discretion.

The Mayor reported that he had attended a Railway meeting at Toronto. The delegates did not appear to know the object of the convention, and that the convention was adjourned until the 2nd of June.

Mr. Beal read a report of the Committee on watering streets, stating that the award had been given to Adam Dobin at $400, the contract to extend to this date 1876.

Mr. Helm placed a telegram before the Council from Mr. Ferres of Campbelford enquiring if the Town has a second-hand fire engine for sale.

Mr. Cahill suggested that it be not sold as it might be utilized for protection to the suburbs. Mr Rutherford supported Mr. Cahill's suggestion.

Mr. Benson recommended the sale of the engine at a reasonable price.

The matter was referred to Mr. Edwards to answer.

Mr. Benson referred to the fact that the engineer had neglected to fix places for the engine to approach the river, in cases of fire.

The Mayor stated that the Engineer had been absent from town.

Mr. Cahill said that Mr. Benson had at last meeting voted down what he now wanted. He was opinion that the best plan was to make tanks on the side of the hill which could be used on the side of Smith Town Hill, or eastward.

Mr. Cook asked what Mr. Benson would do to take the water from the River to Smith Town Council.

Mr. Cahill was pleased to find that the Council was now satisfied that the Fire Committee was right in recommending tanks.

Mr. Rutherford defended the action of the Council in ordering the making of approaches to the River.

On motion of Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr. Helm the Street Inspector assisted by the Committee on sidewalks was instructed to get the survey of opening George and Aylmer streets to Water street and report to the Council as to cost o same.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr. Cahill, that whereas the County Council passed a resolution, deciding that the contract for erecting the superstructure of a new bridge across the Otonabee river should be decided in open Council, be it resolved that this Council meet the County Council in equal members or in any way that may seem best and that the Mayor be instructed to call the Council at such time as they may require to meet with the County Council Carried,

Moved by Mr. Dixon seconded by Mr. Benson that Mr. Thompson be permitted to place the gravel out of his cellar on George street, north of London street, it to cost nothing.

The Inspector of Streets and Bridges asked what he should do in reference to certain streets, as Mr. Dumble refuses to take down the fences.

Mr. Helm wished to know the wisdom of opening these particular streets while other gentlemen are permitted to fence other streets

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

The seventh annual meeting of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute was held in the Rooms of the Institute on Monday evening, May 17, 1875.

Mr. Robt. Robertson, President in the chair.

The Secretary read the following report of the Directors for the past year.

DIRECTORS REPORT.

At the close of another year, your Directors have great pleasure in reporting continued prosperity and increasing interest taken in the affairs of the Institute by the members as well as the general public. There has been an increase of membership over last year of upwards of thirty, the total members, subscribers, etc., in 1874 being 238, and in the year now closed 270—the great majority of whom were obtained by the exertions of our librarian. A little extra exertion on the part of the Directors for the coming year with the aid of some of our active members, might nearly double the membership for the present year.

The circulation of the books of our library has exceeded anything heretofore experienced during our career, the librarian's book shows a total of 4323 volumes lent out during the year, making an average of 16 volumes for each contributer to our funds. The books added to the library during the past year have been selected with particular attention to the requirements of the reading public, and it must be very gratifying to the library committee to know that their services have been appreciated not only by the directors but by the members at large, the number of volumes purchased being 240 at a cost of $380.63. The total number of volumes in the library being now 1619 amounting to $2007 cost. Over 130 vols. have been rebound during the year.

The Reading Room has been well and regularly supplied with the most popular papers, magazines and periodicals of the day. The attendance both during the day and night has been on the increase, and great interest taken in the affairs connected with the Institute by a much larger number of the members than usual, which gives your directors great pleasure to know that their services are bearing the fruits desired at least in part.

Evening Classes were organised and carried on during the winter, in the following branches, viz., short hand, arithmetic, etc., mechanical drawing, and the principles of and practical mechanics. A large number of young men entered their names for the different classes; but only 46 of them attended, 671 were paid in as fees by the pupils, the teachers salaries amounted to $220 and the total expenditure to about $230, leaving $160 to be paid from the funds of the Institute The pupils who attended regularly and paid any attention to the instructions imparted, gained a large amount of information which will become very useful to them in after life, and the class committee are very thankful in having obtained the services of such excellent teachers as Messrs. Percival, Earle and Trouts.

The Lectures this year have not been successful; only one attempt having been made, in the form of readings by Mr. Bell, and on that occasion the weather was so very severe and stormy that very few could attend, leaving the expenses of hall and advertising to be paid from the funds of the Institute, the proceeds being barely sufficient to pay Mr. Bell.

The Treasurer's statement will show the present financial position of the Institute much better than anything we can tell you.

And now on looking over the work of another year of our existence as a Mechanics Institute, your directors feel that we have but been standing still, nor retrograding, but on the contrary have been advancing in usefulness and have every reason to look forward with encouragement to years of more general prosperity, and greater benefits to be gained by all who are associated in such a work of improvement.

In resigning their trust into your hands your directors hope that whoever may be chosen to act for the coming year, may be men who will faithfully work for the well being of the Institute in all of its aims and objects, and in order to have their hands sustained in their work, we ask every member to aid in getting in new members, there should not be a single mechanic in our town or neighborhood but should be a working member of our Institute. When this is attained, and we do not think it an impossibility; we will be to all intents, a live working Mechanics Institute.

WM. JOHNSTON, Secretary. R ROBERTSON, President.

THE GIRL, MINNIE LAIDLAW

We have received the following letter, which we gladly publish:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There is no truth in the report about a girl running away from the Convent in Lindsay. Will you be kind enough to contradict it in your next issue of the Examiner, and oblige,

Yours obd't.,
M. STAFFORD,
Priest.

Chief Constable Johnston has kindly given us this note which we also publish, as some are ready to turn anything, even religion, to politics.

Peterborough, May 19th, 1875.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

SIR,—I read the report in the Examiner last week relative to the girl, Minnie Laidlaw, and certify to its correctness as related by herself.

Yours, &c.,
GEORGE JOHNSTON,
Chief Constable,
Town of Peterboro.

SPELLING MATCH

IN THE MUSIC HALL,

ON TUESDAY, MAY, 25th, 1875.

CHALLENGE.

To the members of the Press and to the Printers :

Gentlemen,—We challenge you to a friendly match at spelling. Further arrangements will be made by Mr. Earl, our referee, and the referee appointed by you.

Yours truly,
[Signed.) The pupils of the Collegiate Institute.

Peterborough, May 14th, 1875.

REPLY.

To B. Earl, Esq., Peterborough Ont.

Dear Sir,—We beg to acknowledge the receipt of a challenge from the pupils of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute to meet a selected number of them at a friendly spelling match and to advise you of our acceptance of the same upon such terms and conditions as will be made known to you by our referee, the Rev. K. Maclennan, who will also make all needful arrangements.

Yours very truly,
(Signed.) G. M. ELLIOTT,
for the members of the press and the printers,

For Pleasure and Show.

Mr. Fitzgerald has now ready for sale and keeps on hand a very nice lot of the most stylish carriages, buggies, phaetons, and waggonets for pleasure and comfort, and waggons for general use. A visit to his show rooms will repay those who are about to purchase anything in the carriage line. His phaetons are very handsome, and are much sought for, and the waggonets are also being introduced on account of their neatness. The material used, he assures us is best blue oak and American hickory. The finish is good and the whole appearance of his carriages, &c., will be found to please those desiring a handsome carriage or buggy. Call and see them. 19-4m.

Coal Tar as Paint.

Coal Tar is coming into very general use as a paint, two coats applied to shingles or out building effectually prevent the wood from decay. The tar makes a gum on the surface which excludes air and water. It is capital for the bottoms of posts; and coats but a fraction of the price of other paint, and may be had at Gas Works.

Supher-Phosphate of Lime.

"Apatite (or Phosphate of Lime) derives its chief interest from its power, when used in conjunction with nitrogenous substances, of restoring exhausted fields to their original fertility, and of increasing the value for agricultural purposes of such as have never been manured or been unable and unproductive."—Sir John Bennet, F. R. S.

"Phosphoric Acid, in some form or other, has to be abundantly supplied to crops; and experiments have proved that no description of fertilizing material results so much as Super-Phosphate and other preparations compose Phosphoric of Lime in a state in which it is readily assimilated by plants."—Ure.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 20, 1875.

Mr. McDonald

For centre Toronto is not to be opposed.

Sheriff Thomas

Of Hamilton is dead. He was 69 years of age.

James O'Brien

of Kingston is dead. His friends purpose erecting a monument to his memory.

Lieutenant-Governor Crawford.

Died on Thursday last. His funeral was made a public one and took place on Tuesday at two o'clock.

New Lieut.-Governor of Ontario!

Hon. D. A. McDonald is appointed Lieutenant-Governor in the place of Mr. Crawford, deceased.

A Happy Release

Mother Mabsbury, her well known to the citizens of this Town and County, died under the treatment of the County officials on Sunday last.

Lands by Auction.

Haggart Bros., Auctioneers, advertise this week, a very extensive sale of farm lands and park lots, to take place at the Colonc Hotel, on Saturday, 29th June. Read the advertisement.

The Spelling Match.

On Tuesday Evening in the basement of the Presbyterian Church was a pleasant affair. Mr. Ming of the Institute carried of the prize, failing in only one word; gossiping taking him out of line.

A Fair Price

Last week Mr. James McWilliams, Jailor, sold a grade calf, two days old to Mr. Thomas Stoddart of Smith for $20. It was from the stock of Mr. H. Collins of North Monaghan. Good stock must pay at that rate.

The Hon George Brown

Was offered the Lieutenant-Governorship of Ontario, but declined acceptance. He would have been an acceptable Govern or to all classes of politicians, and any honor that the Reform party could bestow on him is well merited.

Personal.

Mr. Henry Collins, Reeve of North Monaghan, we are glad to see is so far recovered as to attend the meeting of County Council this week. He is very much shaken, but looks better than many anticipated after so long and serious an illness.

Auction Sale of Furniture.

Remember the Auction Sale of household furniture on Thursday next, May 27th, in the cottage next Mr. H. Hartly's Aylmer street, including Drawing room, Dining room, Bed rooms and Kitchen Furniture, &c. D. & J. Haggart, Auctioneers.

Philharmonic Society.

A Philharmonic Society was organized on Monday evening, with Mr. Clauston President; Mr. T. Brown, vice-President; Mr. F. Hamlenschmit, Musical Director; and W. H. Robertson, Sec.-Treas. There is musical talent enough in Peterborough to make this Society a success.

The Independent Man

Is a rare bird. He can speak of things occuring in Peterborough with as much assurance as if he were Hill's bill-sticker True or false, no matter, it's all alike to him. He can measure his praise by the length of an advertisement, or his slander by the depth of his own baseness.

A Mistake.

The Lindsay Post of last week copies Town Statistics from our confrere, and makes the trifling error of including the Village of Ashburnham in the census he gives. This is not correct. The population of both places is about 8,350, and the assessed value of both places would be $2,983,633.

South Simcoe.

Wm. McDougall and Geo. Dunwodie, are the candidates in the contest in this Riding. It is strongly Conservative, and hence the chances are that "Wandering Willie" will get a resting place. He will not be of half as much consequence in the House as elected as is hoped for by his friends. None of the parties have confidence in him.

Is He Afraid to tell the Truth?

Last week we gave a girl's own story of herself. The Review copied it, and although he was fully cognizant of the whole matter, and its truthfulness he feared to say so. He who fears to give an item of truthful information for political ends, and at another time will unsparingly abuse those of whom he is afraid, can hardly deserve their confidence or that of the public.

Mr Blake

It is asserted, has not accepted the Chief-Justiceship of the Supreme Court, which was lately tendered to him. He has thus signified his intention to remain in public life, and do his part in assisting to sustain the fame and good name of the Dominion under Reform rule. All political parties acknowledge his fitness for the high and responsible position, but they also agree in this that his services are still needed in Parliament, and that neither the Government nor the Opposition could well spare him yet. Very rightly, indeed, has any public man been found to sacrifice his ambition for the sake of his party and the honor of his country. This Mr. Blake has done, and in doing so, has merited the praise of his friends as well as of his opponents, if opponents he has.

Fishers, Beware

Inspector C. Gilchrist, of Rice Lake, has already prosecuted Joseph Robbins, on May 12th. The fine was $20 and costs, the spear, jack, and fish were also taken. Joseph Dickson, or the north shore, had to pay $10 and costs, for using a spear in a canoe. Several sets of apparatus have been taken, and boats from those engaged illegally in fishing. Parties fishing without permits in Rice Lake or any of its tributary rivers would do well to keep clear of Mr. Gilchrist, or they may have to pay for their fish, pretty dearly.

Orthographomania.

The symptoms of this dangerous malady have manifested themselves in Peterborough. We believe it is very contagious, as not less than 25 to 30 cases have been discovered in the Institute and among types and other. The cases are not critical, a little fresh air, proper dietary treatment and a homœopathic sedative of one hour's repetition of the letters of the alphabet in small doses according to Dr. Walker, or Dr. Worcester followed by an application of cold water to the temples, in the worst cases of approbativeness will prove of special benefit to sufferers.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We wish it expressly understood that we are not responsible for opinions of correspondents.

DUMMER.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—The last communication from the pen of Mr. Watt's is really a rare production, coming as it does, from such an infallible source. It is principally taken up in an apology for Doctor Bingham: I suppose on the principle that the Doctor prefers not to do so himself, having once before smelt gunpowder. I am pleased, however to find the Doctor has kept out of this controversy, and when such assertion is vouched for by so truthful an ambassador, as Mr. Watts, must I not believe him? I have, however a few stray doubts on this point, one thing is well-known here, when Mr. Watt's resolves on a communication it is invariably understood that the ink draw stove wood much better than the Doctor. and I am sure all will concede the Doctor is more at home in writing a communication. It appears the communications have been written in pursuance of a contract by which a silent partner in the firm was bound to furnish the ideas, and the other to bear the brunt. It is but just to say that the covenants on both sides thus far, have been most faithfully kept. Then to remove all doubts will Mr. Watt's please produce his proof. I would not have used the Doctor's name in this controversy, but for the fact that Mr. Watt's has so prominently introduced it, I swept my premises—dates being called for—on the sixth day of June, 1872.

Mr. Watt's gentleman in his last two communications over the discussion of personal matters, yet he it was who commenced such discussion. In every instance he has been the aggressor. I think, however, the lesson has been salutary, as I notice a marked improvement in his style. He is now in the chrysalis state putting off the worm and putting on the dragon fly, a kind of intermediate between Ananias and Titus Oates, and yet there is room for further improvement, which will no doubt be made, for his last communication contains not one word in reference to the public questions in discussion. No living mortal can fish out one word in reference to the roads under discussion, and yet he complains against and condemns and originates such discussion. If I had liberty to speak to him direct, I would say, "Thou hypocrite, first, cast the beam out of thine eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's.

There is Mr. Editor, nothing to discuss. I proved in my last communication that the White Lake road would be a shorter road when opened than any of those now travelled. I showed that it could be opened for a reasonable amount, which had been denied. I informed him that the Council had done a simple act of justice to parties in the rear, and to those who held lands in the rear, to open these roads. I gave the reason for not acceding to the petition of a number of petitioners. Now, what does Mr. Watt's say to all this? Just this: But I will not follow suit, as what I have written is a "rigmarole of nonsense. Splendid example of the manner in which he is pleased to discuss the merits of a by law, or the opening of a road. The reply is equal to that of the old scotch minister, not remarkably gifted in hermeneutics, who when he came to a hard place in his exposition would say, "my friends here is a difficulty—a very great difficulty—let us look it boldly in the face and pass on," and Mr. Watt's did pass on, for the astringents were so strong they closed the mouth of his ink bottle.

What does Mr. Watt's mean by his allusion to the Collector's roll? I really don't know, and I think no one else here does. If he will just say plainly what he means I will answer him.

Yours, &c.

THOS. GEO. CHOATE.

Warsaw, 17th 1875.

The Victoria Railway.

The energy and perseverance of Mr. Laidlaw and Mr. Ross, and their assistants, in pushing on this road, are producing marked and satisfactory results. From the outskirts of the town to Fenelon Falls the road is graded and ready for iron, with the exception of the bridges at Hopkin's creek and McLaren's creeks. The latter bridge was almost finished last fall and winter and all that remains is the stringers, which are coming down Gull River, there being no timber of sufficient dimensions in the neighborhood. The Hopkins creek bridge can be quickly built as all the timber is ready. The ties for the section are all distributed along the road ready for the iron which may be expected in a month or two. By Dominion Day the "iron horse" will, in all probability, be making his way through Fenelon to the Falls and we have no doubt he will be heartily welcomed by the non-bonusing people of that township. As everything is ready—or will be, ready—for hauling, the large gangs of men the company will put on at the proper time, will make quick work of the section to the Falls. As soon as that is done, or while it is being done, and say three weeks before the opening of the road for traffic, the section within the limits of Lindsay will be constructed. It will not take long for a heavy force of men to grade and track-lay from the outskirts to the station house, and it is wise for the company to postpone till the last moment cutting up Victoria avenue and other streets. If both wanted for Railway purposes that work can easily be pushed through. And so with the other work in town. The company are proceeding very energetically but prudently, and where it is most wanted, and where it will bring results most speedily.

North of the Falls the road is graded to Kinmount, and ready for iron, with the exception of a swampy section of seven or eight miles in Somerville, which could not be touched last fall or winter, but which will be finished very shortly as soon as dry weather has had the desired effect on it. The abutments and piers of the Fenelon river bridge are finished and await timber now floating Gull River for them. For this section also ties are ready and distributed. The culverts are all built; and timber for cattle guards is ready.

Though the grading was finished some six weeks ago a great deal has been done since, and a large number of men employed in different ways, especially in getting out ties and fencing. The expenditure in these two articles alone has been about $35,000, and the distribution of that amount among the farmers of Fenelon along the road must have had no little effect during the recent financial stringency. While considering this matter of expenditure it may be well to state that, since commencing operations in August and September last, the company have put into circulation over $300,000, or including the items for ties and fencing, something in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars. —"Lindsay Post."

A colored congregation in Dayton, Ohio, have decided to forgive their clergyman for betting on three-card monte and losing $90 of festival money. One of the deacons remarked: "We is all human, and the game is werry exciting."

Fatal Case of Poisoning.

On Tuesday last Mr. John E. Secord, of West Carrafraxa, was in Fergus, and being subscribing of a farrier he bought four bottles of horse medicines and took them home with him. On the way he stopped to use a sick horse at Mr. Wm. Alexander's, and obtaining some water in a cup he poured some of the horse medicine out of two of his bottles and drank the mixture himself. The draught did not take any immediate effect upon him, as after swallowing it he sat down at the table and had his tea, and then proceeded on home. Soon after arriving at his own house, however, he was taken suddenly ill, and then discovered that he had made a mistake in one of the bottles from which he took the medicine. The unfortunate man died some after, before even the nearest neighbor arrived. It is impossible to tell what his object was in taking the medicine, as he appeared quite well when he took it, and each of the four bottles were labelled "Poison" by Mr. Munroe, the druggist from whom he obtained them in Fergus. While in town Mr. Secord had a glass or two of liquor, but at the time he took the fatal mixture at Mr. Alexander's we are informed that he appeared to be sober enough to attend to his business. He was a few months over 61 years of age, and left a family of sons and 6 daughters, most of them are pretty well grown up.—Fergus News Record.

Lepine Prefers Imprisonment to Exile.

The Montreal Witness of Friday contains the following:—

"The Hon. Mr. Chapleau has obligingly communicated to us the following telegraphic despatch;—

"'To M. Chapleau, Montreal—

"'Lepine refuses the conditional pardon which has been offered to him. He will remain in prision till the close of the two years.

"'Fort Garry, 5th May.

"'Elie Taché,'

"So M Lepine prefers two years' imprisonment to five years' exile, The decision which he has just made is an energetic answer to those who maintain that the punishment inflicted on him as condition of amnesty was the smallest possible. It is an energetic protest against those who maintain the partial amnesty satisfied everybody, even Mr. Lepine himself. We must conclude that an exile of five years inspires him with great honor and constitutes in his estimation a very severe punishment, for he prefers such exile a prolonged imprisonment of two years."

So, perhaps, La Minerve thinks. But it is quite possible that the general feeling in reference to the matter, and one shared in by Lepine himself, may be that that mild punishment is no light for the crime committed that there would be some difficulty in deciding which was preferable. The imprisonment to which Lepine is subjected is not very formidable. A goodly portion of the time is already past; he is well fed, well cared for, with nothing to do; and not returned from intercourse with his friends. We dont wonder, then, at his choice, which has doubtless been made not because he thinks exile terrible but because he finds his imprisonment rather pleasant. La Minerve can hardly make a grievance out of this, and we recommend our contemporary not to try it.

Revivals in San Francisco.

Mr. Hammond the Revivalist is holding meetings in the great City of the West, with marked results. One of their Acts as reported in the press of Oakland deserves circulation, It's as follows;—

GOOD SAMARITANS;—THESE CHRISTIANS PAYING FINES AND RELEASING PRISONERS.

The prisoners in the city jail were yesterday visited by Rev. Mr. Hammond and a large number of Ladies and gentleman, who inquired into their spiritual and temporal welfare and earnestly endeavoured for upwards of an hour to impress them with a sense of their condition. Prayers were offered up on the asphalton floor of the gloomy place, and the halls and corridors and even the Police Court room and the offices above strangely but pleasingly echoed and echoed again with melody of sacred songs sung in cheerful measure by soft and tuneful voices. These visits are always welcomed by the prisoners and the services are listened to with apparent deep interest. Impressions are left upon the minds of the unfortunate men that may sooner or later result beneficially to them. They are pleasantly familiarized with the subject of religion, and while no sudden revolution of condition may be produced, these impressions will undoubtedly be at lasting as life with them, and may be revived some time at moments of sickness or other misfortune, and be the means of a change for the better in their moral condition. The good brethren and sisters do not confine themselves to good words in their efforts to uplift the prisoners, but when they see occasion for rendering timely temporal aid do not hesitate to do so, even to the loosing of their purse-strings in behalf of the deserving. The case of the young man who was arrested at the Tabernacle meetings was brought up yesterday by Rev Mr. Mcdifferty before the morning meeting, and it was thought to be a proper case for philanthropic intervention. The balance of the fine was sent to the Police Court Clerk, and the young man was released from custody. Another case, that of a young man who had been sentenced for an unprovoked assault from a Chinaman, seemed to appeal the visitors for something more tangible than spiritual exhortation. The surroundings of the young man in the jail, his association with the older offenders, and his youth induced to also pay the fine, and he was set at liberty. We have heard a great many people sneer at these revival meetings and at the persons who participate in them, but we have not heard of a single instance where it has occured to any of the thoughtless, sneering class that there were penniless people in jail who might be made better by a kind word and a helping hand.

SUMMARY.

EDITOR'S CHAIR.—Mr. T. Leavitt, formerly joint editor of the Brockville Recorder with Dr. H. Wylie, now has assumed the sole editorial responsibility since Mr. Wylie's acceptance of the position of Militia Paymaster for the District.

One day last week, a young lady with a child, went to the second flat of Murdoch's store, and while she was making some purchases, the child strayed from her side, and fell through the lift hole to the first flat, a distance of fifteen feet. The lady, seeing the child disappear, ran, and jumped after her, fortunately not on the child, as she might have done. No injuries were sustained.—Merchant.

A MARITOMAN OF MY FIRST.—The Norwester gives the following incident of parliamentary debate in Greek local lingoe:—An amusing incident took place the other day in the Local House. A member wanted to object to something in a bill which was before the House. He got up to do so, but couldn't remember what it was that he objected to. He hunted through his papers which took him some time, and then scratched his head and searched his brains which only occupied an instant or two, but it was of no use. The Bill was passed before he could find out why he had got on his legs.

THE ATTACKS ON MR. HUNTINGTON.—It is understood that Mr. Huntington will very properly tendered his resignation, which the Prime Minister has, with equal propriety, refused to accept. The offence of which Mr. Huntington is accused is one wholly unconnected with his public function. The charge is about to be brought under the cognizance of justice, and no one has a right to anticipate his guilt or to express any opinion on the matter, until the verdict shall have been pronounced. The indecent eagerness exhibited by the Opposition press to anticipate his condemnation obviously arises from the services rendered by him to the country in the exposure of a great public crime, and ought to be discountenanced by all who have only the interest of the Country at heart. The paying of these blood-hounds on the track of a reputation is not pleasant to the ears of honor.—"Nation."

The New York Herald says: Mr Carruth, the Vineland editor who was shot through the head by Mr. Landis, still lives, and his case is remarkable in the annals of surgery. His Homœopathic doctors who were called in the echo to the excitement of one of the most celebrated surgeons of Philadelphia, have given him but one medicine from the beginning. They have administered arnica internally with the view to preventing inflamation, and have not yet attempted any surgical operation. The orifice of the wound is in fact contracted, and the use of the probe is considered injudicious. The ball is supposed to have lodged near the eye, upon the skull, and should it become encysted, there is hope that the patient may recover. That he still lives and is conscious is either a marvel of medical skill.

A Russian proverb says: before going to war pray once; before going to sea pray twice; before getting married, pray three times.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT! A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few proprietors of medicines which have obtained the impartial judgement of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Head Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with Liver Complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until tried it Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in case of cuts, wounds, &c., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man." A. Hayhoe, Merchant, Wentworth, writes, "I have sold some hundred bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, &c., and is worthy of the greatest confidence." S. Joseph Reese, Township Peel, writes, "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a sore knee, which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which baffled my physician. My daughter of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cts.

NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Sole Agents for the Dominion.

NOTE—Electric—is the head and front of Medicines.

Sold in Peterborough by Dr. Taylor, A. W. Kempt, W. S. Johnston, B. Walton, and Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co. C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

The Great Female Remedy.

Job Moses' Peridocal Pills.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

MARRIED LADIES.

It is peculiarly suited. It will in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affection, Pains in the Back and Limbs, on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics, and Whites, the pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain anything injurious to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

$2.00 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., General agents for the Dominion, will forward a bottle containing over 50 pill, by return mail.

Sold in Peterboro by Dr. Taylor, A. W. Kempt, W. S. Johnston, Dr. McCauley, Ormond & Walsh. In Keene by A. Campbell, Campbell McNeil & Co. C. Britton, Lindsay, and all Medicine Dealers.

IT IS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE that a remedy intended for popular use should be not only thoroughly reliable and scientific, but incapable of producing dangerous results. The treatment of old lingering complaints is necessarily protracted, and if deleterious drugs are taking all the system for a long time, they may accumulate and do more harm than good. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calisaya, containing elements of the tissues, repairs diseased bone, muscle, and nerve, and renews constitutional vigor. It increases the action of our daily food, yields more stability of injury. It is taken in all terms of debility in the young or aged, with positive certainty of permanent benefit. 19-2in.

A FORLORN HOPE.

As straws show the way of the stream, so odd phrases now and then tell a great deal more than a mere literal interpretation involves; for, beyond that, they indicate the underflow of thought on which they float. We are quoting from memory the opening sentence of a discourse we had delivered in 1840 by Cardinal Wiseman and it seems as fair as it must be conceded to be appropriate or orthodox, to apply his aphorism to the successor to big hat, tassels and all they involve. Just before this the Bishop of London had preached a sermon in St. Paul's, on "Romish Aggression," as the entitling Roman Catholic bishops from the English Dioceses over which they presided was called, and had used the phrase, "The English Church is not dead yet." The Cardinal took these words and used them as those spoken by a physician watching a dying patient of whom the best report he could make was "Not dead yet," emphasizing the last word with exulting unction.

From this expression he urged that the Bishop knew the English Church was on its last legs, and unwittingly let fall words revealing his despair of its life. Dr. Wiseman was somewhat astray in this, and his chuckling, looked at across the church revival since 1840, is not a little ludicrous. See, however, how such a form of criticism as his turns the tables on Dr. Manning. The new Cardinal, his mind all aflame, as his garments seem—from the tip of the toe to his head being a mass of scarlet—described himself in his first speech as a "Prince of the Church,"—whatever that is, and as being "set to lead a forlorn hope." A forlorn hope! That is a pretty fair verbal equation of "not dead yet;" and but that spirits are so very stupid, we should like to call up that of Doctor Wiseman and have him discourse awhile in his dulcet tones on a phrase which so plainly discloses that his successor has for his church the same misgivings of vitality as he ascribed to the late bishop of London. "Perhaps, however," to use one of Canan Kingsley's pet phrases, "perhaps they both know better now." But a quiet chuckle over the Cardinal's "forlorn hope," and a prayer that it may prove a hope to cloture his heart, may be allowed to all who don't want the clock of England's greatness in civil and religious liberty and light put back several centuries, as it will be if that hope is not crushed, that "proud Cardinal" not humiliated.

John Bull's old-fashioned dislike of foreigners extend to foreign titles and foreign ways. We have a vivid remembrance of the late Cardinal, how utterly he failed to impress the people with any reverence for his dignity, how mercilessly his theatrical dress was laughed at even by Catholics, how John Bull's back was up at his pretentious "putting on style" by virtue of a foreign title, which never, even in the days of Rome's rule of England, was respected there. Cardinal Manning has made a mistake in taking that wonderful hat. He will look in his scarlet very like a mere Orange Grand Master on the 12th July, and only by it excite in his countrymen a deeper distrust than ever of the Church the pride and wordliness of which this office is a symbol and expression.—From Review of the Times in New Dominion Monthly.

A VAST COUNTRY.

Canada now is becoming a word to command respect wherever it is heard. A vast Dominion extending from ocean to ocean, with undreamed of possibilities of expansion and enlargement before it, is something worth legislating about; and it is striking to notice how thoroughly alive to this the rising young men of our country are. They who have been born and educated here, who have felt the full force of our free institutions, and our rapid expansion, while no less loyal to the mother land have yet a most peculiar love for their native Canada, and vast confidence in her future. All that has long characterized the people of the United States in their boundless faith in the possibilities of their land is characterizing the young Canadian statesmen of the present day; and it is a healthy sign that it should be so. There is ample verge and room enough for a large ambition here. We have legislated this session for the government of territories on the North-West almost as large as the whole of Europe. We have concluded a treaty by which quiet possession of lands is secured to the settlers therein, at the same time that justice is done to the Indian tribes that have hitherto been the only lords of the plains. We have taken steps for the prosecution of that vast railway work which is to bind together all the links in our great chain of Provinces and open up the way for millions of free people to spread themselves over the centre of the continent; and, although the Senate in the exercise of its wisdom, rejected a measure binding Canada to a specific yearly expenditure on the most distant link in this chain, yet the main work and the main object cannot and will not be lost sight of. We have, too, amended our Militia and Defence Acts—taking another step in the path of self-reliance and self-government. The mother country cannot now complain of Canada being a charge on her resources.—From Review of the Times in New Dominion Monthly.

Cabinet Changes.

It is well understood at the present time, that important Cabinet changes are about to take place in the Dominion Cabinet. Coupled with the report are the names of Messrs Holton and Blake. Mr. Blake's accession would be very popular in Ontario, and indeed would be a most significent and crushing answer to many of the articles which have recently appeared in the Mail, in which the Reform party is depicted as rapidly falling to pieces through the wedge entered by Messrs. Blake Mowat and Mills. It is for the best interests of the country that our ablest men should stand at the helm. We are upon the eve of important changes. We wish to add Newfoundland to the Dominion on the East. We are building up a great Province in the West which is destined to become one of the proudest gems in our national diadem. We are organising a magnificent territory in the North West. We are endeavoring to bind British Columbia to us by a trans-continental Railway. We have diversity of race, diversity of religon, sectional prejudices of many ingredients to national growth to contend with. Upon our southern border are a people who are ready to advantage of our slightest mistaken in commercial transactions, for their own profit and advantage. Should Mr. Blake accept a place in the Cabinet his statesmanship and grasp of intellect will be of great assistance to his colleguen. —Brockville Recorder.

It is proposed to supply Guelph with water from the River speed by a system of works, to cost about $35,000.

MRS. PRIM ON SCANDAL.

No, my dear—goodness be thanked!—no one can say I ever scandalised any one, not even my worst enemy no matter what he or she may do! I've had chance enough to talk if I'd had a mind to, as every one knows full well. Of course living right here on the High street of the town, I can't help seeing a great many queer things; and when our windows are open and the blinds shut, in the summer time, I can hear them too. But I never repeat them—I scorn to make mischief, I never lisp a word, except when I get hold of one like you, my dear, that I know I can trust. And if a body is never to open her lips among her own friends, why the world isn't worth living for—is it? But it isn't scandal, you know. I hate and abhor that as much as you do, and I don't think any one can say I was ever guilty of it in all my life.

But then, as I said before, it isn't want of the chance. Why, only last evening as ever was, who do you think I saw walking by here in the bright moonlight, as brazen as you please, but Miss Lonnox and Colonel Parker? Fact, as sure as you sit in that chair; and they were walking close together, and talking so confidential?

I suppose you know all about that disgraceful affair with the school-girls? No! My dear you must really live in the ark? Why, they have been writing a lot of anonymous letters to people here in town, and the post-master what was at last, and he just kept a quiet lookout, and caught none of them putting the letters in. I don't know what Miss Clackett will do. Expel them I hope; great girls like those have no business to act so?

There's Mrs. Price going by, I suppose she has been down to cheapen a fowl, or to get a half penny or so taken off a joint of meat. She's the stingiest thing, my dear. it would really make heart ache to hear of the way she manages and contrives. And there is her husband, one of the richest men in the town, and folks do say that he can't get a decent meal of victuals in his own house. Wouldn't you—

What? Going? Cant you stay any longer? Well, do come again very soon, won't you? Good-bye!

Thank goodness, she has gone! I really thought she was going to stay all night! I heard a nice story about her, by the way, last week—how shamefully she treats all her servants! Suppose she thinks I don't know it. I might make mischief enough in her family if I choose, but I abhor scandal

SOME OF LINCOLN'S STORIES.

Mr. Lincoln usually accompanied his gay little wife to parties, but seldom remained where the largest portion of the company were, but slipped off to some side room, or perhaps sit upon the stairs, where friends would soon gather about him, begging him for a storey. They often named the tale they wished him to tell: for instance, saying, "Oh, Mr. Lincoln do tell us the 'camp-meeting story,' or the 'Baker story,' etc. etc. I was so much amused by the camp-meeting story that at one time when Mr. L. was stopping at our own home I got him to relate it, and even to tell me how to spell the ridiculous names of "Nesh's sons," so that I think I can repeat it just as he told it; but it needs his peculiar voice to give it effect. Here it is:

"There had been a great camp-meeting going on for nearly a week in the beech woods in Ohio, and on the last day a fine speaker preached the closing sermon. He was a large, powerful man, with a strong voice, and his hearers were deeply affected. He was a very sensible man, and, seeing the clouds gathering in the west, he shortened his sermon, telling the crowd they would not have much time to collect their effects and take up their beds and walk, as a storm was coming on. In less time than it takes to tell it tents were pulled down, beds, tables, chairs, and children were loaded into wagons, and all was noise and confusion on the camp ground. In the midst of all this bustle a little wizened-faced man ascended the log steps of the pulpit, and, clasping his small hands and rolling his weak eyes upward, squealed out, 'Brethern and sistern." He was such a striking contrast to the last speaker that some did pause in their work to look with wonder upon him. Thus encouraged the little man began again: 'Brethern and and sistern' (I wish you could have heard Mr. Lincoln imitate that squeaking voice), 'I rise toe norate on toe you on the subject of the baptismal—yes the baptismal! Abem. There was Noah, he had three sons—ahem—namely, Shadadarack, Meshidick, and Bellteaser! They all went in toe Dannel's den, and likewise with them was a lion! Ahem.' Here the crowd either renewed their work of loading up wagons or laughed and turned away. So, the speaker, after repecting the above, and yet gaining no attention, closed abrupdly in the following manner: 'Dear perishing friends, as you will not hear on toe me on this great subjeo, I will only say this, that Squire Nobbs has recently lost a little bay mare with a flaxy mane and tail amen!"

The last sentence, without a pause, was very ludicrous.

Here is another short story of Mr. Lincoln's:

"After the 'Wednesday night services at a country meeting-house the minister urged the members present to subscribe liberally toward erecting a lightning-rod on their new church building, saying: 'Surely you are willing to lend to the Lord. Is He not the owner of the cattle on a thousand hills? Will He not repay? etc. When a rich old farmer got up, and, speaking slowly through his nose, said: "You say the Lord is owner of the cattle on a thousand hills, do ye? Well, then, why can't He sell His cattle and buy a lightning-rod, eh?" EDITOR'S DRAWER, in Harper's Magazine for June.

SPAIN.—It has already been reported how the newly restored monarch at Madrid had directed its reactionary policy against Universities. In the end of February the new laws in reference to education were promulgated in the shape of a decree signed by the King and a circular based thereon was sent to the Rectors of the universities commanding them to see to it that "nothing is taught in them that may be contrary to the Catholic dogmas or to sound morals," and "not to suffer anything to be taught which may directly or indirectly attack the principle of Constitutional Monarchy or the political rule almost unanimously proclaimed by the nation." The Rectors were also required to keep the professors strictly within the limits of the branches of learning they taught allowing them neither to enlarge nor digress, or pain of their suspension or dismissal.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM WALKER'S CALIFORNIA ALCOHOL

VINEGAR BITTERS

CURATIVE PROPERTIES possessed by VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of its digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Tumors, Indolent Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Medicine.

Perhaps no pill ever came to so universally be adopted by practicians and by the people generally, as an effective cure for every ailment requiring a cathartic, in the mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does for one it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while no other purgative pill so nearly can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood, and restore it to healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, in these essential organs, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the best, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Liver Complaint and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint, Bilious Disorder, Bilious Fevers, Inflammation of the Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they require to be taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dysentery and Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Bilious Colic, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Constipation of the Bowels, Piles, or Blind Piles, Rush and Lethargy, they should be judiciously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Suppressed Secretions, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken to set in motion the deranged system.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous when no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him "feel like a new person" by their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

[illegible] perhaps in the whole history of [illegible], has anything won so widely and so deservedly the confidence of mankind, as this preparation. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in the estimation, as it has become better known. Its unbroken character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, but believe assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical, or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Strychnine, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of the cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe it is without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the relief cures effected in distressing cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Travellers and persons, either residents in, or exposed through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from derangement of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold everywhere around the world.

MY TALENT.

I recollect when quite a child,
One day a stranger came to see me—
His like we mortals seldom see—
"Take this," he said, and smiled.
Then vanished.

In my tiny hand I found
A something yellow, large and round,
And on its surface smooth and fair
I read in golden letters there:
"One talent."

Unconscious of its worth, I turned
The precious treasure to display;
Like other boys in childish play,
I quickly found that I had lost
My talent.

Long years have passed: I chanced to be
Where I had played in childish glee:
The sycamores danced to soothing zephyrs
The tufted sward, and spurned the
That talent.

I quickly asked the glittering prize;
Then somewhat dimmed by long disuse,
And soiled and battered by abuse;
On it I read with rushed eyes,
"One talent."

I then remembered the command
Received when in my childish hand
He placed the prize; in words that burn,
"Improve," said he, "till I return,
This talent."

I straightway to "the exchanger's" went
My new-gained treasure to invest,
And soon obtained what pleased me best,
And brought away, with much content,
A priceless pearl.

Neglectful of My duty grown—
Although 'twas what I think to own—
I feared myself to death involved,
I in the mire deep had disunited
My precious pearl.

That stranger once again appeared
To my great wonder and surprise,
And moved the mists from off my eyes;
I saw what I so long had feared
I'd lost my pearl."

He spoke to me in words of cheer,
Which soon dispelled my anxious fear;
"No more," said he, "in do remain,
My strength shall help you to regain
Your precious pearl."

I dashed the wine cup to the ground,
Then raised my voice in prayer to him
For help; He led me where
In ecstacy I quickly found
My precious pearl.

May I, by his Almighty power,
Improve my pearl once day and hour,
So when upon my Lord shall call,
I then can render him in all,
My talent.

HOW TO DRIVE THEM OFF,
BY MRS. A. E. DUNNING.

It was a charming day in winter, just such a day as sets the blood to dancing in one's veins and tingling in one's cheeks, and makes the step buoyant and the heart light.

Charles May really enjoyed it as he plunged about through the snow, and peompily performed the duties required of him both at the store and the bank. But when the day was over, he hurried home with an eager desire for the shelter and warmth and genial glow only to be found at one's own fireside.

The family were already seated at the tea table, and he was glad of it, for the keen, cold air had just given him an appetite. He hurried to join them, and gave them a cheerful, though rather noisy greeting, as he took the seat which had been reserved for him.

"Do be more quiet, Charles," said his mother, in a peevish, complaining tone. "I never did hear such a voice. It goes right through my head every time you speak. I do believe you will drive me crazy some day."

Charles felt snubbed and somewhat disheartened by this reception; but the room was bright and warm, and he was really in a good humor, so he said,

"I am sorry I annoyed you, mother. I never can seem to remember to speak low. My voice comes right out before I think."

"If your nerves troubled me as mine do me, you would not forget so often," said Mrs. May as she passed him a cup of tea.

Charles bit his lip, and began to feel that his home-coming had not been so pleasant as he had hoped it would be. For a time silence reigned. Then Miss Eva May, attempting to rise from the table, found that her brother's chair had been placed upon her dress, and a deplorable rent was the consequence.

"You careless boy!" cried Eva, angrily. "Just see your work! My beautiful skirt, that I have worked so hard to finish, and I have only worn it twice!" The thought was too much for her. She began to cry.

"Don't dear," said the penitent Charles. "It cannot be helped now. I will get you a new dress with the very first money I get. You see if I don't."

"Oh, do hush," cried Eva. "You do not know what you are talking about. You could not earn enough to buy me a dress like this if you should work a month. You are the most careless, aggravating boy I ever saw. Why can you not look where you place your chair, as other people do?"

"If I am careless, you are as cross as a bear," said Charles, growing angry in his turn. "And as to your dress, if you make it long enough to trail across the room, you must expect people to set their chairs on it, and step on it, too."

"How impertinent boys are." said Eva.

"They are better than girls, any way," retorted Charles. "All that you girls care for is your clothes."

"How you two do quarrel!" said, Matilda, the oldest daughter. "I should think you might at least allow us to take our meals in peace."

"Be quiet," said Mr. May, rousing himself from a fit of abstraction. "Eva do not my another word. Charles drink your tea, and let your sister alone."

Charles hastily seated himself again at the table. Eva ran out of the room. Matilda lingered a moment, then followed her sister. Charles tried to get back his gay, careless mood, and at length partially succeeded.

When he went to the parlor, he found Matilda there reading a new novel. His eye was at once attracted by a pile of music which lay upon the piano and he began to examine it.

"Do let my music alone, Charlie," said Matilda. "You will spoil it if you do not take care. I do help to learn my simple handfuls."

"Well, come and play for me then," said Charles—"for you have that new song which I like so much."

"I cannot play now," said Matilda. "I want to read."

"Oh, but I do love music," said Charles; "and you can read that book at any other time just as well."

"As to that, I can play to you at any other time just as well," replied Matilda.

"No, for I am only at home a few hours in the evening, and callers so often drop in. Come, play just one piece for me, please do."

"How you do tease," said Matilda. "Can you not see that I want to read in peace?"

Charley gave the matter up, sat down by the table, and took up the evening paper. He had just begun to be interested in reading it when his father came in.

"Ah, my son," he said, "I had not quite finished my paper when the tea bell rang. May I trouble you for it now?"

Charles handed the paper to his father, add then, not well knowing what to do, seated himself at the piano and began to play softly, with one finger, a popular air. He was very fond of music and really make out pretty well, considering that his ear was his only guide Put soon his father called out to him in some impatience.

"Charles, do stop that drumming. I cannot understand a word that I read."

"Bother!" muttered Charles. under his breath, as he left the piano and sauntered to the front window, where he stood looking out.

A moment later, and he heard a low, peculiar whistle. At that sound his face brightened, and he went hastily out. As he opened the door a somewhat older youth than himself came up to the steps.

"Why, Ned Willet!" he said; "when did you come to the city?"

"Yesterday," said Ned, "and I am glad to get back. Come around to my room and spend the evening, We are to have a few of the fellows in to have a game of cards, a song or two, and a good time in general."

Charles hesitated. The prospect seemed pleasant; but then he knew that his parents did not quite approve of Ned. As he hesitated, Ned caught him by the arm.

"Come on," he said, "you need not try to back out, for no one else can sing such a good song as you can, and the truth is we cannot get on without you."

Charles yielded, saying. "I did not mean to go out to-night; but no one seems to care for my company at home, and I can neither move nor speak without annoying somebody,"

"Oh, I know," said Ned. "That is the way I am always snubbed at home. I was really glad when I could come to the city, earn my own living, have my own rooms, and do as I liked.

So Charles went out in the night, and soon found warmth, mirth, good humor, and a hearty welcome. If the boy who entertained him was not a good companion for him; if the wine flowed freely; if the talk was not that which he ought to hear, whose was the blame? He had a pleasant home, but he had been driven from it as effectually as if such had been the concerted plan of his united family. Driven out! Driven off! Is it not too true picture?

Father, mother, sisters, have you a careless, noisy, good-tempered, well-meaning boy among you, who loves you dearly, yet sorely tries your patience by his blunders and restless ways? If so, and if you want to drive him off behold the way to do it.—Christian Weekly.

THE LOSS OF THE SCHILLER.

LATEST PARTICULARS OF THE DISASTER.

The steamer schiller which left New York for Hamburg, on the 28th of April, was wrecked off the Scilly Islands, to the South-west of the Cornwall coast, England. The following particulars of the disaster have been received: a heavy fog prevented observation on board the Schillar since Tuesday. In consequence of the fog the engines were put at half speed, and sail was reduced at nine o'clock Friday night. At ten o'clock the same night the ship struck the ledge. Capt. Thomas is highly praised for his conduct during the terrible scenes which followed: two boats were filled with men who refused to come out; the Captain fired his revolver over their heads to drive them out and then fired at them, but without effect. Afterwards the ship was washed with her broadside to the sea, and all on board these boats perished; the tackle at the stern was released too soon, leaving the boats suspended by the bows. Three boats then got away. One of them, a life boat, was so badly injured that she sunk, and eleven of the people aboard her were rescued by other boats. The fog lifted an hour after the steamer struck, and the lights were plainly visible. Two of the boats on the steamer were crushed by the falling of the funnel. Rockets and guns were fired from the steamer until the powder became wet. The deck house, crowded with people, was swept away. At 2 a. m. the captain gathered some of the survivors on the bridge. All were gradually swept away by the flood time, which took the doctor and captain last. The rigging which remained above water, was crowded with the crews and passengers all night.

The main mast fell at 7:30 a. m., and being of iron sank with all who had taken refuge on it. The life boats and wreck saved the lives of some who had drifted miles away. One mast was rescued after five days in the water ten hours. Two boats from the St. Agnes arrived a short time before the masts fell. They were unable to approach the steamer on account of the shoals, but picked up stragglers in the water.

The passengers rose when Captain Thomas left the bridge at 8, a. m., to make chains on deck, and when he reached the deck he was swept away by the heavy sea. All hands in saying that left remained the greatest nerve, and were not dead five minutes previous to the disaster. The sea began to break over the vessel half an hour after

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 27, 1875.

POLITICAL MORALITY.

At the present time there is a great deal said about political morality. Those who for years used all the funds they could raise, and when private liberality failed to supply enough, used the secret service money, are now loud in their cries of purity, because, forsooths Mayor Walker, one of themselves, was unseated for bribery. His own old Conservative friends supplying large sums to defeat John Carling, and to elect Walker. In the Elections following the Pacific Scandal, the Conservatives were everywhere defeated, Scarce a baker's dozen being left. After years of wholesale bribery and corruption they drew their own conclusions, that they would be able to unseat any candidate elected, on the ground that the people had not learned to forget their old ways; and they did succeed in a few cases. But it is really strange that those first suffering from introduction of the law, were those who had left the Conservative ranks and taken a few of their friends with them. In the present election trials, Mr. Barber has been unseated and disqualified, on what may be termed very weak evidence.

Mr. Barber and Mr. McCraney, M. P. P., during the canvass called on an elector and solicited his vote, which was refused. Mr. Barber then said to the wife of the elector that he hoped she would do what she could to induce her husband to vote for him (Barber). She at the trial swears that he said he would do something nice for her, if she should get her husband to vote for him. Mr. Barber swore as positively that he never said such a thing, and Mr. McCraney who was present, swore he did not hear Mr. Barber say so, and that if he did say so, it must have been in a very low voice indeed. Hear then is the oath of the woman and that of the two men who would be as likely to hear anything that passed as she could be, and who believes that Mr. Barber, an old politician would be so unwary as to make any such statement to the wife of an opponent, and a statement that would unseat him if divulged, and who more likely to divulge it than an opponent? Yet on this very slender evidence, denied by two gentlemen of veracity on oath, Mr. Barber is unseated and disqualified.

The North Victoria case is an example of the way those men who cry "purity" manage things.

Peters goes to Mr. Cameron and tells him he is going to give FORTY MEN their dinners. Mr. Cameron says, "I cannot tell you to do so, but I can't hinder you if you wish to do so." The hint serves Peters and he give the dinners to the electors of almost a whole township. Mr. Cameron, shrewd lawyer as he is, avoiding being unseated, because he warned Peters "that he could not tell him to do so, but of course could not hinder him," yet it is all right to bribe a whole township—why not, when done in the interest of the party?

South Ontario is still in the front rank in using the most profligate means of corrupting the electors. The lessons taught the people by the Gibbses are not yet forgotten. The taverns are every where open on the polling day. Mr. Brown and his friends use the the liquor freely to soften the obdurate hearts of the electors; treating is openly and universally practised, where money had no effect the "mountain dew" did its work, Mr. Farewell was a temperance man and Mr. Brown was not. The great lever of Conservative statesmen. for years past, was used freely, and Mr. Brown is successful; not, perhaps, a bad man, but in bad company. Yet all this is nothing. O, dear no. It was for the good of the party, and anything to win.

Mr. Stock, a Conservative, is next tried and found guilty, unseated and disqualified, and the scale is turned a little. It was right and just to unseat Mr. McLennanan, although not a single act or word could be proved against him of an illegal character, but then it was right to unseat him, they say, he is a Grit. It is right to unseat and disqualify Mr. Barber, although he and Mr. McCraney swear he is innocent of the charge laid against him.

But it is wrong, it is uncalled for, it is severe judgement to unseat Mr. Stock, he is a Conservative. Is this not childish nonsense, calculated to blind the reason, and darken the counsel of the people whose party proclivities are already warped to such a degree that they accept black for white, and white for black, in proportion as the colors are those of their party or of their opponents.

It is strange indeed what unhallowed freaks and alliances political partisans will enact or enter into to encompass their ends. In England the Church and Beer united to defeat Gladstone. Can religious men really enter into such unholy alliances for the mere momentary sin or party influences? It is so, and has been so, during the past 20 years in Canada. The strongest allies of the conservative party have been those used by Mr. Brown in South Victoria, and its all right with some temperance men. The end justifies the means: The policy of those whom the same parties have been very loud in decrying.

During a conversation with a very warm conservative of the East Riding last week, he informed us:—"that it could be nobody's business if he spent his own money getting votes if he considered it for the good of the country." In vain did we endeavour to prove to him the nonsensical nature of his arguments, and the consequences of holding or propagating those views, he maintained his position as invulnerable. It is right, therefore, to hire assassins to get rid of one whom any one may consider an enemy to the state. It is right to establish an inquisition to rid the world of men, whom we believe, to hold views opposed to religion, liberty and good government; yet this is where their views would land them. Is it not strange that men are so joined to their idols that they will worship them, even the most hideous monstrosities rather accept the truth!

Another argument used is:—"O, we never claimed to be pure, it is not wrong for us to treat, bribe, influence and use all manner of means to carry our object. It is not wrong therefore to kill, if accustomed to it. It is not wrong to violate the sanctity of the Sabbath, if no affectations of piety have preceded it. It is not wrong to tell lies if nourished in falsehood. Really what nonsense! as if murder is not murder, because committed by a highwayman, or robbery not robbery because perpetrated by a burglar or pickpocket. When will men learn wisdom and cease to utter folly! shall the people are being educated into absurdities! Why not at once cry peccaiv, and turn from the evil ways of the past and do better for the futrue?

PAYMENT BY RESULTS.

The Council of Public Instruction, Toronto, have adopted a scheme of paying High Schools and Collegiate Institutes in future, by what is termed the results of the work done in those schools. Every school will get $400 a year, and $1 per pupil, based on the average attendance. There will also be an additional, distribution of $10,000 a year based on the results, as shown by the EXAMINER'S reports, and the results of a written examination, based on the standard of second-class teacher's examination papers

The standard of the papers is much too high for boys and girls attending school, unless in those schools where nothing is done but prepare teachers for examinations. At present the complaint is that boys are hurried into the High Schools, and when there kept at work not calculated to fit them, in many instances, for the future prospects of those pupils, or not in accordance with the wishes of parents or guardians. Under the new order of things classes will be arranged on the new basis, and our schools will be training schools for teachers, instead of for the counting house, for a profession, or for mechanical pursuits. The only result anticipated is a change of base, so to speak. The true standard of our schools should be determined by the government Inspectors, and all payments should be based on the result of their examinations, which should be arranged according to the requirements of the different pursuits likely to be engaged in. All the professions do not require the standard of the teacher's profession. The time spent in wading through the absurdly devised questions on fractions, would be, in many instances, better spent in classics, natural science, or in acquiring a better knowledge of the English subjects. To keep boys and girls in the primary divisions till they can work all the vagaries of Sangster, or some other whimsical author on vulgar and decimal fractions may suit the whims of old teachers, but does not meet the views of those preparing their sons for law, or medicine, or mining, etc.

If the Council of Public Instruction would set its wits to work to devise some means of preventing a yearly introduction of new books of not even ordinary merit; retain all those which meet the requirement of teachers and pupils, and base their examinations on advancement in English, in classics, in mathematics and the natural sciences, paying by average attendance, and results in the three or more divisions into which they might divide the subjects to be taught, they would deserve the thanks of people by preventing a continually increasing outlay in purchasing new books, and by dividing our high school work to suit the wants of those preparing for differe nt professions, and thus assist the people to afford the best education they can to their children with a view to their future position in the great battle of life. The proposed changes will not produce the desired results, nor will it prevent pupils entering the High schools, or studying subjects not likely to be useful to them hereafter.

Whereas paying by results, in reference to each of the three or more divisions into which they might arrange all the subjects to be taught, would enable teachers to place pupils in divisions, calculated to afford the instruction required by them, without in any way affecting the income of the school.

The trouble has not been with the teachers, but the regulations that were forced upon them. The bane of our schools has been a continued change of text books, against which parents, teachers and trustees should rebell.

THE SPELLING MATCH.

On Tuesday evening in the Wesleyan Methodist school room, a friendly orthographical contest took place between 12 printers of the Town and 12 boys selected from the Collegiate Institute.

The Rev. K. Maclennan pronounced the words] and J. M. Smith, Esq., of the Bank of Toronto, and Mr. Earl, of the Institute, acted as referees.

The words for two matches of "spelling down" were well selected from standard authors in common use, and were calculated to afford a fair test of the competitors' ability to spell Of three matches the boys of the Institute were declared winners of two, and the printers of one. The contest was close, and the friends of each appeared to be as eager for victory as the competitors themselves.

In the first match the words that sent them out of line were: representatives, embezzle, degradation, secession, animadvort, descendants, compotitive, deteriorate, enthusiasm, category, publicists schismatic, reorganiser and millennium, leaving the printers winners.

The words that proved to hard to crack during the second contest were; unassimilated, the second i being the trouble, sensuous, in which an i took the place of u, in transcendent the last vowal put one down, unintelligible removed three, declaimers, one, achievement, one; incredulous, one; peripharstic put down four; holocaust, one; attitudinizing, one; unappreciative, two; scintillate, one; homoeopathic, one, and pennyworth, one; leaving one of the boys of the Collegiate Institute master of the field.

In the third match catalepsy slipped some out, and prestige, senility, harass, parochial, iniquitous, artisans, amenable, olfactory, dysentery, obsequious, commissary, parachute, parasite, deciduous and paraphrase sent all but one aside, leaving the boys of the Institute winners a second time,

It was determined to allow the three who held out longest in the matches, to spell for the final victory and to determine the order of the prizes which it was agreed to give to the three who were considered the best.

The three were Ming, of the Institute, Elliott of the Review, and Marshall of the Institute. In pavilion Mr. Marshall put in an l too many, and in oscillate Mr. Elliott everse d it putting in too few is, leaving Ming first, Elliott second, and Marshall third. Nearly ten dollars are to be divided into three prizes and awarded to the champion.

Mr. Elliott intimated that in all probability a return match would take place The thanks of all were tendered to Mr. Maclennan for his kindness in pronouncing the words, and to the referees for the impartial manner in which they had discharged their duties.

Neither party to the contest had much advantage over the other. The spelling was very good on the whole, but in a match to test their spelling powers, competitors should be required to write the words, in which case the printers would perhaps gain more than a doubtful victory.

"STRANGE IF TRUE."

Lately we have gave a girl's history of herself, and wondered if it could be true. We thought if true it should be known, and if false she should be exposed. On receipt, last week, of a note from Father Stafford, we showed it to Chief Constable Johnston, who kindly furnished her autobiography to us. He next day proceeded to Millbrook whither she had been forwarded to avoid being Kidnapped, as she expressed it. On arriving there he made enquiry and found that she is of doubtful character and truthfulness. Young in years, perhaps, but old in error. She succeeded in deceiving the officers of the Town, and several charitable ladies, who took an interest in her, and clothed her. She told a fair story and explained to them how her father had become unkind to her and her sister, and several times lamented the fate of that dear little sister that was doomed to become a nun against her will. Minnie, by all accounts will not become a nun. It is a great pity that Constable Johnston did not find her and punish her, she would be better in jail than wandering round propagating evil. There is a story now afloat that she was kept in a certain place in town previous to being found as reported. The next time a similar story comes to our ears we will report the over generous creatures who furnish the lodgings and then aid in extending the knowledge of the benevolence of their characters.

It affords us great pleasure to find that after all our confrers the Review generously admits that our report of the circumstance was correct although he in common with ourselves doubted its genuineness.

The publication of her story will have the effect of unravelling her false reports of the Lindsay convent, of which she told some hard ones, and will also put the benevolent on their guard, lest while entertaining strangers they may imagine themselves entertaining angels unawares.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

STEAMER "WHISTLE-WING."

This steamer had a very successful excursion from Keene to Hastings. She left Keene about 9 o'clock with about 200 excursionists on board. The steamer had no sooner left the wharf before the dancing commenced and was kept up very lively till we reached Hastings We called on our way down at Birdsall landing and took on board the Deputy-Reeve of Otonabee, Mr. T. Blizard, with a dozen of his friends. The sail to Hastings is one of the finest trips on our back waters and the addition of the hurricane deck adds greatly to the comfort of the passengers. After picking up several lots of passengers on our road, we arrived at Hastings at 11:30, just in time, to see the boat races. As soon as the steamer was snubbed to the wharf, there was a grand stampede for dinner, which was on hand by our worthy hosts Mr. Green, Mr. Brennan, and Mr. Gibson, all of whom keep houses such as few hardly expect to find in a country village. After replenishing the inner man the sports again began, and were kept up till 5 o'clock.

During this time the steamer took a party from Hastings up to the lake, all of which seemed to enjoy themselves, judging by the way they kept the dancing up. At 5 o'clock we again received all our Keene people on board, and punctually to the moment we shoved off, amid the cheers of the friends who assembled to see them off. After a delightful sail of three hours we arrived at Keene, which is well named if we judge by the keen way the inhabitants stuck to the dancing. On arriving at the wharf they gave three cheers for the Queen and all dispersed being well pleased with the sail and the courteous attention of the Whistle-wing crew, who always seemed as if they could not do enough to make their passengers comfortable and happy.—COM.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

This session of the County Council was very short. Nothing but business connected with the new bridge was entertained.

WEDNESDAY

Was occupied discussing plans and specifications and in passing the following resolution in reference to the late Peter Pearce, Esq.

To the family of the late Peter Pearce, Esquire.

We, the undersigned members of the Council of the County of Peterborough, having heard with sorrow of the sad bereavement you have sustained in the sudden death of your respected father, wish to express our extreme sympathy, with you in your loss.

As a member of the Council the late Peter Pearce sat in our midst for many years, assisting in its deliberations by his many sterling qualities and good sense, and he will live in the recollection of the members of this Council and the people of this county with respect and regard.

And we herewith beg to tender you our heartfelt sympathy,

(Signed by all the members of the Council.)

The Council then adjourned until nine o'clock to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY.

At 3 o'clock p. m. yesterday the County and Town Councils went into Committee of the whole, for the purpose of receiving the following report from the Joint Committee. Mr. Toole, Mayor, in the chair.

Mr. Hamelton presented the following report of the Joint Committee:

To the Municipal Councils of the County and Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—The Joint Committee on the erection of a bridge across the Otonabee River beg leave to report that they have received and opened 39 tenders for the erection of the bridge across the Otonabee from 18 individuals and Companies

After a very thorough and lengthened examination of the various plans and descriptions submitted, the Committee unanimously selected three tenders as the most likely to be adopted and referred them to the town Engineer to report.

Mr. Belcher last evening in company with the Warden. and Messrs, Sanderson and Benson, went into a very minute examination of the three tenders selected, and we subsequently received and adopted Mr. Belcher's report, which accompanies this report.

It will be seen that Mr. Belcher recommends the plan marked D of the Canton Company, of Ohio, as the one most suitable.

Your Committee therefore recommend that the Councils accept the tender of the bridge marked D of the Canton Company and costing $35 per lineal foot with iron-floor-beams.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

PETER HAMILTON,
Chairman Joint Committee.

Peterborough, May 20th, 1875.

MR. BELCHER'S REPORT.

To the Chairman of the Joint Committee of the Otonabee bridge.

Gentlemen,—In compliance with the instructions of your committee to examine and report on the several plans submitted to me for an Iron Bridge over the Otonabee River in this Town, I hereby report and state that after careful investigation of the three plans submitted with their specifications and strain sheets, I am of the opinion that the plan best suited to the requirements of your Committee is that marked D supplied by the Canton Bridge Company, Ohio, and styled a channel and plate Truss, it having the greatest amount and best disposed quantity of iron.

The second in order of merit is that submitted by Mr. W. H. Law, of Pennsylvania, which he styles a Trapezoidal Truss bridge, and is well designed and makes a handsome structure.

The third in order of merit is that supplied by Messrs. Z. King & Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, styled a "Lattice Bridge" of good design.

In arriving at the above conclusion I have been ably assisted in my calculations by R. E. Birdsall, Warden; M. Sanderson Reeve of Smith, and J. R. Benson, Town Councillor; for whose assistance I feel much obliged.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

JOHN E. BELCHER, C.E.
Town Engineer.

The report of the Joint Committee having been unanimously adopted by the two councils in Committee of the whole, the County council immediately thereafter went into session, and passed the necessary by law authorizing the Warden to sign the contract, and their Committee to superintend its construction in conjunction with the Town Committee.

THE CORRUPTION CRY.

The groundlessness of the evidences of general Reform corruption, said to be seen in the recent Election Trials, is well illustrated in the judgment given on the Halton and South Ontario cases, respectively.

In each case a scrutineer had carried a flask of liquor with him to the poll, and treated during the day of election. The circumstances are exactly similar. Yet Chief Justice Haggarty, in the former case, held that though the scrutineer was employed for a particular purpose, so far as the Candidate was concerned, and had limited authority, nevertheless he was agent in the discharge of that duty, which would render the Candidate liable for acts he (the Scrutineer) might do contrary to law. Whi'e, on the other hand, Mr. Justice Wilson in the latter case, held that Mr. Billings' authority as Scrutineer, was not sufficient to render Mr. Brown liable for his (Billings') acts done against the law.

Here we have two learned Judges giving opposite judgments in cases perfectly alike. It is clear that, had Mr. Justice Wilson taken the same view of the law as Chief Justice Haggarty did, Mr. Brown would have lost his seat; and the howl about the "evidence of Grit corruption" and contrasted Tory purity, so far at least as this constituency is concerned, would never have been heard. There are other points of contrast in these two cases, from which inferences very different from those which have been, may be, drawn.

In the judgement on the Halton trial the learned Judge seemed loath to decide against the respondent, who was a Retormer, on such weak grounds. It having simmered down to a question of credibility between three persons on one side and two on the other.

While the Judge, in the South Ontario trial, declared that he felt great hesitation in deciding in favor of the respondent, who styles himself a Liberal-Conservative. The Judge in the latter case even expressed a hope that the case would be appealed, and concluded his remarks by admitting a well merited rebuke to these pure Conservatives for the violations of the law respecting treating.

Decidedly the evidences in these two cases are very far from showing that the Reform party is so woefully corrupt or their opponents so immaculately pure.

It is no such catch verdicts as these that the Tory press has gone into hysterics over their own party purity and the enemy's corruption. But people should "never holla till they are well out of the wood." Both these cases are to be appealed, and there is ground for believing that the ultimate result will prove the wisdom of that old adage to the discomfiture of the new fledged Tory pursuits.—Ontario Reformer.

WHISKEY DID THE JOB.

Dryness is a peculiarity in the Tory composition. This trait was brought out in a remarkable degree during the late election in South Ontario. The tavern keepers have long found this out and this accounts for their being almost invariably Tories. Having a keen eye to business they are always fully alive to promote Tory interests. No reform is needed. Keep the masses in ignorance, and by so doing the more will our business thrive. Reform is a deadly enemy to us, and hence they struggle hard against its principles. It is really amusing in reading the evidence during the late trial, to notice the movements of Tory electioneering agents. on polling day they are constantly turning up in every hotel in the town and vigorously plying the great Tory persuader-whiskey and a few of the more devoted start out during the afternoon to subjugate the Reform parts in the N. Riding, but, lo and behold, they do not get far before they are found in a cellar of a hotel on their way out. Their was said to be something down there that appeared to be particularly inviting, or superior to what was behind the bar, and hence these valiant soldiers of the cause must have it to enable them to bear up under the burdens of the day. They finally arrive at the scene of their labors in the north, and forthwith Paxton must be made to bite the dust, and by arrival of these distinguished campaigners the drooping spirits of the hitherto dejected northeners rise suddenly as if by magic The Tory persuader is again brought into vigorous action, and the vessels in such legs that were hitherto obedient now becouring unmanageable and suddenly starting off on an expedition of their own, while the head which was once the seat of reason starts off in an entirely different direction, some becoming demented for the time being, while others are temporally raving maniacs totally deprived of the reason and judgment. Reader, think you is the condition above described the one the Legislature desired to see voters in on polling day that they might go to the polls and record their vote as reason and conscience dictates, and all this caused by the most active and zealous agents in the interest of Tory candidates. If these things are right and proper and calculated to purify the political atmosphere and elevate mankind and protect the sacred right of the franchises and to inculate good sound morality, then the recent decision in the South Ontario trial was right; if not it was wrong:—Ontario Reformer.

CABINET CHANGES.

Referring to Mr. Blake's acceptance of office, the Liberal says that in Canada it is not customary to consider it a sacrifice to accept an important office but we think it has been such in Mr. Blake's case. His aversion to office has been marked throughout his political career. Twice he has refused judicial positions On the defeat of the Sandfield Macdonald Government he became a member of the Executive Council, but without portfolio. Again on the defeat of Sir John's Government he declined to be more than a member of the Cabniet without office. We do not present these instance as a eulogy upon him, but simply to show that as a matter of fact, office has not been the goal at which his ambition is aimed, but has been treated more as a trammel to be avoided. We have no reason for thinking that he is any more in love with it now than before in so far as his own personal preferences are concerned. But the sense of duty which we believe with him to be always paramount, has compelled him to yield up his personal preferences and devote himself more fully to the service of the country.

So low is the estimate generally formed of political leaders in Canada that to some it will appear exaggeration to speak of any of our public men in such terms. But we did not think there are many who will so hold in this instance. In an age and in country where political scepticism is the rule, faith in the unselfish devotion to principle of Edward Blake still abounds. To that faith we hold firm at all events, and gladly make profession of it whenever occasion offers.

That his course in thus yielding to the wishes of the Premier and the pressure of his friends will meet with general approval there can be no doubt. The one regret of Liberal and the country at large ever since the formation of the present Ministry, has been the absence from it of so influential and trusted a leader as Mr. Blake. It has always been felt that as he and Mr. Mackenzie fought the battles of the cause in Opposition they ought to be workers together in power The Liberals party will hail the accession with undisguised satisfaction, as securing for the country the undivided counsels of its ablest men, and will feel that if any additional guarantee of good government were needed, they have it in fact that Mr. Blake, carrying with him his well-defined and clearly expressed views of the duties and responsibilities of a Liberal Government and the Liberal party, is exercising his proper influence in public affairs, and giving the country the full benefit of his services.

THE ratepayers of Belleville have voted a bonus of $125,000 to the Belleville and North Hastings Railway Smelting Works.

THE county council of Grey are about to erect a house of refuge and establish an industrial farm in connection with it.

PRINCIPAL DAWSON, of Mc Gill College, Montreal, is spoken of as the foremost man in science in the world, since the death of Sir Charles Lyell.

THE LATE Mrs. Edward Jackson, of Hamilton, has willed $10,000 to Victoria College. Her husband the late Edward Jackson, gave $2,000 to the College and left $10,000 more by will which latter sum was doubled by Mrs. Jackson. And now at her death the esteemed lady has willed another $10,000 as we stated before May the College find more such friends.

THE RUM MANIA

"Say Doctor, may I not have rum,
To quench this burning thirst within
Here on this cursed bed I lie,
And cannot get one drop of gin.

I ask not health, not even life—
Life! what a curse it's been to me!
I'd rather sink in deepest hell
Than drink again its misery,

"But doctor, may I not have rum?
Ohe drop alone is all I crave;
Grant this small boon—I ask no more—
Then I'll duly rave the grave;
There, without fear, I'll sink my sins,
And bid the monster mother his dark,
To haste me from this world of woe,
And claim his own—this ruined heart.

"A thousand curses on his head
Who gave me first the poisonous bowl
Who taught me first this hell to drink—
Drink—Death and ruin to my soul!
My soul! oh cruel horrid thought!
Full well I know thy awful fate;
With what instinctive horror shrinks
The spirit from that awful state?

"Lost—lost—I know forever lost!
To me no ray of hope now peers;
My fate is sealed; my doom is—
Ben give me rum; I will have rum.
Ben doctor, don't you see him there,
In that dark corner low he sits;
See! how he sports his fiery tongue,
And at me burning betokens gets!

"Say, don't you see this demon form?
Does he one hear? I will no one come?
Oh save—me save me—I will give—
Ben rum! I must have rum!
Ah! now he's gone; once more I'm free;
He—the beseeching knave and liar—
He said that he would take my soul
Down to—but there my bed's on fire.

"Fire! water! help! come, haste—I'll die.
Come, take me from this burning bed;
The smoke—I'm choking—cannot cry
There now no smoking at my head!
But see! again that demon comes!
Loud! there he pops through yonder crack
Mark how his burning eyeball flash!
How fierce he grins, what brought him back!

"There stands his burning couch of fire
He smiles and beckons me to come—
What are those words he's written there,
'In hell we never want for rum!'
One loud, one piercing shriek was heard!
One yell rang out upon the air;
One sound, and one alone, came forth
The victim's cry of wild despair.

"Why long or wait? I'm ripe for hell.
A spirit's sent to bear me down;
There, in the regions of the lost,
I sure will meet a fiery crown.
Damned, I know without a hope!—
One moment more, and then I'll come,
And there I'll quench my awful thirst
With boiling, burning fiery rum!"

FEMININE MISCELLANY.

TRUE BEAUTY.

Loveliness does exist in cosmetics, dress nor jewellry. It is pleasant to be handsome; but all beauty is not in prettiness. There is a higher that makes us love people tenderly. Eyes, nose, hair, or skin never did that yet, though it pleasing to see fine features. What you are, will make your face ever for you in the end, whether nature has made it plain or pretty. Good people are never ill-looking. Whatever their faces may be, an amible expression atones for all. If they can be cheerful also, no one will love them the less because their features are not regular, or because they are too fat, or too thin too pale, or too dark. Cultivation of the mind adds another charm to their faces, and on the whole if any girl is desireous of being liked by the many, and loved by the one, is more in her power than she may believe to accomplish that object. If she can manage be feel kindly to everybody, not to be jealous, not to be cross to be happy, if possible, and to encourage contentment then something will come into her face that will outlast youth's roses, and gain her a husband, but a life-long lover.

POLITENESS TO SERVANTS.

No lady who desires peace in her household can afford to be insolent to her servants. For the sake of family comfort we must have comfort in the kitchen. Willing and unwilling services readily distinguishable by every member of the household. We can all of us remember how the atmosphere of a dinner party has been suddenly chilled by y few words of unnecessary blame to a servant. To mortify a person is not usually to reform him. On the other hand, how delightful to a guest are those homes where the relation of the masters and servants are friendly; where short comings on the latter are delicately excused fit public, and judiciously investigated in private. Every woman of experience knows thereng and efficient servants are only made by patience and long suffering. Did you ever find that scolding made an order more intelligable, or caused anything but broken dishes and ill cooked dinners? Then try gentleness a little while; if that will not accomplish anything, send away your servant, and try another. You cannot afford to loose your temper; and a person on whom consistent kindness is thrown away can render you no intelligent or permanent service.

WONDERS OF ANIMAL LIFE.

Animals have trades and occupations, and when not living by their own respectable efforts, are parasites or dependents. Among the working classes are miners, masons, carpenters, paper manufactures, and weavers even, and next to propagate their kind. The miners dig into the earth, form natural arches and supports, remove the useless soil; such as the mole, the chinchilla of Peru, the badger, the lion ant, as well as certain worms and mollusce. The masons build huts and palaces according to all the rules of architecture, as the bees and tropical ants; there are fish that construct boats that the waves never can upset, and Agassiz has drawn attention to a fish which builds its nest on the floating sea-weed in the middle of the ocean, and deposits therein her eggs. The wasps of South America fabricate a sort of paper or pasteboard. Spiders are are weavers as well as lacemakers; one species construct a diving-bell, a palace of lace. When the astronomer has need of the most delicate thread for his telescope, he applies to a spider. When the naturalist desires to test his microscope, he selects a certain shell of a sea insect, so small that several million of them in water could not be visible to the naked eye and yet no microscope has yet been made sufficiently powerful to reveal the beautiful variegated designs on the stomatic shells! As for the parasites, they, too, have their uses. A variety of plover enters the crocodile's mouth picks the remnants of food off the animal's tongue, and from between its teeth. The living toothpick is necessary, as the tongue of the crocodile is not mobile. The Mexican owl, when enjoying a siesta, puts itself under the guard of a kind of rat, that gives the alarm on the approach of danger. Parasites are everywhere, depend on no peculiar condition of the body, and are as abundant in persons of the most robust as of the most debilitated health. They are at home in the muscles, in the heart, in the ventricles of the brain, in the ball of the eye. They are generally either in the form of a leaf or a ribbon, and are not necessarily, as was once supposed, confined to a special animal. The parasites of fish have been detected living in the intestines of birds; and there are some that, for the purpose of development, must pass into the economy of a second animal. Thus, in the grand drama called life, even as relating to the lowest created organism, there presides a law as harmonious as that which rules the stars.

The tenor and soprano in a Boston choir were married recently. A facetious exchange says they met by chants the usual way, and ultimately agreed to duet. And the first addition to the family will be a trio.

THE FIRST THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The following extract we take from the New York Independant, and commend it to the carefull consideration of the boys and young men who are among our readers:

"The first thousand dollars that a young man, after going out into the world to act for himself, he earns and saves, will generally settle the question of business life with him. There may be exceptions to this statement, yet for a rule, we think it will hold true. The first condition is that a young man actually earns the thousand dollars in question. He does not inherit this sum it does not come to him in a streak of good luck, as the result of a fortunate venture in the purchase and sale of a hundred shares of stock; it is the fruit of personal industry. He gives his time and labor for it. While he is thus earning and saving it, he must earn two or three or perhaps ten times as much to pay his current expenses. He is consequently held sternly to the task of industry patient, persistent, forecasting and self denying effort, beseiking up all the tendencies to indolence and frivolity and making him an earnest and watchful economist of time. He not only learns how to work, but he also acquires the love of work; and, moreover, he learns the value of the sum which he has thus saved out of his earnings. He had toiled for it; he has observed its slow increase from time to time; and in his estimation it represents so many months or years of practical labor His ideas of life are shaped by his own experience. These natural effects of earning first thousand dollars we hold to be very large benefits. They are just the qualities of mind and body which are most likely to secure business success in after years; they constitute the practical education which a man can have as as a worker in this working world. They are gained in season for life's purposes at the opening period, just when they are wanted, when foolish notions are most likely to mislead an inexperienced brain, and when, too, there is a full opportunity for expansion and development of later years. Men have but one life to live; and hence they start from opening manhood but once. And the manner in which they start, the purposes they have in view, and the habits they form, will ordinarily determine the entire sequel of their career on earth. To succeed, men must have the elements of success in themselves. One reason why there are so many useless, inefficient and poverty-stricken men in the world—or rather, boys seeming to be men—consists in the simple fact that they did not start right. A prominent reason why the children of the rich so frequently amount to nothing, may be found in the luxury, ease, and indolence which marked the commencement of their lives. It is the law of God that we should be workers on earth; and no one so well consults the best development of his being as when he conforms his practice to this law. The workers in some suitable sphere are the only really strong men in this world.

TORIES AND BRIBERY.

Our Tory opponents harp on bribery and accuse Reformers of being very corrupt. Are they aware that they have a standard bearer sitting in the Commons who should never have been allowed to enter a Hall! The member for Victoria, N. S., who is one Charles Campbell, was charged in the face of the people whose suffrages he had sought, with being guilty of one of the foulest acts ever committed by any man, no matter of what party or country. In December, 1873, when Mr. Ross, Mr. Mackenzie's Minister of Militia, went back to his constituents for re-election, he was opposed by this Campbell. The latter was defeated. On declaration day one of his supporters charged the sheriff with being a partizan returning-officer, and that he was proclaiming Mr. Ross knowing well that he had not been elected. This of course, was a false statement. But what did that matter? The sheriff turned the tables on the Tory, however, by denying that he had ever been spoken to on the subject by either Mr. Ross or his friends, but added, saying it to Campbell's face: "Your party guaranteed me one thousand pounds if I would declare you elected, notwithstanding the majority of votes against you." Here is one of the men who wanted to go to Parliament and support that arch-dypocrite who had stumped Ontario howling that his "hands were clean." This he said in Hamilton, but we might ask how long after his public meeting in the Mechanic's hall were they clean? How long after he reached his hotel on the occasion of his second visit and got out his saddlebags, was it before the "collateral," began to circulate. We well remember how the enthusiasm redoubled as the darkness—fit for such deeds—grew apace that night. Talk of bribery and corruption! Campbell now sits in the Commons, having been elected last December to support Sir John A. Macdonald. He is not the Campbell that ran off to the States so that his evidence could not be obtained on the trial of the petition against Sir John. Had he been in Court and told the truth his master would to-day be a private citizen with the stigma of disqualification attached to him. Why do these organs boast?—Hamilton Times.

Consulting a Cow Doctor.

A man living in the country, far from any physician, was taken suddenly ill. His family, in great alarm, not knowing what else to do, sent for a neighbor, who had a reputation of doctoring cows.

"Can't you give father something to help him?" asked one of the sons.

"Wa'al, I don't know nothing about doctoring people."

"You know more than we do, for you doctor cows. Now what do you give them when they're sick?"

"Wa'al, I allers gives cows salts—Epsom salts. You might try that on him."

"How much shall we give him?" inquired the son.

"Wa'al I give cows just a pound, I suppose a man is as quarter as big as a cow—give him a quarter of a pound!"

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

It were better to have no opinion of God at all than such an opinion as is unworthy of Him; for one is unbelief and the other is contumely; and certainly superstition is the reapreach of the Diety.—Bacon.

And that same dew, which sometime on the buds which was wont to swell like round orient pearls, stood now within the pretty flowerets eyes, like tears that did their own tears bewail.—Shakespeare.

I am convinced the world will get ured at least I hope so, of this external gather about all things. After all life has, something serious about it. It cannot be all comic history of humanity.—Douglas Jerrold.

We should never so entirely avoid danger as to appear irresolute and cowardly; but at the same time, we should avoid unnecessarily exposing ourselves to danger, than which nothing could be more foolish.—Cicero

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

THOUSANDS proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no [illegible] is so universally [illegible] as a cathartic, nor [illegible] any before so [illegible] by almost all classes, as this well-known but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Dysentery, Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which causes it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing, [illegible] effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this CHERRY PECTORAL as a remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its searching character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a preservative against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and believed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or attempt more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Mercury, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of any medicine. Our pride is gratified in the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had been tried and failed.

Discriminated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing invariably regular cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold round the world.

Select Poetry.

YEA, I MUST DIE.

"Yes, I must die, I know how is come;
The sands of life run low;
Nor do I mourn to leave the weary world
Most willingly I go.

"Yet would I pass not poor as when I came,
But splendidly and great,
Like some old king, decreed into my tomb
In royal pomp and state.

"Give me them of thy gold, O mundane sun,
To fashion for my crown;
And then, O evening, of thy purple glories,
Wherewith to weave my gown.

"And then, O moon, thy shining pearl, wherewith
My mantle round to gird;
And then, O night, thy silver stars, to bind me,
Fillet and diadem."

And they obeyed; and we on looking up
Through eyes whose sight was dim,
Saw half the splendours of the earth and heaven
Had poured upon Him.

WIGMORE-LEWIS CASE.

The hearing of this case before Mr. Hutton, P. M., took place on Thursday last. Abel M. Wigmore was brought from Kingston, and appeared in his usual clothing, and in good health.

Mr. Dennistoun on behalf of the accused produced a Drs. certificate that Mrs Lewis was unable to come all the way, but that he was prepared to admit that the letter produced was the same letter that she had got from the post office, and about which she went back to enquire of Mr. Bates. This was considered satisfactory.

G. T. Leonard, Esq, was then sworn, and produced certain paper letters, and envelopes, that had been used at the trial of Abel M. Wigmore.

W. H. Scott, sworn, testified to the letters produced as the same letters that had been in Court at the trial, and especially as to one said to be received by Mrs. Lewis, said to contain poison or strychnine.

Samuel Wigmore, sworn, and examined by Mr. Scott, He knows James Sloane, and knew his father who died last year. He saw him shortly before his death, the second day previous.

Mr. Scott asked witness if Sloane asked anything about the letter mailed by his son.

Mr. J. F. Dennistoun objected to the question

Mr. Scott said he did not wish to prove any fact except that Mr. Sloane was informed by his son as sworn by him.

Mr. J. F. Dennistoun argued that this was not pertinent to the enquiry.

Mr. Scott maintained that it was important as it Samuel Sloane knew the fact, it showed that Samuel Sloane had not cooked up a story. He only sought to prove the old man's knowledge.

The Police Magistrate ruled that the evidence was not admissible, but said he would note the question and his ruling on the deposition.

Samuel Wigmore was then cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun. Samuel Sloane was his uncle, his mother's brother. Witness was a brother of Abel Wigmore.

Abel Wigmore, sworn,—Was tried last assizes for attempting to administer strychnine to Miss Lewis with the intent to murder her; was found guilty, and I am now putting in my term of punishment. She said that I had written a letter to her, and had put a drug in it with that intent. The letter she said contained the drug was produced at the trial, did not see it at the trial, but had seen it before that at Mr. Hutton's office. The letter produced No. 3 is the letter; never wrote that letter, nor any part of it; first saw it at the investigation before the magistrate, but did not examine it. The next time I saw it was at the office of the Clerk of the Peace where I examined it. I never sent a power or draft by letter or otherwise to Miss Lewis; received a letter about the last of March 1874 from Miss Lewis, burned it, and a great many more of her letters. In that letter she asked me if I were going to marry her, if not to send her word. If I was not going to see her she said she would drug herself.

Here she suddenly cried in a shrill voice, "Abel, Abel, how can you lie so?" and fainted.

I wrote her in reply, "She had better take care what she was doing," received a letter (No 1 produced) from my brother James. Never had any communication with Miss Lewis after receiving this letter, either by letter or otherwise. I have known the accused, met her at mother's house about three years ago last fall, when her brother was being married, and first became acquainted with her. Did not see her again till the next March. I saw her frequently after that, an intimacy grew up between us then which continued for nearly two years, during which time I saw her constantly and I wrote to her when I would be from home, was at home when I wrote the last letter to her; did not become engaged to marry her; never gave her to understand in the letters or in any statements to her, that I intended to marry her, never gave her to understand that I thought more of her than of other young women; only examined one of the letters produced at the trial. Wrote the letter produced now (No 5) which was produced at the trial, January 7, 1874, the letter (No 4) dated Minden 15,—1874, is in my handwriting; also wrote letter (No 6,) of Nov. 3, 1873. The address of the letter mailed at Minden is in my handwriting, it bears the Minden postmark, known now as "A." Those two envelopes were addressed by her, and given to me to be used by me; she asked me to write. The intimacy between us was close, and led to improper connection she becoming pregnant; do not know that I am the father of the child, she wrote to the effect that I was the father of it, in the letter stating her condition; destroyed it; saw her afterwards when she told me she was with child. This was sometime in the spring of 1874. This was after I returned from Minden, which I returned in March, she wrote to me from Minden in reference to her state. Would say it was in May that I saw her when we talked of her condition, she told me she was going to have a child; she asked me what I would do about it and if I was going to marry her. I told her I was not wanting to marry any one, or prepared to marry any one; she wanted me to see her; said I would do so in three weeks, did not go at the end of three weeks, or at all after that; did not send my brother James to see her; nor did I send any one else; didn't want to go to see her any more. I at that time calculated to leave the country and talked about going to New Zealand, and told my brother that I would go. My object was partly to get away from the scrape; made a start to go away, this was about the end of May, when I started I only intended to go to the States; my friends did not understand that I was going to New Zealand. Learned when I came back that brother James had gone to Miss Lewis, and that she intended soon. Miss Lewis I got from my brother James. Came back in June, cannot say what date, I returned to my mother's and stopped there stopped around Norwood all the summer; I was engaged farming for myself worked a few days for my brother James in the harvest; was not at Paterson's during the harvest; was not at his place after I returned from the States. Don't remember working at any other place except with my brother James; met a man the name of Kerr at Jamieb's, and also a man the name of Murray was working there, and my brother Albert and a man the name of Ford, don't know Ford's first name. Had my brother's James and Albert working with me and Ford; James and Ford were only there a couple of days or so; had a man the name of Reynolds reaping, worked with James the very day they came to Norwood to lay the charge against me. Had worked for my brother (illegible) three days before that; my brother James lives about a mile from Norwood. Don't know where James Sloane was at the time, saw him last Spring, but I can't say the time, can't say that I saw him after I was arrested. His father lived about three and a half miles from Norwood, and two miles from my brother James. Was at Samuel Wigmore's after I came back; it was the next farm to Sloane's; it was after the arrest that I was at Daniel Wigmore's. Samuel Sloane, my uncle, fell out of a window in the fall, some months after my arrest and he was killed: saw him several times after my arrest, but I spoke to him only once. He did not tell me how the letter was mailed but he spoke to me about the trial, this was after I had got out on bail; he did not say anything about the mailing of the letter. The first I heard of Sloane carry the letter for Miss Lewis, Mr. Scott sent me a letter and a piece of paper, and from this I learned that Sloane carried the letter. Did see James Sloane after my arrest, met him on the road, did not see him very often; my mother and Samuel Sloane were brother and sister, and lived about two and a half miles apart. Do not know whether they met last summer or not; James Sloane worked at mother's two or three years ago, do not know of him working for mother or brother or any of my relations of late to my knowledge. Got the letter from brother James from Miss Lewis after returning home, James brought it to me, he and my mother live close together. It was not the day I came home that he gave it to me, but I think he gave it to me that week; it was not opened when I got it; she sent it to him to send it to me he said, he did not say where; can't fix the time when. There was no communication between me or any of the Lewis's at my return; I never had any conversation about using medicine to make her right; never wrote her anything to that effect; did write to her after I came from the woods, this letter told her that I was not going to see her again; that letter advised her to be careful what she was doing; I suppose it is the letter; did not say anything about drugs at all; I meant by saying be careful that she shouldn't drug herself; had reference to what was in her letter; can't remember the exact words of my letter; did not advise her to use a drug; wrote in the letter that I was not coming to see her, did not write her I felt sorry for the way I had used her, did tell her so at Norwood; said nothing about marrying her or not marrying her; did not say I would go and see her when she was all right; don't remember telling her to burn the letter; don't know that I wrote any more letters than those produced, have no recollection of the number; wrote the letters at my mother's house, don't remember where I got the paper; had writing paper of my own; couldn't say for certain where I got that particular paper.

To Mr. Scott—Got envelope from Miss Lewis to herself, I think six; kept them in my trunk; in July I still had some of them; think I had three left when I returned from Minden; I still had some of them in July last in my possession.

Mr. Dennistoun on behalf of Miss Lewis admitted that the letter produced was the letter received from Mr. Bates, and concerning what she went back to ask Mr. Bates if he remembered it.

This ended the case. The Magistrate committed her to stand her trial, but accepted bail.

HOW TO CATCH A SHEEP.

This seems a small matter to talk about in a newspaper, yet we have seen so many men catch a sheep by the wool, and even throw it into the water in that way, that we consider that some need to be enlightened on the best way to catch a sheep. The following is by a writer in the National Live Stock Journal:—

There is a right way to do everything. Clumsy catching and handling is always injurious to sheep, and hard on the party doing the work. The injury resulting from improper handling is greater on ewes heavy with lamb, which are about the only class that need to be caught until tagging and shearing time. It hurts a sheep to be caught or lifted by the wool, and such a thing should never be done where it can be avoided. A portion of the flock to be caught should be driven into a pen until it is pretty well filled, though not crowded. The party doing the catching should proceed quietly, frightening the sheep as little as possible, and when near enough to the animal he desires to catch, should grasp its hind leg above the hock, when a firm grip is held, little kicking can ensue. Then he should pass the other hand in front of the beast which gives him every advantage over the animal. If it is desired to carry the sheep any considerable distance, he should let go the hind leg, and pass the right arm over the back just behind the shoulders with the hand under the brisket, when stooping a little, the sheep is raised on the hip. If these movements are made with precision and celerity, the sheep is off its feet before it is allowed a chance to struggle. An easy way to carry a sheep for a short distance is, after lifting it as above, to take a hind leg with the free hand, which brings the sheep immediately in front, with its back pressed closely against the man. This position will be found quite necessary when the animal is to be lifted over a fence,

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 3, 1875.

MR. BLAKE.

Previous to Mr. Blake's taking office, he was lauded as an independent thinker a man bold enough to express his thoughts and free from Globe and Grit dictation. They were looking to him with hope as the leader of the party, that would afford them an opportunity under his guiding star to form a new party free from the stigma attached to the old combinations and coalitions. In the past they have yearly, at least changed their name, if not the skin. The odor attached to the word Tory was not pleasant, Conservative became as disagreeable to the people. Union and Progress, did not take well. Liberal Conservative, does not receive popular favor, and hence their anxiety to have a new party, and Mr. Blake was just the man to be leader of it. He was not subject to grit dictation, could afford to differ in sentiment from Mackenzie, and was ready to break with Reformers.

All these and a hundred other reasons were urged in his favor. No sooner, however had he taken office than their laudation was changed to vilification and slander. While out of office he was just the man around whom Liberal Conservatives could rally, to thwart the Globe and Brown party, with a view to founding a new party. Tired of Sir John and M. C. Cameron, without any men of ability to take their place and longing for the Treasury benches, for the good of the country! they were ready to to hoist him on their shoulders, if by any means they could hope to allure him and his admirers into their toils. But how could light have fellowship with darkness?

Mr. Blake, they find now to be in full accord with the leaders of the Reform party. Indeed he has entered the government with Mr. Mackenzie, he has disappointed the hopes of disaffected Liberal Conservatives, who were in search of a new leader, and lo, their praise is turned to slander, and their eulogy to detraction.

Is this the way to induce good men to take up their forlorn hope? Are they so inured to defaming the character of public men that not even one man can be allowed to escape the venom of their bitter disappointment! They acknowledge disorganization, their dagon is fallen. They have no man able to form the nucleus of a party, and the hopes of alluring a leader from the ranks of their opponents is gone, and at once they commence abusing him whom all Canadians delight to honor.

The Conservative party has maintained an existence by means of disaffected Reformers, such as Hincks, Howland, Macdougall, Aikens, John Sandfield and others, and their only hope for a future existence lies on the same thing, as there will be disaffected and disappointed men in all parties ready to secure power or honor, by coalitions or combinations.

The course of slander adopted by the Mail and appropriated by the smaller fry of Conservative writers, is most disastrous to their cause. Abuse and detraction can not make friends. Slandering every man, who differs from them, cannot draw true men to their ranks, and the dog like, who are ready to lick the foot of those who kick them, would be poor stuff to make statesmen out of.

The personal abuse of men such as Messrs. Blake and Mackenzie, Mowat and McKellar must disgust the thoughtful part of their own supporters, and has done much to make the Mail a by-word and a reproach. This thing of abusing to get at this man or that without reason cannot merit the approval of men moved by patriotism or desirous of securing the services of our cleverest man in Parliament.

The course of Mr. Blake in Parliament and out of it, has merited the praise of friends and the respect of opponents. His acknowledged ability as a lawyer, arbitrator, and counsellor will gather many to the party who have been hesitating and undetermined. His force of character and legal acumen will command the attention due to him in the Councils, and legislation of the country, and his liberality and spirit of equity to all classes of citizens, are a guarantee that national prejudices will not take the place of justice and fairness.

THOU HYPOCRITE

A contemporary in a fit of remorse on account of the sin of his youth, yes, and more advanced years, appears to have left home lately with the intent of committing suicide by drowning or otherwise. While contemplating the terrible consequence to his section of country, from the loss of the only (salt) righteous person in the community, and fearing that Sodom like, it might be destroyed by fire and brimstone, he concluded he would stay a while longer here, rather than anticipate the just reward of his early piety. Somewhat like the Irish clergyman and the gentleman discussing purgatory, he might go farther and worse. Misery likes associates, and for them he earnestly sought and thought he discovered them in erin publishers like himself. They have been inserting advertisements which he considers of doubtful moral tendency, and so the pharisee [illegible] God I am not as these men," I am worthy to live a while longer." This sanctimonious pharisee has been advertising "fortune and rod" without stint. Now strong drink kills its thousands yearly, yea, daily. There is not a hamlet, village, town, township or city in the land in which victims to it have not fallen. How many families has it devastated? how many wives has it converted into widows? how many thousands of children has it left fatherless? How many has it consigned to the gallows? What misery, woe and sorrow is it daily and hourly causing, and yet this hypocrite will advertise it as long as he hopes to get the pay for so doing. "Thou hypocrite first cast the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to pull the mote out of thy brother's eye." If the advertisements referred to have injured one in 30,000 in ten years, it is the utmost, and even one need not be, while whiskey is ruining its tens of thousands yearly.

COURTS OF REVISION.

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

The Court of Revision for the Town will sit to-night again, to complete their work for the season. There are not many appeals.

SMITH.

The Court of Revision for this Township reduced the Roll $1500. It will meet on Monday next, for the purpose of changing the names of a few parties who have bought or sold property since the assessment was made.

ASHBURNHAM.

There were very few appeals this year. The Roll was confirmed, except as to deducting $2000 from Mr. Burnham's assessment, on account of his being a Minister. Two or three changes of names were made, but in other respects the Roll was confirmed.

OTONABEE.

The Court of Revision for this Township confirmed the Roll as delivered by the assessors. It is thought that there will be one appeal to the Judge.

SMITH COURT OF REVISION.

The Court of Revision on the assessment Roll of the Township of Smith held its first sittings for the current year on the 26th day of May.

All the members present. The Reeve in the chair.

Joseph Ayotte complained of an overcharge on the assesment of the real property assessed to Francis Ayotte and Batso Ayotte—assessment reduced $630.

Jas. B. Walton requested that the south half of lot 7 in the 2nd con., should be erased from his assessment as he was not bonafide tenant of the same—lot erased.

William Young complained against the assessment of his real property—assessment reduced $900.

Joseph Young appealed against the assessment of his real property—assessment reduced $100.

Daniel Honlihan complained against the assessment of his real property—assessment reduced $700.

George Ayotte appealed against the assessment of his real property—assessment confirmed.

Gravin Preston appealed against the assessment of his real and personal property—assessment confirmed.

Joseph T. Wilson complained of being assessed for more lad than he was possessed of—assessment reduced 3 acres.

Andrew Paisley complained of an overcharge on his real and personal property—assessment confirmed.

James Elliott requested the Court to erase Lot 19 in the 6th Con. from his assessment—Lot erased and assessed to George Armstrong.

The Court then adjourned until Monday the 7th of June.

The members then went into Council, and the minutes of last meeting were read.

A motion was passed on the 26th of May, 1874, respecting the performance of statute labor by James Chalmers and other parties residing on lots 36 and 37 in the 12th con. was rescinded, and said labor ordered to be performed on Road Divisions Nos. 10 and 88.

A petition from James Davidson and others praying the Council to cause lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 in the 1st con. to be drained in conformity with the provisions of sections numbered from 447 to 463, both inclusive, of the Municipal Institutions Act of 1873 was presented by James Bird P. L. S., petition laid over till next meeting of Council.

A communication from James McDermott an indigent person, and was read, stating that he had been injured by an upset of a sleigh on the bridge over Mud Lake, and desired the Council to grant him some assistance.

The Reeve was instructed to have him examined by Dr. O'Sullivan and make such arrangements as he considers necessary.

Mr. Sheriu addressed the Council and stated that it was desirable to have the stumps and stones removed off the road leading between lots one and two, west of the communication road, and that said road should be established a road division.

The road was formed into a road division and John B. Nichols appointed overseer of the same, and ordered that Daniel Hickey, Alexander Simpson and James Fraiser shall perform their statute labor threon.

The Treasurer was instructed to pay John Freeman the sum of $12, being the expense paid by him for the survey of a road in the 16th con.; to F. J. Bell for flour furnished William Adams 85, and ty James McDermott an indigent person, $4

MURDER IN SOMBRA.

A Mr. Finley of the Township of Sombra, was lately shot in his own stable, and with his own gun, under suspicious looking circumstances.

The following from the Globe gives a clue to the matter, and affords proof of terrible depravity on the part of his wife.

A WIFE'S CONFESSION.

On Monday last a telegram appeared in the Globe concerning a mysterious case in the Township of Sombra, about five miles from Wallaceburg. About one o'clock on Saturday morning Mr. R. S. Finley, hearing a noise in the stable, arose from bed and taking with him a lantern, went out, supposing something was wrong with the horses. After a time as he did not return, Mrs. Finley called up two young men who were in the house and on their proceeding to the stable they found Mr. Finley lying on his face just inside the stable, quite dead. His own gun, which was usually kept in the stable, was lying near him discharged. The excitement in the neighborhood was intense, Mr. Finley having been a respectable and well-to-do farmer, formerly a school teacher, and a man greatly esteemed for his goodness, intelligence and unpretending character. It was clear that the unfortunate man could not have shot himself, and therefore the conclusion speedily arrived at was that a murder had been done. But by whom? Who could have taken the life of this unoffending man, thought not to possess a single enemy in the world! Here was the mystery, to be he subsequent cleared up in a most startling manner.

A jury was called and an inquest held by Dr. Mott, of Dresden, the evidence of Mrs. Finley and other inmates of the house being taken. Suspicions were directed to the wife and a supposed paramour, one Willis Henry, a man employed by Finley, and on the [illegible] and by Finley to [illegible] the [illegible] for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

PRIZE of $100

BERTRAM & CO. will give a prize of $100 for the best field of not less than one acre of

SWEDES TURNIPS

Grown in any farmer in the County of Peterborough, purchasing one barrel and upwards of Super-Phosphate Manure. For further particulars apply at Bertram & Co's Hardware Store, Peterborough.

Super-Phosphate of Lime.

"Apatite (or Phosphate of Lime) derives its chief interest from its power, when used in conjunction with nitrogenous substances, of rendering exhausted soils to their original fertility, and of increasing the range for Agricultural occupation of such as have ceased from many years to be profitable."—Sir Jas. Emmons, P. G. S.

"Superphosphate of Lime, in some form or other, has to be abundantly supplied to root crops; and experience has shown as much as Superphosphate and other valuable materials Superphosphate of Lime is a state in which it is readily assimilated by plants."—Ure.

Peterborough Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 3, 1875.

The County Council

Will meet on Tuesday, the 15th inst.

Springfield,

Massachusetts, has had a $200,000 fire.

Railway Deputation.

Foreign Falls

Was visited by a lynx on Saturday last. When killed it measured five feet from fore to hind paws.

Suicide.

A Mrs. Yeatz, of Hamilton, committed suicide by cutting her throat. She was sixty years of age.

Mrs. Lincoln.

Has become insane and has been placed in an asylum for protection, her own son making application to the court to that end.

The Fair

There were many strangers in town on Tuesday, but more for pleasure than on business. The day was fine. All was quiet on the streets.

North Wentworth.

The Conservative papers begin to fear that this riding is lost to them, as Mr. Stock was the only Liberal Conservative in whom they had any hope to carry it.

Dominion Day.

There will be a great Temperance demonstration in Port Hope on Dominion Day. Dr. Leeds and Mr. Kapper from England, will be present and speak.

Lasher & Lowry.

Have purchased a Bankrupt Stock of Dry Goods which they are offering cheap, 50 per cent below ordinary prices they say. They solicit a call and examination of the goods.

Change of Time.

The trains leave from this day until further notice at 5.50, A. M., and 3.30, P. M., arriving at Port Hope at 7.45, A. M., and 5.25, P. M., respectively, connecting with the Grand Trunk, East or West, and with the steamer "Norseman."

The Sombra Murder

An account of which will be found in another column, affords an example of the awful results of illicit intercourse between a woman and a hired man. If she had not confessed the guilt it would be difficult to believe the part she had taken in the affair.

A Rumor

That a woman had fallen down stairs in Peterborough on Tuesday and broken her neck, is not true. It may have arisen out of the information that Mrs. Wickham, of Lindsay, had lately fallen and received injuries to the spine that resulted in her death on Saturday.

New Newspaper.

Lakefield is to have a newspaper, the News, we understand. It is to be a joint stock affair and will be under the management of two young men named Sherin. As Conservatives and Reformers have subscribed funds to start it, we presume it will be Independent in politics.

THEATRE

The Forresters' Dramatic Company, of New York have been entertaining large houses in the Music Hall They will continue during the remainder of the week, during which time lovers of fun will have a good time. The plays of "The Two Orphans" and "Lad Astray." were decidedly popular,

Dummer

Is not satisfied yet. They, or some of them, are desirous of keeping up the controversy. It is now so personal that we must ask the controversialists to borrow a calumet and puff off their feelings If wise men contend with foolish men whether they rage or laugh there is no rest. In this contest both are wise, and both foolish to continue it.

Blairton.

A sad accident happened one mile from Blairton on the 31st ult., by which Wm McArthur, an old resident of Marmora Lake, had occasion to go down to the lake during the day. On returning in the evening, when within a few feet of the shore, the boat upset, throwing Mr. McArthur into the water. The body was recovered during the night.

Coal Tar as Paint.

Coal Tar is coming into very general use as a paint, two coats applied to shingles or out building effectually prevent the wood from decay. The tar makes a gum on the surface which excludes air and water. It is capital for the bottoms of posts; and costs but a fraction of the price of other paint, and may be had at any Gas Works. 19-9in

Lakefield.

The Young Canadians of Lakefield have received their new banner. The banner is got up in a very artistic manner and shows the good taste of the maker, Mr. Thomas Robinson, of Kingston, who is so well and favorably known as a flag and banner painter. The price was $200, and we think the Young Canadians here will make quite a creditable appearance on the next 12th of July. Com.

In Last Issue

Appeared an account of a buggy upset, and broken through a fellow having more whiskey in than common sense. At the time we were told that it was his own buggy and we had little pity for him. We learn since that the buggy was not his own, but that of a sober and strictly temperate man who has his horse opposite Messrs McKee and Davidson's door. The pity is that a sober man had to bear the loss and annoy upon oneself by this drunken fellow.

To the Farmers.

We would direct the attention of the farming community to the advertisement of Mr. Peter Hamilton, who is manufacturing all kinds of farm implements. He has recently added the manufacture of threshing machines to his long list of useful articles. Call and inspect his stock before purchasing elsewhere as he will give a good article at a moderate price.

Levinia Hargrove.

This is the name by which Minnie Laidlaw has made herself known at Cobourg. She was playing her old pranks down there, and had done all she could to persuade the authorities that she is an escaped almost nun, She is having good times at the public expense. Chief Constable Johnston, while in Cobourg on Saturday, interviewed her and gave her history. The charitably inclined would do well to keep a look out for more deserving subjects on whom to bestow their kindness.

Valuable Property for Sale

The property of Messrs. T. Chambers and Son, known as the Post Office Block, corner of Water and Hunter Streets. This property is one of the best business places in Town. Also his residence, corner of McDonald and Antrim Streets. This lot is a very desirable one and would make a splendid dwelling and beautiful garden. The above lands will be sold in parcels, according to plans which will be prepared in a few days. Due notice of the sale will be given. For further particulars apply to D. and J. Haggart, Auctioneers. 22-1m.

Temperance Picnic.

The Guide says a grand temperance picnic will be held in Port Hope on Dominion Day, July 1st. The proceedings will consist of athletic games of all kinds, with addresses from some of the most prominent men in the country. It is also expected that several distinguished gentlemen from Great Britain, who are now on a visit to this country, will be present and deliver addresses. The Midland Railway and Grand Trunk R. R., will both run excursion trains on that day at reduced rates. We expect this will be a very large gathering. Several bands of music will be on the grounds during the day.

For Pleasure and Show.

Mr. Fitzgerald has now ready for sale and keeps on hand a very nice lot of the most stylish carriages, buggies, phaetons, and waggonets for pleasure and comfort, and wagons for general use. A visit to his show rooms will repay those who are about to purchase anything in the carriage line. His phaetons are very handsome, and are much sought for, and the waggonets are also being introduced on account of their neatness. The material used, he assures us is best blue oak and American hickory. The finish is good and the whole appearance of his carriages, &c., will be found to please those desiring a handsome carriage or buggy. Call and see them. 19-in.

The Spelling Match

Has induced the contestants to offer another friendly match. Let the arrangements be perfect this time and agreed to by both parties, and let there be an umpire, who, with the referees, shall settle all disputed points at once, and let which ever party loses accept their position with as good grace as possible. Might there not be a trial in penmanship also, it there is time to spare. This would afford a stimulus to improvement in this useful part of the education of boys and girls, and would also be an excellent means of proving the truthfulness of certain charges made against the teachers and pupils of the Institute. But what about the girls? Where are they in these matches? Are they afraid to enter the arena and demonstrate their orthographical skill? Are they afraid to dare the lords of the fourth state to combat? They are not afraid in other towns.

Central Show

The Officers and Directors of the West Riding have succeeded in making final arrangements for a Central Exhibition to be held in Peterborough this Fall.

There was a meeting of delegates from the various Ridings and Associations which intend joining in this Central Exhibition this fall. East Durham, West Northumberland, South Victoria, East and West Peterborough, Cavan, Manvers, and Smith were represented.

After preliminary arrangements and discussion the following officers were appointed:—President, Joseph Walton, Esq., Peterborough; 1st Vice. Pres., Jas. Thorndyke, Esq., Lindsay; 2nd Vice. Pres Geo. Carruthers, Esq., Cobourg; Secy. and Treas., John Carnegie; Superintendent, John Foott, Esq, Port Hope; Ass. Supt., Thos. Blezard, Esq., Otonabee; Committee for Prize Lists, &c., W. E. Roxburgh, Norwood; Arch Kidd, Dummer; I. Garbutt, Esq., Smith, William Helm, Peterborough: George Birlee and John McClelland Peterborough; Thomas Thompson, Reaboro'; E A Powers Hope, M. Simson, Manvers. Geo. Carruthers, Cobourg.

The amount of the prize list is not to exceed $2,500, including provision for a ploughing match. The exhibition is to be held on the 29th and 30th September and 1st October.

A Desperado in trouble

A young mulatto, named William Butler, lately returned from the Penitentiary where he was placed for larceny, since his committal has entertained an inveterate revenge against his informers, who live in Woodstock. A few days ago he committed another larceny and anticipating apprehension he fled to Woodstock, where he intended to carry out his revenge and escape the detectives. His whereabouts, however were found out, a telegram was sent to Woodstock to have him arrested, and detective Newhall hastened to procure his return. Before leaving Toronto, Butler armed himself with a revolver and several other weapons and when an attempt was made for the arrest he, caused a general consternation throughout the town. Four men having failed to capture him the mayor and officers of the corporation turned out in a body, and on their failure to make the arrest a company of volunteers assisted in surrounding him and finally succeeded in accomplishing their object. He was lodged in a cell, but before he was long confined set fire to the place, but the flames were observed and quenched before much damage was done. The prisoner was brought back to the city on Saturday, and the inhabitants of Woodstock thus relieved of their fear and anxiety. The authorities of the town threaten to enlist him for arson falling in punishment in Toronto.—Globe.

On the evening of the 9th inst, while the storm was passing over the Township of Hamilton, the lightening struck the barn and out-buildings of Mr. Constantine Wellington, thereby killing 3 horses, 1 cow 4 pigs, 4 sheep and hens (13 animals in all). The men at the time the accident happened, were on the eve of going to the stables for the purpose of "fixing up" for the night—it is a mercy the were not in the stable at the moment. Considerable damage is reported from other parts of the Township.

The Bowmanville News says: A person who has been for some time employed by [illegible] who was known to be of [illegible] on Tuesday last returning from [illegible] concluded to walk down the railway track. It appears that just before he reached the Bowmanville station he became excited, and commenced to run, and passed the station at the top of his speed, never stopping until he reached Mr. David Galbraith's about two miles east. The intimates of Mr. Galbraith's house saw him coming and closed and fastened the door. When coming he found he could not enter, he set to work and broke the glass from the windows, cutting himself considerably in so doing. He was finally secured and tied by Mr. Galbraith and an other man and put on a bed, where he soon fell asleep. The constable and doctor went to him from the town and found him more composed after his sleep and dressing him with his clothes, which the sectionmen had brought, they removed him to the station and sent him to his friends in Whitby, by whom it is hoped, he will be taken care of.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE.—A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Flamboro Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it, I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with Liver Complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until tried it Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of colic, wounds, &c., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man." A Mayboe, Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundred bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Evans, Township Percy, writes, "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness, It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured It is a most remark able medicine.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION

and acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most Reliable Preparation ever introduced for the RELIEF and CURE of all

LUNG COMPLAINTS.

This well-known remedy is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years, and when resorted to in season, seldom fails to effect a speedy cure of Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Bleeding at the Lungs, Liver Complaint, &c.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, SINGERS, and all those whose occupation requires an unusual exercise of the vocal organs, will find this the ONLY PREPARATION which will effectually and instantaneously relieve their difficulties.

Beware of Counterfeits.

Remember that the genuine Wistar's Balsam has on the outside wrapper the signature of "I. BUTTS," and the printed name of the proprietors, "SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, BOSTON." All others are base imitations. Examine the wrapper carefully before purchasing.

One Dollar a Bottle. Six Bottles for Five Dollars.

PREPARED BY

SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, Boston, Mass.

And sold by Druggists and Dealers generally.

TRIP ON THE ZEMKANAKAL TO LIMPOPO.

(From the Natal Mercury.)

Some of your readers may doubtless be glad to have a little information of the climate and state of the natives in the countries between this and the Limpopo or Bembe River. I arrived at Lorenco Marques from Natal in the Pilham, accompanied by Mr. Grant, on the 14th August last, and another passenger, Mr. Walter Pitt, a friend of Mr. Grant's volunteered to join us. After remaining about [illegible] in the town (if such it can be called) we managed to hire a banian boat to take us up to Schanavah, a distance of 150 miles up the Umkomazi River. We packed our baggage in the boat and set sail, having a crew of ten Kafirs besides our own. After a fine sail across the bay we landed on Sheffen Islands, which is situated at the entrance of the river, anchored the boat and remained for the night, the Kafirs telling us that they must take in a supply of wood and water for cooking purposes on the voyage. Found here a few reed buck and some few sea birds, four in number. Next morning we sail early and passed through a most uninteresting looking country; nothing to be seen but mangrove trees and long reeds on both sides of the river. But gradually the mangroves disappeared and we could then view nothing but long grass about twelve feet high and swamps on both side of us; occasionally here and there a few Kafir kraals where we managed to buy sundry fowls and vegetables in exchange for powder, cottos, beads, &c. On the tenth day we arrived at a place they said was Schahvah; here were two other banian boats. Some natives came down and we tried to trade with them for fowls, &c., but they said they had nothing but meaflies; fortunately for us we had provisions on board, or it would have been a poor look out for us. Went to the huts, saw the chief, arranged for a hut by the payment of sundries. Hired about thirty men to carry up the baggage, for which we paid about 2s. worth of calico to each man. Found the Induna here, a worthless rascal who played us all sorts of tricks and put many difficulties in our way. Schanavah is a small island about six miles in diameter, covered with long grass standing many feet high; at the furthermost end of it are trees, principally the oil tree, intermixed with numerous lemon trees, which were covered with fruit most of the year round, and toenatoes seem to be in great quantities growing wild. The natives living here are subject to Umselin, and of the worst class, and although Umselin appoints the Induna to rule, when we were there three or four put themselves forward as head men. After remaining a few days, finding it impossible to get the number of carriers we wanted, Pitt volunteered to come with me to Magud's kraal, so we left taking a few Kafirs to carry our blankets, and after a journey of some fifty miles, arrived there, saw the King, who seemed very friendly, and arranged with him to pay for carriers to bring on our baggage. The next day he brought about 100 of his wives and a number of his men for us to choose from; and we picked out about forty-five women and the fourteen men, and despatched them to Schanavah to bring up the traps. A few days after, Grant, accompanied by the rest of the staff, arrived; he said he had great trouble in getting them to carry, they complained of the weight of the bundles; we then proceeded to pay the people—and a job we had. The king seemed to to have no power at all over them. They wanted nearly everything we had, and it was only after considerable trouble that we had at last got rid of them, but this showed us what we would have to expect in future. The King ordered a hut to be cleaned out for us, into which we put all our goods. I [illegible] him a present of a breech-loading gun, in case, etc., and his majesty forthwith ordered his Prime Minister to bring in sheep for a present, and some beer to drink.

Here we found it intensely hot, the kraals being situate in the midst of black thorn bush, without the least particle of shade to be seen, and after a few days I was the first to fall sick. Had a severe attack of fever, and expecting hourly to die if I did not get a change of air; tried to persuade the king to lend me some Kafirs to carry me on a litter out of the country. Grant and Pitt deciding they would remain as they were quite well. Exhorbitant demands were made on me by the Kafirs, but at last I got four men to carry me on a sort of litter, made of branches of trees, and I left the Kraal about 8, p. m. A few miles on the road the carriers dropped me, saying it wanted at least another ten men, and all I could do to persuade them to go on was no good, so I was left in the grass, nearly dead, with one Kafir boy, [illegible] my gun and water bottle. In the morning a whole troop came down. They had been paid by Pitt and Grant to come on, and at length I arrived at Schanavah, where, after remaining a few days I got better. Magud sent over some Kafirs with a present of a small tusk of ivory. One of those advised me to go back, saying, If I did not I should lose all my baggage, as it was not being properly looked after, and the natives were stealing a great many things; so, next day I made an effort to return, how I got over the journey in the state I was, I scarcely knew, but I felt considerably refreshed after crossing the river, and by easy walking or crawling I managed to get there after being five days on the road. On arrival at the King's I saw Grant and Pitt who seemed well, but one Kafir lay sick with fever, and I made up my mind to make a start in the morning for Tegwan's kraal, north side of Limpopo. Took my blankets, gun, etc., and only one Kafir; the others seemed afraid to go. Crossed the Limpopo, remained there some days at Tegwan's, a chief who seemed noted for the number of wives he had, (about 200), most of them had been born in the country, others had been presented to him by Umselis and purchased from other natives. Falling sick again from the fever, I made up my mind to return to Magud's and with a great effort made a start. Next day falling worse, I could only crawl along, and now, to my dismay, my Kafir servant was also attacked with fever, and all I could do to persuade him to come on was no good, so I was compelled to leave him by the path. Arrived that night by the King's kraal, but previously fell down, about a mile outside, in the grass, quite exhausted. Fortunately some Kafirs saw me and went and told Grant, who brought me some water, and assisted me to the kraal. Grant told me that Pitt had been ill, and he [illegible] Got to the hut and found Pitt had died not seem much worse than myself. Next day I felt worse and suffered much. When lying on the grass beside the kraal, Grant came and told me Pitt was dead. Sent word to the King to ask permission to bury him, which the King smiled, and after a good deal of talk sent to say we could [illegible] trying to [illegible] found the [illegible] men to help us, we found their demands so great that we could not [illegible], so at dark we set fire to the fence and dug a grave and buried him. Told Grant I thought the best thing I could do, as the rainy season was setting in, was to leave the country while we had strength to get out of it, and it was arranged that I should start ahead, and he should follow with the baggage. Applied to the King for some carriers first he lent us thirty-five of his wives, and some men, all of whom we had to pay considerably and when they had travelled about half the distance they put down the bundles and ran away. Grant, who had a slight attack of dysentery, here seemed to get worse, and the medicines we had were nearly exhausted. On hearing from him I hastened over with other Kafirs, and in three days more we got all down to Schanavah, where we found that Magud's people had stolen a hundred pounds worth of things on the road; and all had been opened, and things lay scattered in all directions. Carried on with other Kafirs to carry the things, and took Grant some medicine. Crossed the river to Schavanah with Grant and what was left of the baggage. Despatched to Deluge Bay with an order for more medicine and provisions &c. That after the Kafirs had left, the River Umkomazi came down, carrying all before it, including our hut, and we had to shift to the only dry spot on the island, about 20 square feet. Here rushed all the natives with their dogs, &c., the whole of the island being under water, in some places 20 feet deep. There being no boats or canoes we had no possible chance of getting away, the natives floating over it and refusing to sell us anything to eat, hoping we should die of starvation and they would get all our goods. Snakes and rats flocked to our little island. Of the latter all were caught went into the pot. Two weeks passed away in this deplorable state, and I saw it would be impossible for us to hold out much longer; I got another attack of fever and ague; two of my Kafirs lay down with fever, and a day or two after [illegible] Grant [illegible]. Two days later the Kafirs arrived from Delgoa Bay in a canoe, and brought the medicines, &c., and a letter from Mr. Von Franckein, saying he would call with a boat and take us off the island, and judging by the date of the letter I anticipated he had been some ten days on the road. Now the Kafirs began to get outrageous. They demanded all sorts of things, such as elephants, guns, powder and lead. I had to satisfy their demands respecting a place to bury poor Grant in, about 100 yards distant from our hut, where, the river having gone down a little, we were enabled to dig a grave in the soil, and a little after dark myself and two Kafirs carried the body through the water and mud three feet deep, to its place of rest. A few days after this a Kafir took out that I stationed in a tree brought me the joyful intelligence that Von Franckein's boat had arrived, at which I ordered a number of guns to be loaded, knowing that we should be sure to have a fight with the natives there. Von Franckein hearing that I was sick, came on shore, when we arranged all in as short a time as possible. He told me he had twelve Kafirs with the boat who could carry the things, and my Kafirs could arm themselves and await further orders. The boat Kafirs came ashore, when a rush was made by the other Kafirs, who threatened to kill them if they were not off; but not giving him time to think about running, Von Franckein and myself, covered by three Kafirs with guns, rushed in front and the revolvers drove the rascals back into the water, which the boat Kafirs they came on also, and in a few moments we had all on board, much to the dismay of the thieves, who had looked upon plunder as a certainty. After a pleasant passage down the Umkomazi we arrived at Delagoa Bay.

EXPERIMENTS ON RATS.

An amusing experiment on rats was recently perpetrated in a mercantile house in Lombard, U. T. Two of these animals had been trapped, and it was decided to try the effects of whisky upon them. Forty drops were administered to each of them by force, and the result awaited. They were placed in a wide, deep box, into which some trash and gravel had been thrown. A saucer of whiskey was also placed therein. For a while all was silent, each rat having seated himself in a corner where he remained as morose as a rat could be. By and by, however, the liquor began to work. The rats began to smile, and play with their tails; then to fall down and roll over. Finally one of them found the saucer, and, with the peculiar curiosity of his race, dipped his nose in it. He drank, and the noise of drinking brought his companion to his side. They drank as though they were really fond of the stuff, and it is estimated more than eighty drops. And now they got glorious. They kissed each other—an act two rats never were guilty of before. They wrestled and kicked up shines generally. They revisited the saucer, and then got mad over it. A rough and tumble fight ensued, which lasted until both were exhausted. Then they remained for a while, each with a paw to his nose, grinning at each other. Finally both fell asleep, and while both were gloriously unconscious, a terrier was dropped beside them. The curtain falls.

Circumstances court Mr. Gladstone's resumption of his command. For the close division in the Burials Bill and the change in the result of by-elections are not the only things which indicate that the political tide in England begins to turn. It can no longer be doubted that the Government, though on ordinary occasions it retains its great majority in the House, is rapidly losing the confidence both of Parliament and of the nation. Its legislation will evidently come to nothing this session, as it did in the last: and though the nation is far from being in an earnest or strenuous mood, and in fact discarded Mr. Gladstone for being earnest and strenuous, it does not like to see mere failure. A shrewd and cool observer says: 'The superstition [illegible] in England, and, like many more deeply rooted superstitions, sedulously fostered by the Tory party and the Tory press, that Mr. Disraeli, in the role of Lord Palmerston, is a heaven-born leader of the House of Commons is fast dying out. People are awakening to serious doubts of his infallibility. It does not require a political expedition to proclaim it to the world. He makes small mistakes almost every night and large ones almost every week. But he has the knack of recovering himself by a happy hit from time to time, and these recoveries prolong the death-bed superstition of his infallibility. It seems doubtful whether the present Premier will get through a third session without breaking; and in that case, whether Mr. Gladstone is still "The People's William" or not, he is William The Inevitable, and we shall see him in power again. Of the suspicion of Popish leanings, which did him so much harm among the masses, he has pretty well purged himself; while the Publicans and the other "harrassed interests" have had time to forget, if not to forgive.—Nation.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE PURELY CALIFORNIA ALCOHOL

WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS

GENERAL PROPERTIES POSSESSED BY VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Pascagoula, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for this purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored vitiated matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything been so widely and deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this ever-most remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its unborne character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poison, not [illegible] whatever, it is novise it hurts any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond a parallel, and we believe without a parallel in the history of the medicine. Our pride is amplified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and a here other remedies had [illegible], failed.

The [illegible] person, either resident in, or travelling through unhealthy localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold [illegible] round the world.

Select Poetry.

LAY ME LOW.

Lay me low, my work is done;
I am weary. Lay me low,
Where the wild flowers woo the sun;
Where the balmy breezes blow,
Where the butterfly takes wing,
Where the aspens drooping grow,
Where the young birds chirp and sing,
I am weary, let me go.

I have striven hard and long
In the world's unequal fight,
Always to resist the wrong,
Always to maintain the right;
Always with a stubborn heart,
Taking, giving blow for blow,
Brother I have played my part,
And am weary, let me go.

Storm the world and bitter cold,
Irksome, painful to endure;
Everywhere a love of gold,
Nowhere pity for the poor.
Everywhere mistrust, disguise,
Pride, hypocrisy and show,
Draw the curtain, close my eyes,
I am weary, let me go.

Others' chance, when I am gone,
May restore the battle call;
Bravely lead a good cause on,
Fighting in which I fall.
God may quicken some true soul
Here to take my place below
In the heroes' muster-roll,
I am weary, let me go,

Shield and buckler hang them up,
Drape the standard on the wall,
I have drained the mortal cup
To the finish, drops all,
When our work is done, 'tis best,
Brother, best that we should go,
I am weary let me rest.
I am weary, lay me low

RETURN OF MR. BLAKE.

WALKERTON, June. 2.—The nomination of a candidate to represent South Bruce in the house of Commons, rendered vacant by the acceptance by Hon. Mr. Blake of an office in Hon. Mr. Mackenzie's Administration took place here to-day. The only nomination made was that of Mr, Blake, who was declared re-elected by acclamation.

A meeting was then constituted of those present in the Court House when the result of the election was declared, and Mr. Blake was called on to make a speech.

He said that it had not been his intention before this morning to address those whom he expected to see here, because he had supposed that few comparatively of the electors would have been present, owing to the alteration in the law by which the old system of nomination had been abolished. But when he found so many of the gentlemen who had so repeatedly honoured him with their confidence as to re-elect him their representative assembled on the occasion, he thought it his duty to say a few words to them, though they would be very few considering the circumstances. This was, he believed, the seventh occasion on which he had received the confidence of the electors of this Riding, sometimes after a severe contest, and sometimes, as on this occasion, by the present unique state of opinion; and he felt that during the short period he had had the honour of being in public life that was a singular, and perhaps an unprecedented, position for a public man in this country to occupy. Three times he also had been elected in this Riding. Those who had under those circumstances often heard his views were well aware that his own feeling and wishes were other than those which would have directed him to the office which he at present occupied. It had been for some time his opinion that good work was to be done in Canada by gentlemen occupying the position of independent members of Parliament, and to whom office was not an object of aspiration. Under such circumstances it was not without some reluctance, that he came to the conclusion that it was his duty accept the office he at present held. He would only refer to the three principal measures of those with which the Government to which he had acceded had successfully grappled, but which the preceding Government during a long tenure of office had unsuccessfully dealt with. They were aware that no less than three election bills were introduced by the late Government, but that they all proved abortive. The present Government had succeeded in the task of parsing such a law, and had placed on the statute book an Election Act providing for a system such as was foreshadowed by the late Government for a relaxed franchise, and for voting by ballot. Another question which had been dealt with, but not satisfactorily by the late Government, was that of an insolvent law. That question, which was remitted to the Parliament of Canada at Confederation, along with that of our election law, was disposed of by the late Government by a temporary bill introduced by a private member, which passed in 1868. That law expiring, it was renewed by another temporary measure, the then Government not choosing to grapple with the difficulties of establishing an insolvency law on a permanent basis. During last session the present Government took up the task also, and matured with the assistance of the House of Commons a measure which received the very general support of the members and with the main provisions of which he was heartily in accord, although to some of the details he was unable to give his unqualified assent. Then there was the Supreme Court bill which had also been grappled with by the late Government with equally unsuccessful and abortive results, whereas the present Government had passed one which in its main provisions had received the ratification of the country. Turning next to the financial policy of the Mackenzie Government he said that, though it involved the necessity of imposing increased taxation on the people in order to meet the engagements left to the country by the late Government, and to provide for the construction of the Pacific Railway, it was one with regard to which a most active member of the Opposition had said last session that though it had put three millions of additional taxation on the people a year ago they had borne it without knowing it. Another great financial achievement of the present Government was the large loan which was contracted last year for the purpose of assisting properly the prosecution of the Pacific railway, and also for the extension of the system of canals. He said, without fear of contradiction, that was the best financial operation that in the best period of its existence had been accomplished by the Government of Canada. His friend, Mr. Cartwright, placed that large loan on the market at four per cent without any pecuniary sacrifice at all. He (Mr. Blake) was content on this subject to appeal to the candid judgement of the late Finance Minister of Canada, and he was quite sure that if those who rallied against this operation would ask the opinion of Sir Francis Hincks on it, they would find that he (Sir Francis Hincks) agreed with him (Mr. Blake) that it was the best financial transaction which could have been accomplished. Another matter for which he claimed credit for this Government was the postal convention with the United States. He then proceeded to touch on the one question on which he said he was not in entire accord with the present Government—the settlement which was attempted to be made with British Columbia. He felt that that settlement was more onerous to this country than it was in a position to bear. He was happy to say, however, that preliminary to his acceptance of office discussions were entered upon which resulted in an agreement on a policy satisfactory to himself, and which he believed would, when properly developed in Parliament, be found satisfactory to the country. He was not able to develop that policy to them now for very obvious reasons. It was in part dependent upon the result of negotiations going on at present, but whatever would be done would be subject to the deliberation and decision of the people's representatives in Parliament assembled. And though he did not tell them that they could hope for such a settlement of that dreadful burden imposed upon us by the predecessors of the present Government as they would like, he had no doubt the country would be placed in a position with respect to this matter more satisfactory that at one time appeared probable or likely. In speaking to his own electors with reference to his public course he had only to say that he would endeavour to secure in the position he at present occupied the carrying on of the Government on those general principles he had advocated during the last eight years. They knew what these were. He had no sympathy whatever with a so called Reform party which sees nothing to reform, with a liberal party which sees nothing to liberalize, with a so-called party of of progress which is determined to stand absolutely still; and it was because he believed that that was not the policy of the gentlemen at present in power that he had undertaken with them to govern this country on the principles which he advocated. They knew that progress in Parliament was only to be effected in one way, and that was by progress on the part of the people at large. It was to them that those of the members of Parliament who had what were called advanced ideas must look for the strength to advance, and he believed that to the people he would not look in vain. We knew that questions of interest and importance [illegible] were [illegible] without discussion. They became first public questions, then Parliamentary questions then ministerial questions. The were agitated by the press and on the platform for a time until they assumed such proportions, until such a strength of public opinion is developed in them that they are become fit for agitation in Parliament. Then after undergoing for a time the crucial discussion which takes place in Parliament, they assumed the phase in which they are proper subjects to be dealt with by the Minister. In this day we are governed by public opinion, and public opinion is formed by public discussion, and to public discussion, those of us who believe that we have not arrived at perfection yet must look for that progress for which we long. There was a danger at this age of the world different from the dangers which have beset free thought before, and that was the despotism of this public opinion. There was also another danger against which we must guard, viz., the cowardice which is too often apt to display itself with regard to the promulgation of any doctrine which may seem to savour of novelty and unpopularity. In this day when free intelligent argument is really that on which the future of a country hangs, instead of condemning we ought rather to encourage a man who introduces the discussion of such doctrines. We should approve of his doctrines if we thought him wrong, but we should meet him, not by such disgraceful talk as that discussion of such subjects was pernicious, but by fair argument. He (Mr. Blake) was a little ashamed of his country when he reflected that it was a fact that in it there was on some topics of very great importance to us less freedom of thought and less freedom of public discussion than we find in aristocratic England; that in Democratic Canada there should be found a great disposition to frown down the discussion of topics which, though tabooed by intelligent men in England, were yet spoken of freely by the best men in that country as proper subjects for discussion. He then referred to himself as having some months ago given to the public his views on various important questions of that character, and said that he stood by those views still, and that it would be his happiness and his pleasure, as he conceived it to be his duty, to use the opportunities which might present themselves, rarer in the future no doubt than they had been heretofore, to developp those opinions in the presence of his fellow men, in order that he might, if he could, hasten the day for an intelligent discussion of them, and an intelligent determination as to their truth. He went on to repeat some of his well known arguments against the present mode of constituting the Senate, and read an extract from a speech of Mr. Mackenzie's reported in the Hansard, to show that he was in perfect accord with Mr. Mills and him (Mr. Blake) as to the desirability of reforming that body in some way or other. As to the details of that reform, these were he said, differences of opinion among those who were in favor of the general principle, and the question was one he admitted which was beset with considerable difficulty. But he had previously said the reform was more important than the mode in which it should be accomplished. As he and Messrs. Mills and Mackenzie said last session, it was important to obtain a discussion through the country of these questions of detail, and furthermore it was important that they should consider whether there should not be some plan proposed to the Legislature by which such amendments as from time to time might be required in the federal constitution should, with due regard to the rights and interests of the several Provinces, be capable of being, not merely initiated, but carried to completion in the general legislature, in like manner as reforms of constitution in any one of the Provinces might be carried to completion in the Legislature itself. That was one of the difficulties which beset the practical dealing with the question of the reconstitution of the Senate. Adverting to the mode of making appointments to the Civil Service he said he desired to see the time when, as he had formerly said, efficiency and not influence would be the passport to it, and he trusted that at no distant day a measure would be matured for the purpose of furthering, if the Government were not able to carry out, that important change. He next referred to the question of the franchise and gave some of the arguments from his Aurora speech in favor of its extension, and some of those in favor of compulsory voting. He expressed the opinion that the latter system would in a short time be brought into operation in this country, and said that he intended to make it his business at an early day to discuss it before some meeting of his fellow-countrymen. He also contended, as in his Aurora speech, that the present relations of Canada with the Mtother-Country should now be discussed freely—relation which he said it was admitted by the press, and by all public men who had chosen to discuss questions, were anomolous and could not be perpetuated but for which some others must be substituted. It was not, he held, the duty of Parliament to enter upon that discussion. He had never proposed a motion on the subject, and whenever one had been proposed he had not spoken on it, because he had believed the question was not yet ripe for discussion in Parliament. In the meantime we had a clear and obvious duty to perform, and that was to take care that these liberties which we now enjoy, and which we have won, shall remain whole and entire to us. They would recollect that last session, in vindication of that view he propcsed a motion expressing the opinion of the House of Commons of Canada upon a despatch of the Colonial Secretary, who told His Excellency the Governor-General that he was to decide a certain point of great importance to this country—the point, viz., whether Provincial statutes should be allowed or disallowed—not upon the advice of his responsible Ministers, but upon his own individual discretion. The motion was intended to record the dissent of the House of Commons from such a doctrine, an it was unanimously acceded to. The motion was however withdrawn,

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 10, 1875.

MONTREAL.

There is another scandal in the Montreal Custom House. An employee reported to the head officer of some irregularities in the bonded warehouse of Mr. R. A. Bell wholesale liquor dealer, several casks once full were found empty, and it was alleged the liquor had been abstracted. The employee was told to be silent about it, and soon after was dismissed. The matter, however, has leaked out, and there is to be an investigation. Faithful servants do not always find it to their interests, it appears to do their duty. It is needless to say that whiskey dealers have certain advantages not enjoyed by other mortal men in Canada. In every Town there are bonded warehouses for liquors. Why are they not also for Groceries, Dry Goods, etc? The people are indifferent to their own interests in not urging this piece of justice to other traders as well as to liquor dealers. Thousands of dollars worth of liquors are daily in bond to be taken out by the barrel as wanted. Why cannot sugars, Teas, Dress Goods, and other articles be treated in the same way? If justice was being dealt out to all classes of merchant there would be less chance of abstracting whole casks and puncheons to avoid duty. Why do not some of our influential merchants seek the removal of this partial Legislation that has so long been allowed to exist in favour particularly of a very doubtful trade at the best?

THE UNSEATED.

Mr. Bruce member for North Ontario has also been unseated for corrupt practices of agents. There were eleven charges urged against him, of these two were not allowed. The cost of seven have to be borne by the petitioner, and the cost of two by the respondent. Mr. Paxton himself having done all he could personally to have an honest and honorable contest, suffers nothing, and is sure of re-election. In this case an agent is the cause of all the trouble to Mr Paxton and to the Riding in causing another election contest. In most of the cases already decided, treating appears to be the great source of evil, and the judges are all to report this to the Parliaments concerned. Would it not be as well to report and urge that the source of so much annoyance and trouble be entirely done away with, and that at once. Strong drink is of no earthly use whatever, and few will be bold enough to assert that it is a good agent in heavenly things. If there had been no whiskey sold during the campaign or on the election day there would not been three election appeals in Ontario, or perhaps in the Dominion.

IN TOO GREAT HASTE

In the South Ontario election trial, it was shown beyond a doubt that the greatest recklessness prevailed among the Liberal Conservatives in the use of whiskey. The hotels were open all the day of polling, men were made drunk, and driven to the polls, cellars were used to carry on the vile work, and yet Justice Wilson failed to see the impropriety, and allowed Mr. Brown to retain the seat he had attained by such means. He has had some pangs of remorse over the matter, and now sees differently. In giving his judgment he expressed a wish that it should be appealed against. In giving judgment in the North Ontario trial he alluded to his former judgment, and is reported in the Mail as saying:—

"In the South Ontario case just decided, his Lordship came to a different conclusion with respect to this question of agency of the Oshawa committee. He gave no much effect to the services of committees and of the members of them and of others acting for the candidates, and to his knowledge and apparently with his consent and approval by holding them to be volunteers, and by exempting the candidate from accountability for the acts of such bodies and of such persons. "He has since reconsidered the opinion "he gave in that case, and thinks the "first impression he had in it that the "respondent was answerable for some of "the acts for which he held him not re-"sponsible, was the correct one, and the "one he should have accepted as his judg-"ment. He expressed the opinion which "he delivered in the then case, reversed "with much doubt, and stated that he "should be glad to have the decision "reviewed by the full court, and he is "glad it has been put in a course for "reconsideration. The doubt on the "subject which his Lordship then felt "required that he should give it in favor "of the existing state of things in sup-"port of the election, and return rather "than against them. But his Lordship said if he had judged of the matter then as he does now, he would have been obliged to avoid the election."

The Reformer adds, as we said, in commenting on the trial, that Mr. Brown had been borne under a lucky star. But clear that benign influence has at last quitted him. Jones when the second in the seat in parliament seems to be in the ascendancy, he makes to find it all a case of ruining four Mr. Brown's prospects. South Ontario are very poor indeed, both houses will yet be represented in party. member of the Reform

FASHIONABLE WEDDING

From the Cornwall

The "event" of the week was the marriage of Miss Maggie Pringle, daughter of His Honor Judge Pringle, to Mr. Frank J. Hall, of Cobourg. Mr. Hall, Esq, M. P., and Mr. Hall—came off on Wednesday last at the residence of the bride's father, "The Elms," Cornwall. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Neil McNish, L. L. D., of St. John's Presbyterian Church. The bride was handsomely attired in white corded silk and Brussels lace, and was attended by Miss Macdonald, who was dressed in white muslin, simply trimmed with blue ribbon; Miss Crysler, who wore white muslin, over blue silk, with silk sleeveless jacket and blue sash; Miss McIntyre, who was also in white muslin with pink sleeveless jacket, and pink sash; and Miss M. Pringle, muslin with blue silk sleeves, lemon jacket and blue sash. The groom's supporter was Mr. Richard Beasor, Messrs. G. and H. Hall, brothers of the groom, and Mr. James F. Pringle, brother of the bride. The following were guests on the occasion; James Hall, Esq. M. P., the Rev. Dr. McNish, Sandford Fleming, Esq., and Mrs. Fleming, D. B. Macdonald, Esq., and Mrs Macdonald, W. White-head Esq., L. M. Pringle Esq., Mr. Alexander Fraser and Miss Fraser. After the ceremony an elegant dejeuner was partaken of and a number of toasts given and responded to. The happy pair took their departure by the evening express for the east for a tour in the Maritime Provinces On leaving the paternal roof a shower of old slippers and rice was thrown after them by way of propitiating the elements and ensuring good luck on their journey.

RELIGIOUS.

EPISCOPALIAN.

Rev. William Allan, son of Rev. T. W. Allan, Rural Dean, Millbrook, is coming to Peterborough as assistant to Mr. Beck. Mr. Allan is spoken of as a young man of ability, and likely to become a successful minister and popular preacher.

METHODIST.

Rev. Messrs. Fish and Rose are both about to remove to other fields of labor. Mr. Fish is a man of great energy of character, earnest and zealous as a preacher, and a faithful worker. He has been an active friend of temperance and a supporter of every good and christian work. As a preacher there are few more devoted to the work of his Master. During his stay in Peterborough he has earned the praise and veneration of other denominations, as well as the warmest friendship and sympathy of his own people, and is respected and esteemed by all classes of the people, for his earnestness and zeal. Mr. Rose who has been his assistant for two years, promises to be a useful minister and a good preacher. He has enjoyed the confidence of all those who were connected with him in the work of the church.

BAPTIST.

Miss Geldard and Miss Mudie have been holding evangelistic services in the Baptist church for the past three weeks or so. They are earnest and pointed speakers Their addresses are earnest, their words simple but affecting, and their doctrines the words of truth and soberness. The meetings were well attended but we cannot say whether curiosity or sincerity induced this. Whether comprehended in the commissions to preach or not we do not pretend to say. As our special would not settle the disputed point, but all who heard them will say some things those who claim to be commissioned as ambassadors, very many there are, who cannot give as convincing proof of their Kings commission. They go to Selwyn and Lakefield for a while.

THAT $425

INVESTIGATION BEFORE JUDGE DENNISTOUN.

The investigation in reference to the charge of malfeasance in the matter of the $425 to Whyte and Davis, anent the Otonabee Bridge, took place on Monday the 7th inst.

Mr. J. F. Dennistoun appeared for the Town.

Mr. Edwards sworn,—said the old bridge was burned on 4th of July, 1871. On 22nd July at a meeting of Council, the Mayor, (W. H. Scott,) Smith, OBeirne, Stevenson, Doherty and Mr. Toole were appointed a committee to confer with a committee of the County or the Council of Ashburnham with a view to the construction of a permanent bridge over the Otonabee River, on Hunter Street. The next entry is that the contract was let on 25th September. The Mayor, (Mr. Scott), as chairman, reported verbally that Whyte and Davis had been awarded the contract, their tender being the best. There was nothing else done then. The next meeting was 27th of October, 1871, when the Mayor Stated that he had called the meeting because the County Council refused to go on until the Town agreed to provide the one half of the cost of construction. It was agreed on motion to provide the one half cost of construction. The next was 20th of November, when Mr. Toole as chairman of the Joint Committee, reported to the Council, recommending the providing of the money. The next entry on the book was on the 11th of December 1871, when Mr. O'Beirne moved, seconded by Mr. Smith, authorising the Mayor to enter into arrangements with the County Council to provide the funds, the Town Council to pay interest until the amount could be repaid in 1872. On 19th February, 1872, His Worship the Mayor, (Mr. Cox), stated this the joint committee had met, and after testing the bridge, had agreed to take it off the contractors hands. These are the only entries in the minute book relating to the bridge that I am aware of. As Town Treasurer I have some entries that relate to this matter. The Ledger was produced. . At page 305 this entry appears 16th December, 1871, received from Commissioners for construction of Otonabee bridge $4000. On page 307 there are a number of entries relative to this bridge.

The voucher for this $601 94 was turned, up, showing receipts by Whyte and Davis, March 21 also $50, part of error found in favor of contractors, as per Mr. Toole's certificate to the Treasurer.. There were all paid on account of that joint committee tender. There was nothing else paid that I am aware of, and nothing could be paid without my knowledge. I find an item of $40 for repairs, dated 15th Nov, 1873. The total amount, exclusive of the $40 is $3120 93. I find a cheque on 19th May, 1873 of $15 53, on account of finishing to iron bridge. There is a voucher for $601 94, signed Whyte & Davis, acknowledging receipt thereof as balance due on contract for the Otonabee bridge, and the letter from Mr. [illegible] have been present when the [illegible] given to Mr. Edwards, and [illegible] their [illegible] that [illegible] to Mr. [illegible] over [illegible] which the [illegible] Pleased pay to Messrs. Whyte & Davis the sum of six hundred and one dollars and ninety-four cents, being balance of the Town's share of the amount for building the new Otonabee bridge.

W. TOOLE.
Com. for Town.

Peterboro, March, 1873.

On 18th March, 1872, this entry appears in the cash book, by paid Whyte & Davis on Otonabee bridge, $601 94. Cheque Book produced of that date, showing a cheque given for $176 94 to Whyte and Davis. The balance, $425, was paid by giving up a note to them. No more money was paid at that time. The note was for $425, made by themselves for that amount, and was made payable to the Town Treasurer. Can't tell the date of the note, I have no other entries showing any particulars about this note, except in butt of Cheque Book. This note was given to me with a request to get the matter out of my hands. The payment was charged in my cash book, as paid Treasurer of School Board $425, and at page 97 of the ledger, this sum was debited to the School account. Since the 18th of March, 1872, I never paid out any money or moneys to any person or persons, without entering it in my cash book. Mr. Edwards produced the Report of the Auditors for 1872. This [illegible] and this would show that as Treasurer I had a further not sum of $425 on hand.

The report of 1873 shows cash on hand, at time of audit, $1027.39.

The entry on 6th May, 1875, is to make the other entries right. I had difficulty in understanding how to make those matters right. It is entered as a rebate charged twice. I went into this matter when the bridge fell. The story of the $425 had gone abroad; I thought first my entries were correct, but on full investigation I found it was not correct; I thought when I gave the school credit for it that I was correct, but I became satisfied that I had it in my hands after fuller investigation; I can't say how long this note was in my possession. The order of 30th March, 1872, was intended to dispose of this $425. The parties signing it were town members of the Joint Committee at the time.

Mr. E. Pearce, sworn,—Am County Treasurer. I acted as Secretary of the Joint Committee who acted for construction of the bridge in 1871; I produce the book containing minutes of the committee, (the contract for the bridge was produced also.) A number of plans and tenders were received, some parties got the papers back, some did not; I can't say how many tenders there. The papers produced are all that are now in my possession relative to the tenders. There was a resolution moved by Mr. Toole, and seconded by Mr. Moher, accepting the tender of Messrs. Whyte and Davis; I think there was no division. The members of Committee present at that time were Rogers, Moher, Collins, Scott, Toole, Stevenson. There does not appear to have been a division in the Committee. On 3rd of October, 1871, a meeting took place. In 1872 Mr. Walton, Warden, took the place of Mr. Roger, and Mr. Cox became a member of the Committee in the place of Mr. Scott on the part of the Town, I have been auditor for the Town Council for about ten years. I have examined Mr. Edward's books and papers from time to time; I first discovered the irregularities in reference to this $425 because of rumors. The books and vouchers would not discover the irregularities; my suspicions were aroused by remarks I heard of it; I made up my mind if I acted as auditor again I would try and make it out. I didn't know exactly how it was, but was confirmed in my ideas by Mr. Edward's statement. There was some unwillingness to pay a claim on account of Court House grounds. I threatened to sue and told Mr. Edwards I would do so. When I was auditor I asked Mr. Edwards whether those payments on the contract were bona fide payments. He did not say they were, and then I determined to find out for myself. Mr. Edwards merely said the money was all paid out, but he suggested some things about the school. I examined the cheques, and found that one was short of payment of same date, by $425. I called the attention of Mr. Edwards to this discrepancy. When I saw him and spoke to him he appeared satisfied and stated that he was glad it was discovered for he expected it would be found out sometime. I am perfectly satisfied that Mr. Edwards felt the matter was correct. He referred to the $426 transaction with White and Davis when he said he expected it would come out some day.

Mr. Toole, sworn—I was a member of the Joint Committee on behalf of the town. I know nothing of this $425 except by hearsay. During the time or day on which the tenders were accepted, I have a vague recollection of Mr. Stevenson going out of the committee room, and I think as we were leaving the committee room Mr. Stevenson stated that Whyte and Davis had told him that they would make some drawback off their tender if they got the contract. I said if that was the case we ought to have it for the benefit of the town, for we could not to be called upon to pay the full half of the expenditure. After the contract was completed I asked Mr. Stevenson if they had done anything about the drawback, as I would soon have to give them an order for the balance. He then told me that they had given a due bill, I may

THE SOMBRA MURDER.

In our last we gave a statement of a Scotch murder of a Mr. Finlay, of the Township of Sombray. The following particulars are further given in the London Advertiser:—

THE MOTIVE.

For a long time past stories have been current in the neighborhood of an intimacy between Mrs Finlay and Smith. This, placed in conjunction with the expression that he would, before a year, be a rich man, was considered prima facie evidence that one or the other of the two accused was the actual murderer. The tales as to the improper conduct were of coarse strenuously denied, but fortunately for the ends of justice a witness was forthcoming who had seen the parties in flagrante delicto. This man, James Henry Buchanan, had at one time worked for Mr. Finlay, and one morning the two had quarrelled while keeping house during Mrs. Finlay's absence, as to whether or no they should have meat for breakfast, and upon this flimsy ground Mrs. Finlay sought to create the impression that Buchanan was the murderer. It is altogether probable that this was the intention from the first, as it will be seen further on in this article that an attempt had been made to murder Mr. Finlay the previous night, on which occasion Buchanan was a guest at the house. With some the insinuations thrown out with regard to Buchanan had their effect and during the fore part of yesterday there was a good deal of talk throughout the village of placing him in custody. Further efforts were made to shake his evidence by calling attention to his well known character, concerning which a few words may not be amiss. He is known as a sobriquet he derives from the extravagance of his actions when drunk. He is in this state pretty often, and when so is always ready for a song, a dance, or a fight. Our reporter was enabled to see him in both—while drunk and sober—and formed the opinion that he is a man whose only fault is love of liquor and such of the minor faults as attend the one indicated. When sober, however, he is a jolly, good-natured Irishman, who evidently would harm no one, and, so far as observation can go, strictly truthful. His story was plain and plausible, and although he was subjected to a severe cross-examination, no flaw could be found in his evidence.

"THE WILD IRISHMAN"

MRS. FINLAY,

who is a daughter of Mr. Jas. Rankin, of Dover East, County of Kent, a highly respectable farmer, presents a marked contrast to her paramour. Not remarkably handsome, she yet possesses sufficient beauty to rank her above the average, and her charms are of that nature which would captivate a man who would, as mentioned above, place physical development above intellectual culture. In marked contrast to Smith, her eyes are large, and from them shoot glances which even the blasé one would find enticing, and none could misunderstand. Below the middle height and somewhat stout, her form is yet a graceful one, and as a widow she possessed the additional attraction of being mistress of three hundred acres of good farm lands. How far this latter consideration may have weighed upon Smith's mind is not known, but it is alleged that a witness, who cannot now be found, is prepared to swear that some time since Smith said that within a year he would be the richest man in the township.

SMITH

is a man who must be known to many Londoners, as he lived in that city for some time. It was reported in Wallaceburg that he had at one time been put upon trial for his life at Middlesex Assizes, the charge being that he was concerned in the death of Dunn, the old pensioner who was thrown over Clarke's bridge some years ago. This, however he denies, but says his cousin John was concerned in it. The present writer is unable to speak definitely concerning this matter, as, although Smith's face is very familiar, the exact place where it was seen cannot be called to mind just at the moment of writing. He possesses a face which once seen is not easily forgotten, but an expression hard to describe. A sandy complexion he has, and is his eyes were closed you would call him intelligent from his appearance; and although a peculiarly marked pug-nose detracts from his personal beauty, he is not by any means an ugly man. His eyes [illegible] feature—small and [illegible] and he cannot, or at all events does not, not look any one in the face. During the trial he did not raise his eyes from the floor a dozen times. During the reading of Mrs. Finlay's

CONFESSION,

Smith had remained seated, his eyes cast upon the floor, but when the end was reached his coward's nature gave way, and he sobbed like a child—erring as though his heart would break. Yes, this sneaking assassin, who had the heart to plan and deliberately carry out one of the most fiendish murders on record—whose hand did not quail as he crouched in midnight darkness in the old log barn, waiting for the approach of his innocent and unsuspecting victim from his bed, perhaps with his wife's kiss fresh upon his lips—whose conscience had no qualms as he sent his loving but unloved employer to meet his Maker—he showed the coward's white liver as he heard the words which will send him to the scaffold. The distant mind in which was centered the most blood thirsty deed of the latter days in our surroundings could not sustain him in his hour of detection, and he slunk and quailed, and showed in his whole demeanor that the murderer is ever at heart a coward.

"You have murdered me both but I am innocent," were his only words.

How they do things in England.

The London Standard reports an extraordinary scene which occurred on Wednesday May 5, at the funeral of the late Mr. Baron Pigott, at Sheffield Churchyard near Basingstoke. The Baron had been dead more than a week, but it was not till a day before the funeral that his two sons who are "Plymouth Brethern, intimated that they did not wish the Church service to be read. Mr. Osborne Morgans opinion was telegraphed for, and he replied that the deceased having been baptized, the clergyman was bound to read the service over his body, but that if the clergyman was interfered with he might shut up his book and walk away, but the burial could not be stopped. The clergyman Rev. A. G. Barker, went early to the churchyard and exhorted the crowd to seemly and to decent behaviour. He and his curate Rev H Sandall, afterward met the funeral at the gate, and preceded with the words, "I am the Resurrection and the Life," when some of the mourners shouted to him to stop, and others to go on. Meanwhile the bearers, commanded by one of the Barons sons, pushed along, and threw the coffin into the grave near the gate. A collision was then sent to say that to the name of the executors he protested against the service being read. the rector shut his book and walked quietly away with the curate. The church warden have served a notice on the solicitor for the two sons, stating that they hold him legally responsible for stopping the rector in the performance of his duty. The great crowd then quietly dispersed. The report adds: "There is much indignation at the outrage, especially as it would have been quite easy to bury the deceased in Basingstoke Cemetery with any ceremonies the relations might have thought proper."

MR. BAKER, M. P. for Russell a Conservative, has been unseated by the Election Court. As in England, so here, judges are, on very similar evidence, giving different decisions. The testimony in favor of personally disqualifying Mr. Baker was about as strong as that on which Mr. Barber, of Halton, was incapacitated from again being a candidate. It is to be hoped that all cases in which there is room for a difference of opinion will be appealed to a full Bench, for it would be most unfortunate if it should come to be considered that the results of a trial were influenced to any extent by the particular judge who had charge of the case.

The Belgian Tribunal which has been investigating the charges against Duchesne the alleged pleader of Bismarck sometime have dismissed the charges against the accused. This decision is probably quite correct as all the English journals treated the alleged plot as a myth.

Election Case Tactics.

The tricks and dodges of every sort of the lawyers in the Manchester election cases are discussed at length in the two party papers with a frankness the general public has agreed with us in attaching very little importance to many charges respecting which we have been told but we have been cautioned by lawyers who say in cases in which every legal quibble involved against Sir John Macdonald or against Mr. Thomas White, Jr., has been stigmatized as persecution when a country is full of election cases and the same means are so freely used on one side as the other. We suppose that for every act of obstruction on one side there could be found a counterpart on the other. Mr. White obtained from Judge Beaudry in Chambers an order to inspect the ballots at Ottawa. Mr. Mackenzie, thinking that his order ought not to have been asked for either on his being notified, that he might oppose it, before the judge by counsel, and pointing also that the order had granted more than the law allowed in permitting the inspection of all the ballots instead of only the rejected ones, appeals and the Chronicle points out by say that he is opposing fair enquiry. When the appeal is acknowledged by the clerk of the Crown in Chancery as taking the matter at present out of his hands, a new order is produced in the name of another gentleman, with which Mr. Mackenzie is supposed to have nothing to do, Mr. Mackenzie's representatives, being surprised by this order and wondering how it could be obtained without their knowing it, pointed out that it was not original, which should have been left in the court, and that it was not stamped; and again the cry is raised that they are trying to burke enquiry. From all we know about processes at law, it is the custom of lawyers to make all they can out of informalities, even if they be in mere matters of form, and those who go to law usually lay in their account for this, but we are requested by Mr. Mackenzie's legal advisers to say that they would have taken no issue on mere informalities, but that on the three points above indicated they considered that the legal rights of their client had been violated. We hope that customers almost exploded in New York are not going to be introduced here. It must surely be an unusual thing to ask a judge after dark for an order affecting the interests and rights of four thousand citizens, to take effect immediately, and with the avowed intention that neither the party principally interested nor any other shall be allowed to intervene. All the voting tickets would appear by Judge Beaudry's said order to have been committed to a number of interested parties without oversight, although a very trifling carelessness might render any of them void, The persons to whom it was given were doubtless worthy of any trust, but it would make a singular precedent.

Church Property in Germany.

With reference to the funds of which the Catholic Church is to be deprived under the new law the Germania says:—"These funds are included in the section 'permanent expenses of the Ministry of Public Worship,' and they came under three heads: (1) Bishoprics and institutions belonging to them, in round numbers, 1,250,000 marks; (2). Catholic clergymen and churches, in round numbers 1,400,000 marks; and (3) somewhat less than 40,000 marks for the Catholic Consistories, (so the bishop's councils exercising judicial functions are termed); this last sum is, for other reasons, destined for gradual extinction. * * The entire total sum, therefore, amounts to about 9,000,000 thalers (about £135,000) nearly the sum often contributed in a single year towards the Peter's pence by the small State of Holland; and since there are nearly 6,000,000 Catholics in Prussia, amounting to nearly three silver groschen (about 1½ d.) per head—not a very heavy burden surely, even if they should be called upon (which will not be necessary) to quite make good the whole loss. "Under these circumstances is it not an insult offered to the fidelity of our bishops and priests to expect that any effect whatever will be wrought upon their conduct by the new measure, still less to expect their submission to the unchristian and immoral principle of unconditional and unlimited obedience to the State?"

EVIDENCES OF DEMORALIZATION.

Judging from the dishes which the junior organ of the Tory party in Toronto serves up to its readers, they must be a gullable lot indeed. That paper on the 2nd inst. asserted that the election of Mr. Macdougall, as a member for Simcoe, "betrayed marked evidences of demoralization in the ranks" of the Reform party. But we doubt if even the readers of the Mail are simple enough to think that Mr. Macdougall's return by a majority of 206 as compared with about 400 of a majority for the Tory candidate at the last previous election in the same constituency, is an evidence of demoralization. Bestowy we think do evidences of demoralization in the Opposition ranks multiply with every issue of that paper. The securing of Mr. Macdougall as a leader of the Opposition in the Local Legislature, was a very strong proof of their consciousness of weakness. And now another is added in the Mail's invitation to Mr. Charles Rykert to stand again for Lincoln. It is pitiable to see a journal which pretends to express the views of a party, upholding a man who was in effect ignominiously hustled out of the House so recently for questionable procedure.

But Rykert would be a fit colleague for the Hon. William Macdougall. We are only too much afraid that his hopes of securing the seat for Lincoln "have departed for ever."

Only the other day a member of the Liberal Conservative Association for South Ontario explained to us that Mr. M. C. Cameron was above doing a certain work that was necessary in Opposition, and that Mr. Macdougall was "just the man to do it." We do not doubt it in the least. But if both the latter gentlemen and Mr. Rykert were in the House, we fear that even the necessities of the present Opposition would not afford them sufficient "dirty work" to do. Mr. Cameron must feel proud of such noble colleagues. But we suppose he does not intend to remain in a position which requires him to do that which he feels himself above doing.

If the Opposition really see any ground for encouragement in the present aspect of affairs, they are welcome to it all. A party, however, is not generally reconstructed in the manner which is attempted with it, when the party is in the hey-day of life and vigor, and "evidences of demoralization" so apparent in their opponents' rank and file.—Ex.

SUMMARY.

Church property in Quebec city, exempt from taxation, amounts to $1,500,000, or one seventh of the whole assessment.

Two Goderich boys went and had a smoke in the company of two powder kegs. Result—What have been anticipated. $3,000 worth of property also destroyed.

The names of Hon Oliver Mowat, Chief Justice Ritchie, of New Brunswick, Hon W. H. Henry, Q. C. of Halifax, and Hon Stephen Richards, Q. C., of Toronto, are mentioned in connection with seats on the Supreme Court Bench

The Prince of Wales in his tour in Ireland will be dressed like an Eastern potentate, in a big turban and baggy trousers, and his equipage will be as magnificent as it can be made. The intention, of course, is to do sale the natives with a spectacular exhibition of their future ruler. The cost of this royal show will be about a million dollars.

The spire of Strasbourg Cathedral is no longer the highest in Europe. The steeple of the church of St. Nicholas, at Hamburg, just completed, is 472 feet high, and six feet higher than that of Strasbourg.

On the 24th ultimo the Legislature of the British Columbia passed, by a unanimous vote, a bill to disqualify Indians and Chinese as voters. It provides that the names of no Indians or Chinese shall be placed upon the voters' list, under a penalty of $50 and imprisonment for each offence, and that all such named now found upon registers or lists shall be struck off.

What is this world coming to anyway? Down in Guelph, the Police Magistrate has actually fined a "gentleman" $25 for writing a respectable man with a stick, and the gentleman was a "newspaper correspondent, or reporter" too. Of the kind of the part they bear in the middle, carry their stories by wildfire, whose supply of comments is unbridled, and who if they posted their books in the middle, would have nothing on either side of the line.—Exchange.

The curious belief which is said to prevail among the Roman Catholics that a person who has been excommunicated, or is physically a prisoner, will find among confirmation to the Pontiff's words to a deputation of French pilgrims on the subject of whom he said: "Tell your countrymen that I am free. The Church never was more free to act than now. I cannot go out of the Vatican, but I am not a prisoner. I am in this Palace, deprived of the assistance of going out to bathe the baby once and my fears."

Railway and Council Matters

Have been crowded out this week, but it will be attended to next week.

Hopeville.

A rumor that McGee and Sparham the abortionists were reprieved is contradicted. The matter has not come before His Excellency yet.

Toronto

Has had a serious fire. It commenced in Good's Foundry, Queen street east, and before stopped several buildings were destroyed. The loss is calculated at $150,000. The property is partly insured.

St. Anthony Church.

The Rev. Mr. Fahy who has been officiating for some time past in the C. P. Church, will hold Divine service, (D. V.) in St. Andrew's church, on Sabbath evening next, at 7 o'clock. There will be no service in the morning, owing to the minister's absence at the meeting of Synod.

Coal Tar as Paint.

Coal Tar is coming into very general use as a paint, two coats applied to shingles or old building effectually prevent the wood from decay. The tar makes a gum on the surface which excludes air and water. It is capital for the bottoms of posts; and costs but a fraction of the price of other paint, and may be had at any Gas Works. 19-9in

Bowmanville.

Is not to have a Fire Engine yet. The By-law to raise $6000 to purchase one has been voted down. The people now and then are guilty of some foolish acts, and this is one of them. A town with a population of 3,200 souls, and having an assessed value of $834,482. to be without any means of protection from fire, is in a very unsafe state, but may receive a lesson in due time.

Monck.

Dr. Haney and Mr. Edgar are the nominees of the Reform party for this constituency. Mr. Edgar represented it during 1872 to 1874, when he was defeated by Mr. McCallum who has been unseated for corrupt practices. Dr Haney was elected last January by over 300 of a majority, but was unseated through the over zeal of some of his friends. It is now well understood that both the Reform candidates will be re-elected.

The Weather.

Has been favorable for farming operations during the past two or three weeks. Refreshing rains and warm weather following, has completely changed the whole face of nature. Spring crops are all in, and with a continuance of this beautiful weather, farmers may expect another abundant harvest. Fall wheat promises a good crop, and hay will be equal to last year, unless some sudden change comes. On the whole, an abundant harvest is anticipated in this county.

Stetheni

Elegant pattern of electro-silver plated goods, suitable for wedding, anniversary and birthday presentation, can be obtained at Mr. Stetheni's. He has gone out of the usual run of cruets and butter coolers, and now shows beautiful Vases, Tea Sets, Spoon Holders, Fruit Stands, Ice Pitchers, Card Receivers, Toilet Sets, Jewelry cases, besides other goods rarely offered outside the cities. He tells us they are furnished direct from the best manufactories, and that he can give a written guarantee as to quality. A look at his stock will convince you that he has nice goods.

For Exhibition and Show.

Mr. Fitzgibbon has now ready for sale and keeps on hand a very nice lot of the most stylish cabriolets, buggies, phaetons, and waggonets for pleasure and comfort, and wagons for general use. A visit to his show rooms will repay those who are about to purchase anything in the carriage line. His carriages are very handsome, and are much sought for, and the waggonets are also being introduced on account of their neatness. The material used, he assures us is best blue oak and American hickory. The finish is good and the whole appearance of his carriages, &c., will be found to please those desiring a handsome carriage or buggy. Call and see them. 19-1a.

Dominion Day.

The Temperance men of Port Hope are getting up an excursion. Reduction on Dominion Day. Railways will issue tickets at half fare for the day. Ample preparation for refreshments will be secured. Addresses by D. Lee and W. Kapper of England, will be delivered, and no doubt other leading speakers of this County. Those who are seeking a day of profitable pleasure would do well to go down and see Port Hope. On train leaves here at 8.30 a. m. Leaving on that train will enable those who wish to have a whole day in Port Hope, see all the sights, hear all the speeches, enjoy all the fun, and if they reach the return train in time, to return home that same evening, safe and sound if nothing happens. All who can should go to Port Hope for that day.

Collegiate Institute.

The examination for 2C specified from the Public Schools to the Collegiate Institute, took place on Tuesday and Wednesday. There were 50 candidates; 20 boys and 29 girls. The papers, so far as examined are very good. The questions were prepared in Toronto, and were not unreasonable, although well suited to test the system of teaching in our Public Schools. In many cases 100 per cent. was obtained, while 60 to 90 per cent. was obtained by a great number of the candidates. Fifty per cent. must be obtained on all subjects before any one can be promoted. A list of successful candidates will be published in due time.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES

The Board met on Tuesday evening. All the members present, except Messrs Hilliard and Edwards.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Miss Boucher, tendering her resignation, to take effect at the end of this present term. This was accepted.

Also from Miss [illegible] tendering her resignation. This was also accepted, and afterward this resolution was passed.

Moved by Mr. Cox, and seconded by Mr. Smith that this Board in accepting the resignation of Mrs. Flavell, desire to express their appreciation of the very valuable services rendered during the many years she has been connected with our schools, and express their regrets that she has decided to retire from the position that she has filled so long and with such marked success and satisfaction.

From Miss Macready, asking permanent appointment as Teacher, which was referred to the committe on appointments.

Mr. Smith, chairman of the Finance Committie reported, recommending payment of accounts, to J Stratton, $16.60, E. Courtney, $6.40.

Mr. Smith, also as chairman of committee on appointments reported, recommending that Mr. McKee's salary be increased to $500, Miss Flavelle's to $250, and Miss Borrowman to $200 to date from term of promotion. The committee in making this report did not wish to affirm the principle that because a teacher was promoted to a different room, he or she should get an increased salary, as they considered merit should determine salaries. After considerable discussion the report was received and adopted, there being a division of opinion in the committee itself.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by G. Robertson, that the salary of Miss Greenlow be increased to $275, and the 16th rule be temporarily suspended for that purpose—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Edminson, seconded by Mr. Smith, that owing to the delicate state of Principal Dixon's health it is desirable that he should be relieved from his duties as principal until after the midsummer holidays, he accordingly be shall make such arrangements with his assistants teachers as may be necessary for the carrying on of the work of the Schools in his absence as efficiently as possible—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. McClelland, that the Secretary be instructed to advertertise for teachers to fill the vacancies caused by the resignation of Mrs. Flavelle and Miss Boucher, and also for Mr. Hands position.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Edminson, seconded by Mr. Smith, that the salaries of Mr. Snopley and Mr. Earl, respectively be increased one hundred dollars each per year, and that for the purpose of this motion the 15th rule of this Board be suspended to take effect from January, 1875.

The Board also discussed the matter of salaries and the increase asked for. There was a pretty unanimous feeling that good teachers should be properly paid, so that the best services should be retained, and this the more that, in future Government grants would be by results.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL

The council met on Monday evening, all the members present except Mr. Calcutt. Several tenders for building a side walk on the north side of Elizabeth street, were received and read, and that of A. B. Downer at 81 cents a rod was accepted.

A letter from Messrs. Dumble and Bleecker, in reference to a cow belonging to Mr. John McClelland, breaking her leg at McKellars corner, was read, Mr. McClelland wants payment for his animal, on the ground that no boulders should be set at corners of streets to interrupt runaway teams.

A small account from Mr. Swanston for bread furnished poor persons, was ordered to be paid.

A petition from R. D. Rogers and one hundred others was read, requesting the council to forgive the widow of the late Daniel McDonald the sum of $221, said to be due the village at the time of his decease. It was agreed by the Council that the interest of the sum due be paid from time to time to the person holding the locality during the term of office of the present Council. Several persons were present asking for sidewalks and repairs to streets.

The Council adjourned.

SOUTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL

The Municipal Council of the Township of South Monaghan met in the Council Chamber, on Monday the 31st day of May, 1875, at 10 o'clock.

The minutes of last meeting were then read and on motion received.

Some petitions with regard to sidewalks and billboards were read, and on motion were laid on on the table.

Mr. Campbell was heard with regard to loss of sheep. On being sworn he deposed that he had [illegible] worried the beginning of April, to the value of eight dollars. He could not find what dog had done the damage. Two thirds was allowed.

Several accounts were handed in for printing, salaries, &c.

Moved [illegible] Rutherford, that the Reeve issue his order on the Treasurer for the following amounts, viz:—S. Campbell loss on sheep, $19; A. E. Hayter Printing, $3.80; Councillors, 1 day's attendance $10; Clerk, 4 months, $80; J. Culver, mending scraper, $3.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Waterman, that the Bailiebero and centreville people get a grant of fifteen thousand feet of lumber each to help to build and keep their bridges in repair.—Carried.

COURT OF REVISION.

The Municipal Council of the Township of South Monaghan met as Court of Revision on Monday the 31st day of May, 1875 at 11 o'clock, a. m.

Members present—Messrs. Barnard, Waterman, Fee, Rutherford, and Wood.

Each of the members took the required oath of office and then proceeded to the Revision of the Assessment Roll.

Moved by Mr. Fee, seconded by J. Barnard that John Waterman be Assessor.—Carried

Moved by Mr. Fee, seconded by Mr. Rutherford that J. Barnard read all the names on the roll.

Moved by Mr. Fee, seconded by Mr. Wood, that the name of Thos. Bamble be struck off the roll for part of Lot 1, con. 6, and that the name of Thos. Wright be entered in lieu of it.—Carried.

Moved by R. Fee, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that the name of George Morrison be inserted on the roll as owner of the half of Lot 1, Con. 4.

Moved by Mr. Fee, seconded by Mr. Wood that this Council do now adjourn for dinner.—Carried.

At 2.30 the Council resumed.

The reading of the Roll was then continued, when some errors were found.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Wood that this Court do now adjourn for three weeks, to meet again at the Council Chamber.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Barnard, seconded Mr. Fee, that it adjourn for three weeks, to meet again at Bellieboro. —Carried.

SUICIDE AT KEMPTVILLE

A Kemptville Merchant run over and killed by a Train on the St. L. & O. R. R.

On Monday morning as the train approached Kemptville, the engineer observed a man walking on the track. As the train neared the man he showed no inclination to get out of the way, the engineer warning him by three peals of the whistle When the down breaks was given, the man threw up his head placing himself across the track. The whole train passed over him, mutilating him in the most horrible manner. On stopping the train it was found that he was not extinct, but in a few minutes all was over. The remains were identified as being Wm. Anderson a merchant tailor of Kemptville, and a man about 50 years of age. No reason for the suicide has been assigned.

INQUEST.

At 12 o'clock an inquest was held on the body by Dr. Sparham. The engineer, conductor and several by-standers were examined, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts, the railway officials being relieved from all blame in the matter.

The funeral of the deceased, who was one of the oldest members of Mt. Zion Lodge. A.F. & A.M., Kemptville took place at half-past 3 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday.—Record.

The Catholics of Toronto have purchased Bond Street Baptist Church for $12,650. It was formerly purchased by the Baptists for $32,000. They are now about to take possession of their new edifice.

GOW—WOOD—At Beverlook, township of Harvey, on the 2nd inst., by the bride's father, on the 1st inst., by the Rev. N. Clark, Mr. John F. Gow, of Ashburnham, to Jane Shoreston, eldest daughter of Wm. Wood, Esq., J. P.

BULLOCK—FITZGERALD—At the residence of the bride's father, Douro, on the 3rd instant, by Rev. N. Clark, Mr. William John Bullock, to Miss Margaret Ann Fitzgerald.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT! A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—These are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all."—J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with Liver Complaint for several years and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until tried it Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, &c., and think it is equally as good for horses as for man." A Mayhew, Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundred bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rusan, Township Percy, writes, "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Maybee of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine.

D.A.M.A[illegible]

THE [illegible]ON OF IRELAND.

With due [illegible]
To w[illegible]
And without hesitation, I'll show how that nation
Became of creation the gem and the queen.

"'Twas early one morning without any warning,
That Venus was born in the beautiful Sea,
And by the same token and sure term pertaining,
Her pinnace was making and [illegible] the plain

"Old Neptune, who knew her, began to pursue her,
In order to woo her—the wicked old Jew
And almost had caught her atop of the water—
Great Jupiter's daughter!—which never would do.

"But Jove, the great Jupiter, looked down and saw Venus,
And Neptune so heinous pursuing her fleeting,
And he spoke out in thunder, which rattled the welkin,
And sure 'twas no wonder—'twas enough for to frighten.

"A star that was flying [illegible]
He caught with small trying, and down let it snap.
It fell quick as wishing on Neptune a-sinking
Had save him, I'm thinking a bit of a rap.

"That star it was dry-land, low-land and big-island
And formed a sweet island, the land of my birth.
This plain is the story that, sent down from glory,
Old Erin asthore is the [illegible]

"Upon Erin safely, jumped Venus so stately,
But fainted kase wisely so hard she was doosed
Which much did bewilder, but cup is had filled her
Her father dwisited her a drop of the best.

"That cup was victorious, it made her feel gracious—
A little obnoxious I [illegible]
So how can you blame either [illegible]
For drinking and lunacy for fighting and love."

UNSTABLE PEOPLE.

Some people are born a mistake. They say so themselves, and therefore there can be no discourtesy in repeating the observation. Whether different circumstances and different trainings might have rectified nature's error, it is hard to say. Circumstances and training have done nothing for many, we know, accordingly, a mistake they have remained to the end. "Unstable as water, thou shalt not excel;" that was the pleasant programme sketched out for them. "Unstable as water," they do not excel, and they make everybody who has the misfortune to be connected with them, miserable in consequence. "Unstable as water!" How can a man, not to be a bad man, have more said in his dispraise? Unstable as water, his purpose flows backward and forward perpetually.

With youth, health and ample means fair talents, he starts, at six and twenty was as fair prospects of happiness as need be possessed by any man. Life is before him—life, with its objects, its pleasures, its duties; but the duties he never performs, the pleasures he never tastes, the objects he never attains. At twenty-six existence seems a vast conception; at forty, it is an unfinished, unsatisfactory, miserable failure.

May we be delivered from such a result! Oh, that when the noon of our life comes it may find some work finished some duty discharged, on which the sorrowful sunset draws near—as the darkening twilight and the darker night approach—may the toiler look back on the bright mid-day hours without the bitterest thought humanity knows, of having lost time, which, even with all eternity before us we may never retrieve.

"Unstable as water," the force with which the current of such a man's feelings hurry him along to an object one moment is only equaled by the violence of the flood by which he is detached from it the next. Over the sea of life he floats—a boat without a rudder—a mariner without a star—tossed hither and thither by every wave of passion, by every caprice of impulse. Almost continually he keeps within sight of the promised land of peace and comfort and content; but never once, all never, does he manage to reach the shores. Always planning, never perfecting; always commencing, never completing; always borrowing, never repaying; always thinking, never performing; he spends the whole of his boyhood, manhood, and age, in sending down lost opportunities and good intentions to that place [illegible] roofed with the other.

FEMALE BEAUTY.

What is it? In what does it consist? Do tell us, O deep-penetrating phrenologist! for it is a theme of universal comment by the males, and a something unanimously desired by the females. It is symmetry of face and form, glossy curls, ruddy cheeks, pearly teeth, bangsinking eyes, dark eye-brows, and towering hair? If so, then all are beautiful—yes, paragon of loveliness. Indeed, there is then, no such thing as an "ugly woman." She becomes a myth—a monstrosity of the past, and all her descendants perished in the flood [illegible] of Noah. See one of our modern Cleopatras on the streets, and what a picture! Sylph-like form and elastic tread cheeks ruddy as those of several goddess and reminding one of the snow flakes in verbena beds; lips, rival rosebuds; eyes like jewels from a seraph's crown; hair towering [illegible] high, and "What winning graces, what majestic mien! She moves like a goddess, and she looks a queen."

But alas, some one of her sex letting out the secret as usual, says,

"Many a face looks exceedingly pretty on the street that is made up of bismuth, pearl powder and rouge, with artificially pencilled eyebrows, lips touched with carmine, and eyes whose sparkle is attributed to a bath of cologne water or the use of belladonna. Hair, you know is bought at so much per switch, and couturiers make the dresses." Heartless slanderer, and if we had permitted her to proceed she would have directed [illegible] to [illegible] reacted to (as she says) to fill out round off, and plumperize the form. But all these allegations are certainly false, and that "allegator" must have known it; and she thereby [illegible] being an "ugly woman," for anybody who will tell tales upon the women. "be he man or be he woman," is certainly a very ugly person—or very nearly so.

But [illegible] does not consist in these things. The Venus of Apelles may charm for a time, but soon loses its effect, and why? Because it lacks soul animation and intelligence. No [illegible] spirit beams out through the eye; there is no intellectual radiation from an immortal essence lighting up the countenance; no scintillations of genius fall from its marble lips. These kind those alone constitute female beauty. The features may be as fair and symmetrical as the alabaster vase of the wax doll figure, but [illegible] delineating [illegible] of a cultivated and illuminate them, they are as powerless to charm as the dull countenance of a corpse. On the other hand the features may be irregular, and at first sight repulsive, but when lightened up by effulgence of an inner spiritual fire, the face becomes beautiful and attractive.

No [illegible] which admiration upon a face illuminated by intellect. Let the [illegible] remember this, and cultivate the heart, the soul, the [illegible] that immortality which [illegible] glory and reality to the sex.

[illegible] professions that coming comes in [illegible] made a [illegible] govern[illegible] Prince 1857.

SETTING AND SKIMMING MILK.

Cream rises because of the contrary acted by light specific gravity of the butter globules. The cream arranges itself upon the surface according to the size of the globules, the largest globules being at or near the top. Cream is therefore, an uneven product rising in layers. Each layer is different, and produces a different quality of butter, and one layer is better for butter-making than another. The cream rising first is the richest, produces the best butter, and churns quickest. The second skimmings is poorer [illegible] and the third poorer still. Hence it appears, a fortiori that obtaining too much butter from his milk, the increase in quantity not sufficiently compensating for the decrease in quality brought about by the churning of globules which should have been left in the buttermilk. Dr. Stumpenn argues that the value of a cow as a bread winner is determined by the percentage of cream in her milk as milk yielding but ten per cent of cream may furnish more butter than that yielding thirty per cent. Ergo, cents (that is all per cent) would probably yield the most cheese; and deep setting that of the best quality.

The A high pressure of modern life may or may not be an evil. Even medical men are divided on the point, and seers, upon the whole, disposed to agree that insanity and heart diseases are not at all more frequent than they used to be, and that the average duration of life is steadily increasing. On the other hand, the increased cost of living is more apparent than real, as any man will find who will take the trouble at the end of the week to ask himself how much he has spent upon really reasonable necessaries, and how much he has thrown away to gratify his pleasure or fancy. The fact is, that exactly as we make money quickly, so we spend it quickly, and that when money can be quickly made, the necessity for saving is less paramount. It is, no doubt, matter of regret that the richest portion of society is not also the best educated, and that so much money should be wasted upon pleasures of a low order. Even here, however, the world has not wholly lost by the change, and the young city man, who tosses his guineas about as he makes them, is quite as estimable, and far more amiable a type of humanity than are the Wasles and featherstone s of "Middlemarch."—London Examiner.

The Appeal and Misrnew diam.

With very bad taste indeed, we think, the appearance of the law card of Sir John Macdonald's firm in the Montreal Gazette is made the text of a general appeal against the hard fate which compels the right honorable gentleman to go to work again. The humiliation heaped [illegible] of the Gazette are very far from being calculated to elevate the dignity of its political leader, who we may say, has himself accepted political reverses in a manly and dignified manner, which has elicited the sympathy and respect of the country. The object of the Gazette, however, is to make a little capital politically, by representing Sir John as an injured statesman, who has sacrificed his life to the public weal, and is left in his old age compelled to battle with perfidious necessity. All this may sound very nice, but there is not the slightest foundation for it. Sir John preferred political distinction to the mere struggle for wealth, which he might have chosen had he so elected, and it cannot be denied that he has had his full of public honors. His ambition has been a most successful one, and has been gratified by rewards that fall to few equally deserving and laborious public men. He has had the honor of leading the Government of Canada for twenty years of being especially honored by Her Majesty, and has received the order of Knighthood at her hands. Instead of being hardly favored by fortune, he has been treated by that ordinary fickle goddess with constand and continual kindness. Even the political disaster which overtook him, was not of her awarding, but was the result of his own [illegible] misconduct. And let us whisper in the ear of the Gazette that it may exceedingly doubtful if the ex-Premier is the "poor man" whom it so pathetically holds forth to the public as the monument of their fickleness and ingratitude. He has a professional business, from which, with ordinary attention, he may reap very handsome emoluments, and is probably lessened of a private fortune of at least $100,000, a very fair competence for a Canadian politician. In the political battle he has to take the same chances with his competitors. He has had more than the average share of good luck, and when beaten is does not become his organs to whine as if some divine right to rule were violated. Let our contemporary cheer up, and in hopeful anticipations for the future, which is still open to its leader, find cause to curse his stars with less asperity.—Free Press.

A BOY'S TERRIBLE LEAP.

In the yard of Arthur Dubois's hotel in Marlborough, Ulster County, six or seven miles from Newburgh, N. Y., is a gorge 200 feet deep. Immediately behind the hotel the bank slopes down about 125 feet to a ledge of rocks, and from there to the bottom of the gorge the bank is almost perpendicular, and is covered with a moss and slimy substance, with water oozing from the crevices of the rock. A few days ago Mr. Egbert Hall, while standing on the piazza in the rear of the hotel, which overlooked the chasm, while coughing, lost a set of teeth, and on Sunday morning, after several persons had discussed the possibility of climbing down to this ledge of rocks, two men by securing a rope to the building lowered themselves to the ledge, but without any success in finding the teeth. Concerning they spoke of the impossibility of getting into the bottom of the gorge on account of the abruptness of the bank from the ledge down, when a boy about fifteen years of age, David [illegible] offered to go for $5 dollars if any one would give him fifty cents. A bystander offered to give him five dollars if he reached the bottom, and he immediately began to descend, reaching the rocky ledge with little trouble, when to the horror of those who were watching him, he deliberately jumped from its brink and disappeared from sight. Everybody supposed that he instantly killed, but in a moment they saw him, appear in sight at the bottom of the gorge waving his hat and shouting in triumph. When he struck among the stones and gravel at the bottom he landed on his feet, but the momentum caused him to turn a somersault [illegible] down the bank. The distance down is about seventy-five feet, and it is said to be the most remarkable on record, certainly where so little injury was sustained.

A Brown County editor bought his ink by the jug full, because he could get it cheaper, but his wife went to fill the inkstand one morning and found it wasn't ink by a jugful.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURELY DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

GRATEFUL THOUSANDS proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these TONIC Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, and such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and sound in any climate, and being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action, remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such disorders as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the following pages for the use of the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Biliousness, Bilious Fevers, Inflammation of the Stomach, Piles, Rheumatism, Gout, Colic, Nausea, Heartburn, Headache, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Drowsiness, Fever and Ague, Eruptions of the Skin, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sores, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors, and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Pills.

For Erysipelas and its various symptoms, Blotches or Eruptions, Sores or Ulcers, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scurfiness, Scald Head, Ringworm, Coughs and Colds, Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Dysentery, Indigestion, Constipation, Piles, Fistula, Worms of all kinds, Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Gravel, Pain in the Side, Kidneys, Bladder, Diseases of the Heart, Pain in the Back, Loins and Limbs, they have no equal, as, when taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dysentery and Diarrhœa a few doses should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Dropsy, Suppression, or Retention of Urine, they should be taken as directed in the following pages, as they act directly upon the system, in relaxing the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause the disease.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often times better to use them in preventing disease than to cure after the attack. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and [illegible] effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this unrivalled remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the tribes of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Bloody and Pubilo Spasmodic find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or show that the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, or Mercury, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is neither followed by any injurious consequences. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, where other remedies had wholly failed.

Translated persons, either residents, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, prudence many times rendering unnecessary, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold [illegible] the world.

Select Poetry.

ONLY A DROP.

Written after hearing a young man refuse the invitation of a too kind-hearted host to take "only a drop" of Wine.

"Only a drop!" Surely naught can befall Of harm, from a thing so weak and small; "Only a drop!" Yet heware! heware! The germ of a myriad ills is there.

"Only a drop!" In that drop I see Ten Thousand ghastly phantoms of misery; In the bright sparkling, ruby light, so clear, Oh! God! what visions of woe appear!

"Only a drop!" Yet its burning wave Hath borne to the raving remorseless grave The hopes of the aged; the gladness of youth; Fair promise found trust, and proved manhood's truth.

"Only a drop!" the sad stolen prayer Wrung from the widow's lone heart is there, And the wife's and well said the orphan's cry. That ofttimes ascend to the throne on high.

"Only a drop!" See! the young and old. The proud in his rags and the rich in his gold, The brave in his might and the high in his pride, Are all swept away by this pitiless tide.

"Only a drop!" Hah a demon comes Of hatred and crime, of misery and shame Hath a horrid spectre our hallowed thing But from that little drop sang ogling.

"Only a drop!" Yet lower rest where The fiend of the wine-cup hath spread her snare: The song of the siren are here, and her breath Blasts hope, life—all with the blight of death.

LAND TENNANCY IN SCOTLAND

FROM A SPEECH BY MR. HOPE BEFORE THE DUKE OF RICHMOND.

A deputation from the Scottish Chamber of Agriculture waited yesterday by appointment upon the Duke of Richmond and the Lord Advocate, at the Privy Council Department, London, on the subject of the Scottish land tenancy question, and to make suggestions for the grievances complained of. The deputation consisted of four ex-Presidents of the Chamber - viz., Mr. M'Neel Caird, Wigtownshire; Mr. George Hope of Bordlands, formerly of Fountonburns; Mr. Wm. Smith, West Drums, Brechin; and Mr. John Clay, Kercheaters, Kelso.

Mr. Hope said—I hope it will not be considered egotistical if I confine my remarks chiefly to my own experience as a practical farmer, and I hope at the close you will be able to see the bearing of this experience on the question at issue. I have been engaged in farming for upwards of 46 years, and for nearly 40 years I have had the management, or been tenant, of a large arable farm in East Lothian. My great ambition from the first was to improve the inferior land I farmed, so that my crops might be equal to any in the district. I used to take long rides every year before harvest to see the crops on all the crack farms, and I always returned home dissatisfied and very miserable. However, when tile draining was discovered, and I had made a trial of it, I saw the first thing necessary was to have all my land drained thoroughly drained. My landlord generously gave me leave to erect a tile work on my farm, that I might make the tiles required, and also to sell what I could to assist me to pay for digging the drains. In six or seven years I had got the land all drained, and had put large tiles into most of the deep, wide ditches, had them filled up, and the land made arable to the hedgerows. This way of getting rid of ditches saves the expense of an annual cleaning, and it improves the appearance and warmth of a farm. In place of a large plain fallow break, at most not a fourth under turnip crop, I had excellent turnips over the whole. I also went largely into feeding cattle and sheep with linseed cake and bruised beans, which I found one of the best ways of making rich manure, and productive crops. I remember when I first spent £100 in the purchase of rape cakes and bone dust for manure, I doubted if I should ever see it again. However, this outlay for manures was subsequently doubled, tripled, and quadrupled; and then in 1844 I bought and applied 100 tons of guano on a farm of 660 acres. Then, and not till then, I was was satisfied with the bulk of my crop, and my neighbours remarked to me, "what a fine farm you have got." In 1852 I gave up the last three years of my lease, and got a new one on an additional rent of about 16 per cent. I bargained for a new farm house, which the additional rent for the three years of the lease nearly paid for. I should mention that years previously, my proprietor, the late Mr. Ferguson, had spent $1200 in building new offices and cottages for me without charging interest for the outlay. Of course, I drove all the carriage. If I had not got this new lease, I should have left without making a sixpence, and the landlord would have reaped the benefit of all my expenditure during the past twenty years by which I had rendered one of his inferior farms equal to the best. It is true I might have reduced my expenditure during the last three or four years of the lease of let-wixt a rent and a half and two rents annually for manures and feeding stuffs, but which would have ultimately been a loss to myself, the landlord and the great body of consumers. However, the idea of leaving never once occurred to me. Throughout the whole of this next lease I managed in the same way as I had done formerly. I never spared expense in improving my farm, and my crops increased in quantity and quality. It is perhaps not generally known that though, by the force of manure, any additional amount of straw may be grown, yet land requires to be a long time in high condidition before quantity and quality of grain can be obtained. Indeed while rapidly increasing the condition of land, the quality of grain grown is deteriorated. The deepening of the active soil is also of the greatest importance. In the first place, it prevents to a large extent the lodging of the grain, which is a common occurrence in wet seasons, and secondly, it enables all crops greatly to withstand drought in dry ones. It is particularly beneficial to turnip crops, for which Scotland is now famous. After I got a steam plow, which I used during the last ten years of the lease I brought a portion of the subsoil of the top of every autumn over my whole fallow breaks, and having mixed the soils by grubbing and then manuring them thoroughly, I was comparatively independent of rain after I had once got a braird, and I found this the case even on very dry sandy soils. To add fifty per cent. to depth in entire soils costs money, but it adds immensely to the security for a crop, whether the seasons are wet or dry. Finally, my lease came to a close in 1873, and I did not get a change of renewing it but, by this time I had made myself independent of the landlord, and now I farm my own land. I may add it is understood my old farm was relet at an increased rent of 50 per cent., which has certainly not been obtained for any other farm in the district. I had determined before the closing of my lease to farm to the end as I had throughout but I certainly grudged the £3000 or £3600 worth of unexhausted manure I left in the soil, and for which I should have been paid if I had farmed in Lincolnshire, The conclusions I draw from what I have stated are that it takes a large expenditure and a very long term to put land into the best condition for cropping, but when that is once obtained, the profits are undoubtedly large. People have not faith in what land can really do when liberally treated, and apparently they will never learn until they obtain security for their outlay. I also know if the outlay for manure or labor is withheld for even two or three years, it takes double the time to regain what has been lost. I have known men who took run out farms and who farmed really well, actually ruined, simply because at first the crops yielded badly, while their successors made money from the land having been brought nearer to the paying point. It seems to me only common justice that going out tenants should be paid for all expenditure left by them in the land, which adds to its letting value. Nothing gives me greater pleasure than to see well managed land and heavy crops, while it is odious to look at dirty land and half crops. My opinion is that not a fiftieth part of the kingdom is farmed as it should be, but I do not blame the tenants. At present many of them may not know any better, still, so long as landlords retain the power of confiscating at pleasure the improvements effected by occupiers, I question if it is advisable for them to act otherwise than they do. Even in Scotland, with leases they have often a better chance of a renewal at its close by farming only moderately well, and not presuming to make money. I should like much to see a law on the general principle of compensation contained in Messrs Howard and Read's bill extend to Scotland. I am confident it would immensely increase the cultivation, insure good farming to the end of the lease, and greatly benefit landlords, tenants, and the general public.

THE ISLAND OF SARK.

Seven miles from Guernsey is Sark, one of the smallest, most curious, most interesting, most elusive, most desolate most beautiful, most dangerous, most sublime, of the Atlantic islands. The old legend-makers, who have sung such werid tales of phantom islands, now appearing close at hand, then vanishing like enchantment, must have drawn their inspirations from watching Sark from Guernsey. On some days it is distinct and looks so near that cliffs and houses and even men can be distinguished with the naked eye, and the soft play of light and shade and color on the rocks. The next day one shall look in the same direction, and he will discern with difficulty the faint hazy outline of what seems an island forty miles away. The approach to the isl and is almost always hazardous, and except in the best weather no boat can land or leave, owing to the maelstrom-like velocity and turbulence of the tides which rush raging in all directions around the shore, and fill the hollow caves with melancholy dirges, as if for the many wrecked on that merciless coast. The late Seigneur of Sark was lost off Point Nez, and the present Seigneur and his family have had an escape bordering on the miraculous. Sometime, even in summer, weeks will pass without the possibility of communicating with the island. In winter one must depend entirely on Sark boats, of seven or eight tons burden, strong and weatherly. In summer a small steamer plies in good weather, between Guernsey and Sark, but it can not enter the port, which is doubtless the smallest in Europe. It is formed by a breakwater thrown across a miniature bay called the Creaux. A little breach extends around the base of the vertical cliffs, and the interior of the island is only reached by an artificial opening actually pierced the surrounding wall of granite.

Sark is about three miles and a half long, and is divided into Great and Little Sark, the latter being a small peninsula at the southern end, united to the main portion of a curtain of rock some two hundred yards long, called the Coupe. It is three hundred feet above the sea, on one side literally vertical, on the other nearly so. The path at the top is not over five feet wide. It is said one person who lived on Little Sark never dared during a lifetime to cross the Coupe. Another old fellow, who used to like his grog of an evening in Great Sark, would, on returning to Little Sark at night, walk several times over a log that lay near the Coupe. If the result was satisfactory to his equilibrium, he would then venture to reel across the Coupe. The cliffs surrounding the island furnish an inexhaustible supply of the grand, the wild, the picturesque. The rocks are clothed with highly colored vines and lichens; the magnificent caves, seemingly the abode of sea-fairies, teem with varied and beautiful submarine vegetation and diverse forms of life, shell-fish, molluscs, algæ, and the like. Our limits forbid more than an allusion to such spots as the Antiets, the Creux du Derrible, D'Iszart Bay, etc.

The interior of the Island is devoted to agriculture and pasturage, and although not generally wooded, and destitute of streams, presents many choice bits of rural under-work. The avenue leading to the Seigneurie is exceedingly beautiful, and the building itself is a very pleasing object. The beds of the peninsulary are often of the most attractive configuration, having walls six feet thick.

Those who suppose Monaco, or Andorra, or San Marino to be the smallest spots in Europe must accept some from their delusion. Sark has, by the last census, only 636 inhabitants, and is positively an "island to let," owing only a yearly allegiance to Great Britain by way of Guernsey.—E. C. W. How the Dog had his Labours taken

Caesar was a fine Newfoundland dog of great intelligence, owned by Mrs. Richardson, of Lowell. One morning she took the dog, with some of the children of her family to a daguerreotype room, with a view of having the picture taken of the family.

For nearly an hour Mrs. Richardson tried to place Caesar in a posture suitable for the purpose of getting a likeness; but, when she thought she was all right he would slowly get up, shake his huge body, and, of course, spoil the picture. Annoyed at his conduct, Mrs. Richardson opened the door, and, in a stern voice said to Caesar: "Go home, sir! You have displeased me very much; you shall not stay with us any longer." Hereupon Caesar slunk away with a crestfallen look and Mrs. Richardson made no further attempt to put him in the picture. But next day, much to her surprise, Caesar came home with a box tied around his neck. What could it mean? He seemed to be greatly pleased, and wagged his tail expressively, while waiting for the opening of the box.

His mistress was still more surprised when she found that it contained a fine daguerreotype of Caesar himself.

At the earliest convenience she called on the daguerreotypist, to enquire how he had succeeded in enticing the dog into his room, and keeping him quiet. He said, that on the morning following the failure, he heard a noise in the entry as if some one was thumping at the door.

On opening it he found Caesar standing there, with wistful and eager face. He tried to drive him away, but the dog insisted on entering; then walked to the old place directly in front of the instrument, and sat quietly down, as much as to say, "Now sir, I am ready to make amends for my undignified behaviour of yesterday,

As soon as he saw that the artist had done with him, Caesar rose and stret

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The County Council met on Tuesday. The Warden, R. E. Birdsall, Esq., in the chair. Present—Messrs. Moloney, Burnham, Brown, Hewell, Costello, Wells, Millar, Hilyard, Burgess, Golborne, Collins, Sanderson, and Boulton.

The minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

The Warden then addressed the Council.

ADDRESS.

GENTLEMEN,—I take great pleasure in meeting you all again, and at the same time in being able to congratulate you on the promising appearance of the fields.

Immediately subsequent to our last session, in obedience to your instructions, I signed, together with the Mayor of Peterborough, a contract for the new wrought iron bridge.

On the following day, in company with Michael Sanderson, Esq., I inspected the floating bridges at Mud and Pigeon Lakes. Mud Lake bridge is in need of considerable repairs, in places it was in a dangerous condition.

I requested the care taker, M. S. Dean, Esq., to make those places safe at once, and to perform other work requiring immediate attention.

It will be satisfactory for you to know in showing the necessity for this bridge, that ... planking is work nearly through in the centre and will have to be attended to at once.

I would recommend that it be planked 8 feet wide over the worn part, there being no necessity for removing the entire flooring or any part of it, and that the plank be bought by tender.

Pigeon Creek bridge, though needing some repairs is not much out of order, nor the planking much worn. The County of Victoria, in my opinion, should assist in keeping up this bridge, and strict enquiry as to our legal claims in the matter should be made. In place of Peter Pearce, our late colleague, it will be necessary for you to appoint a new member for the Board of Audit, and a new Trustee for the Norwood Grammar School.

Mr. Weller has written, saying that he has been notified by the Attorney-General that, when a county has contracted in good faith for publishing list of convictions in good faith, Government will waive its claims, and that he has, therefore given the printing to your contractor, the Review.

Regarding the settlement of accounts between Town and County, the Chairman of the Town Committee has requested me to invite our Committee to name a day during this session, on which the two committees should meet and finally wind up previous matters.

With regard to our financial position, it appears that in 1865 a bylaw was passed authorising the issue of $20,000 debentures, to form a sinking fund, to meet these a rate was fixed, which, with the increased value of the County, has proved largely in excess of requirements, the consequence is, we have accumulated a large sinking fund surplus.

You are aware that we have a large floating debt, this about equals the sinking fund surplus. I would, therefore, recommend that a by-law be passed, authorising the application of the sinking fund surplus to pay off our floating debt.

(Signed) R. E. BIRDSALL,
Warden.

June 18th, 1875.

It was referred to the following special Committee:—Messrs. Millar, Garbutt, Burnham, Boulton, Choate, Collins, Wells, and Golborne.

Mr. Brown, County Inspector, read a report on school matters, which was received and referred to the Committee on Schools.

Several accounts, &c., were referred to the respective Committees.

The Council adjourned to allow the committees time to report.

The Council resumed, and on motion of Mr. Golborne, seconded by Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Millar, Chairman of the Committee reported.

REPORT.

The Committee on the Warden's address, beg leave to report.

That the action of the Warden upon the Mud Lake bridge meets with the approval of the Committee, recommend that the repairs mentioned as necessary by the Warden be undertaken at once and in the manner be suggests.

With regard to the Pigeon Creek bridge, the Committee recommend that legal enquiry be made as to the Liability of the County of Victoria to bear an equal share of responsibility with the County of Peterborough.

The Committee recommend that no time should be lost in closing up the accounts between the Town and County as requested by the Chairman of the Town Committee.

The Committee recommend that the portions of the floating debt of the debenture surplus mentioned in the Warden's address upon By-law of 1866, be referred to the Finance Committee to enquire into it and report.

(Signed) JAMES MILLER
Chairman.

The report was received and adopted.

The Council adjourned till 10 o'clock on Wednesday.

The Committee on Schools met after the adjournment and discussed the school apportionments for the year.

Coal Tar as Paint.

Coal Tar is melting into very general use as a paint, two coats applied to shingles or out building effectually prevent the wood from decay. The tar makes a rum on the surface which excludes air and water. It is capital for bottoms of posts; and costs but a fraction the price of other paint, and may be had at the Gas Works. 19-9in

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Town Council held a meeting of their Chamber on Monday night last, in accordance with adjournment. Members present: The Mayor and Councillors Gifford, Cahill, Patterson, Hamilton, McDonald, Dixon, Thornton, Rutherford, Cook, and Helm.

The minutes of last meeting were read over and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read:—

From W. Jaffrey asking for a transfer of Geo. Berabee's license.—Referred to the Lucerne inspector with power to act.

From Wm. Claxton, asking that the grade of the intersection of Water and Hunter street be recast.—Referred to the Engineer with instructions to report.

From Mrs. Shevlin complaining that the entrance to her premises had been destroyed.—Referred to the street Inspector with power to act.

A report from the License Inspector was received

CANADIAN RAILWAYS.

The Mayor said that he saw Mr. John Fowler was present, perhaps it would be well to hear what he had to say.

Councillor Beal thought they should hear what the delegates to the Convention had accomplished first.

The Mayor said Mr. Scott had intended to present a written report to the Council but not having it ready could not present it until next meeting. In the meantime Mr. Claxton might be heard respecting the results at the Convention.

Mr. Claxton addressed the Council on the subject of the Huron and Quebec railway, explaining the result of the railway meeting at Toronto, and in favour of the immediate construction of Huron and Quebec Railway.

The Mayor said he heartily agreed with what Mr. Claxton had said, and thought that the effect of the Convention would be for good. The fact that Peterborough had been invited to take part in this convention was a tribute to the sterling merits of the scheme in which Peterborough was so much concerned especially as that railway was only as yet in prospect. When the convention met, the first thing done was to pledge the meeting against advocating any particular railway and present them collectively to the Government.

Mr. Fowler also addressed the Council. He read a statement he had prepared for the Premier, and suggested that a committee be formed to meet him at the Huffman House on Tuesday morning to draft one on behalf of the town. He gave a brief account of what he proposed doing in the immediate future, in addition to forming a Board.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

A petition from Jonathan Solomon was handed in and read, asking that the drain on Sherbrooke street be deepened, a sidewalk laid and approaches repaired. A petition from Rev. V. Clementi and others for grading and sidewalk, was referred to the street Inspector with instructions to report.

The Street Inspector reported, recommending the repairing and relaying of the sidewalk on Aylmer street from Dalhousie to Charlotte street, and making it six feet wide. Received and adopted after much discussion, from Charlotte to Sherbrooke street.

Mr. J. E. Belcher presented a report on the required improvements on Brock street stating that the cost would be about $260. Received and referred to the committee on sidewalks and bridges.

Later in the evening Mr. Belcher also presented a report of his recent examination of the several bridges of the Town, estimating the cost of repairing them at $994.20 made up as follows:

Sherbrook Street Bridge	$13 00
King Street Bridge	185 00
Charlotte Street Bridge	87 50
Simcoe Street Bridge	195 00
Hunter Street Bridge	92 50
Brock and Aylmer Street Bridge	145 00
Ralc and Bankman Street Bridge	87 50
Reid (at Hamilton's)	240 00

This report was received until next meeting, when it would be considered and ...

TOWN VS NICHOLLS & HALL.

The Clerk read a communication from Scott & Edwards, asking for further instructions in this matter.

The Mayor said that Mr. Scott had told him that there was a precedent which might cause judgment to be given against the Town as the circumstances were very similar to the case of this Town, but there were good grounds for an appeal.

Mr. Scott said the Mayor had stated the position in accordance with his own views.

Councillor McDonald favored accepting the judgment in the present court as final. The lawyers knew that both plaintiff and defendant had lots of money and were prepared to bleed both of them.

Councillor Beal said that on Saturday night the Court of Revison gave Mr. Nicholls a present of from $250 to $275, and he was opposed to giving in this case. If the judgment in this court was adverse he would not agree to accept it without an appeal.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Councillor Beal gave notice that he would at the next meeting of the Council introduce a by-law to limit the expenditure on Streets and Bridge to $5,000 for the year.

A petition from John Moore for a butcher's license at the corner of King and Aylmer streets was referred to the License Inspector.

A statement of the expenditure thus far for charities was presented by the Chairman of the Charity Committee showing a total of $032.93, including a grant of $200 to the Protestant home; which should be charged to Special grants.—The statement was received.

COUNTY COURT

The Court was held last week before His Honor Judge Dennistoun.

The following cases were heard:

For Pleasure and Show.

Mr. Fitzgerald has now ready for sale and keeps on hand a very nice lot of the most stylish carriages, buggies, phaetons, and waggonets for pleasure and comfort, and wagons for general use. A visit to his show rooms will repay those who are about to purchase anything in the carriage line. His phaetons are very handsome, and are much sought for, and the waggonets are also being introduced on account of their neatness. The material used, he assures us is best blue oak and American hickory. The finish is good and the whole appearance of his carriages, &c., will be found to please those desiring a handsome carriage or buggy. Call and see them. 19-in.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.

DROWNING OF MISS SUTHERLAND.

One of the most melancholy accidents that has occurred in this vicinity for many years, took place on Wednesday afternoon, by which the melancholy death of Miss Sutherland, daughter of John Sutherland, Esq., Mayor of Cobourg, was drowned at the Locks.

Miss Sutherland had been on a visit to a friend, and on this particular evening had gone for a sail with Mr. Geo. Roger, Mrs. McDougall accompanying her, but with Mr. B. Edwards. They had gone down the Little Lake, and also down the River, below the locks a considerable distance, and on their way up had reached the Locks. They intended landing on the Ashburnham shore, so as to avoid carrying their canoes far, and it appears that Mr. Edwards and Mrs. Mcdougall had landed. Mr. Roger passed up a little closer to the dams, and was about landing, having, it is said, reached his paddle to draw it to the shore, the canoe either striking a stone, or being caught by the eddy, was drawn outwards, which appears to have frightened Miss Sutherland and caused her to spring towards the shore. The spring and the current combined, carried the canoe farther into the boiling eddy and waterfall, so that she fell in water much beyond her depth, and where the current was too strong to render her any assistance. Mr. Roger seized her and got in also, holding on till a young man on shore reached out a fishing net on a pole, which, it is said, got around his head. He took one hand to seize the net and with the other held a portion of the dress of the young lady, but this giving way, she was swept into the raging current at the dam, and swept under to rise no more. Mr. Roger was taken out quite exhausted. The accident occurred at a place where no assistance could be rendered, as it was impossible for any one in a canoe to attempt to go to her aid at this time of the year, where the swollen river discharges all its waters over the dam. The news of the accident soon spread, and caused general sorrow for the untimely and fatal result, and induced the warmest sympathy with her bereaved parents and relatives.

We understand that Miss Sutherland was about 22 years of age, and was looking forward, in a very short time, to the consumation of an engagement with a young gentleman who must feel this as a breaking of even the tenderest ties, at a moment when anticipation of happiness and prosperity were largely in the ascendant.

While all feel that there is not that due caution on the part of pleasure seekers in keeping at a respectful distance from dangerous places, the present time is hardly the best to read homilies to them on duty. Those concerned in this sad event feel their positions keenly, no doubt, and would give a world to be able to undo what has happened, but cannot. Let us hope this sad and sudden death of a young lady in the prime of youth and beauty, may prove a lesson to young men not to sport or trifle with light canoes where danger may come to any one. It is a severe lesson to those concerned this time, but may prove of infinite value to the hundreds of young men and ladies who choose the waters for an evening's enjoyment

CUI BONO?

The last Review has a long article in reference to a suit in Court against its editor, and which a jury gave against him, both the Judge and Jury of his country men considering him bound in honor and honesty to pay the debt. All reasonable men would have thought that he would at once bow to the decision, and as he now claims to be wealthy, through the decease of wealthy relatives, would pay the claim, and if over reached take better care next time. Not so, however, with Mr. Carnegie. He is Editor of a newspaper, and he must use the position to abuse the man who put $800 in his pocket, at at a time when he required it very much, when he wasn't rich, for there was a time when he was not; but it is no shame to be poor, if honest.

The case as gathered from evidence and parties who knew all about the transaction is about as follows:—In 1869, Mr. Smith, who is a shrewd business man, saw there was money, as is usually said, in pork, and went to Mr. Carnegie and advised him to go into it. Mr. Carnegie replied he had no money and could not touch it, lest it might prove risky. Mr. Smith then offered to share with him, the gains or losses, and to discount for Mr. Carnegie on the endorsation of his brother-in-law the money necessary. On this arrangement nearly $2,000 were discounted, and so successful was the speculation that the profits amounted to about $1,400, we are told out of this sum Mr. Carnegie received a commission for transacting the business, and for the time the use of the balance amounting to over $1200 Mr. Carnegie at the time gave his note to Mr. Smith, and it was discounted, Mr. Carnegie paying the discount and several renewals, but at length he was considered unable to pay, and the note was given up on conditions, that if ever able he would pay the amount. When he was about to receive a large legacy, Mr. Smith applied to him and attained another note, which was again put into the bank for a time, and of which he paid the interest for nearly 18 months, but at length refused. When Mr. Smith paid the note after protest and sued to recover, and this case was to determine the matter.

It will be observed that Mr. Carnegie does not deny the transaction in the pork nor yet the profits. He cannot deny that he got the profits, but at the time he was poor and could not pay Mr Smith. Although at the closing up of the transaction he gave his note for one half the profits less the commission. The only plea is, Mr Smith was a bank agent, and had no right to discount his (Mr. Carnegie's) notes to speculate in pork, out of which he was to need a profit.

Did it ever occur to him that if he made a bargain, got the money and made large profit ($1400) when the bank lent nothing, that Mr Carnegie ought to have the lion's share? It is contended that Mr Smith had the use of the money only 1866, or about seven months. Grasping as he is gain on this whole, just at a time when he needed it very much, according to his own showing in court. Then again, when it is considered that if Mr. Carnegie and his endorser had failed to meet the notes Mr. Smith would have had to do so, no doubt, had he not a right to a share of the profits. This hollow subterfuge of Mr. Smith being a bank agent, as an argument to clear Mr. Carnegie of the responsibility of a business transaction out of which he would at any rate reap $800 or so, (profit and commission) is too transparent to have any effect on the public mind. If Mr. Smith did wrong in discounting Mr. Carnegie's notes, or in entering into the speculation, can Mr. Smith's wrong, (supposing it wrong) atone for the attempt of Mr. Carnegie to keep him out of $800 justly due him (Mr. Smith)? Surely the bargain to share the profits and the losses would still be binding on both. And again if wrong in Mr. Smith to speculate in pork on the money of the bank, was it not participating in the wrong to assist Mr. Smith in doing the wrong? Independent, however, of this view of the question, or of the breach of faith and attempt to retain the whole profits when he could only claim one half. is it right or manly, or honorable to use his newspaper endeavor to blacken the character of the man who assisted him to make at least $600?

There are cases when the public interest demands that humbug or deception, or obtaining money under false pretences or to prevent other innocent persons becoming victims should be exposed, but this case cannot come under any of the above heads. It was a well-known transaction, Mr. Carnegie understood it. Mr. Smith understood it, Mr. Beal, Mr Carnegie's clerk understood it. The bank lost nothing by the transaction, and Mr. Carnegie gained a large profit by it, and yet he wishes in his newspaper to try to injure the man who was the means of putting $600 to $800 in his pocket. Very few men will see the matter in the same light that Mr Carnegie does, or tries to see it in, and his attempt to cover over his own refusal to carry out a well understood arrangement, will not relieve him of the blame attached to that attempt, nor will any amount of newspaper logic free him from the just right to pay over the sum due to Mr. Smith. The twaddle about the bank claiming Mr Smith's share of the profits is absurd. If it has a claim at all it must have claim to the whole sum, and could just as reasonably say that Mr. Carnegie has $600 to $800 of its money. The bank got its discount and also the amount of notes discounted. It has nothing to complain of, and now that a competent court has decided that Mr. Smith must also get his share of the profits, a resort to newspaper abuse for a purpose will be of no avail. The resort to it shows to what desperate straits for self-defence he must have been driven. And lastly what have the public to do with Mr. Smith and Mr. Carnegie's law suit over a promissory note?

TOWN COUNCIL

There was a special meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening.

The Mayor reported in reference to the action of the Special Committee on railway matters, recommending the issue of $2500 to assist in the formation of a Board of Directors for the Huron and Quebec Railway Company.

On motion of Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Hamilton, a By-law to provide for the issuing of $2500 of Debentures was read a first time.

A motion was passed to allow the Fire Brigade Band the use of the Band instruments to be returned at any time.

A committee was appointed to press the matter of assistance towards the early construction of the Huron and Quebec railway upon the County Council.

The Council then adjourned.

CRICKET

PORT HOPE VS PETERBOROUGH.

The above match was played here on Tuesday last, resulting in a victory for our boys by fifty-two runs. In the first innings, J. F. Hall, for Port Hope, was the only man who made double figures, 15 obtained in the usual cautious way, he carried his bat. For Peterborough, W. Rackam 11, and Lloyd 13, were well earned. In their second innings. Port Hope's men were Bletcher, Kirchhoffer, and Macgregor. The former played very fine innings, obtaining 21 in good style; Kirchhoffer's eleven were got quickly, five twos and a single; Macgregor played well for 9. The only man who made double figures for Peterborough in their second innings was Rutherford, making 18, run out; his hitting was very brilliant. The bowling of Rutherford and Lloyd for Peterborough, and Read, Fisher and Bletcher, for Port Hope was usually good, as the score will show. Catches by Bletcher, W. Rackam, and J. G. Hall are worthy of mention. The following is the score:—

PETERBOROUGH VS. WHITBY.

This match was played on the Port Hope Cricket Ground, on Wednesday last, 9th inst., and was very keenly contested throughout. Peterborough won by two runs.

Presbyterian Union

The Union of the Presbyterians of the Dominion, was consumated on Tuesday, in Montreal. All the Moderators of all the old bodies signing the articles forming the basis of union. The Rev. Dr. Cook, of Quebec, and Principal of Morrin College, was chosen first Moderator of the "Presbyterian church in Canada," without any dissent. The new church is now the largest protestant religious body in Canada, numbering about 600,000 adherents, and over 100,000 communicants. A few ministers and others are holding out against union.

Cobourg Camp

The Whistle-Wing will run an excursion to the camp at Cobourg, on Friday morning, at 7:30 p.m., and will also run one on Wednesday June 23rd, and return same day: Boat to leave the Peterboro' Wharf at 7:30 p.m.

Horticulture

The summer exhibition will be held on Thursday, 15th July. The prize list is published and the liberal one. Every effort should be made to make the show a success. A very little effort will ensure this end. If every one who can, but enter one article, the object will be obtained. Lists can be obtained from Mr. Brown, the Secretary.

Fire.

The Cobourg and Company's Mills, Hull, were lately consumed by fire, supposed to be the work of some of the employees, evilly disposed to employing French L. abr. Thurso, a village in the County of Ottawa, has had a $250,000 fire.

John Smalls "Bee"

Last week, was one of the largest ever heard of in this section of the Country. There were no less than 65 teams, 75 men and 25 girls to provide for the wants of body. They ploughed 65 acres of land, and of this sowed 40 acres, harrowing and completing it. It is said that double the number of teams, men and girls would have gone to assist Mr. Smail if asked. Great sympathy with him on account of a late trial has taken a tangeable form in this "bee line"

ORANGEISM AT STONEY LAKE

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—I had the pleasure of attending a meeting of Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 520 at Stony Lake on the 2nd of June. This lodge was organized about the 1st of February, last, with Brother James Robb as Master, and to give your readers and the friends of the association an idea of the prosperity of the lodge. There were quite a number of visitors present, I noticed Bro. Bro. D. Lynn from No. 34, Bros. D McNaughton and J. Kidd, Master and Deputy Master of 281, besides M. Barr and J. McNaughton of the same lodge, A. Smith and E. Long, Master and Deputy Master of N. 284, and E. McIlvanie, A. Long, N Robinson, G. Crow, and T. Campble Deputy District Master, all of No. 285, J. Scott Master No. 575, besides others with whom I was not acquainted were there. Seven of the members of No. 520, the Lodge at Stony Lake, advanced to the exalted degree of the Royal Arch. After the business of the evening was concluded all sat down to a splendid supper got up by Brother John McClure, that did honor to himself and also to the lodge of which he is a member It was almost daylight when all left for their respective homes highly pleased with the proceedings of the evening, and wishing the new lodge every success.

I am sincerely yours,
A MEMBER OF THE ORDER.

LOOK OUT FOR PILLS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Mr, Editor,—Is there anything more easy and thoroughly of accomplishment than to delude suffering humanity? A stranger need only herald himself through the press, to be the saviour of the sick, and forthwith all who can scrape up a five dollar bill are bound to buy relief So clever their game is played that their pretension to cure one and all diseases the human frame is heir to, will leave no stone unturned to bring everyone in their reach, and is this not natural? Who likes to be suffering if it can be shaken off by money? Two such persons have made their appearance in Peterborough by the name of Dr. Franks and Dr. Gardiner, both of England. The undersigned would recommend them to return from whence they came, as England is by far the larger field to operate on. A dozen Franks and Gardiners would find full employment in London, alone for their pretended faculties, or is it that they want to spread their operations on this side of the ocean. Their glibly tongues help them remarkably well to fatten on the purses of a deluded public; a copy of this in other papers might save a good many five dollar bills.

WM. LECH.
F. W. HEATHER.

Peterborough, June 13th, 1875.

The Conservative Party and Wm Macdougall.

(From the Toronto Tribune.)

The election of Mr. McDougall in South Simcoe has given rise to considerable comment in both Reform and Conservative journals. The former generally ridicule the contemplated alliance between Mr. McDougall and M. C. Cameron, while the latter generally hail the election of Mr. McDougall as a great Conservative victory, and look upon him as the leader of the party, and destined ere long to be the Premier of Ontario. We are not a little surprised at the evidences of pleasure evinced by the Conservatives over Mr. McDougall's success. Has the party sunk so low that it must call to its aid such an unprincipled political demagogue? All will admit that Mr. McDougall is an able orator and experienced politician, but even his admirers must admit that he is the most unprincipled and unreliable politician that Canada has ever seen. The present administration is not over popular in Ontario, but surely no one would be so foolish as to wish it supplanted by one led by "Wandering Willie."

A THIRD TERM

We ask our readers to consider the importance of this word to Canadians. It is exercising the Canadian Press.

A FATHER SHOOTS HIS SON.

On the 8th instant, Thos. Rae, Senr., of Paisley, went to the house of his son John. H, Rae, in Sangeen, about 2 in the afternoon, when he met she latter driving a waggon load of stone, apparently towards the village. Some words ensued between father and son, as to the owner ship of the stone —when the father, without any apparent provocation, fired at the son with a revolver. The ball entered near the mouth, and passing under the ear, lodged in the back part of the head. The son then wrenched the pistol from the father, who remained there till he was taken into custody. He was committed to gaol by Mr. Gibson, J. P. Fair hopes are entertained of the recovery of the son if inflammation should not set in.—Telescope.

Warning to Boys.

Notwithstanding the great number of accidents that occur every year from the use, by boys, of fire arms, warnings do not seem to do any good. The most recent case of this kind occurred yesterday when two boys were playing in front of Copland's store, King street west. A lad named Steward had a pistol, charged with duck shot. He snapped the pistol but it hung fire, the cap dropping off. At this moment a lad, his companion stopped to pick up up the lock, when the weapon exploded the charge shattering Stewart's thumb and lodging in McLean's neck. Both lads were taken into Copland's drug store, and their injuries temporarily attended to. Subsequently they were attended to by Dr. Henwood. The injuries are of a very painful nature. The escape was a most remarkable one.—Hamilton Times.

THE PRINTING OFFICE.—The printing office has proved a better college to many a boy has graduated more useful and conspicuous members of society. It has brought more intellect out and turned it into practical, useful channels, fashioned more minds, generally more active and elevated thoughts, than many of the literary colleges of the country. A boy who commenced in such a school as the printing office will have its talents and ideas brought out; and if he is a careful observer, experience in his profession will contribute more toward of education than can be obtained in almost any other manner.

BIGAMY.

[illegible] Armstrong, [illegible] Cavendish, of Dysartcabur, [illegible] married at [illegible] time to a respectable [illegible] named Adam [illegible] after he had left [illegible] Ville at her father's and went to Scotland. But [illegible] soon married the Gloucester lady [illegible] not the lawful wife of her liege lord, that some 12 or 13 years ago he married a lady whom he deserted, and who is now living with her father and child at Cheero. A warrant was issued by Justice Preston, and on officer proceeded to Armstrong's and found the match married dual validate Armstrong, who was brought before Justice Preston, where an examination was waived. He is now in Cannon gaol, awaiting the action of the grand jury. It is said he has another wife besides in Canada. The young man should go west, after spending a few years in limbo; his talents are thrown away. He would soon become a bright and shining light of Brighton Young, in Utah.—Ogdensburgh Advance.

RELIGION AND POLITICS.

The contest approaching in Quebec promises to be one of the most bitter character the warfare being not only political but ecclesiastical. The De Boucherville Ministry will receive the support of all concerned in the notorious "Lapel Scrap," aided by Bishop Bourget's Boll and the Empire Programmist party. In Germany, in France, and in Spain, during the last year, we have been cognisant of the effects of the ultramontane advocates. We are soon to have an exhibition of the same spirit in Canadian politics. We believe it is not directly claimed by friends of the present Quebec Ministry, that the administration of affairs in their hands has been of the most religious character. The question of the good Government of the Province is to be made a secondary consideration. The fact that the Cabinet has pledged itself to support any measure that may be demanded by the Programmists is all sufficient. Proceedings of such a character in Ontario would bring ruin swift and certain to any political or ecclesiastical party. We are a liberty-loving people, people, we make not the slightest objection to priests and ministers entering the political arena, and if possible purging country of their worst features only let it be done in a legitimate manner—moral suasion but no coercion, if you please, and at the same time, in your endeavors, it would be well to remember that we have a country which must be governed, and should be well governed. Hair splitting about a number of ancient dogmas is very well in its place, but hair-splitting, or Papal Bulls, or the ultra theories of the Montreal Witness are not the questions to be decided by the electors of Quebec at the coming contest. The people should rule and in the end the people will rule. It is not a desirable state of things that hierarchical influence of any church should become paramount and thus hold the balance of power, ready at a moment to transfer that power for substantial benefits that many may regard as of a questionable character. If the people of Quebec have but little or no confidence in the De Boucherville Cabinet, if they look upon the Conservative party in that Province as corrupt and unworthy of confidence, if leading members of the party have been discovered to be engaged in transactions of a questionable character, by which money was taken [illegible] public chest and put in their own pockets, and in the pockets of their political friends, then they should rally to the polls and defeat the De Boucherville Cabinet, unmindful of threats of interested ecclesiastical well-wishers.—Recorder.

Serious Accident.

We regret to announce that Mr. Thos. Peters, of Cavan, met with a very serious accident one day last week. He was rolling a field, oxen being attached to the roller, when something getting astray, he got between the oxen. The oxen suddenly started, dragging the roller over Mr Peters He was very badly injured, but we learn is doing as well as could be expected.—Messenger.

Drowned.

On Thursday last a young woman, daughter of Mr. John Mitton, of Campbellford; was fishing off one of the piers back of the factory in that village, and in some way fell into the river and was drowned. At last accounts her body had not been recovered. The evening before a horse of Mr. E. Denmark's took fright and ran over the bank into the river and was drowned, Mr. Denmark only saving himself by jumping from the buggy.

Since the above the body has been found over six miles down the river.

Cobourg and Port Hope

Had a spelling match, Cobourg winning easily. Speaks well for Victoria. The Star says:—

After a few appropriate explanatory remarks by Mr. Hough, the slaughter commenced, two of the Cobourg men going out on their first words, "indescribable" and "analyze". Five of the Port Hopers followed in quick succession. The dropping out was slower after this until one Port Hoper, Mr. Gilmore, remained, against eleven of Cobourg. He remained until two more of our spellers fell, and then perished ignobly on "canvas," he having spelled it c-a-n-v-a-s-s. So Cobourg won by nine, the lucky individuals being Messers. Gifford, Elgar, Morrison, Munson, Hargrait, Cole, Elliott, Hall and Hough.

Another test was then given. A slip of paper was handed to each man, and twelve words were given out, upon counting the mistakes of each, the Cobourg men were again found to be victorious, they having made only thirty seven mistakes against sixty-five of their opponents On this test Messrs. Beamish and Cole were the only ones of either side that made no mistakes, while Messrs. Bruce, Hough, D. Morrison and Munson only made one mistake each for Cobourg; of the remainder, one made seven and another six mistakes. A return match is to take place, when we hope our side will meet with the same success.

The Fenelon Gazette says:—"The rumor that Mr S. C. Wood, M. P. P. for South Victoria and County Clerk, is correct: but, as far as we know at present, he has not yet accepted the offer. In anticipation of his resigning the County Clerkship, there are, we understand, three applicants for the office, namely, Mr. Matchett, Mr. Joseph Staples, and Mr. Samuel Irwin, and public opinion is divided as to who will be his successor. Whoever obtains the appointment will have hard work for a while, as Mr. Henry Gladman, who has been Mr. Wood's assistant for several years, resigned his situation a few days ago, having been promised the post-mastership of Lindsay which lately became vacant; and the new Clerk will find it no easy task to tackle the county books without assistance from his predecessor.

Lindsay, it would appear, therefore, is to have a member of the Cabinet.

SUMMARY.

COMPLIMENTARY.—"The Ottawa and Brockville papers are complaining that the milk delivered them is usually adulterated. What in the world do those editors know about milk? Not weaned yet?"—Sun.

Judging from the editorials, we should say the babb and suckling who runs the Sun was in his infancy fed on sour milk. He must have imbibed a great quantity.

ALGOMA.—Mr. S. J. Dawson in announcing himself a candidate for Algoma in the Local Legislature says: If elected, he will support the Government of the day, whether Grit or Tory, but will not blindly link himself to any worn out party lines. This is a good example of the modifying influences of reform votes upon a conservative constituency.—Recorder.

BAD ADVICE.—The Mail says Bishop Bourget, of Quebec, advises the electors of that Province that when they take tickets for ... they should ... [illegible] be given to the Ministry ... [illegible] advice." Don't mail his ears to the pump," and is a good commentary on mania. The Bishop advises the people to vote for their best members of the R.C. Church, or those who will support his demands. Religion and politics, or religion and politics will soon work its own cure in Canada.

Mr. R. Scott, of Peterborough, offers a reward for information of a stray colt 2 years old. Read the advertisement.

Hastings

The Whistle-Wing will give a Moonlight Excursion in Hasting on Monday evening, 21st inst.

Music

The Fire Brigade Band will take the place of the Battalion Band on Friday evening on the Court House square.

District of Cobourg

The District of Cobourg Orange Association has decided to accept an invitation to visit Port Hope on the 12th of July, prox.

Central Exhibition

The committee appointed to prepare a prize list for the Fall Central Show, met on Monday and Tuesday and completed their work.

Cobourg.

One hundred and forty one of the most prominent ratepayers of Cobourg have signed a petition to the Mayor and Town Council in favor of purchasing a steamer.

Dame Rumor

Has it that Mr. McKellar has accepted the Hamilton Shrievalty. It may be true, no one better deserves the position.

St Andrews' Church

We have been requested to state that the Rev. I. Campbell, of Kilbride, will conduct divine service in St. Andrews' Church, on Sabbath evening

Winter

Almost returned to us on Sunday. The weather was cold, being such as to cause the use of overcoats and other articles of winter clothes. It was cold enough for March Weather.

Bertram & Co

Have on hand a very well selected stock of shelf and heavy hardware, plated ware of good quality, and field and garden implements, which they will sell at moderate prices.

The County Council

Took a trip to Bobcaygeon on Wednesday, to see the bridges there and to enjoy a sail on Mud Lake, and Pigeon Creek. They had pleasant time generally.

Hon. Mr Crooks

Hon. Mr. Crooks, it is said, will receive a Judgeship. Mr. J. D. Armour of Cobourg is to follow suit. The report may prove correct. Mr. T. C. Wood has been offered the Treasurership and may accept.

A. Boultbee.

A. Boultbee is the Liberal Conservative candidate in North York. At the close of the contest he will bolt on a bee line for some other place. It would be a lasting disgrace to that constituency to elect him, but there is not much fear of it.

Extensive Bankrupt Sale

The extensive sale of Groceries at the late store of G. & R. Pope, commences on Saturday. See bills and advertisement. Bargains may be expected as the whole stock must be sold.

Fire Brigade.

The Peterborough Fire Brigade has received an invitation to visit Cobourg, on Dominion Day. The Belleville Fire company will also be there. There will be races, and excursions the on Lake, and a pleasant time generally.

McKee & Davidson.

Messrs. McKee and Davidson have a large stock of best farm and garden implements, of best materials and finish, also of shelf and heavy hardware, and plated goods, which they offer to sell at low prices. Give them a call,

Monck

Messrs. McLachlan and McCallum were nominated as oppositionists, and Mr. Edgar for the Government Candidate. Wandering Willis was there, but was met by Mr. McKellar. There will be lively times in that Riding for eight days.

Election Trials.

The East Riding appeal will be heard on the 21st inst., the West Riding on the 24th, West Hasting on the 17th, Kingston on the 22nd and Prince Edward on the 25th. The Conservatives of the East Riding have already been looking out fo a Candidate.

Loss of Another Steamer.

The Steamer Vicksburg of the Dominion Line was damaged in the ice last week and lost. At first about 70 persons were supposed to have been lost, but since that 20 of them have been heard from, having been saved in a boat. Since the steamer Virgo has gone ashore on St Piere island and has become a total loss—no lives lost.

Examination.

Mr. T. C. Armstrong, head of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, at the examination of the University for this year, gained the silver medal in Modern Languages. The Gold Medal in Mathematics was carried off by Mr. W F. King of Port Hope.

Ran into the River.

A Runaway horse, on Friday, was making for Ashburnham, when he got to the site of the temporary bridge he hesitated for a moment, then jumped in, but changed his mind and swam to shore. He had only the harness on at the time.

Found.

The body of Miss Netherland was found on Tuesday morning by Mr Joseph Neithercut, near Mr. Hanbidges landing, and was taken to Cobourg by Harwood. This sad event ought to prove a solemn warning for all future time, not to be too daring in approaching places of danger.

Whistlewing Prizes

The excursion on Dominion Day will be unusually attractive, as one hundred dollars will be distributed in prizes, the last excursion was unfortunate on account of the weather, and now that there is a favorable change, this one will no doubt be well patronized.

Saw Logs

A run of upwards 40,000 logs belonging to Messrs Ullyot & Gunther, tied at the bell average that has gone down the River for some years, has just gone down to Rice Lake. Another run belonging to Messrs McDougall & Lapsley is down to follow.

Cannibalism

During a late Band rehearsal on the Court House Green, a quarrel arose among the pleasure seekers, which ended in some of the parties indulging in a piece of another man's nose for amusement. Amusement to him it may have been, but not to the man who afforded the flesh.

The 12th c. July.

The Orangemen of this District have received an invitation to celebrate the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne in Port Hope, this year, which the district has accepted. There will, therefore be no demonstration in Peterborough except in passing through it, and returning

The Election Trial, East Peterborough.

Will commence on the 21st inst., here. The result will then be known. It is already admitted by the Dr.'s friends that his title of M. P. P. will be short lived. The West Riding trial will commence on the 24th.

The East Riding.

Dame Rumor has it that the Conservatives of the east are already discussing who is to be the next Liberal Conservative candidate for the East. The Dr. would give it up at once but for the association. The name of John Carnegie is hinted at, but his candidacy last year during Christmas only day it is feared will not strengthen him.

Fenelon Falls.

Water snakes are prevalent on the shores of Cameron Lake.

Mr. J W. Fitzgerald had to shoot a fine horse, last week, one of his legs being broken by a kick from another horse belonging to a Mrs. Bandon.

The Gazette asks the chief peace officer of the village to cry peccavi, on account of an effervescence of conviviality lately manifested by him.

Insurance

Mr. T. Braden, has been appointed agent for the Canada Farmer's Mutual Insurance Company. It has done a large business during the past year, having no less than 18,000 policies in force insuring $14,772,141.00 worth of property. Insurances are effected on either the cash or premium notes system. It insures Farm and Isolated property at low rates. Mr. Braden will call on the farmers of the county very soon.

Sudden Death

Mr. James Haggart died suddenly on Saturday, while in the Montreal House, near the Railway Station. He had been in his usual health when he went in, and after remaining a short time, he went to set down when he instantly fell over and expired. He was 41 years of age. The call was sudden and unexpected, and should prove a lesson to all who hear it to "be ready." he has had heart desease for many years.

The Temporary Bridge.

The west half of the Temporary Bridge was swept away on Wednesday, by a "Jam" of boom timber and sawlogs, but was re-built on Monday and Tuesday. It is now passable and will be a great convenience to parties wishing to come to Town. The committee on the bridge has hardly been as prompt in getting the permanent structure up as they should be. The less delay, the better for Town and County.

Dr. Ryerson Robbed.

While Dr. Ryerson was on his way to the Methodist Conference, some person without regard to the commandment on that behalf, robbed him of $70 cash and his railway ticket. The Dr. had fallen asleep when a young man who sat near him was noticed leaning over to look at him, but no more was thought about it. The young man got off at Port Hope. When the Dr. Arrived at Cobourg he went to pay for a lunch, but to his astonishment had lost his money.

Millbrook

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell, Presbyterian, has accepted a call to Chalmers' Church, Montreal, and will leave Millbrook shortly for this new field of labour. He is considered a clever and popular preacher and will have a larger field to operate on in the Commercial capital of the Dominion. The salary of the Montreal congregation at present is $1600. But an increasing church will remedy any deficiency in this readect. The Rev. I. Campbell, of Kilbride, preached to the Millbrook and Centreville congregations on Sabbath, and read the edict of the Presbytery to the people.

Obituary

M. M. Mowry, one of the oldest citizens of the Village of Ashburnham, died after a short illness, at his residence on Friday last, in the 71st year of his age. He was long and favorably known to the people of this county, having for many years kept the only foundry in the county. He was a very industrious citizen, a civil and obliging neighbor, He leaves five sons to mourn the bereavement. He was over forty years a resident of the village, having watched with it, the town of Peterborough from their infancy up to their present prosperous condition. His remains were interred on Saturday, the family physician thinking it not wise to keep the corpse any longer.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL
TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT! A FEW FACTS FOR [illegible]

[illegible] partial judgement of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. And the following and be convinced. From Mr. Benson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have [illegible] no remedy equal to it for rheumatism." From Mr. Hobbs, Postal Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with Liver Complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until tried it Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, &c., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man." A Mayhew, Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundred bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Ronan, Township Percy, writes, "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. W. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes. "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Mayhew of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured It is a most remarkable medicine.

Flowers That Never Wither.

There are flowers that never wither,
There are skies that never fade,
There are trees that cast forever
Cooling bowers of leafy shade.
There are silver waveless flowing
With a lulling sound o[f]
Where the west wind [s]
Fans its [b]reath of the blest.

Flitteringest our steps are tending,
Oft through dim oppressive fears,
Mere of grief than pleasure blending
In the darkening crowd of years.
Often would our footsteps weary
Sink upon the wi[ld]
But that, when all
For us beams a ch[eer]

Thus the Father who hath made us
Tenants of this world of care,
Knoweth how to kindly aid us
With the burdens we must bear:
Knoweth how to cause the spirit
Hopefully to raise its eyes
Towards the home it doth inherit
Far beyond the [s]

There is a voice that whispers lowly
Down within the heart of mine,
Where emotions the most holy
Ever make their sacred shrine,
And it tells a thrilling story
Of the great R[edeemer]
And the all-bewitching [glory]
Of the better land above.

O, this life with all its sorrow,
Hasteth onward to a close;
In a few more brief to-morrows
Will have ended all our woes.
Then o'er death the part immortal
Shall ambitiously rise and soar
O'er the star-resplendent portal,
There to dwell for evermore.

TORYISM.

The amusing folly of Toryism has been lately conspicuously illustrated in the British House of Commons. It is well known that if a member of the House calls the Speaker's attention to the fact that there are strangers in the gallery, the Speaker is compelled to order it to be cleared, and in obedience to this rule the Prince of Wales was recently turned out, [but] a more important personage is the reporter of the daily press who [sits] in his place taking down the debates, subject to instant expulsion if any member who dislikes him, or who has dined freely and feels merry and sulky, chooses to call attention to his presence.

Yes it is through the press that Parliament talks to the country, and through the press that the country surveys Parliament, so that the reporter is really the people of England in the gallery. Yet any fuddled or whimsical member can turn him out. Further than this, the published reports of the proceedings in Parliament are breaches of privilege for which the House can punish without appeal. The absurdity is akin to that of the old and practically obsolete, but still existing, law by which, as was lately pointed out, John Stuart Mill might have been sent to jail for publishing his religious opinions They are relics of an utterly antiquated and obsolete state of society, and ought to be swept into the limbo of extinct follies.

But it is the fond and fast retention of such absurdities, the unwillingness to confess at noon that the sun has risen, which is the characteristic of Toryism. and made Mr. Bright say that all conservatives are not stupid, but all stupid people were conservative. Common-sense would seem to suggest to a Tory ministry that it should commend Toryism by showing its better reason, by distinguishing moss from mould, and by lopping off dead and dry boughs. But apparently the only available virtue of Toryism is obstruction. When a dead stop is desirable, as the British people thought it was two years ago, the Tories carry an election. But they have been growing palpably weaker ever since, and the late debate upon exclusion from the gallery is such a satire upon the Tory spirit that the party is in the mortal peril of ridicule as whom a whole people laughs.

A reporter having been excluded, and the question having been raised, the Marquis of Hartington, the Liberal figure-head, in the absence of Mr. Gladstone, as leader, offered a resolution that complaints of reports should be made only when publication had been prohibited, or when the doors had been closed, or when there was wilful misrepresentation, and that the Speaker should exclude strangers only to prevent disorder, and otherwise only by order of the House. Mr. Disraeli, the Tory leader and Prime Minister, replied in a true Tory vein that the House had always done very well under the old rule, and that little occasional inconvenience was of no importance. The reply of Mr. Lowe was an admirable illustration of the power of common sense as opposed to Toryism, He asked at once the origin of the rule. If the conditions from which is arose and which made it desirable have ceased to exist. the rule should be abolished. Now the rule was adopted to protect freedom of debate, to prevent the king from imprisoning members who did not speak as he chose. But that danger no longer exists. Parliament earnestly wishes that its debates should be printed, but its rules provide that if a man does what is strongly desires he should do, he can be sent to prison and heavily fined. And why, he asked, should the whole Parliament that wishes its proceedings published suffer one man at his mere pleasure to defeat its wish? Of course there was no answer. But the party whip was cracked, and the Tory War Secretary was engaged in summoning the faithful to vote for the continuance of [a] bad[y], when Mr. Sullivan, an Irish Journalist, practically showed its character by rising and calling attention to the presence of strangers in the gallery, and the reporters were [ig]nobly [turned] out; and it is understood that after a hot debate the subject was deferred to the 2nd of May.

Mr. Disraeli's Toryism is almost too Tory[ish]. It makes him ridiculous and irritates the country, and he will undoubtedly find that he must abandon his position upon this subject. Yet he cannot do that without serious injury to his prestige, while the exquisite absurdity which he has chosen solemnly to defend is such a ludicrous illustration of "conservatism" that his cause will suffer with him.—Express.

Roosters, says Josh Billings, are the pugilists among birds, and having no scientific shoulder to strike from, they always [aim] at the heel. When a rooster gits whipped, the hens all march off with the other rooster, if he aint half so big or so handsum. It is pluck that wins a hen. As a class rooster won't do any attention to a young one. They spend most of their time in crowing and strutting and once in a while they [get] a good [lick]in over, calling [them] up from a distance, apparently to treat them, but jist as the hen gits [there] this elegant fellow bends over and gobbles up the worm. Just like a man for all the world.

Don't imagine you were born to reform the world. You can't split a mou[se] with [a] too[th].

A long-winded orator is said to have a sleeping car attached to his train of thought.

"WICKED JACK" NO LONGER.

You have met him, doubtless. He is the newsboy with the bad eye and the general wicked look—the boy who isn't afraid to "chin" the most dignified man who ever walked the streets of Detroit. Wicked Jack I call him, because you have carried and sold papers here in Detroit ever since he was old enough to find his way to the office. It is safe to say that he has had his ears cuffed two hundred times per year for ten years past for "sassing" the public, [and] has [kicked] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible

A FEW DAYS

Just a few days! Ah much a few Are the moments we have to bask, like you and you, In the sunlight where the golden sand, Heart in heart and hand in hand: And the waves in eternal ebb and flow, Chimed to your vowed words, soft and low, Ah me! such a few little days ago.

Just a few days! The wooing breeze, Perfect safety o'er the sleeping seas, Wide wings, whereon love hopes and trusts In the happy happiness long hopeless youth: Which the long wanderer summed to know. Ah they broke at the last that fledged dove So their merge a few little days ago.

Just a few days ago! And to night I stood Alone on the edge of the rolling flood: Those eyes not to meet me of joy for me In the starry moon of the rolling sea: There was but a summer plaint had low, Something of treachery, loss and woe, All wrought since a few little days ago.

SCIENCE.

NIAGARA-GLACIAA AND POST-GLACIAL PHENOMENA.

Canadian geologists are called upon by Thomas Belt, F. G. S., in the current number of the Quarterly Journal of Science, to render valuable assistance in an investigation of the highest importance to geology, and for prosecuting which our students possess special faculties. A few days examination of the course of the Niagara River from the falls to the whirlpool led Mr. Belt to a conclusion respecting the formation of the channel differing materially from that arrived at by Leyell and adopted generally by geologists since the date of his investigations. It is well known that the remoteness of the glacial epoch has been to a great extent determined by Leyells theory of the formations of the Niagara River, and any points that may be established against this theory cannot fail to have a most important bearing on an interesting question of geological chronology. Mr. Bell examined the structure of what be considered to be the pre-glacial channel of the river from the whirlpool to St. David's, commencing on the Canadian Side opposite Summer House and at present filled up with laminated sand, fine laminated silt and till. This old channel is in a straight line with the present channel above the whirlpool, and of the same width, that leading to Queenston being, as is well known, much narrower. "Standing at the summer house," writes Mr. Belt "on the American side, at the point where the river takes a sudden bend to the eastward, I looked across the whirlpool to the old gorge opposite, and the question at once presented itself to my mind. From this point there are two channels downwards, one excavated before, the other after the glacial period; to which does the one upwards to the falls belong? This question does not appear to have occurred to the authors of the theory that the whole of the gorge through which the river now runs, from the falls to Queenston, dates from glacial. But why might not the old pre-glacial river have excavated the gorge about the whirlpool as well as the old one below it, and the present river have only cut back the gorge from Queenston to the whirlpool, and from that point upwards have reoccupied and cleared out the the old channel? On the face of it the latter alternative seemed to be more likely for the river above the whirlpool is running in a direct line for the old gorge, and is, moreover, about the same width as it is, the gorge to Queenston being narrower. I found with surprise that this important point had been overlooked, and that it had been assumed without discussion that the gorge above the whirlpool belonged to the new and not to the old river." Mr. Belt's examination of the terraces formed by the river in the superficial deposits and in post glacial lines seems to place his view beyond all reasonable doubt. The difficulty of explaining these phenomena without diagrams compels us to refer our scientific readers to Mr. Belt's article, where will be found a most lucid and conclusive refutation of the theory hitherto prevailing, with respect to the upward progress of Niagara Falls. It is highly probable that the falls, since the glacial period, were never much farther down them they are at present, and their rate of procedure given by Leyell is altogether too high. "The geologists of Canada and New York could not have a more interesting question to work at than this, and if they did no more that, correctly and fully map out the gorge the terraces, and river ridges, they would confer a great benefit on geological science. The absence of such maps I found to be a great drawback to my investigations. The only part of the gorge that has been has been surveyed with minute accuracy is that at the falls. This was done by Prof. Hall, assisted by competent engineers in 1842 and permanent marks were at the same time fixed in the rocks. The first step of a new survey should be at trigonometrical re-measurement of the rocks at the fall. This compared with that made thirty-three years ago—one-third of a century—could not fail to afford data for calculating the present rate of retrocession, and would be a fitting compliment to the veteran geologist under whose auspices the first survey was made, and to whom the whole scientific world is a debtor for a lifetime is spent in geological research."

A CURIOUS CEREMONY.

KING ALFONSO WASHING TWELVE PAIR OF DIRTY FEET.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Times gives the following account of the emblematic ceremony of washing the Apostles' feet as recently performed by King Alfonso: "The religious service attended by the King, which is performed in the chapel, and to which the public are freely admitted, was over at noon, and I went up the Prince's Staircase on my way to the Hall of the Ceremony, where the ceremony of the May was to take off. Everything about the Middle Ages in grand, if not entirely historical; this ceremonial, performed by the Kings of Spain from time immemorial, was of the most gorgeous description. The court yard, with its quaint old Moorish arcades, the chapel with its wealth of gold and jewels, the Royal guards, clothed in the costume of the Spanish Middle Ages, the Seven de los Caballeros, or gentlemen who attend at the ceremonial, in antique costumes, and the Royal family, all combined to make a striking picture. The Royal party entered the Hall of Ceremony, and took their seats on the dais, and waited there till he and Em had got settled; and just as he was asking her if she was willing to become his partner for life, and trust to his strong right arm for support and protection, I gave three terrific Indian war-whoops, and fired off an old horse pistol I had borrowed of Bob Johnson, and my gracious! how that fellow jumped up and scooted like the deuce! He never stopped to get his hat, but tumbled head over heels down the door steps. As for Em, she cut just one scared that she upended right down on the floor, and screeched like blue thunder till dad and mother came running in with nothing on but their night clothes and wanted to know what the matter was. But Em only pulled the bedspread and kept pointing under the sofa, till dad got down on his knees and saw me there, and pulled me out by the hind leg. When he had got me out to the woodshed he warped me over his knee and went at me with an old trunk strap, and I've not got over it real nicely yet.

How Bequets Should be Made.

It has been an object of curiosity to many how such an arrangement is effected. I will inform them. Procure a quantity of the finest wire (copper preferred), such as is used in making artificial flowers. With this the bouquet should be tied; no string or matting is required. The wire should be kept in a coil for tying, but some portions of it should be cut in lengths of about six inches.

The following flowers if well arranged have a good effect. The center, a double white Camellia, the florets of a good pink Geranium, and Stephanotes floribunda, and double blue Violet or Forget-me-not; these arranged in concentric circles round the center, with a few fronds of the Maidenhair Fern regularly arranged between them, with a few of the fronds placed round the outer edge projecting about 2 inches, to act as guard to the other flowers, and about 3 inches of lace paper, or, as it is better known with us gardeners, as bouquet paper.

In making the bouquet, one end of the coil wire is fixed to the stalk of the centre flower, and every single flower, wich is added is secured by a twist of the wire. A little moss should be placed just where the wire is bound round to prevent cutting the stalk. To supply the want of a long stalk the 6 inch lengths of wire are twisted round the short stalks of the flowers and bent downwards to serve in place of stalks. But the use of the wire not nearly so many flowers are required, and they will have a much lighter appearance, and can be arranged in their places much more regularly than if large trusses are used, which always look stiff and heavy.—Rural New Yorker.

SHALL WE MEET AGAIN?

The following is one of the most brilliant articles written by the lamented George D. Prentice: "The fact of nature is inexorable. There is no appeal from the great law which dooms us to dust. We flourish and fade as the leaves of the forest and the flowers that bloom and wither in a day have no frailer hold upon life than the mightiest monarch who ever shook the earth with his footsteps. Generations of men will appear as the grass and the multitude that throng the world to-day will disappear as the footsteps on the shore. Men seldom think of the great event of death until the shadows fall across their own pathway, hiding from their eyes the faces of loved ones whose living smiles were the sunlight of existence Death is an antagonist of life, and the cold thought of the tomb is the skeleton of all feasts. We do not want to go through the dark valley, although its dark passage may lead to paridise; we do not want to lay down in the cold grave even with princes for bedfellows. In the beautiful drama of Ion, the hope of immortality, so eloquently uttered, by the dying Greek, finds deep responses in every thoughtful soul. When about to yield his young existence a sacrifice to fate, his Clemantha asks if they should meet again, to which he replies: "I have asked the dreadful question of hills that look eternal, of the clear streams that flow forever, of the stars among whose fields of azure my raised spirit has walked in glory. All were dumb, but as I gazed upon the living face I felt that there is something in love that mantles through its beauty that cannot wholly perish. We shall meet again, Clemantha."

HAYTIAN PROVERBS.

The Haytian depends for his livelihood exclusively upon the products of the soil, the earth, and the water. He manufactures nothing for export. With the richest sugar lands, he imports all his sugar and molasses; he smokes cigars made of Kentucky tobacco, and eats salt fish cured in New England. Though I searched carefully for it, I found nothing to bear away with me as a trophy of Haytian civilization that was wrought with Haytian hands, or was in any way the fruit of Haytian industry.

What I did find, however, that was essentially Haytian, and as much the specialty of this island as che De Brie cheese or the Valenciennes lace, or the Jersie cows, or Florentine mosaics are the specialities of the places of which they bear the name, were the proverbs with which the creole population are accustomed to garnish their conversation.

Proverbial forms of expression are used quite freely by all classes, but most abound in the mouths of the humble and uneducated peasants, who not only cannot read themselves, but who probably never had an ancestor who could. To them they hold the place of books and libraries, in which they hoard up and minister to each other the wisdom and experience of ages.

Many of their proverbs struck me as so novel and so finely flavored with the soil of the island, or with the customs of its peculiar and simple-minded people that I was tempted to make a memorandum of them. My interest in the subject attracting the attention of several intelligent Haytians of my acquaintance, they were good enough to assist me in enlarging my collection.

A majority of the proverbs in common use had evidently come from the Old World, many, of course, from France—not the least valuable rule of French domination in the island; while others, and to me the more interesting portion, were obviously indigenous and struck me as reflecting the characteristics to be expected in the minds of people who centre-arched here.

It has been observed that proverbs begin to appear when men begin to suffer and to carry, as their daily occupation in life, the burden of experience. Certainly the Haytians have been prolific largely the issues of humanity. It is certain that the people who have been most depressed under the oppressive institutions of slavery have been, of all ages, most addicted to the use of proverbs, and for obvious reasons. In the form of a general truth we may give vent to the bitterest personal feelings without making ourselves personally responsible for the sentiment. [illegible] Examiner.

WIT AND HUMOR.

A bad boy thus describes his misdeeds and their punishment. "My sister Em has got a feller who has been coming to see her most every night for some time. Night before last, just to [illegible] and waited under the sofa on the sly, and waited there till he and Em had got settled; and just as he was asking her if she was willing to become his partner for life, and trust to his strong right arm for support and protection, I gave three terrific Indian war-whoops, and fired off an old horse pistol I had borrowed of Bob Johnson, and my gracious! how that fellow jumped up and scooted like the deuce! He never stopped to get his hat, but tumbled head over heels down the door steps. As for Em, she cut just one scared that she upended right down on the floor, and screeched like blue thunder till dad and mother came running in with nothing on but their night clothes and wanted to know what the matter was. But Em only pulled the bedspread and kept pointing under the sofa, till dad got down on his knees and saw me there, and pulled me out by the hind leg. When he had got me out to the woodshed he warped me over his knee and went at me with an old trunk strap, and I've not got over it real nicely yet.

A MENAGERIE OF DRUNKARDS

The most foolish predicament a man can get into is to get drunk. In drunkenness every man shows his strongest side and most ardent passion. There are six kinds of drunkards, and if you will go into a city drinking place where there are a dozen under the influence of liquor, you will be sure to find these six different characters, representing different animals.

The first is ape-drunk. He leaps, and sings, and yells, and dances, making all sorts of grimaces, and cutting up all sorts of "monkey" to excite the laughter of his fellows! Oh, terribly silly is the drunken clown.

The second is tiger drunk. He breaks the heads of fellow-carousers, and is full of bloon and thunder. His eyes are fired with vengeance; and his soul raves with murderous fury. Of this sort are those who abuse their families.

The third is hog-drunk. He rolls in in the dirt on the floor, slobbers and grunts, and going into the street, makes his bed in the first ditch or filthy corner he may happen to fall icto. He is heavy, lumpish and sleepy and cries in a greating way for a little more drink.

The fourth is puppy-drunk. He will weep for kindness, and whine his love and hug you in his arms, and kiss you with his slobbery lips, and proclaim how much he loves you. You are the best man he ever saw, and he will lay down his money or his life for you.

The fifth is owl-drunk. He is wise in his own conceit. No man must differ with him, for his word is law. His is true in politics, and all matter must be taken as authority. His arm is the strongest, his voice is the sweetest, his horse the fleetest, his tavern the larg

ELECTION TRIALS.

Since our last issue, the trials of the East and West ridings have been postponed till the 26th and 30th of July, respectively. We understand this was done by the Judge without consulting the parties concerned. Of the result of the trial in the East Riding there can be no two opinions, and we advise our Reform friends to consider what will be the wisest course in the future, several of Dr. O'Sullivan's friends already admit that he might as well at once admit his position, and save time and expense, and it is said he would do so, but for the action of the ring leaders. The delay in the trial is a matter of great regret.

THE TIMES.

The complaint of stringency in money matters is now pretty general. Several large houses have succumbed in England and with them, smaller ones are forced into insolvency. This will affect other houses in the Colonies and other countries where these trades, suffering depression were carried on, and already the depression has been felt in this country; but this was foreshadowed by the crisis in the United States, about two years ago, and which is not yet wholly removed. That there will be any long or serious oppression of the trade of this country is not supposed. The very bountiful harvest of last year, with good prospects for the approaching harvest forbids the belief that Canada is likely to suffer to any serious extent, but no doubt some of our merchants both wholesale and retail, will suffer in the general stringency. There is still the greater portion of last summers produce in the granaries, and low prices may keep a great deal there for some time, as very many farmers can afford to let it lie there, to the no small injury of the country generally: yet unless something unforseen occurs, not much higher prices need be anticipated.

The periodical tendency of the wholesale trade to import too freely has a great deal to do with periodical stringency. A few years of good times brings elated hopes, and with these reckless buying. In turn there is reckless selling, and immediately follows winding up, and this is found to take place about every ten years.

It may appear strange that when this has become to be a fixed Principle in trade, that more caution does not prevail, so as to either shorten or prevent its recurrence. Careful business men, however, are caught very often with the less wary, and then comes a period of general settlement. For this the trade appears to make calculations, and in the end only few are found to suffer severely. Increased trade and speculation, necessities increased discounts and whenever a curtailing takes place there follows a period of tight times. All these causes combined to a limited extent, produces the present dullness, but the amount of wealth in the country unsold, must when placed in the market, prevent any long period of anxiety if the approaching harvest meets the anticipation of the people, with it will come better times.

THE ELECTION LAW.

The number of individuals that have been unseated by the operation of the Election Law, affords hope for the future that men who seek popular favor will not use means of obtaining it that are followed by penalties, and punishments. A portion of the press appear to be in great glee over the fact that the greater number of the unseated are Ministerialists, forgetting that if any suffer it is only the result of a long period of the use of influences that have so degraded too many of the people, that they boast they are for sale and only too ready to bargain for their price, just as they would for the price of a cow or a horse. Candidates, or their agents would never offer money, or its equivalents, if they had not learned that to offer it ensures the favor of many. During many years of trading on man's franchise, the people have become like the statesmen who controlled the destinies of the day. The taint extended itself to the electors, and they in turn worshiped the men who were entailing customs that would eventually entail shame and disgrace on the dominion, and this has been realized to no trifling extent. That a greater number of Ministerialists have suffered is due to the fact that there were a greater number of them elected than of Conservatives, but that they have been more guilty is not true. In the race for power, very often, men attempt sides for purposes not the most honorable, as in the case of Major Walker of London and Wallis McDougall. Their new alliances suffer from the taint they take with them, for those do not mean to profess on either of the candidates, or the schools whom they came, but merely to show that very often, we may draw hasty conclusions, where the whole circumstances are not taken into consideration.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH

Our readers will be surprised to learn of the decease of Wm. Hall, Esq., of the firm of Nicholls and Hall, who died at Montreal on Monday night about 12:30. He had been to the Presbyterian Assembly as a representative of the Free church, having accompanied the Rev. Mr. Roger, and when he left home two weeks ago on Monday, was in his usual health, not feeling any way ill, On his way down he had an attack of diarrhoea, which reduced him very much but caused no great alarm. On the Sabbath after his arrival he was at church, hearing Dr. Ormiston, and was well enough to join in the large meeting on the occasion of the united meeting of all the bodies after the Union had been consummated, He shortly after caught a little cold, and feeling ill had physicians called in who pronounced his new trouble to be inflammation of the lungs. The state which he had been reduced left him too low to bear much sickness. and he very soon showed signs of danger, but they did not become alarmed till Sunday or Monday of this week, when his friends received a telegram from Dr. Howard, who was attending him, indicating fears for his recovery. Mr. Richard Hall immediately left for Montreal, and soon after Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls followed. Mr. Hall arrived there about 10 to 10;30, p.m. About an hour after he breathed his last, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls not arriving in time to see him alive. Thus he passed away after but a few days illness, and almost before it was known to his relatives that he was ill. How strangely mysterious are the ways of Providence! It is said that Mr. Hall accompanied Mr. Roger largely on account of the latter gentleman being subject to heart disease, and fearing that he might have a sudden attack when alone; but strange to say he who went with this intent was the first to be called away.

Mr. Hall is so well known in the Town and county, that no obituary will furnish information of him not already known. He was a native of Scotland, but emigrated with his brothers and sisters to Canada about 1826 or 1827, when they settled in the Township of Smith. Mr. Hall did not remain at farming long, but was engaged as a clerk by Mr. R. Nicholls, who about that time had commenced business in Peterborough. Shortly after Mr. Nicholls and Mr. Hall entered into a partnership which continued over 40 years, until death dissolved it. The firm was very successful in business, and has amassed great wealth and during the whole period the partnership seems to have been not only one of business, but of friendship based upon the greatest confidence in each other. Mr. Hall like Mr. Nicholls closely applied himself to his business. Between them they managed all their own financial concerns, accounts, &c. Their name was known not only in Canada but in Europe their integrity never doubted, and few men in Canada have been more successful. Mr. Nicholls, the senior partner has been in ill health for years, and few, very few, ever dream as he would outlive his partner.

The deceased was never married. He leaves two brothers John and Adam Hall Esqrs., of Smith, and two sisters. Mrs. John Walton and Mrs. Scott, besides numerous other more distant relatives to survive him. The Church to which he belonged has lost in him a valuable member. The town has lost a good citizen, and the surviving member of the firm has lost one whom close business relationship had made as dear to him as a brother; and he will long be remembered as a successful man, who by industry and integrity made himself a name and position in the county, indeed in the province.

Mr. Hall's remains were brought home yesterday, and were met at the train by a great number of citizens. The funeral will take place to-day at two o'clock.

GREAT CHANGES.

Great changes are anticipated in the Union School and Collegiate Institute after the holidays. Mrs. Flavelle, Miss Boucher and Mr. Hodge of the Public Schools have sent in their resignations. Mrs. Flavelle will be very much missed. The children have grown up to look upon her as almost a mother, and it will be difficult to get one to supply her place. Her pleasant smile and cheerful word and wise counsel were always a source of pleasure and strength in the school. Mr. Hodge retires to enter the legal profession, and Miss Boucher, it is surmised, has other projects than law in view.

Mr. Shepley and Mr. Hands of the Institute have sent in their resignations also, with a view to engaging in other more congenial professions. it is not to be wondered at when young ladies retire, as all are ready to acknowledge that she has a right to do so under certain well understood principles of social philosophy, but when our best male teachers retire, we are ready to ask why? and can only find the answer in this, that they are not properly remunerated to remain in it. The reason that so few men holding first class certificates, or even second class provisional certificates remain in the profession, is not that they do not exist, or cannot be trained here, but because they can secure better pay in any other profession.

The following first class teachers in this Town chose other professions for this reason. F. C. Taylor, John Braden, J. W. Smyth, T. Braden, and now Mr. Shepley Mr. Hodge and Mr. Hands, and several others from the county have done likewise. It will be a matter for consideration how to supply their places, but it will also be necessary to consider how to retain good teachers, and this will be a question not as easily answered, as the ratepayers fear any increased demand on their pockets, and without this we may expect to hear of the best men seeking other employments, just because more remunerative.

LIST OF CANDIDATES FOR PRO MOTION.

The following is the list of candidates for promotion to the Collegiate Institute, and the number of marks taken by each, at the late examination.

Although all of them but two have taken the requisite number of marks to pass, because of not taking at least one third the number of marks required in every subject, some will not in all probability be promoted. There are also two or three who have not large margins in their favor, and they also may not go up this time, but all this depends on the report of the High School Inspector.

That fifty-two out of 80 succeeded in obtaining the requisite number of marks prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction speaks well of the work that is being done in our public Schools; and of Mr. McKee who has had charge of the larger number of the candidates during the past term. Several of the candidates are from other schools, and of these some obtained very good marks, but in these cases, the agent can in advance of these from the Peterborough Public Schools, and this is decidedly in their favor, as competition between boys and girls of 11 12 & 13 years, most likely will result in favor of those of 16 years: and then it must be considered that the best pupils from the out side schools come in. By this we do not mean to include on either of the candidates, or the schools whom they came, but merely to show that very often, we may draw hasty conclusions, where the whole circumstances are not taken into consideration.

BULLS AND BEARS

There is a rumor afloat that several Port Hope gentlemen, were playing bulls and bears in the Chicago wheat market but are forced to acknowledge a turn in the shape of losses to the amount of $800,000. as follows

Mr. Covert	$300,000
Mr. Fraser	100,000
Mr. Corby	50,000
Mr. Elwain	250,000
Total	$800,000

Tight times too, yet sensation gold to this amount, has had to go to meet those losses.

The sympathy of the public will not be largely with the sufferers, as it is only the "chosen few."

If they had invested that amount of sensation enterprise, it would have returned them some profits, and their capital would be safe. Men who gamble for toys to control the great trades of the country must be content to suffer the reward of their foolishness.

The following we clip from an exchange:—

CHICAGO GRAIN ROGUES.

The shrinkage in the grain and provision market is the leading topic in commercial circles. When prices are going up everybody is happy, for even those who within a week may have lost largely on sales dig in deeper than ever, hoping to make more than they lost by a continued rise in the market. Fears now are by no means so cheerful, for since the decline commenced, the losses on grain and provisions in store here actually foot up into the millions. On 5,000,000 bushels of wheat a shrinkage of 15c. per bushel—and it has been fully that or more—amounts to $750,000. If to this be added the loss on corn and other provisions, well informed parties estimate the sum at fully $2,000,000. But this is not all.

The loss is doubtless greater on options than on the stuff actually in store, so that it may be safely estimated that the shrinkage on property and options in this city would be at least $5,000,000. If this tremendous loss fell entirely upon our own dealers, many of them would doubtless go under, but more than half of it—some say three-fourths—we are assured, falls upon speculators in all the surrounding states. They have sent their money here without stint, and sustained, and even carried prices to higher figures during the rise, by the funds they have put up as margins through their brokers and commission houses. Thus far the loss has been so widely and so evenly distributed that operators, with one or two insignificant exceptions have been able to bear it.

The House of Lords and Moody and Sanky

Messrs. Moody and Sankey are preparing to visit Eton to hold services, especially addressed to students. Their intention causes considerable sensation and much controversy in the newspapers. Knatchbull Hugessen has formally requested the Provost to bring the matter before the governors of the college with a view to obtaining from them an expression of disapproval and refusal to sanction the holding of the services.

In the House of Lords today the Marquis of Bath asked Baron Lyttleton one of the Governors of Eton College whether it was true the Head Master and Governors had given their sanction to students to attend meetings contemplated by certain revival preachers. Lord Lyttleton replied that the Governors were to consider the matter to-morrow, and to read several letters. One stated that a protest had been circulated in the school against Moody and Sankey's proposed meeting, and up to last Saturday evening had received 150 signatures, including those of two school captains. The head Master of Eton writes that hearing Moody and Sankey intended to hold services in the neighborhood, he did not feel that he was bound to place restrictions on the boys, but when informed that these gentlemen proposed to stay several days at Eton he immediately wrote to them that he could not allow the students to attend the meetings. He received an answer from Moody and Sankey that one service only was to be held. Lord Overtone deprecated the attendance of students at such meetings. The Earl of Shaftesbury objected to the debate without notice, and the subject was dropped.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

On Thursday and Friday the time was spent in Committees,

SATURDAY.

The Council met. All the members present. The Warden in the chair.

The minutes were read and confirmed.

On motion of Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Brown, the committee on equalization of the assessment rolls reported.

The report was adopted on motion of Mr. Collins, seconded by Mr. Sanderson.

On motion of Mr. Burnham seconded by Mr. Sanderson, the following report of the Special Committee to settle accounts between the County and Town was read.

Your Committee beg leave to report that they have met the Committee of the Town and have agreed upon settling the outstanding accounts in regard to the Locks Bridge, Court House Square and Grounds, and Iron Bridge, irrespective of the $425 now under consideration by the County Judge. This settlement leaves the Town indebted to the County in the sum of $240.86.

The item of $425, now under investigation before the Judge is not included in this settlement, and the right of the County to have one half thereof refunded to them will be a matter for future consideration.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN BURNHAM.
Chairman.

Mr. Garbutt thought the Town had not acted wisely in reference to paying Mr. Belcher some $60 for a report on the bridge on which they took no action, although not favorable to the state of the bridge.

Mr. Burnham explained that the settlement was made to get an end to the unsatisfactory state of open accounts which should have been settled long ago. The report was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Colborne, the Committee on Finance reported.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Committee on Finance beg leave to report, recommending payment of the following accounts and claims:—

Captain Bottom, carrying Council to Bobcaygeon	$ 20 00
Wm. Flood, Plank for Pig. Creek Bridge	17 50
That 1 year's taxes on lots 1, O'Beirne's office be paid	5 00
That County Treasurer be authorised to allow reduction of Registrar account	66 00
James Stratton	59 90
That T. Burke be paid collection made on Convictions List last year	20 00
Jas. C. Brown, Inspector	20 00
John Brown, sect., Chemery office	4 50
James Stratton, sect., Board of Education	2 50
W. H. Robertson do do	3 00
Robert Rennie, Registry office	66 00
List of Convictions	45 00
Board of Education	5 00
County Accounts	168 20
The items of the account for Books for Sheriff, amount $3 50, to be only paid on satisfying the County Treasurer that the County is obliged to do so.
Davidson & Co., Stationery	16 20
R. H. Beddy, one half of keeping up of Temperance Bridge	47 50
W. H. Robertson, County Printing balance	94 65
A. G. Brown, Caledonia, (County half)	12 50
Jas. Bird, Registrar	19 70
W. H. Robertson, posting bills	1 00
Mathieu & Read, Stationery	29 50
H. C. Rogers, Portage	26 00

They cannot recommend the payment of Wm. Goldsmith account for $20 00, in relation to Welkom Point Bridge.

That the County Treasurer be authorised to accept in settle the balance due County of Victoria on account of the Pontoon Bridge, Bobcaygeon.

That in reference to the letter of Mr. R. Rattan, relating to a lot purchased in Asphodel by the late Sheriff, your Committee would recommend that the same be repaid to the municipality of Burleigh, &c., for settlement.

That they cannot recommend the payment of W. H. Robertson for printing the list of voters for the 1874 Div.

They recommend the payment of to Thos. Burke of the amount deducted from his account for 1874.

Your Committee recommend that your Clerk do issue an Auctioneer's License to D. & J. Haggart at the price of a single license.

Your Committee having carefully considered the financial requirements of the County for the current year, would recommend in view of the large expenditure on bridges that the same rate as last year be levied and collected, viz: —5 and one each mills, which will produce $15003.

That as the debentures rate provided to be levied under By-law No. 264, is more than sufficient to meet its requirement, no rate be levied under the provisions of By-law No. 266.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOS. GEO. CHOATE,
Chairman.

On motion of Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Millar, the report was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Gelleraux, seconded by Mr. Sanderson, the clerk was instructed to procure the necessary rules and pulleys for the flag staff, and have the same made fit for its uses.

The Committee on schools Reported recommending the levying of the following sums for school purposes for the year.

Asphodel	$400 00
Belmont & Methuen	440 00
Burleigh Anstruther & Chandos	150 00

On motion of Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Choate, a By-law to confirm the equalization of the assessment rolls was introduced and read. It was also read a second time in committee of the whole.

On motion of Mr. Sanderson, seconded by Mr. Collins, the By law was read a third time and passed.

On motion of Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Blezard, a By-law to provide for the payment of the accounts and claims was read.

On motion of the same, the Council went into committee of the whole on the second reading of the By-law, which was carried without amendment.

On motion of Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Blezard, the By-law was read a third time and passed.

On motion of Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Burgess, a by-law to provide for the assessing, levying, and collecting the county rate for the year was read a first time.

On motion of the same, the council went into committee of the whole on the second reading of the By-law.

Moved by Mr. Choate, seconded by Mr. Burgess, the By law was read a third time and passed.

On motion of Mr. Burgess, seconded by Mr. Colborne, a memorial to the Lieut. Governor of Ontario, to grant a sum of money to aid in opening a road through Belmont and Methuen was read a first time.

On motion of Mr. Collins, seconded by Mr. Blezard the memorial was read a second time, Mr. Colborne to the chair, without amendment,

On motion of Mr. Burgess, seconded by Mr. Collins, the memorial was read a third time and passed.

Mr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Brown, That this council considering the advantages that would accrue to this county in the construction of the Huron and Quebec railway. That this Council is in favor of passing a by law to grant a bonus of $150,000 to the said railway

Messrs. Blezard, Moloney, Garbutt and Millar were opposed to granting any more than $100,000 for any road, as the county thought the town should pay as much as the county.

Mr. Sanderson was opposed to binding the council to any future action.

Mr Boulton thought it was premature to pass a by law at present, as the railway could not be expected for two or three years, but the resolution might be of use towards obtaining the road.

Mr. Collins was in favour of the railway, if the same conditions as proposed at first were ensured. But he thought the Town should do as much as the county. He thought Mr. Fowler had been badly used in the past, as this council had before made promises but did not carry them out.

Mr. Burnham did not think the resolution would lead Mr. Fowler astray, as he heard the discussion, and he felt that the people were in favor of the road, and would support it, if a by law were submitted.

Mr. Brown favored the road as the road that would benefit the farmers more than any other thing that could be done, for them even more than for the Town of Peterborough.

The motion was then put.

Mr. Millar asked who would repair the flag staff as it should be done, so as to relieve the caretaker from blame. Certain newspapers were too ready accusing certain parties of being rebels while the accused were more loyal than their accusers.

Mr. Collins explained that the reason why the flag was not hoisted as referred to was that the Advisory Committee had neglected to have it repaired although the caretaker had brought the matter before them.

On motion of Mr. Boulton, seconded by Mr. Burnham, $20 was granted to the district Rifle Association given to purchase a cup to be called the County's Challenge cup.

On motion of Mr. Blezard, the Council adjourned.

COUNTY AUDITORS' REPORT.

GENTLEMEN:—We, the undersigned Auditors of the Corporation, beg leave to report that we have carefully examined the cash account of your Treasurer for the year ending on the 3rd of December, 1874, and the vouchers for the receipts and payments of the same, and found them all correct, and abstract and detailed statement of the same, together with an account current of the County Debentures and Common School rates and a non-resident tax, cash per contra and returns account with each Municipality and a redemption account is herewith submitted.

Also an account of the receipts and payments of the Legislative grants to High and Common Schools, and a special rate account and sinking fund in instalment account of Debentures issued under the provisions of the several Bye-laws of your Council, likewise a statement of the assets and liabilities of your Corporation.

We would call the attention of the Council to the following particulars in connection with the finances of the County. In examining your Treasurers' accounts of his receipts and payments for County purposes for the year, we find that the payments exceed the receipts by the sum of $2821.68.

We also find that the current liabilities of the County exceed the available assets by the sum of $15782.49. The cause of this large deficiency we attribute to the large expenditure during the last two years in rebuilding and repairing County Bridges. The amount charged for the Temporary, one of the sinking fund and interest paid in banks.

In examining the Debenture account of the County, we find that the accumulating sinking fund arising under the provisions of By-law No. 264 amount to the sum of $14282.42, of which sum $12966 are invested in Debentures, numbers 9 and 10 of By-law No. [illegible] of the Council, and $1316 in Enniskorre Debentures, thus leaving a balance of $130.42 uninvested.

In examining the provisions of By-laws No. 265 and 272, we find that ten debentures of $1000 each, and payable in 20 years, issued under By-law No. 265, were paid on the 27th of October, 1874, and other payable interest due for the last four years, the sinking fund has accumulated to the sum of $2870.92, from which debentures, the whole of which is now invested on a sinking fund and will leave a surplus of $870.92. And we also find that 12 twelve debentures of $1000 each, payable in 20 years, issued under By-law No. 272, were sold on the 6th day of December, 1871, and other paying the interest due for the last three years, the sinking fund has accumulated to the sum of $2706.84, from which deduct $1200 the necessary sum to be invested on a sinking fund, and it will give a surplus of $[illegible]

Whether it is advisable to reduce the annual special rate provided for under the [illegible] of municipal institutions provided by [illegible] the Municipal Institutions Act of 1873, or levy the full amount as provided by section 366 of the Act, we leave in your Council to determine.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. J. HALL,
C. BURTON,
Auditors.

Cobourg and Peterboro' Railway.

SHAREHOLDERS ANNUAL MEETING JUNE 15, 1875.

Present.—Messrs. Henderson, Chambliss, Pringle, Meaker, Burnham, Kerr, Dawson, Beatty, Haggart, McCallum, Stanton, B. J. Rattan, representing the estate of H. Rattan.

Mr. Kerr was called to the chair, Mr. White was appointed Secretary.

Col. Chambliss read the minutes of the last meeting. Approved.

Col. Chambliss said he had prepared no financial statement because no iron ore had been sold since last August. The mines had been operated during the winter, but owing to the state of the iron trade in the United States, and the stoppage of a great many furnaces, very few having been kept in blast, and of those none but such as were compelled to operate to fulfil existing engagements. So soon, however, as business revived, the Marmora ore, being $2 a ton nearer the market, would sell readily, for it was quite equal to any ore in the market. He had deemed it advisable to keep on a force at the mines in order to prevent the filling of the shafts.

With regard to opening the road to Peterborough, the shareholders were aware that an act had been passed to raise money to go on with that work. He had obtained the consent of the leading stockholders in the United States to the largest blast ore, and to the lease and sale of the lands, for which it provided. But owing to the stringency in the money market the bonds had not yet been negotiated. Had not the company suffered a great blow in the death of the President, Mr. Botts, and had the money market been in a better state, he (Col C) had no doubt that he could have raised the funds necessary to complete the connection with Peterborough. There was no obligation on the part of the American shareholders to advance more money for the road, and the financial position of the company was such that the construction of Rice Lake bridge must be postponed for the present year; but he (Col C) had no doubt that the work would be pushed through at the earliest possible moment. It was extremely gratifying to him (Col C) to know that the people of Cobourg had always met his demands in the most liberal spirit in no case had they refused any request of the company, or withheld their confidence, and he felt that they, the people of Cobourg, had a right to expect the completion of the road to Peterborough, and had a moral if not a legal right to expect the reconstruction of their road, or the future of the railway iron given towards its completion. The people of Cobourg need not be despondent for it was not possible to conceive that the shareholders who had $400,000 invested on the other side of the lake, would consent to lose it for the sake of the $150,000 required to complete the line to Chemong lake.

So soon as he was able to raise the money to pay for the $50,000 worth of iron now on its way to Cobourg, he would lay it down on the other side of Rice Lake, and make the connection with Peterborough by means of a ferry. If he (Col C) was in a position to do so, he would lay down the iron this fall,

Mr. Rattan suggested that the $50,000 worth of iron be given to the town as security for the completion of the road.

Mr. McCallum said it was absurd to ask the company for security. Had they not got the agreement of the company? and would it not be an insult to them to ask for the iron as security. He (Mr McCallum had the utmost confidence in the company, and although there was a feeling abroad, and the subject of the hypothecation of the bonds to raise the money was discussed in the street, yet the gentleman who held that view had not come forward to-day and argued it at the meeting. He (Mr McCallum) was not in favor of laying a gap in the railway—like that of Rice Lake and trusted that it would soon be filled.

Mr. Rattan pointed out the excitement now existing in the town against the company, for the breach of contract, and the fears of the people that the money now being expended on the harbor would be thrown away. He though t that the people were entitled to some security for the money advanced to the railway, or for the completion of the contract to reconstruct the road to Peterborough. Whatever confidence the people might have in the present company, they should remember that they were not immortal, and others might share the fate of the lamented and esteemed President, and [illegible] in the company be wholly changed. The new men might have other views, and the town should have some security for the large advances made to complete the road to Peterborough, and he, (Mr. Rattan,) asked the chairman if there was any legal objection to giving such security.

Col. Chambliss said that he could not speak for the company, neither could Mr. Rattan speak for the town. He, Mr. Chambliss would do his best to complete the connection with Peterborough, by means of a ferry, at the earliest possible moment.

It was then,

Moved by Mr. Haggart, seconded by Mr. Beatty,—That the shareholders present thank Col. Chambliss for the information given by him relative to the financial position of the road, and trust he will continue to use his efforts towards a speedy completion of the Rice Lake bridge, which they consider to be the most important link in the connection with the back country. Carried.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of Directors, resulting as follows:—W. I. Stanton, J. Harshman, J. H. Shoenberger, G. K. Shoenberger, E. S. Wimsatt, F. McCallum, Jr., John Sutherland, Isaac W. Butts, W. [illegible] Chambliss. Sentinel.

FUNERAL OF MISS SUTHERLAND.—The funeral of Miss Sutherland, daughter of Mr. J. Sutherland, who was drowned at Peterborough about a week ago, took place Wednesday afternoon, and was one of the largest ever witnessed in that vicinity, reaching nearly a mile and numbering about one hundred carriages All the places of business were closed while the funeral passed. Much sympathy was expressed and felt for the bereaved parents.

THE BIBLE LOOKING GLASS

This is the title of a new book for which Mr. W. M. Wood is about to canvass in the County. It is got up in excellent style on good paper, and neatly bound, and beautifully illustrated. It is the joint work of Rev. Wm. Holmes and John Barber, and is published in Philadelphia.

The following testimonials will serve to show what is thought of the work by those who have examined it.

Peterborough, June 9, 1875.
June 8th, 1875.

"The Bible Looking Glass" seems to contain many excellent and much useful and interesting reading matter. I have no hesitation in recommending it as a book worthy of the patronage of the christian public. I have reason to believe that the Agent, Mr. Wood will faithfully fulfil his engagements.

W. M. Wood, Esq.,

DEAR SIR,—We have examined "The Bible Looking Glass" and have much pleasure in recommending it as a useful and instructive book, deserving of a large circulation. Its price brings it within the reach of all.

Sincerely yours,

J. D. COLLINS,
Secretary, Y. M. C. A.,

Rooms of Young Mens' Christian Association, Peterborough, Ont.

So far as I feel competent to judge from a cursory but hasty examination of this work—"The Bible Looking Glass"—it is well calculated to profit and interest during the spare half hours of the Sabbath day and, without endorsing or approving all its statements, or "looking at all its views, I think it safe to commend it to the christian public of Peterborough.

SAMUEL T. [illegible]
Methodist Minister.

I regard "The Bible Looking Glass" as a mirror in which many may see themselves [illegible] a very useful combination of [illegible] and interesting the great truth of the Scriptures. The style of the book will be found so helpful to the unlearned and quickening to the memory that any family read it without remembering much and [illegible] being wiser for the exercise. To those who have little time for [illegible] many books it will be found a valuable [illegible] of other men's thoughts and experience. This is a capital book for the young and the aged, though not to be received as [illegible] of [illegible] will be found to their way to the best channels and make the task interesting.

CHURNING IN QUICK TIME.

WHO CAN BEAT THIS.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

MR. EDITOR, I purchased a churn from Mr. J. Hall of Lakefield, about a year ago. I have used it ever since and I never require more than from 7 to 14 minutes to make butter. Can any of their patent churns beat this?

Yours, &c.,
A. SPALLER.

The temporary bridge has lost a string piece, it broke and fell out of its place, but perhaps it is still strong enough for the loads that pass over it. Since the above the piece has been replaced.

The Next Session.

The next session of the Normal School will commence on the 15th of September and will close on the 15th of July, following. There will be two short vacations at Christmas and Easter..

North York.

Mr. Dymond is holding meetings with every prospect of an increased majority this time. If the electors of North York should elect A. Boultbee, it would be a lasting disgrace to the Riding, and would afford another proof of the effects of years of bad training. Better things are hoped for.

Methodist.

The Rev. James Thom, B. A., formerly of Lakefield, was received as a regular minister of the Methodist Church, during the Conference at Picton. Also the Rev. H. Remer from the Bible Christian Church. Rev. Dr. Ryerson was chosen President of the Conference of the Methodist Church. He has been over 50 years a regular minister of that body.

Coal Tar as Paint.

Coal Tar is coming into very general use as a paint, two coats applied to shingles or out building effectually prevent the wood from decay. The tar makes a coat on the surface which excludes air and water. It is capital for the bottoms of posts; and costs but a fraction of the price of other paint, and may be had at any Gas Works. 19-9in

Presbyterian.

After the consummation of the Union at Montreal, a few of the dissenting ministers of the Old Kirk, met and organized by appointing a Moderator, the honor being conferred on Mr. Dobie of Milton, and Mr. Burnett of Hamilton being appointed Clerk. These are about five dissentients in the whole of the Dominion. With them it must be the day of small things.

Horse Training.

Professor Pratt the celebrated horse educator, will be in Peterborough on the 29th instant and will remain for eight days. His object is to give lessons in the art of handling this useful animal to obey his masters on intellectual principles, so to speak. He has been very successful in other places and will no doubt be equally so here. All who are interested in the noble animal should join the Professor's classes, and learn to apply his skill.

A Mania for Cattle.

At a late sale for Short Horns in Toronto, fabulous prices were given for fancy animals. Senator Cochrane sold a Seven Month Baby, to a Mississauga, at $6000. A fancy animal at a fancy price indeed. But does this not resemble a species of gambling, Shorthorns being put up instead of Ashton. The desire to secure fancy animals must be considered noble, less than insanity, manifesting itself in a love for Durham cattle.

Sunday.

The Orange Grand Lodge met and dined since last week to accept an invitation from R. C. Strickland & Co. to visit Stony Lake and Mt. Julian. This looks like all work and no play.

For Pleasure and Show.

Mr. Fitzgerald has now ready for sale and keeps on hand a very nice lot of the most stylish carriages, buggies, phaetons, and waggonets for pleasure and comfort, and wagons for general use. A visit to his show rooms will repay those who are about to purchase anything in the carriage line. His phaetons are very handsome, and are much sought for, and the waggonets are also being introduced on account of their neatness. The material used, he assures us is best white oak and American hickory. The finish is good and the whole appearance of his carriages, &c., will be found to please those desiring a handsome carriage or buggy. Call and see them. 19tf.

Coe, Cochrane Fishery Inspector, and F. Kane, with their guides will always be on hand to accompany and transport visitors requiring their services to the best hunting and fishing localities of which they have full knowledge. But it need not be considered necessary to go far from the hotel for sport, as an abundance is to be found in its immediate neighbourhood, especially for ladies and children, who will find ample diversion near at hand. Stoney Lake, with its numerous islands, will be found to supply an almost inexhaustible source of amusement and wonder to the lover of romantic scenery, the geologist, or the botanist. If the visitor desires a taste of the rugged and precipitous it can be found in the ascent of Eagle Mount—the view from the summit being a full reward for the toil in reaching that point. If a view of quieter scenery is desired, it can be had from Mount Julian, which commands not only a magnificent prospect of Stoney Lake but also of Clear Lake and country all around; a striking contrast to the noisy grandeur of the Burleigh Falls of the Shute. Space will not permit us to tell of Jack or Ell's creek and the thousand and one other attractions besides to make this one of the most charming, ever changing, pleasure-giving spots in the Province. Visitors who have once seen it experience an irresistible desire to know more of it, One season will not exhaust its wonders; new ones are constantly appearing among its myriads of islands. It is reached from Lakefield by the steamer "Chippewa," which connects with the noon train on the Midland Railways, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays and the sail up Kachewahnack Clear and Stoney Lake is delightful. No doubt is entertained but that the Hotel will be well filled with guests during the entire season.—Review.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The members of the Council met as a Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll. Present the Reeve and Councillors Leary, Birney, Brownscombe, Crawford and Dunlop, the several township of [illegible] of 1875 being read by the statute. Appeals were received from James Campbell and Barrit Edwards, Esq., for over assessments. Mr. Laing was heard before the Court and assessment reduced $60. Mr. Campbell's was reduced $600. The following changes were decided to be made in the Assessment Roll:—A. W. Ellis [illegible] Geo. Elvidge [illegible] Campbell, Jos. Hall [illegible] Maddocks, Wm. Hopkins in place of R. A. Morrow. The members of the Council met afterwards for the transaction of township business. The Reeve in the Chair. Minutes of last meeting read and approved. Communications were received from Mr. W. White relative to his lot in the 12th con., [illegible] Mr. Wilkinson [illegible] the County Judge, he would now have to remain by his decision. From Mr. Sutton, teacher of Public School, [illegible] No. 3, stating in reply to enquiry made by Council, that Wm. Scott and a son of Mr. Reynolds [illegible] the school section [illegible] mer. Clerk directed to notify the parties named that the repairs [illegible] be made at once in order to prevent [illegible] incurred in the matter. A petition signed by John Tully and fifteen others praying that the Council would add a few lots to School section No. 1, in order to equalize its assessment with the other sections of the municipality. On Motion of Councillor Robson, the Clerk was directed to lay befor the Council at its next meeting the assessment of the school sections of the Township for re-adjustment, if considered necessary. Councillor Birney was authorized to purchase two new road scrapers for the use of the municipality. By-law No. 222 relating to the appointment of Overseers of highways, was further amended as follows:—Robert. Dunlop, Jr., in place of Robt. Dunlop, Sr., deceased, Geo D. Edwards in place of Jas. Edwards, Wm. Brownscombe in place of Robt. Northcott, A By-law opening up a certain allowance Road, between Lots 12 and 13 in the 11th [illegible] of the Township, leading from the Roman Catholic Cemetery to the Otonabee River, was read a second and a third time. Councillor Brownscombe was appointed commissioner to expend $20 on Road Division No. 16, on the hill at railway crossing at Mr. Curraine. Mr. Armstrong was directed to expend $20 in his Road Division, and Mr. Hunter $5 for culvert, being balance of appropriation on lines between the 10th and 11th concessions. On motion of Councillor Birney Mr. Leary was appointed commissioner to expend $100 in cutting and filling at Carver's bridge, the Reeve to supply the funds necessary for carrying on the work. An order for $45 in favor of the Assessor was given on the Treasurer. An account from Mr. Crawford for lumber for bridge over new drain was received and ordered to lie over to next meeting of the Council. —Con.

DRY EARTH IN STABLES.

I am asked about the use of dry earth in a cow stable. The writer has seen it stated that earth which has been used in earth closet, is less valuable for [illegible] purposes than the manure itself would have been without the admixture; he has planned to use dry earth in his cow stable, but does not wish to do it to the detriment of his manure heap. [illegible] keep watch of the discussions here and in England, on this subject, and have never seen anything tending to so strong an argument against the use of the earth, as the objection above indicated.

Dr. Voelcker, who is a very high authority, published the results of his investigations as to the value of earth closet manure, showing that it was very valuable [illegible] the bi-product of the system had claimed. When I saw him in London, I asked him how he accounted for the small amount of fertilising matter in the samples analysed. His reply was that there was but a [illegible] manufactured gas [illegible] the form of the animal [illegible] Consisting of water and refuse matter of little fertilising value. The [illegible] and fertilising manurial matter, though large in the aggregate, when large populations are considered, are small when compared with the large amount of [illegible] in the closet. I especially asked him whether there was, thorough evaporation or otherwise, any actual destruction of fertilising parts; this he distinctly disclaimed, and said that the only bearing of his criticism was that his analyses showed the small proportion of material, that a mathematical calculation of the quantity and character of the feces and the quantity of the earth would indicate.

I [illegible] that unquestionably the use of earth in a cow stable, must be productive of the very best results, not only as saving all of the fertilizing matter present, but also, and very largely by reason of the development of available plant food in the earth itself in consequence of the chemical [illegible] in the manure it contains. In addition to this, there mere increase of bulk, enabling us to spread the manure more evenly over the ground, and the increasing effect of the manure as much or a covering, when used as a top-dressing, constitute a sufficient reason for the use of earth in liberal quantities. I have little doubt that my correspondent's experiments in this direction, will result satisfactorily.—Agriculturalist.

A Distinguished Wood-cutter.

While on a tour of inspection in the [illegible] on Thursday, the Right Hon. [illegible] arrived, with [illegible] now on a visit to that town in the capacity of trustee in the Newcastle estates, observed a tree which appeared to be blocking the way, and being informed that it [illegible] to be cut down, expressed the desire to do the work himself. Without much ceremony the great statesman doffed his coat, girded himself with his braces, and [illegible] to [illegible] vigorously to fell the tree. After working away in true woodman like fashion for about fifty minutes the tree which was 5½ft. in circumference, yielded, and fell with a crash [illegible] the cheers of the [illegible] who formed a portion of the spectators. In the course of the day the right hon. gentleman went through the streets, and was heartily cheered by all who recognised him.

A Thousand Boys Wanted.

There are always boys enough in the market, but some of them are of little use; the kind that are always wanted are:—

1. Honest.	6. Obedient.
2. Pure.	7. Steady.
3. Intelligent.	8. Obliging.
4. [illegible]	Polite.
5. Industrious.	10. Neat.

One thousand first-rate places are open for a thousand boys who stand up to the unexceptionable standard.

Each boy must [illegible] his mind as to the kind of business he should prefer. The places are ready in every kind of occupation.

Any boy who [illegible] and [illegible] are already filled by boys who [illegible] most of the most important points, but they will soon be vacant.

[illegible] the last who had the [illegible] his first point. He likes to attend the singing saloon and the theatre, This costs more money than he can afford, but somehow he manages to be there frequently

His employers are quietly watching [illegible] spots so much [illegible] money, they will soon discover a leak in the money drawer, detect the dishonest boy, and his place will be ready for some one who is now getting ready for it by observing point No. 1, and being truthful in all his ways.

Some [illegible] will soon be vacant [illegible] poisoned by [illegible] books, as they would not dare to show their fathers, and would be ashamed to have their mothers see,

The impure thoughts suggested by these books will lead to vicious acts; the boys will be ruined, and their places [illegible]

Will you be ready for one of these vacancies?

Distinguished lawyers, useful ministers, skilful physicians, successful merchants, [illegible] their places for [illegible] by one they [illegible] by death.

Mind these ten points, boys; they will prepare you to step into vacancies in the front rank. Every man who is worthy to employ a boy is looking for you if you have these points.

Do not fear that you will be overlooked. A young person having these qualities will shine as plainly as a star at night.

We have named ten points to go toward making up the character of a successful boy, so that they can be very easily remembered.

Persons who walk a great deal during the day should, on coming for the night, remove their shoes and stockings, hold the feet to the fire until perfectly dry, put on a dry pair, and wear slippers [illegible] remainder of the evening. To get well of any chronic disease of a serious character, and to remain cured a man must be led to see the nature of his own case, the needs and requirements of his own constitution, and must have that force of character which compels compliance with those requisitions. As long as the world stands the ignorants and the unlearned will die before his time. Intelligent self-denial is the price of health and long life the world over; it will never be otherwise.

In high bodily health, brain-work, like body-work, gives an appetite; and if that appetite is only indulged regularly and moderately, any student may live to a good old age, with an hour or two of [illegible] exercise out of doors every day, and in the end save years of efficient labor by it. VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURE D. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

R. H. McDONALD & CO.

VINEGAR BITTERS are the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, or Sores [illegible] Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintic will expel the worms from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any thing been so widely and deservedly upon the confidence of mankind, as the present remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the nations of [illegible] it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform [illegible] and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While mild and [illegible] to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although neglected Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. No compound is in the mastery over the diseases of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Mercury, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous drug of any [illegible] whatever, it is [illegible] harmless to any patient. The numbers and importance of its cures in the same districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe that without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified in the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Emigrants, [illegible] persons, either residing in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold [illegible] around the world.

Select Poetry.

THREE ANGELS.

Two say this life is heaven, dear, and calm,
Ever the [illegible] song was sung of old,
Ever the [illegible] hung, [illegible] is told
And [illegible] is [illegible] in sight of all.

They say our hearts may grasp but love and rest,
Youth has but flowers, and age an aching void
To which Dead-Sea fruit long ago has cloyed,
Whose sight with wild disappointment stamps to rife;
And yet a little hope can brighten life.

They say we flow ourselves in wild despair
And [illegible] all [illegible] and [illegible]
We are all [illegible] wasted, whose all once possessed [illegible]
And wish ourselves with sorrow's two edged knife:
And yet—a little patience strengthens life.

Is it then true, this tale of bitter grief,
Of mortal anguish [illegible] no relief?
Lo! whilst this wisher so runs the heaven's leaf:
Three Angels share the lot of human life,
Three Angels guard the path of life—

Love, Hope and Patience cheer us on our way;
Love, Hope, and Patience [illegible] our spirits stay;
Love, Hope, and Patience [illegible] us day by day,
And bid the dark wet bloom with hamely verse
Until the earthly fades in the eternal.

K. F. M. S.

COURTESIES TO PARENTS.

Parents lean upon their children, and especially their sons, much earlier than either of them imagine. Their love is a constant inspiration, a perenial fountain of delight, from which our lips may quaff, and be comforted thereby. It may be that the mother has been left a widow, depending on her only son for support. He gives her a comfortable home, sees that she is well clad, and allows no debts to accumulate and that is all. It is considerable, even more than may sons do, but there is a lack. He seldom thinks it worth while to give her a caress; he has forgotten all those affectionate ways that kept the wrinkles from her, and make her look so much younger than her years; he is ready to put his hand in his pocket to gratify her slightest request, but to give of the abundance of his heart is another thing entirely. He loves his mother! Of course he does! Are there not proofs enough of his filial regard? Is he not continually making sacrifices for benefit? What more could any reasonable woman ask?

Ah, but it is the mother-heart that craves an occasional kiss, the support of youthful arm, the little attentions and kindly courtesies of life, that smooth down so many of its asperities, and make the journey less wearisome. Material aid is good so far as it goes, but it has not that sustaining power which the loving sympathetic heart bestows upon its object. You think she has outgrown these weaknesses and follies, and is content with the crust that is left; but you are mistaken. Every little offer of attention, your escort to church or concert, or for a quiet walk, brings back the youth of her heart; her cheeks glow, and her eyes sparkle with pleasure, and oh! how proud she is of her son.

Even the father, occupied and absorbed as he may be, is not wholly in different to these filial expressions of devoted love. He may pretend to care very little for them, but, having faith in their sincerity, it would give him serious pain were they entirely withheld. Fathers need their sons quite as much as the sons need the fathers, but in how many deplorable instances do they fail to find in them a staff for their declining years.

My son, are you a sweet-ner of life? You may disappoint the ambition of your parents; may be unable to so distinguish yourself as they fondly hoped; may find your intellectual strength inadequate to your own desires, but let none of these things move you from a determination to be a son of whose moral character they need never be ashamed. Begin early to cultivate a habit of thoughtfulness and consideration for others, especially for those whom you are commanded to honor. Can you begrudge a few extra steps for the mother who never stopped to number those you demanded during your helpless infancy? Have you the heart to slight her requests, or treat her remarks with indifference, when you cannot begin to measure the patient devotion with which she bore with your peculiarities? Anticipate her wants, invite her confidence, be prompt to offer assistance, express your affection as you did when a child, that the mother may never grieve in secret for her son she has lost.—Rural New Yorker.

THE SEELEY BAY MURDER.

The prisoner was present at the inquest, and had every appearance of being insane. At times he would get up to go away, and would seem surprised when detained; then he would fancy himself one of the jury; and towards the close of the proceeding he though he was being prosecuted for theft of a hat, and called on various persons to testify that he came by the hat honestly. Constable Sweet kept a kept a pretty strict watch on his movements, evidently fearing some treacherous attack, and with considerable reason, as on Tuesday morning, the prisoner got his hands free and attacking the constable got him down and would probably have escaped had not timely assistance arrived; as it was he made and work with the clothing of the constable and his son.—Reporter.

FROM THE RECORDER.

The editor of the Gananoque Reporter is entitled to credit for the trouble he has taken to report the particulars of the above sad affair. There are a few points that seem to require further notice. First, the relation the prisoner sustains to the community here. It was perfectly evident to every person present at the funeral and inquest, that the public stand in dread of the prisoner. The witnesses trembled in some testimony, and in others the Coroner, Dr. Atkinson, was compelled to use his authority before witness would tell the whole truth. This state of things, coupled with the fact that some witnesses remembered more before the inquest than when under oath in the presence of the prisoner, can only be explained in one way, and that is that the public seem to understand it, viz.: Fear lest the prisoner should escape justice and wreak vengeance on his neighbors who were compelled to testify there against him.

The insanity feature does not meet with sympathy here in the event of non-responsibility. The jury took no notice of this point, although their attention was called to it by the Coroner. Should the public are aroused to the importance of having a Coroner appointed for the large section of country in the north of Leeds, and of having our medical men qualified and willing to assume the responsibility of these positions. In the case our own village physician, he had not registered. But why neighboring physicians who practise among us, should find it convenient to be unable to attend does not not seem quite so clear. No doubt but the prejudice in the public mind against post mortem examinations, has its influence upon medical men. When Dr. Scott entered the house he was confronted by a lady who told him he should not attempt the operation. The evidence of a struggle for life by the murdered woman as developed by the examination, convinced the jury of the wisdom of requiring an examination in this case.

An Interesting Discovery.

A REMINISCENCE OF THE QUACKENBUSH CASE—FINDING OF THE DIES USED BY THE COUNTERFEITERS.

From the Belleville Intelligencer.)

An interesting memorial of the coin case, which, in 1865, created so much stir in this County, and which did not a little to build up the reputation of Detective Armstrong, and our then Chief of Police, Captain James, came to light a few days ago in a manner and at a time when it was little expected.

In the month of October, 1865, two men named Quackenbush, who lived in Stirling, and another person named Stickles, were detected in carring on the business of making spurious coin, and after being cleverly arrested by detective Armstrong and Captain James, most of the implements of their trade were discovered. Where they had been cunningly bestowed in various hiding places; but some of the dies were never found. The evidence against the prisoners was overwhelming, and at the ensuing Spring Assizes James Quackenbush and Stickles were tried, convicted, and sentenced to three years, penal servitude at the Kingston Penitentiary, the other Quackenbush having died in gaol before the time for trial arrived.

A quantity of spurious money was put in circulation by these scoundrels, much of which was twenty-cent pieces of the year 1858. About five years ago Mr. G. E. Bull, of Stirling, dug up a few pieces of this base coin, a specimen of which is before us. It is of a white metal closely resembling silver, of nearly the same weight, and it is well enough executed to "muster" unless very carefully looked at. A critical inspection shows that the milling on the edge is badly done, and the engraving is not up to the mark of the genuine coin. However, as we have said the imitation was an excellent one, and the coiners were able to pass, without great fear of detection by inexperienced or unsuspected persons, their spurious coin.

At the time of the arrest, search was made in and about the premises occupied by Quackenbush for the dies, but without. About a week ago, however Mr. G. E. Bull, who owns the premises was having a cellar dug, when the missing dies were found, buried under the sills of the house at a depth of about two feet. They were of course rusty, but not so much so as their ten years interment would have led one to expect a little burnishing up soon showed that they were the identical dies from which the twenty-cent pieces above spoken of were struck. That a large quantity of coin have been made from them is evident from the fact that the steel faces of the dies are good deal worn, especially about the edges, where the wear and tear first shows itself. Even yet, however, they are capable, without retouching, of turning out a coin which would easily deceive those who did not suspect anything wrong.

This is probably the last remainder of the presence of the rascals which will turn up, and is tolerably certain they will never venture in these parts again. The curious may see the dies and a specimen of the counterfeit coins by calling at this office.

Family Receipts.

WHITE CAKE.

Two cups butter, four cups sugar six cups flour, whites of sixteen eggs, one cup warm water on the butter; stir it to a cream; put the sugar in and beat it well; put three tea-spoonfuls of baking powder in the flour; mix well; beat the whites of eggs and put in last.

CORNMEAL PUDDING.

Two pints meal, one pint grated bread, one of molasses, one of brown sugar one of sour milk, two teaspoonfuls butter, a half teaspoonful of ginger and two of cinnamon, three eggs, half a teaspoonful soda; slice soft, juicy apples and add one teacupful, it liked; bake half an hour. Sauce—cream and sugar.

BEEF'S KIDNEY.

Cut one kidney into neat slices, put them into warm water to soak for two hours, changing the water two or three times, then dry them, lay in a frying pand with some melted butter, and fry them a nice brown; season each side with pepper and salt, and put them round the dish; put in the centre a teaspoonful of lemon juice and one-half teaspoonful of powdered sugar, pour upon them a small quantity of strong beef gravy, and serve hot.

BOILED SWEETBREADS.

The best way to cook sweetbreads is to boil them thus: Parboil them and put them on a clean gridiron for broiling; when delicately browned take them off and roll in melted butter on a plate to prevent their being dry and hard. Some cook them on a griddle, well buttered turning frequently, and some put narrow strips of fat salt pork on them while cooking.

BOSS PREVENTATIVE.

The following receipe for keeping moths out of clothing is a favorite in some families: Mix half a pint of alcohol, the same quantity of spirits of turpentine, and two ounces of camphor. Keep in a stone bottle and shake before using. The clothes and furs are to be kept in linnen, and crumpled up pieces of blotting paper dipped in the liquid are to be placed in the box with them so that it smells strong. This requires renewing once a year.

DANGER OF PROTRACTED GRIEF

But here, as in many other cases, the evil of deficiency has its counterpart in the evil of excess. Sleep protracted beyond the need of repair, and encroaching habitually upon the hours of waking action, impairs more or less the functions of the brain, and with them all the vital powers. This observation is as old as the days of Hippocrates and Aretæus, who severally and strongly comment upon it. The sleep of infancy, however, and that of old age, do not come under the category of excess. Those are natural conditions, appertaining to the respective periods of life, and to be dealt with as such. In illness, moreover, all ordinary rule and man measure of sleep must be put aside. Distinguishing it from coma, there are very few cases in which it is not an unequivocal good; and even in comatose state the brain, we believe, gains more from repose than from any artificial attempt to rouse it into action.—Edinburgh Review.

CRAPE.

Few people give themselves the trouble of enquiring into the origin of the custom of placing crape on the door of a house where there has been a recent death, and many suppose that it is a local custom of recent introduction It has evidently had its origin in the ancient heraldic customs of the Anglo-Saxon race, and is as old as the time of Henry I., of England, who reigned from A. D. 1100 to 1135. Even at that early period, Hatchmen's armorial ensigns, were placed in the front of houses when the nobility and gentry died. These hatchments were of a diamond shape, and contained the family arms, quartered and colored with sable, in such a manner that the spectator, at a glance, could tell what branch of the family was dead, whether young or old, married or single, widow or widower

A PERPETUAL PASTE.

Dissolve a teaspoonful of alumn in a quart of water. When cold stir in as much flour as will give it the consistence of thick cream, being particular to beat up the lumps; stir in as much powdered rosin as will lay on a dime, and tarow in half a dozen cloves to give it a pleasant odor. Have on the fire a teacup of boiling water in a suitable vessel, pour the flour mixture into it, stirring well at the time. Pour it into to an earthen or china vessel, let it cool; lay a cover on, and put it in a cool place. When needed for use take a portion, and soften with warm water.—Paste thus

DIFFERENT LINES OF ACTION

The question of education is occupying the attention of several of the great religious bodies at present. At the Presbyterian Assembly in Montreal, the question making the Bible a school book in a certain sense, was brought up for discussion, but owing to lack of information was deferred for a time. In the Synodical meeting of the Episcopal church held in Toronto, the subject of teaching religion in the public schools was slightly discussed, but no final deliverance was made, as they felt that they, the Ministers were not free from blame in neglecting to take advantage of present opportunities to afford religious instruction to pupils during the week days.

In the city of Rochester the Board of Education has removed the Bible from the schools, so as to retain the public character of their system of education. nothing fearing that by doing so, they will in any way effect the morals of the pupils or of the community.

The Roman Catholic charge the popular system of the United States and Canada with godlessness, because the Bible is used or made the basis of popular education, and in the United States because of this, they seek denominational schools for themselves. There is a wide divergence of opinion on these matters, it would therefore appear. In the eagerness of [ecclesiastis to obtain [control of education and thus control thought in in the future, the signs of the times are ominous. Since the introduction of the present popular system of education in Canada [nearly half a century ago, we venture to assert that not fifty ministers of all the denominations in Canada, have availed themselves of the opportunities afforded by the law to go the common or public schools with the avowed object of imparting religious instructions: and in the whole history of our public schools a single instance of refusal to permit religious instruction has not been made public. If the charge of godless, therefore, can be made against the common schools of Ontario, we leave the people to infer who is to blame: as no scheme of the churches has been devised to remedy the evil of which they complain. We have no objection to the Bible in our schools as a reading book, but others have, and if by its introduction into school, the latter persons are driven from them and prevented obtaining a secular education the introduction must be shown to more than counterbalance the evil thus caused to those who are forced to leave our schools, whether from prejudices or other causes.

The warmest advocates of the Bible in school do not see that their advocacy of it implies that it is not used in the family for if used daily in the family by consistent parents, there need be no fear for their children during five or six hours at school, which at most does not exceed say four or five years on an average. And again, if the Bible is not used in the family, what can the churches say of their labors. when they produce no better results than godlessness in families. It was said, however, that in some families no religious instructions are given. Then where is the missionary enter prize of the churches? Can no pious young men or women be found in the churches to do a little service in this matter? If not, then, what about the effect of the churches, work on the mind of those who from time to time do receive religious teaching. The truth is if there is undue impiety in Canada, it is not attributable to our common school system, nor to the tendency of Canadian youth to be less religious than their fathers, but owing to no neglect of those who should be teachers of religion every day, that is to the parents, the ministers of religions, and the indifference of those who claim to be leaders of thought, and perhaps who claim to be leaders in this movement,

We are being referred continually to the Countries of Parish Church Schools, as examples of the effect of the Bible in the schools on the morality and piety of these countries, There are those who can talk religion, but do not practise what they teach. There are those who claim more for Scottish, English and Irish morality than either or all of those countries deserve. The youth of Canada will compare favorably with the youth of any country under the sun, and the fact that there are few cases of wanton disregard of principle coming before our courts of law, as in any of the countries referred to, speaks favorably for the training our youth received in our common schools. And as to genuine piety, we fear that many from the lands of Bibles would be out in the shade if they would but cast aside the hypocrisy that is too often put on with their Sunday dress, and land aside with it again. Canada is a good place to come to. to draw comparisons, as to national or moral character, as all the nationalities are pretty well represented, in it: and the closest observers when they throw aside their colored glasses, see very little in which the one can boast over the other, and see less to boast over Canadians. It is not the Bible in school that is wanted, it is Bible life out of school, in the family, among church goers, and among those who mourn over the immorality of the times, and over a godless school system.

In Canada there are Roman Catholics, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Methodists Bible Christians, Baptists, Brethern, Friends, and many other minor denominations, now of all these which is to undertake the religious instructions of the common school pupils, and who can have such a low notion of the rights of others as to demand the time of the teacher, and of the school while denominational dogmas are being inculcated? If there were as much anxiety to respect the rights of others, as there is to propagate divisions there would be more true religion and less contention about forms.

It will be said perhaps that no particular denominational teaching would be resorted to. Then some very great change will have come over our religious teacher; for are they not contending about forms, dress, millinery crosses, modes worship and governments, among themselves! How can they lay aside those things in teaching children which they hold to be of so much importance in their religious services? Or are they merely contending about trifles on Sunday, which they are ready to drop in their secular religious sermons so to speak? Those who expect this will be greviously disappointed after trial. The truth is men are more religious than pious; more devoted to show than duty, more inclined to wear broad phylacteries, than the inward adorning of the heart, are more inclined to talk in assemblies and Synods than they are to be instant in season and out of season. Let us maintain our noble system of education intact, securing a secular education for every child in our land, and let our churches see to it that their own youth are properly taught in those things which they sincerely hold and teach, but above all let the religion of the future be that of action, not words: not of decint, but in truth.

QUEBEC.

This Province is in the heat of a general election, and are having considerable excitement over it. In the city of Quebec during a public meeting Mr. Cauchon one of the candidates, was struck with a stone and shot at. The stone cut him on the forehead, but the shot missed him. Who would be a candidate down there? Very few would wish to be for the fun of it. All the bitterness of religious feeling is added to the usual political animosity. The church or clergy, favour the election of the Government candidates, but many of the people are opposed to the Land Swap party and wish for better men at the helm. The opposition is founded on principle, the Government on Chicanery. In Quebec the latter will prevail, unless the people become aroused to a sense of their position, and assert their independence irrespective of undue influence. Several Ontario Conservative papers are highly pleased with this state of things in the sister Province, and are claiming a Conservative victory already as certain, because of it, but victory gained by foul means or coercion cannot result in anything except disaster to those who resort to coercion to secure it.

Any friend of his Country would feel pained in reading a short article on this subject in the last number of the Mitchell Advocate. How the man deserves to be pitied, who for the sake of momentary success can so malign one of the best, nay the very best family newspaper in the Dominion, and one the most independent of political influence, viz., the Montreal Witness. Whatever may be thought of the course of that paper, no one can deny the honesty, uprightness, and candor with which it pursues its course. To extricate themselves from the straits into which the disgraceful acts of their leaders have forced the rank and file of the Government supporters in Quebec, may require unjust and means, and the alliance of the clergy in that province. But every right thinking person must deplore the mixing up of religious prejudices with partizan wire-pullers, and shameful abuses in the state. The churches should always be in a position to condemn evil, no matter where it exhibits itself, but how can they when they engage in the strife of election contests on behalf of either one party or the other? The Witness in condemning this mixing up of religion and politics does so, whether by Protestants or Catholics and in nobly maintaining its position against such odds, deserve the thanks of all classes of our people. All the people have a right to use their franchise according to the best of their judgment, and it is to this that the Witness so continually labours. The three undue influences that kept John A. Macdonald in power so long, money, whiskey and religious prejudices ought to be laid aside a while, until men's minds would get free from their trammels. These religious prejudices were confirmed solely to one church as all the churches that have ever received government aid and lost it or were in danger of losing it, joined hands in election contests for their own gain. To return or to retain those prejudices in elections, is dangerous to the liberty of the people, and should not be encouraged

CALIFORNIA LETTER.

Anaheim, Loss Anglos Co. Cal., June, 18

DEAR EXAMINER,—My last letter to you seems not to have reached you. I was about the 18th April, and about that time the Railroad connection gave way in the mountains. I dare say it must have been lost on the way. I mentioned in that letter about the severe frost on the night of the 5th April which did much harm. Last winter we only had one rain fall, about 12 inches, yet I never saw so much moisture in the ground. This I attributed to the want of these drying, scorching winds which generally visit us in March, there being none of these this year. Up to the day before the frost, on that morning the moisture was full up to the surface of the ground. It commenced to blow from the west in the forenoon, and in the afternoon finally changed to the north-west. As the sun went down the wind began to abate, and in the night sometime the frost commenced. One of our neighbors has a registering exam, and he informed me that it marked 22 deg. as the lowest during the night. A great deal of the rye and barley was headed out, this was completely killed. Our peach and apricot trees were covered with flowers, there were all stripped and decayed in some sheltered spots these trees are green. Apples were not quite thinned, and other late fruits were not hurt. Walnut trees that were leaving out were killed and many had to sprout from the main trunk, and many young ones killed altogether. Grapes were just commencing to bud and were all killed. The old vines were not so much damaged and there will yet be a fair yield. Young vines planted last season and this, were much damaged, and in many instances have been killed outright. Young tender trees, such as the American Lime, and Lemon, were cut down to the ground. About Town the Bananas came to grief. This blow and frost seems to have been severe all over this coast. I measured and found that fully three inches of moisture had fled from the soil after the scourge had passed. I tell you this was [sad and all our hopes seemed to be blasted, however since the weather has been all that could be desired during May, we had fine fogs most every night, which brought crops forward most wonderfully, yet the crops of barley and rye will be shorter than last year. People are now busy harvesting corn crops, which I never saw looking better, the fine dews of May have run on into June, and in many cases it will, I think make a fair crop without irrigation. This summer, the owners of about 40,000 acres of land have joined together and are constructing irrigation works on a large scale. There are upwards of 100 Chinamen at work here, and 100 more are expected in a few days. Their pay is $28 per month, and they find their own grub. The cost of the entire work will fall little short of $100,000 You may wonder that other labor is not preferred. This commodity cannot be got in quantities, and many who might do it turn up up their noses and remark that such work is beneath them, the lords of the United States.

A very great increase in the value of land has taken place here in six months, attributal to the severe winter in the East, and circulars containg glowing accounts of this Italy of the Pacific, being scattered broadcast over the known world. The newspapers of the country have vied with each other in setting forth the resources and climate of this Eden of ours Pamphlets have also been written and much coloring has been given to all publications, which no doubt helps to produce results. I much dislike this system so prevalent in the country, and I dare say many coming here will be sadly disappointed. For your humble servant, I still like the country, the climate is so equal that this makes up for many other defiiencies, yes farming here is not a profitable business. This season has been remarkable for vermin, the Glovers are very bad in these parts and eat everything in the shape of young trees, vines, &c., that comes in their underground path. They have more than half dog one acre of potatoes for us, not even on shares, for they take the whole as they go. The Rabbits and Squirrels are bad, too. These latter lie in holes in the ground and are great pests. Although the law her does not bind you to fence, yet I believe we will be compelled to fence in order to protect ourselves from rabbits and hares. The cheapest kind of a fence will cost fully one dollar per rod, for the lumber and nails. Several individuals around us have gone into raising hops, this seems to be a fine place for growing them, the seasons being so long and dry. One of those in the business tells me his last year's crop produced $300 per acre, which is certainly a very favorable showing. The sheep business is almost done up here. From the long absence of rain pastures have given out and travelling has been the order of the day, many have gone to Arizona and many more to lower California, this portion of country, cut off from Mexico, as it is, will yet be gobbled up by that bird of prey. The general health is good, yet there are some cases of scarlet fevers around. Fevers here soon run their course, a few days only, suffices.

I remain, Sir, yours &c.,
J. H.

ONE OF THE FIRST SETTLERS OF DUMMER GONE

On Tuesday, 22nd of June, Mr. James Kidd, of Dummer, passed away to his final reward, in the 62 year of his age. Mr. Kidd's father and family emigrated from Scotland in the year 1815, and settled in the County of Lanark where they remained till 1831. In this latter year they settled in the Township of Dummer, when Peterborough contained but one or two houses, and when the County was a wilderness with the exceptions of those spots settled by the Robinson Emigration. The Kidd family settled in one of the best tracts of land in the County, and being very industrious and careful, soon made themselves comfortable homes. The deceased was the third eldest of five brothers, and six sisters. He was a man of a quiet and unobtrusive manners, kind and hospitable, very intelligent in all those things, I a canadian, and possessed of a spirit of independence of thought and action for which the whole family is noted. Mr. Kidd had been suffering for about two years from lung disease which culminated on Tuesday last, when he passed away to his reward, from the midst of a loving family, by whom, as well as his brothers and sisters, he was held in the strongest affection, and in esteem by all who knew him.

EDUCATION OF THE HORSE.

Prof. Pratt is in Town this week giving lessons on the education of that useful and noble animal, the horse. Those lessons include, his education from a colt 'till properly trained for every use, and to his treatment and care afterward. His system of training the animal is such as must commend itself to every intelligent man, and does commend itself to the intelligence of the horse, as by it, the Professor makes the horse understand and obey him quite readily. His treatment of kicking, baulking, and shying horse ineffectual when properly attended to. He takes a colt of three or four years old, and in five to ten minutes has it follow him round the ring, lead, drive and draw without trouble, although three or more lessons are considered necessary in order to his being brought under perfect control. His instructions in reference to baulky animals or shying ones, is worth three times the money paid to become a member of his class. The doubtful, who are afraid of humbug, need only go and see for themselves to be convinced of the safety from injury and complete control of the most refractory and balky horses. It is the duty of every man who takes an interest in the animal, and especially in its proper education, to avail himself of every opportunity to this end, and no better opportunity may present itself to farmers, and others who raise and take a delight in a good well trained animal, so make himself acquainted with the very best and very simplest method of educating him. Prof. Pratt will remain here a few days longer and all who can should enquire of members of the class and satisfy themselves, and then join at once. Farmers especially should do so, and those who do will find the money the safest and best investment they have made in a long time. The book on the horse given to every member of the class is almost worth the money independent of the Lectures, and practical methods of training exhibited before the class during the lessons.

MASONIC ST. JOHN'S DAY.

Thursday last the 24th inst. being St. John's day. This day is generally observed by the fraternity of Free Masons as a festive day, being the Anniversary of their Patron, "Saint John the Baptist" who tradition informs us, was one of the early patrons of Free Masonry. The members of Peterborough Lodge No. 155 in order that the fraternity and their friends might celebrate the occasion in a becoming manner, arranged to have a pic-nic and excursion to Stony Lake. This arrangement met with the approval of the Lakefield Lodge, which co-operated in the details in connection therewith. Accordingly the preliminaries having been fixed and the day having arrived, at 8 a.m. a large crown assembled at the station waiting for the train which soon made its appearance with a large number of the brethern with their ladies and friends from Port Hope, also the Bowmanville Band, which was engaged for the occasion. The morning was pleasant in the extreme, the heat of the sun was tempered with a gentle breeze which made it lovely.

The train started about 8.30 a.m., in due time arrived at Lakefield, where we were met by the members of Clementi Lodge, and a large concourse of ladies and gentlemen. A very short time here sufficed to stow on board the provisions and living freight. When we commenced our journey north. The scenery between Lakefield and Young's Point is not of a very attractive nature, being principally low land and marsh on each side, with here and there farm house in the distance, a good deal of drowned land, a few Islands with a continuous rice bed, is about the extent of this lake (Katchewanka we believe is the way it is spelled). We passed through the locks at Young's Point and steamed through Clear Lake into Stoney Lake. The scenery of Clear Lake is nil, being simply a broad expanse of water with not even an island to relieve the monotony of the scene. The shores on each side are wild and rocky, without signs of habitation, much less of vegetation. Entering Stony Lake "a change comes over," &c. On each side and in every direction the variegated scenery is picturesque in the extreme. The numerous islands, clothed in their summer suit of green, the barren, ragged and perspitous rocks, with scarcely earth enough to furnish support to its shrubbery, all furnish a panorama of extreme grandeur. After perregination through this place, the nose of the boat pointed or "grassy Island" or in com non parlance "Quality Island" (so called from the fact that years ago it was said that many persons vulgarly called English bloods made this their happy camping ground) This is considered one of the prettiest Islands in Stony Lake, and well suited for a pic-nic party, being well shaded and covered with grass. The party having alighted, and after refreshing the inner man, (the cravings of which had been felt some time previous in consequence of the invigorating breeze of the morning's trip), and having spent a couple of hours in amusements of various kinds, the boat appeared in sight, all again got on board and started for Mount Julien Summer Hotel. About this time a black spot about the size of a men's hand appeared in the west, with its appearance the wind began to blow fearfully. In a few minutes the whole horrison was covered, and a savage storm appeared in prospective. We had not long to wait, for scarcely was the boat fastened to the wharf and many of the party had taken refuge in the new hotel, than it commenced in earnest, the wind blew, the thunder rolled, the lightning flerbed savagely, and the rain came down in torrents, the fury of the elements was so great, that the firmament seemed as though it would be rent and torn asunder. However, the party did not seem to mind it more than ordinary storm and enjoyed themselves dancing in one of the large rooms of the hotel. The storm having ceased, we then started for Lakefield, where we arrived at 7:30, p. m., and a short time after, arrived in Town, having spent a most delightful day

The programme was slightly deviated from, in not having gone in the direction of Burleigh bridge as announced. This was attempted to be explained by the Captain in a vague and unsatisfactory manner, saw logs and wind seemed to be his trouble, Fortunately for him the storm arose, which forced us to Mount Julien where the party had no intention of going: some of the people expressed themselves in this manner, that the Captain of the boat at times not being of the most genial nature, on the present occasion appeared not any more so and supposed it was in consequence of the depressing of the Elements previous to a storm, others more charitable attribute it to mercenery motives, having an eye to business, the hotel is a place of summer resort. Be that as it may we did not go in the direction of Burleigh bridge. The Captain controls the boat and party after leaving Young's Point, and you must go where he says.

There were only two hundred persons prominent amongst them many leading members of the order in this district vis: R. W. Bro. J. B. Tegrs, D. D. G. M. & V. W. Bro. E. Peppelow, D. D. G. Secretary Ontario, W. W. Bros. Helm & Gaudrie, W. Masters of Ontario & Hope Lodges, Port Hope. Bro. W. B. Ferguson Doubler, and many others from Port Hope whose names we did not learn, the W. Master, Past Master, Chaplain and a large number of the Peterborough Bros Boyd, King and one or two others from Corinthian Lodge, Bro. Sheppie. S. W. Salter, Brown, Reynolds & Holl and of Clementi Lodge Lakefield. The day was pleasently spent, the number was not as large as expected, but local influences prevented this, It was the day of Mr. W. Halls funeral which prevented a great many from attending but altogether there was quite enough for enjoyment O.

TOWN COUNCIL

The Council met on Monday evening. Present, Mayor Toole, Messrs. Rutherford Thornton, Cook Dixon, McDonald, Hopkins, Paterson, Beal, Hamilton, Helm and Cahill.

Statement of Lumber 26,862 feet, cedar 6,025 feet; total paid for labour from January 1st to June 26th, $621.50; labour account to present time: cutting 100, $148.00; George street sidewalk, $41.50; gravelling and filling, $24.75; Downing Street, $28; Lake street, $25; cleaning streets $96.34; Murray Street $21.25; Simcoe street, $9.50; Sheridan Terrace, $6.00; Water street, $26.32; Stewart and Sherbrook, $115.31: general expenses, $95.05; total $621.50.

Mr. Hilliard for lumber, $242.64; John McDonald, cedar, $54,32; nails, McKee and Davidson. $28.00; Geo. Stethem, nails, $14.00; total timber and labour, $980,96.

The report goes to show when this had been spent, but it is more curious that useful information as to where every forty feet of lumber may have been placed.

STREET INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

This report recommends a six feet side walk on Aylmer street from Dalhousie to Charlotte street, using the old plank as far as they will go.

This read by Mr. Hamilton recommended a four plank sidewalk on the east side of George from Dublin to Smith street,

A two plank sidewalk on Elm street, to Monaghan road, with steepers for a three plank sidewalk and a two plank sidewalk with steepers for them on Rink street. the long steepers adding to the deviantship of this kind of sidewalk.

A report from the Chief Engineer was read and referred to the Finance committee and one from the Town Engineer was read and received.

REPORT.

This Report sets forth the quantity of land to be taken for the extension of Geo. Street south, at seven-eighth of an acre. N. Lapland and Halpin ask $700 for their portion of it, Mrs. MacMahon also requires payment, nothing is said about Mr. Donnelly's portion. It further sets forth, that if the road by the Lake be not protected by a crib it will soon be unsafe for travel. To repair it will cost considerable, and the question arises whether it will be more economical to repair it or open George Street as proposed. The Engineer is of opinion that it would be more economical to open George street to Romaine street.

The special committee on the settlement of the accounts between the Town and county reported. The report was received and adopted. Mr. Stevenson, who was present, was heard in reference to those accounts,

Mr. Beal, Chairman of the Committee on Finance Reported, recommending payment of the following accounts:

D. G. Hethorn's less three dollars rundered	$54.50
James Stratton	66.30
Wm. Breakenridge	4.97
Joseph Lundy	15.00
Gas Company	225.55
W. S. Johnston	9.80

With regard to the communication of Rev M. Lynch asking assistance to several charitable Institutions in Kington and Ottawa to which several indigent persons from this town have been sent, your committee recommend that a grant of $50 be made to those institutions tor the purpose of assisting in the support of these persons,

With regard to the account of George D. Edwards for copying By-laws, your committee cannot recommend payment. Your committee have examined paylists from 9 to 16, inclusive amounting to $457.02, in the aggregate and find them correct, and properly certified to.

Moved by Mr. Helm, seconded by Mr. Hamilton, That the petition of the Freeholders of the Mechanics' Institute be complied, and the usual grant of one hundred dollars be given the Institute for the current year.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Hamilton, That this council appoint John James Lundy to be a commissioner of the Town Trust in the room and stead of the late Wm. Hall, Esq.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Dixon, That the Fire Committee be authorized to advertise for tenders and award the same for the construction of a platform and approach on Water Street at or near the east end Edinburgh Street, for fire purposes provided the same be found practicable upon consultation with the Town Engineer Carried.

A by-law was introduced to enable the Midland R. R. Company, to lay down a switch on the west side of Bethune street. The By-law was read and passed.

On motion of Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr Helm, the street Inspector was instructed to examine the Lake Road to the cemetery and report,

On motion of Mr, Dixon, seconded by Mr. Cook, the Treasurer was authorized to pay Mr. Kelso $10, one half of a fine collected from one Conway for selling liquor without License.

On motion of Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Hopkins, Messrs. Hamilton, McDonald the mover and the Councillors of No. 3 Ward were appointed a committee to make arrangements with Messrs. Dumble and Bradburn relative to opening Rubidge street between McDonell and London street and report to this council.

On motion of Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr Hamilton, by the experiment of cedar and gravel for covering Hunter street bridge, and hemlock plank on Simcoe was lost.

A report from the special committee on the extension of George street south, was read and submitted and received.

The Council adjourned for one week.

THE POTATO BEETLE

Is receiving general attention just now. Paris green is considered fatal to them, but it was found more injurious to vegetables and to mankind. Professor McMurtie of the National Department of Agriculture at Washington has made several experiments, of which he gives the result as follows:

In relation to Paris green Professor McMurtie has found that the intermixture of this poison with the soil in large quantities destroys vegetable growth, but that in the small quantities requisite for destroying insects it does not interfere with or impede at all. But there is a more important question than the destruction of the plant. It would only multiply the mischief to kill the grubs and at the same time poison the food of man. Upon this great point Professor McMurtie's decisive and manifold experiments should allay all fears. In the plants that were killed in the plants that were stained, and in the plants which grew to full perfection, with the varying amounts of paris green mingled with the soil of his pots, the most rigorous chemical analysis could detect no trace of arsenic in the constituents of the plant itself. What[ever] little of this poison or none of it exists in the soil none of it enters into the structure of the vegetable. The danger of its excessive use is not found in minute bits, but in the growth of habits of the plant But the quantity of paris green necessary for destroying the Colorado beetles is too small to have any appreciable effect on the growth of crops. It is another fact if paris green were planted for the same field for a series of years with a constant necessity for the application of the poison the capacity of the soil for crops might be destroyed; but the system of rotation, as valuable in other respects, would obviate this danger. It is a great consolation to be assured on competent scientific authority that there is no peril to human life in the freest application of this poison to the soil, and no detriment to vegetation itself from the quantity needed to kill the beetles.

A couple were married in Kilbarchan recently, whose united ages amounted to 143 years. The average age of the wedding guests was seventy years.

QUOITING.

[illegible] the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—[illegible] see the report of your valuable paper with a request [illegible] me to "point fellow in anything in connection with quoiting" in the report of the game is [illegible] there was more points yearly by year, in Peterborough, and the rules of the game not well understood—thereby causing a great deal of disputation, and dissatisfaction, your publishing the following rules adopted by the "Grand National Curling and Quoiting Club," New York, published in the Scottish American Journal, will lead, perhaps to the same rules being adopted here.

Article 1. The players shall be paired by drawing numbered tallies, each player to play the party holding the corresponding number with his own, and no player to be a byo more than once in the match.

Article 2.—The match shall be played exclusively on the prepared rink.

Article 3.—The mette shall be placed 18 yards apart, or 21 yards apart, according to arrangement, the top of the mott to be level with the ground.

Article 4.—Players to stand at a distance not exceeding three feet, but in a line with the mett played from.

Article 5.—The first player to lead, to be decided by lot, the winner in the last end played, to lead in the next end, and playing one quit alternately with his opponent.

Article 6.—The size of the quoit not to exceed eight inches in diameter.

Acrticle 7.—All measurements to be made with the compasses, and to be from the centre of the top of the mett to the nearest visible iron: no obstructions of earth or quoits to be re moved, except to find the top of the mott; no quoit to count when the distance exceeds three from the mott

Article 8.—Should a quoit be broken during the game, the measure to be taken from the nearest portion of the quoit to the mott, and the players shall be privileged to use another pair to finish the game.

Article 9.—The use of improper language, or any act perpetrated to discompose or interrupt the player while in the act of throwing his quoit is prohibited. the player to have the privilege of throwing his quoit once again in the event of such having taken place.

Article 10.—At all matches, two umpires and one and one referee, chosen by the Executive Committee, to superintend and render all decisians in the match.

Besides the above rules, the following answers, in quarries, I sent to the Editor of the Scottish American Journal, will show the committee of the Fire Brigade that they were wrong in restricting the player from following his quoit, also in various other ways, the quoiters of Peterborough have been astray in their manner of playing, from the established rules of the old Scottish national game of quoiting.

A.—The pin is generally about two feet in length, and is driven into the ground till the head is on a level with the ground.

Q.—Should the pin be knocked aside, is it made straight before measurement?

A.—No. The pin must not be touched while playing as end.

Q.—What part of the pin do you measure from?

A.—From centre point on top to the nearest part of the quoit.

Q.—Do quoits turned over count?

A.—Certainly.

Q.—Is it the quoit nearest the pin that wins?

A.—Not exactly. It is the quoit which is nearest the centre of the top of the pin.

Q.—Are there any restriction from following your quoit after delivery?

A.—No. Play with your whole body, and follow the quoit as far as you please.

Q.—Does a "ringer" not touching the pin get the preference [of another which is lying on the top of it and touching the pin?

A.—No.

Yours very truly,
D. D. GALLETHY.

P.S.—In view of a club being organized and that the game should be thoroughly understood, a great obligation will be conferred if the other papers in town will please copy.

Peterborough, June 29th, 1875.

AUBURN

June 24, 1875.

A public meeting, the first we have heard of during the year, was held at the School House on Friday evening, the 25th inst., and fairly attended. C. A. Dunlop, Esq., occupied the chair. He said that the object was to bring under notice the need of a repair of a certain zone of money devised by late Mrs. Stewart for the purpose of erecting a building that could be used for public worship, and open to the various denominations wishing to hold service therein.

Col. Haultain stated that the sum now amounted to $450, which he considered a very good nucleus to start upon, and at some length pointed out many of the advantages likely to arise therefrom, during which he mentioned that it might, with great advantage be used for Sabbath School purposes, Lecture Room, and Also Reading room under proper surveillance.

Mr Wood made some remarks on the subject, expressive of the regret he experienced at seeing so many young persons destitute of the means of any kind of mental culture, and the pleasure it would afford him in assisting such a laudable object as that under discussion.

Mr. Croley answered several questions on building and finance, and cordially entered into the project, which he considered would be of great service to the community.

Messrs Crowly, Payne and Simpson, were appointed a committee to take charge of a petition to have signed for presentation to the President and Directors of the Auburn Woollen company, asking for a site and pecuniary assistance, and the Chairman Mr. Sheriff Hall and Col. Haultain a committee to await upon the Company for the purposes named.

The meeting adjourned to Friday evening, 2nd July, at 8 o'clock, to hear the reports of the committees, and to devise plans for future action.

The proceedings closed by Col. Haultain engaging in prayer and earnestly soliciting the guidance and blessing of Divine Providence for the success of this undertaking.—Com

The Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 1, 1875.

Mr. George Dormer,
Of Lindsay, died on Thursday last in his 57th year.

North York

Mr. Dymond is elected by 378 of a majority. Boultbee is nowhere.

Ancaster

Has had a large fire. $15,000 worth of property was destroyed. A large knitting factory was consumed.

The Excursion of the Season

Will take place on the 6th of July, instant, in connection with the Methodist Church Sabbath School.

The Liberal

The publishers of this paper have had to suspend the paper and return to London, where they publish the Advertiser

Trent-Valley Railway.

The Township of Murray has submitted a By-law to the ratepayers, to grant a bonus of $15,000 to the Trent-Valley R.R. Company.

The Storm of Thursday

The storm on Thursday last did considerable damage in its track, fortunately that was very narrow. Houses, Barns, Sheds and fences suffered.

The New Bridge.

Mr. Boyd has commenced the stone work necessary for the new iron bridge. It will be completed about the time agreed, the 10th of August.

Crops in the United States.

Promise to be about four fifths of the usual full crop of other years. Wheat will about average as above it is said, Barley, oats, rye and clover look well.

Funeral of Wm. Hall, Esq.

The funeral of Mr. Hall on Thursday last was largely attended, nobut one hundred and sixty-two carriages following his remains to their last resting place.

The River.

The water in the river has been decreasing in quantity very rapidly during the past week, caused, we believe, by the putting in of stop logs at Beckhorn and other places.

Boating Club.

We have been requested to state that the regular monthly meeting of the Boating Club will be on Monday 5th inst, at the Boat House at 7:30 p.m. A full attendance is requested.

Sale of Village Lots

Remember the sale of Village Lots on Monday at the Stewart House. They are the property of Messrs. MaDougall and Ludgate, and are beautifully situated on the banks of the Little Lake.

New Music

Mr. A. S. Irving, Toronto, has just published the "Mulligan Guard" and "Mollie Brown" for voices and Piano. Being in the five cent sheet style, and popular, they will have a large sale.

Early Garden Vegetables

Mr. Stephen Payne exhibited green peas and cucumbers in his window as early as last week. This is the way to provide for the tables of the citizens also large, strawberries, the growth of this year in his own gardens.

Grand Junction Railway.

This enterprise is at a standstill in consequence of the failure of the contractor to fulfill the terms of his agreement, and on the other hand the financial inability of the directors to proceed with the work.

Mr. Blake

It is said that the Honorable E. Blake is about to visit England, while the Premier is there. The Canada First are anxious that while there he might discuss the federation of Empire with British statesmen.

The Volunteers.

Returned home from camp on Saturday looking well, sun burnt, and no doubt better prepared to defend their country from all invaders and enemies. The Coboury boys speak well of their conduct while in camp.

Pelletier's Bug-Destroyer.

Messrs. Cruxand and Walsh are appointed agents for Leedy's celebrated Potato Bug Destroyer, which they strongly recommend to their customers and the public generally, as a sure destroyer of that destructive insect. Sold in packets with full directions at twenty-five cents each. 26-2ins.

On Dit.

They say that in case the election for the West Riding should be voided, Mr. Isaac Gilbert will contest the Riding in the place of Mr. Scott, and that the latter gentleman will try his fortune in the East. We will wait and see. In the meantime this must pass for what it is worth.

Coal Tar as Paint.

Coal Tar is coming into very general use as a paint, two coats applied to shingles or out building effectually prevent the wood from decay. The tar makes a coat on the surface which excludes air and water. It is applied for the bottoms of boats; and costs but a fraction of the price of other paint, and may be had at any Gas Works. 19-3in.

Burleigh

A correspondent on the Burleigh road last week kindly sent us a rather gloomy picture of the crop prospect there unless rain should come to their relief. The rain did come, and as it was a general one, we hope the settlers will yet realize an abundant harvest. Fires have been at work again, It is thought that Benedict's limits have had a searching as the smoke from that direction darkens the air.

Loss by Fires.

By fires in Harvey last week Mr. J. B. Dixon suffered a large loss through bush fire, $2,000 worth of railway ties being consumed. On Tuesday the man in the shanty close by had to throw his furniture, &c., in the creek to save it, and eventually had to enter the same place himself. The fire was caused by a person named Walters commencing to burn brush in the neighborhood.

Equalization

A farmer of Emsmore lately informed us that at the Court of Revision for that Township, the Council unanimously agreed to take one half off each person on the roll, and thus make things equal for all. If the other municipalities would do this, the taxes for 1875 would be reduced to something like fair rates; but if other Townships do not reduce their rolls how will the rates stand?

Refreshing Rain.

A fine shower on Thursday last changed the whole face of nature in this vicinity, and many human faces were also changed from their naturally melancholy appearance into a pleasing and graceful smile on account thereof. Never all pleased, however, we noticed very many dissatisfied, thinking it came too soon, but the dissatisfied ones were making rapid strides to get under cover some where, while the rain was falling in torrents.

A Warning

On Monday last while Henry Donnelly grandson of Duncan McDonald, and about 7 or 8 years old, was visiting his grandfather's grave in the W.M. Cemetery, he made an attempt to place the monumental stone which was leaning a little in position. It fell over on him and hurt his back and arms, but it is not known whether his ribs or bones are broken. This should be a warning to boys to take care, as he might have been killed. Ought caretakers not to look out that leaning stone be not allowed to remain so lest worse than this befall some one.

For Pleasure and Show.

Mr. Fitzgerald has now ready for sale and keeps on hand a very nice lot of the most stylish carriages, buggies, phaetons, and waggonets for pleasure and comfort, and wagons for general use. A visit to his show rooms will repay those who are about to purchase anything in the carriage line. His phaetons are very handsome, and are much sought for, and the waggonets are also being introduced on account of their neatness. The material used, he assures us is best blue oak and American hickory. The finish is good and the whole appearance of his carriages, &c., will be found to please those desiring a handsome carriage or buggy. Call and see them. 19-in.

Macdonald & Elder.

Have much pleasure in calling attention to the advertisement of this week. They are determined to sell the balance of their stock at reduced prices, and this undoubtedly is a good chance for any one in want of Dry Goods and Millinery to take advantage of the opportunity as they may rely on getting goods at very low prices, as they keep first-class goods and always sells at low prices, for the ready money. This is decidedly the best principle to insure success in business. They have also received a splendid lot of new Tweeds which they advertise at very low prices, manufactured into garments. No comment is required as to the ability of the cutter of the firm, as his garments will speak for themselves. Those who have not had the pleasure should try Messrs Macdonald & Elder. 26-1in.

Barnum's Sensational Advertising.

P. T. Barnum has taken a new mode o advertising his arrival in Canada. This time he sends up a balloon, and has all the news papers of the county copy the sensational air journey, Pere is a portion of it:—

Whitby, June 23.—A balloon passed over the edge of the lake a little south of Whitby about six o'clock this evening. It was going eastward,

Cobourg, June 23.—A most exciting race took place between Barnum's balloon and the local express, which leaves Toronto at 5.12. The balloon was about five miles out in the lake, travelling directly east, and was in sight of the train until darkness set in. The balloon was about two miles ahead of the train when she left the Don Station, and was not overtaken until the train arrived at Newtonsville where the wind commenced to veer around to the west. She is now travelling at a slow pace in a westerly direction. She has been seen at Bowmanville, Whitby, and other places, and passed directly over Whitby harbor.

Oshawa June 23.—A balloon passed here at 6:15 p.m., four miles out on the lake going in an easterly direction, the anchor dragging in the water. At one time the balloon seemed to touch the water, and then rise again about two hundred feet. The wind was light from the westward. There seemed to be either three or four persons in the basket. She has the length of the lake to go before touching land if the wind holds as it is now, and she appeared poorly inflated.

A correspondent of the Port Hope Guide writes thus:—

I have been with Professor Donaldson and a reporter of the Times and Spectator, in the Balloon "P. T. Barnum," on a trip to Uleudland. I was only about two miles from this little globe of ours, up among the clouds, "all among the little stars, sailing around the moon," etc. I don't wonder that the poet who sung "Up in a Balloon, boys," got so enthusiastic on this subject I never enjoyed anything so much in my life, the only drawback was that none of my friends were permitted to enjoy that view, and that trip. I think I will have to turn balloonist, aeronaut, or air sailor. It was delightful, magnificent, superb, grand, perfectly beautiful; if I should use all the adjectives there is in the English language I should not be able to do the subject justice. The great city of Hamilton looked as though I could cover it with my hands, and that lovely Burlington Bay looked as if I could have held it in the hollow of my hand, the large sailing vessels, steamers, &c., looked like mere specks in the water, excrescences, pimples, as Bock put it. There was a haze overhanging the lake at the time or we would have been able to have seen the U. S. Toronto was plainly visible, Lake Erie also, and all the intervening country. When we were about two miles from term firma, the Professor decided to alight, and he jerked open the valve, and we came down at the rate of about a mile in 2 minutes until we neared the earth, when he closed it again, and we heaved out ballast, the descent was accomplished beautifully alighting on the farm of Mr. Mitchell, in the township of Nelson, about 24 miles from Wellington Square. This was one of the finest excursions that I will ever be privileged to enjoy; it is also something that does not fall to the lot of more than one person in the million. There was about 3,000 of our friends around the Balloon to see us off, wishing us a pleasant trip, &c. I have had a great number of congratulatory calls this morning. A crowd of street arabs came up to the office window, and one of them rubbed his hand along the frame on the window, and he said "Willcox! that's the fellow that went up in the balloon," said looking through and seeing me, he shouted: "There he is now back again I didn't expect to see him for some time" So it really skittish to look down out of the basket, about 3 miles to earth, and see nothing to break your fall, but I did not feel any fear at all. When were at the highest altitude there was a sensation of oppressiveness in the ears, it seemed like holding your fingers in them.

A NARRATIVE OF THE TRIP AND RESCUE.

Picton June 24.

Prof. Donaldson, with Barnum's balloon and the members of the Toronto press, were picked up in Lake Ontario at 3:30 this morning, five miles from land, opposite Point Peter lighthouse, Prince Edward County. They were picked up by Capt. Member, of the Schooner, the Flying Scud, after a great deal of trouble, and sent ashore in a yawl, landing at Point Peter lighthouse, where their wants were cheerfully attended to. The balloon and its crew were brought to Picton this afternoon. They report the trip a most pleasant one, having been in the air over seven hours. While in the balloon, whilst it was being dragged through the water at a fearful pace.

Professor Donaldson says that of the 125 balloon excursions he has made, this one was attended with the greatest danger of any. They all leave by the steamer Rochester to night for Belleville en route for Toronto. The balloon is all right, having sustained no damage.

The following received by telegraph gives in few but telling words what the adventurers had to endure, and how they escaped.

Picton, June 24.

After a long and most perilous voyage we arrived safe at this town, five days two hours we were on the lake, most of the time immersed up to the edge of the basket. We were rescued at 3:30 this morning by the schooner Flying Scud, of South Bay. We are all safe, but were much inconvenienced by wet and exposure.

Serious Accident.

During the furious gale which occurred at Bradford on Tuesday about 8 p m, the Town Hall was entirely blown down. The Grammar School was held in the basement of the building: early upon the morning of the disaster it was perceived.

What the wind spared human hands did not. Charles Wilcox, cut and bruised about the head; Herbert Cockerline had badly contused; S. J. Kingsley, hurt in the back, also three with slight injuries, viz: Mr. Smith, Alexander Wood, was entirely covered with a mass of bricks and broken timber, and when taken out He was dead.

This unfortunate calamity has cast a gloom over the whole town. The Town Hall was a large building, and when the immense weight of bricks and lumber came crashing to it was miraculous that any of the occupants escaped instant destruction. In addition to the above several other buildings were damaged or partially blown down, chimneys demolished, and windows blown in.

SUMMARY.

Highway robbers in Toronto.

The loss by the fire at Barrie is estimated at $100,000.

Forest fires have swept away much pine in Queen's County, Nova Scotia.

A salt-water salmon has been caught in Lake Ontario, near Hamilton.

Butter is quoted at 15 to 16c. in Kingston market and a drug at that.

Trade is so dull in Montreal, that 5,000 shoemakers alone are out of employment.

It is said that Mr. Blake will visit England before the Premier's return.

A gentleman was robbed of $300 in Molson's Bank, Montreal, on the 16th inst.

Laborers are unable to obtain employment in Quebec at 60 and 7c. per day.

Several men were badly injured on the 22nd inst., in a moulding shop at West Albany N. Y., by the escape of molten metal.

The loss by fire to Canadian Insurance Companies within the last fifteen days has not been less than $250,000.

Sixty houses, involving a loss of $150,000, were burned at Grand Rapids, Michigan on the 19th.

Six hundred men are thrown out of work by the closing of the G. T. R. shops, Montreal.

Three persons are dead from drinking whiskey at the Dublin fire, and 27 are in hospital.

A number of horses and cattle belonging to M. R. Cameron, of Perth, have been poisoned by some unknown scoundrel.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

—ELECTRICITY—

THOMAS ECLELSIOR OIL—WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT! A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few proprietors of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people for any great length of time. One of these is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced:—Thos. Robinson, Farnham Centre, P. Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all." J. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with Liver Complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, &c., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man." A Hughes, Merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundred bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, one of the best medicines they have ever used; it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence." Joseph Ramon, Township Percy, writes, "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Hoyles of this place lended me 60 cts try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured It is a most remarkable medicine.

Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cts.

COMMUTED.

Within a few days four young men who had been sentenced to be hanged for murder, or attempted murder, have had their lives saved to them, for its natural course, by the intervention of the clemency of the crown. Though they have been spared the terror of undergoing the extreme penalty of the law, it is a question whether a much more preferable fate awaits them, for they are doomed to spend the remainder of their days in the living tomb of a Penitentiary cell, with no further hope of pardon. The convicts are all young men, as we have said, and there is reason to believe that, under ordinary circumstances, they would have lived twenty-five, or even thirty, if not more years. The mere contemplation of this length of time—so short in our every day life, but almost an eternity when spent within the gloomy cell, repulsive in its iron bars and stone walls, with few sounds but the grating of bolts and locks and grinding if heavy hinges—is horrible. One of the felons for life is a young physician who enjoyed a fair practice and was on his way to a respectable old age, had he been able to resist the temptation to do evil, when allured by the fee for his reward. His young wife fled the country only in time to save herself from following her husband to a like fate which awaited her had she been arrested. It is but charitable to say that she only become a fellow criminal at the urgent solicitation of the man who had sworn to love, protect and cherish her. His comrade in solitude is one who brought all this guilt and distress to a terrible reality. He a father too, and occupying a respectable position in the world, about to be married, or was to have been, to a girl whose death threw three families into the deepest trouble. One other of the committed prisoners is a well known and desperate criminal, who would have been hanged, had it not been that his victim still lives, though ruined in health and body and seeming ly ever at Death's door. The fourth is a man who most cold-bloodedly murdered his sister-in-law, with whom he had some trifling dispute. The plea of insanity was set up in his case and the doctors instructed to examine him since his sentence was pronounced, have reported that while he is not insane in the correct sense of the word, his intelligence is so low and partakes so much of the animal, that he is a dangerous character and should be perpetually confined. Such is a brief reference to four men, behind whom will close literally forever, this week, the cell doors of the Penitentiary at Kingston, they then entering upon a life of the most wretched known to man.

Remarkable Freak of Nature.

The Campellford Herald of the 16th inst; has the following: A very uncommon freak of nature was shown in this village some days ago. The object was a young pig, having a head somewhat resembling that of a human being. The forehead bore a striking analogy to that of a child's, being very high and not very unlike it in development. The ears were somewhat pointed, but were placed low down on the head, occupying about the same appendages do on the human head. The eyes were those of a child. The absence of the upper lip, gave the object an ontoward appearance; and the snout so prominent in the swine was noticeable here. The head gradually shelved from the ears to the top and was covered with very fine hair. The being was a rare curiosity, and would have been well worthy of preservation.

DASTARDLY DEED.

On the evening of the 7th instant, a most dastardly attempt was made on the line of the Great Western Railway by a gang of villians, which, if successful, would have been productive of the most disastrous results. A pilot engine moving westward struck heavily against an immense block of wood, laid across the track in the neighbourhood of Glencoe, damaging it to a very great extent, and otherwise injuring material in the vicinity. Upon examination it was discovered that the total destruction was only prevented by the want of sufficient precaution on the part of the would-be perpetrators to lay the villianous trap to perfection. Had circumstances not turned out as described, and had the scoundrels but exercised greater care, there is no knowing what might have been the result. Trains moving continually along the line would be in imminent danger of coming to certain destruction in the event of a contact with this unforeseen obstruction As it was, the escape was most providential. The authorities were immediately on the alert to discover the criminals. A telegram was sent to this city asking the assistance of an experienced detective, Fortunately it happened that Mr. Stockman, who had arrived just three weeks since from Europe, and whose long experience as a detective in Scotland and Ireland had made him a veteran in the business, was in town at the time applying for a permanent situation, and was immediately sent to work up the case. In the beginning it was a clueless investigation but the skill of Mr. Stockman supplied the want in this respect, After a quiet search he ascertained that three individuals, named Campbell, McCracken, and McNeil were seen in the vicinity of the track a short time before the event referred to had transpired. With this slight evidence he proceeded to his task. He commenced operations on Campbell, who keeps a hotel, and from a few Garlic words dropped by him at once succeeded in placing himself on the right track. Amusing the role of a land speculator, he pursued his investigations unsuspected, and gradually acquired an amount of evidence that enabled him to lay his hand in due time upon the culprit. Selecting the most pliable of three worthies above mentioned (McNeill) he sounded him in the most artful manner, and when he had worked his feelings up to the critical point, squarely charged him (McN) with the deed, stating that one of his accomplices had made a clean confession and obtained the reward of $250 which had been offered for the apprehension of the perpetrators by the Great Western Railway Company. McNeil terrified into acknowledgement admitted in the presence of the Station master, that McCracken committed the crime. Mr. Stockman arrested McNeil and placing him in the charge of the station master, proceeded in quest of the others. About three miles out in the country he discovered that McCracken, who is a farmer's son, was engaged with a gang of a hundred in raising a building on the farm. At the time of the discovery McCracken was in the house taking lunch with about forty of his men. The detective called him outside and told him that he was in possession of a warrant for his arrest. McCracken at first said that he would not go, and announced his determination to resist by the assistance of his men any attempts to arrest him. Stockman though entirely unpositions put a bold front on the matter and declared that the first exhibition of such an attempt on the part of the prisoner, he would instantly shoot him on the spot. This had the effect of completely dispossessing McCracken of his spirit of bravado and he at once surrendered. Conveying his prisoner to Campbell's hotel, he there arrested the worthy proprietor who also admitted that McCracken was the actual perpetrator, The detective now had his three prisoners and brought them before Squire Simpson and had them committed for trial. They are now in London jail. Too much praise cannot be accorded Mr. Stockman for the skill, shrewdness, and activity displayed by him in this affair. and we hope his merits will be duly appreciated.—London Advertiser

SOMETHING ABOUT MANITOBA

From the Free Press.

A letter has been handed us propounding a series of questions regarding this country. The questions are doubtless similar, in the main, to those contained in nine out of every ten letters of enquiry received in this Province, therefore we propose to deal with the same for general benefit.

Is there much difference between the climate of Manitoba and Ontario?

Manitoba winter is colder, somewhat longer and much steadier. Summer weather is about the same in temperature in daytime, but the nights are usually cold.

Hive you fever and ague?

We believe that chill fever and ague are unknown.

Is the country well watered by rivers, creeks and springs?

Well watered for a prairie country. Small spring creeks are not numerous. Settlers upon the large rivers depend mostly upon these for water supply. In some parts natural springs of excellent water are frequent. Settlers have encountered scarcely any difficulty in getting good water. Wells are obtained from ten to forty foot.

Is the prairie land rolling or flat?

Usually pretty level, yet sufficiently undulating.

Are there large tracts of good land together, or is the country broken by bluffs and hills?

Land is nearly all good. Hills are so scarce that they are at a premium.

What kind of timber does the land generally produce?

The stable timber of the country is a kind of cotterwood called poplar. This grows to a large size, and it is manufactured into lumber. Unusually, however it is of a small growth. Oak grows in abundance in some parts. Ash, elm, birch, cedar, and spruce are found in localities.

What kind of lumber is generally used for building purposes, and what price is it per thousand feet?

In and within reasonable hauling distance from Winnipeg, white pine imported from Minnesota is almost exclusively used. It sells from twenty five to forty-five dollars per thousand feet.

Is the prairie grass good for cattle and horses to graze upon. Does it make good hay?

The prairie is excellent pasturage. The hay it makes is not quite so nutritious as timothy. But stock do well upon it, and horses never have heaves.

Is there any cultivated grass?

But very little effort has yet been made to cultivate grass. We have seen excellent samples of cultivated grass,

What are the prices of oxen, horses, and cows, and are oxen much used?

First-class imported general purpose horses are worth from $125 to $150 each. Good native horses about $100. Oxen are worth from $160 to $175 per yoke. Oxen are much used. Cows sell from $40 to $60 each.

Are there any sheep in Manitoba?

There are, and they do exceedingly well.

Have cattle to be fed longer in Manitoba than Ontario?

Cattle require to be fed from about the middle of October to the end of April.

What kind of soil have you in general and what depth is it?

And alluvial soil, varying in depth from a foot to four feet.

Could a thousand acre block, well watered, with timber, suitable for a cattle ranche, be got. If so, at what price?

Yes. Government lands sell at one dollar per acre; but 640 acres is the most they sell to one person. Every actual settler is entitled to 160 acres free.

Have you frequent showers, and good growing weather in summer?

Yes.

Have you much hight wind and drift in winter.

Not so much as in Ontario?

What are the prices of grain?

Wheat $1.25. Oats $1.25.

What are the prices of groceries and store goods?

Add the freight—about three cents per pound—to Ontario price.

SUCCESSFUL LITERARY PEOPLE

Clemens, the humorist, better known as Mark Twain, has done better than any man of his turn of labor. He has been seven years before the public, and during that time has become rich enough to live on his income. His property in Hartford is worth more than $80,000. Mrs. Stowe has made more than any other American woman, and probable cleared $100,000. This may seem a large sum, but when it is spread through a quarter of a century, it is not such an immense thing as it at first appears to be. Marian Harland, (Mrs. Terhune,) who has written for twenty years, has probably made $15,000 by a dozen novels. Perhaps Mary J. Holmes has done equally well. Gail Hamilton (Miss Dodge) enjoyed a good sale for her books during the first few years, but her vanity got the better of her judgment, and she quarrelled with her publishers. Her next book was devoted to the quarrel, and it at once impaired her popularity. She now has a corner in Harper's paper, and also in the Independent. but will never do much in books again. Her impudence toward the venerable John Todd who differed with her in opinion showed how the vanity arising from success spoils real talent. Walworth, who was shot by his son, never made much out of his books, and they were, in fact, too inferior to sell without extraordinary puffery. Josh Billings (Shaw) has found national popularity. He is witty, and says many wise as well as funny things. It seems a pity that such a clever fellow should be obliged to borrow the jokes of poor Artemus Ward, and print them as original, but such is one of the weaknesses of funny fellows.

Nearly 300 men in the employment of the Glasgow Tramway Company have struck work in consequence of a refusal of the directors to shorten their hours of labor and make an alteration in the arrangement by which they are paid.

Upwards of 80,000 persons, taking advantage of the Fast holiday in April left Glasgow by railway and steamer.

VINEGAR BITTERS

D. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

are not a vile fancy drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the unwary to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the great Blood Purifier and a Life Giving Principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other cases, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have shown their great curative power in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's, Cherry Pectoral

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic

Every year brings additional testimony to its superior virtues in the cure of Pulmonary Complaints. Indeed, in every country and among all classes, as this work but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood and we need not publish them. Suffice it to all and sundry to say that these Pills, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them a pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood, and restore it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in our language in the use, for the following complaints, which Ayer's Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, a few doses will be found necessary in most cases. As a cathartic medicine it acts with gentle efficacy, while as an aperient remedy it is unsurpassed.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels himself well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and purifying effect on the digestive apparatus.

The superiority of these Extracts consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market. They are not only the best in name, but are prepared from fruits of the best quality, and are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small quantity only need be used.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of earth it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although called Consumption is fearful incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to good health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificate of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does it full. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Iron, Fine, nor any other mineral or poisonous drug, whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of true medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Emerchants persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed. Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold round the world.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 8, 1875.

RAILWAYS

During the hard times it would appear that even speculators or contractors are slow to commence or undertake large enterprises. This precaution is wise and tends to prevent disaster to many. But very often too much caution is as injurious to progress as too much rashness, as it prevents taking advantages of circumstances, that are sure to lead to success. Over-cautiousness just now prevents our town and county taking advantage of cheap labour, to assist in constructing those railways that are so much needed, and approved of by the ratepayers of the Town and county. There is a stringency in money matters, but that stringency will have passed away in a year or so. It would require about a year to get the work fairly commenced. No taxes would be required for these purposes for at least one year, and perhaps not till the end of two years, and by that time a great change will have come over trade in the country. Depression in trade rarely lasts over two or three years, and of these, at least, one half is over. It is now known that purchases for the Canadian market this season will not be over one half of former purchases. This will tend to bring trade to a better state and will ensure better times sooner than many are willing to anticipate.

There could be no better time to carry on public works. Labour is abundant and cheap. While that is the case one half the money will secure about twice the labour, as all contractors know that when labour is high less is done for the money, and vice versa.

The Huron and Quebec Railway or the Ontario and Ottawa Railway is one that it is conceded by all would be of immense advantage to the people of Ontario, and especially to the people of this County, and some of our best men are now taking hold of it. In our own town Mr. Clarton Mr. Stevenson, Mr. Cox, and other citizens have joined hands with Mr. Fowler to promote this road, and they will have, we may expect, something done soon. Mr. Fowler has the whole thing ready for immediate work. The Town Council is willing to grant immediate assistance. The County will soon follow suit; but there should be no holding back or opposition. Now is the time to secure aid from the government, and if the present opportunity be let slip, one as favorable may not present itself in many years.

The cost of the undertaking is thought by some to be so great as to render it impossible or doubtful. But those persons should consider its importance also. It would be one of the best roads in the Dominion, far enough back to secure a large local trade, and its direct communication with the Great Western would ensure a large through traffic.

The following estimate of its length and probable aid to it may satisfy some that it is not impossible. These are the bonuses likely to be given to the road:—

Ottawa City	250,000
Lanark County	200,000
Kingston City	50,000
Frontenac and Addington	50,000
Hastings	100,000
Peterborough and County	250,000
Durham	150,000
Ontario	150,000
Toronto	300,000
	$1,500,000

As the distance is exactly 230 miles, this would be $6,500 a mile of bonuses. The government aid and what could be realized on the Bonds of the Company would secure the road.

The foolish policy of waiting for better times, will delay the work two years, if not indefinitely, and may necessitate a larger outlay to obtain it at all. Iron is now only $35 a ton, not long since it was $70, or just double what it now is. Now fifty per cent saving in iron alone is no small item, not much short of $2000 a mile, or nearly half a million dollars, saved. The increased prices for grains of all kinds, cordwood, wool, beef, mutton would pay the whole tax in three years, and leave a nice balance in the hands of the farmers of the county. According to the census of 1871, this county in that year produced

Wheat	397,589	bushels
Barley	68,360	"
Oats	444,068	"
Rye	6,143	"
Peas	184,844	"
Potatoes	493,788	"

but the latter article is consumed at home Let us suppose a saving of 5 cents on the bushel on all these grain crops, amounting to over one million bushels, not to speak of any increase, and the saving would be over $65,000 a year, and this it is well known is less than the difference between our prices, and the prices realized at the front every year. The difference has been as high as 20 cents on wheat, and very often 15 cents, and generally ten cents per bushel. If we take the profits on wheat, barley and peas alone for three years, the increased prices would amount to more than the entire bonus from the county The cents must not hope to reap equal advantages, as every increase in grain prices is an increase of cost of living; but necessarily bringing down of County would be a partial compensation for this.

The farmers should not set so lightly on the road as to postpone its construction. Every year's delay is so much money out of their pockets, equal at least to 5 to 10 cents on every bushel of grain they may raise which on the aggregate is a large sum.

There cannot be much done in the matter till after harvest, but as soon as the crops are secured, no time should be lost toward securing the speedy commencement of the work.

TOWN COUNCIL

The Council met on Monday evening.

Present,—the Mayor and Messrs. Cahill, McDonald. Paterson, Helm, Hamilton, Rutherford, Cook, Dixon, Beal and Thornton.

The minutes were read and confirmed.

Communications were read from

Town Clerk in reference to copying By-laws. Referred to the Finance Committee.

E. C. Hill asking for a Butcher's license. Granted.

Dr. Stevenson in reference to building an office on his lot, George street. Referred to the committee appointed to revise the Building By-law.

From A. Bennett asking the council to pay his rent. Referred to the charity committee.

From E. C. Hill asking for a side walk. Granted.

From Gilmour & Coy. informing the Council of their intention to let their logs and timber into the river, and holding the council responsible for any delay through their not having glance booms.

From J. McDonald and others asking to have stumps removed from the east end of Perry street. Referred to the Street Inspector with power to act.

A report from the Street Inspector was submitted. Received.

The monthly report of the License Inspector was read and received.

Mr. Hamilton, chairman of the committee on side walks, read the following report and motion for its adoption was lost. It was afterwards reconsidered and passed as below.

The Special Committee on side walks beg leave to report:

That they have considered the petitions of Wm. Clarton and others, and recommend the appropriation of one $100 (not be exceeded) to grade and form Water Street at the intersection of Hunter street, and that tenders be asked for the same, subject to plan drawn by Town Engineer.—Also recommend the furnishing of plank for side walks in accordance with petition to be laid down under superintendence of Street and Bridge Inspector as Mr. Clarton has proposed to do.

In reference to the petition of Michl. O'Brien and others, recommend the Street Inspector be instructed to make some slight improvements to prevent water injuring the propertr of parties on said street. Simcoe street west of Reid street cost $25.

In reference to the petition of Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, recommend the appropriation of one hundred dollars to grade and form water tables on Smith street from George to Bethune streets, and that the Engineer's plans of Smith street be submitted to the council for their adoption.

In reference to the petition of H. Morgan and others, the council recommend no appropriation at present

In reference to the petiton of J. A. Delaney, they would recommend the sum of ten dollars be appropriated to improve the approaches and side walks and the approach of George B. Jubert, on King street.

In reference to the petition of D. G. Hatton and others, the committee recommend the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars be granted to petitioners upon condition of their opening and grading McDonald street to Monaghan Boundary, and constructing a permanent bridge across the creek; the work to be approved of by the Street Inspector. In reference to the petition of Wm. Landy, asking for a crossing at the intersection of the drain and lots Nos. 2 and 3 in 13th lot and 12th con., late of Monaghan. Your committee recommend a small apportionment for that purpose, and that the Street Inspector furnish the plank for bridges undergoing repairs for the covering. Cost $15.

In reference to the petition of David Lowry and others, they recommend the sum of $25 to remove the stumps and form water tables on Stewart street, south from the rink.

In reference to the petition of Octave Beauvais and others, your committee find that there is a difficulty in the way of acquiring the property from the parties interested, they do not think it advisable to attempt at present to grant the same, although satisfied the improvement is very much needed.

In reference to the petition of Thos. Ross and others, they recommend that the sum of fifty dollars be expended on the same to remove the stumps and make such improvements as may be possible with said expenditure on Chamberlen street.

In reference to petition for improvements on Brock street, and several others; also, repairs on bridges, your committee had not time to entertain and report on them all, but decidedly recommend the repairing at once of the Brock street bridge and bridge at Wm. Hamilton's foundrry, necessary timbers put in and covered where needed, also that all work, that can be done to advantage be let by tender.

In reference to the petition for side walk on Rainburgh street, the committee recommend that a sidewalk from George to Aylmer streets be constructed, four feet wide, as the same was ordered last year and very much required.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

PETER HAMILTON,
Chairman.

The Clerk committed a halt yearly report of receipts and expenditures.

Moved by Mr. Hamilton, seconded by Mr. Cook,—That taking in view the great benefit to the town, the opening of George street south from Lake street and Rossmore street, be it resolved by this council that in view of the fact that Mr. Donnelly is willing to give the right of way through his property, and also remove buildings that Messrs. Halpin, Lapham, and Miss McMahon be arranged with for right of way through their property, providing the cost does not exceed $700, and report to this council.

In amendment.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That Messrs. Hamilton, Cook, Rutherford and the Mover be a committee to confer with Messrs. Halpin, Lapham, and McMahon, for the purpose of arranging with them to buy for the purposes of opening George street, and report the result of their interviews to the next meeting of the Council.

At this point the report of the committee on side walks was reconsidered in committee of the whole, Mr. Hamilton in the chair, and passed as published.

Mr. Cahill, chairman of committee on fire, water, and gas, reported as follows:—

The Fire Committee, to whom was referred the Report of the Chief Engineer, recommend that the tank on Brock Street be cleaned out repaired and filled.

That the necessary repairs be made on the tank at the Presbyterian Church and the one on London, and that the tank at the Catholic Church and that on Charlotte street be refilled and that the whole of the tanks be properly insured with covers and locks.

Your Committee also recommend that a gas lamp be erected on the corner of Charlotte and Babbidge streets, and also one on MacDonald and Aylmer streets. None of these lamps to be used before the 1st of October. All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Moved by Mr. Beal, seconded by Mr. Cahill,—That the Board of School Trustees and the Board of Town Commissioners be requested to send in their estimates for the current year, at once, in order that the Finance Committee may be enabled to submit their estimates for the year at the next meeting of the Council.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Helm,—That that part of the report of Street Inspector handed in at last meeting of the Council relative to work on streets and boundaries be adopted.

The Council then adjourned for three weeks.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board met on Tuesday evening, Present, Jas. Stevenson, Esq., Chairman, and Messrs. Edwards, Smith, White, Robertson, J. A. Smith, Edmison, Rutherford and Johnston.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Letters of resignation were read from Mr. Hodge, Mr. Sheply, Miss Flavelle, and Miss Borrowman.

Communications were read from Miss Dowling, Miss Jenkins, and Mrs. Hunt asking increase of Salaries.

Applications for situations were read from Miss Nichols, Miss L. S. Johnston, and Miss Kate English.

The applications for situations were referred to committee on appointments.

The Secretary was authorised to advertise for female teachers in the local papers.

Accounts from Mr. Romaine $5.96; Mathias & Reid $41.10; and Bertram & Co. $27.51, were referred to the Finance Committee.

A Communication from the Town Council was read, requesting the Board to submit their estimates for the year to the Council.

A motion of Mr. Rutherford's seconded by Mr. Robertson, to date the increase of Miss Greenshow's salary from 1st of January, 1875, was carried.

Moved by Mr. J. M. Smith, seconded by Mr. Johnston, that Mr. Hands be paid at the rate of $550 from the date of his promotion.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. A. Smith, seconded by Edwards that the property committee be instructed to protect the trees in front of the School, and also any other necessary repairs to the school property.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Edmison seconded by Mr. J. M. Smith, that the resignation of Mr. Sheply as Classical Teacher in the Collegiate Institute be accepted, and while this Board sincerely regret losing the benefit of his valuable services they desire to acknowledge the able and efficient manner in which he has discharged his duties since his appointment.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. J. M. Smith, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That Miss Dowling, Miss Jenkins, and Miss Sanderson's salaries be increased $25 each, said increase to take effect from the beginning of the present quarter, and for this purpose that the 15th Rule be suspended.

In amendment.—

Moved by Mr. Edmison, seconded by Mr. White,—That owing to the large number of teachers who have resigned, and several others having applied for increase of salary, it is desirable that all questions relating to salaries, engagement of new teachers to fill vacancies, as well as promotions, should be considered together,—therefore, be it resolved,—That all said matters be referred to a special committee composed of Messrs. J. M. Smith, Edwards, A. Smith, White, the chairman and mover. The amendment was carried, and original motion therefore lost.

On motion of Mr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—The resignations of Miss Flavelle and Miss Borrowman were accepted.

FOREPAUGH'S GREAT SHOW.

Adam Forepaugh's Great Traveling Menagerie, Museum and Equestrian Aggregation, containing 1,000 wild beasts, 2,000 beautiful birds, 10,000 Museum wonders, a Circus in two rings, eight centre pole tents combined, 1,000 men and horses; a cash investment of One Million Dollars, will exhibit at Peterborough on Monday, July 19th. From mention made in our exchanges, and from the statement of persons who have visited Forepaugh's establishment, we expect that the exhibition is, in reality, all it claims to be, and by far the largest, finest, and costliest show ever seen in this country. In view of this fact we have concluded to transfer to our columns the following description of some of the attractive features of "The Great Forepaugh Show. The article is copied from the Toronto Globe, and with pleasant weather we predict the largest gathering here on the day of exhibition ever seen on any similar occasion:—

The citizens for some time have been on the tip-toe of expectation for the coming of Forepaugh's Grand Menagerie, Museum, and World-wonder exposition. Now that it has arrived in the city there is but one general expression of opinion given by those who have visited it as to the excellence of the whole show. The menagerie itself is evidently the best that has ever visited Toronto, containing, as it does, many valuable and rare specimens of the denizens of the forest. The department is especially well looked after, everything being kept in good order, and the cages are scrupulously clean.

In accordance with the custom of circus exhibitions, a grand parade on the principal streets of the city took place yesterday morning, between nine and ten o'clock. Previously to the time appointed for the procession to start the streets were crowded with people, and the windows along the route were filled with ladies anxious to get a glimpse of the show. The procession started from the Queen's Hotel, and proceeded up Yonge street to Queen, down Queen to John, down John to Front, down Front to Yonge, down Yonge to King, down King to Church, down Church to Queen, down Queen to Yonge, down Yonge to Shuter, down Shuter to Church, down Church to Gerrard, down Gerrard to Parliament, down Parliament to Queen, down Queen to Yonge, down Yonge to Front, where was one thing conspicuous about this street parade which was that no attempt was made to make to the procession appear larger than it really was. By placing a ridiculously few cages to exist between each carriage. The cars were the best equipped we have yet seen, the horses being all in splendid condition. The elephants drawn by their elephants and dromedaries formed a special attraction to the spectators. The procession was headed by 6 band, which played a choice selection of music. If there is one thing more than another which will attract the multitude it is a circus or a fire. At the afternoon performance yesterday the hippodrome at the show was crowded. The clever equestrienne Mdlle Virginia delighted the audience by her graceful and charming performance. The acrobatic performance of the Walhalla Brothers elicited frequent applause, and the whole entertainment was of a very pleasing and enjoyable character. The utmost good order prevailed, and the management may be congratulated for the excellent manner in which everything is carried out. A visit to the menagerie is certainly not the least interesting part of the programme. The tent in which the cages are is large and airy. In one part there is a fountain, and the whole place presents a pleasing promenade. As you enter from the grounds, on the right are a number of mechanical representations of elephants drawing cars, goats and rabbits, fighting roosters, an automatic organ grinder, and many other ingeniously constructed mechanical works. To the centre and right are the cages arranged in a semi-circle around the tent on either side. They consist of African and Asiatic lions and lionesses, Bengal tigers, rhinoceros elephants, Brazilian pumas, grizzly bear, polar bear, gnu, water buffalo, an eland, a giraffe, zebra, etc. The Asiatic lions and an Abyssinian lion are very fine specimens of the species, and attracted much attention. Very interesting, also, are the many animals we may mention an African elephant, a grizzly bear, an ursyn, a water dog, a jaguar and a puma. The rhinoceros, which is said to be considerably over three thousand pounds in weight, attracted the attention of the visitors. The lions were also admired, and the inmate of each cage proved more or less attractive, either from its rarity or its ferocious appearance. The beasts were all in splendid conditions, and every one seems to be taken of them. Outside in the grounds is a museum, in which are several living human curiosities. One is that of a man with no legs, but possessing extraordinary muscular development in the arms, which enables him to exhibit his acrobatic performance to the audience. There is also a man born without arms, who exhibits his ability to write with his feet. A bearded woman, an Albino young lady, a Lilliputian general, etc., are the attractions in the tent. The horses belonging to the company are all stabled under tents. They are all splendid animals, and it is seldom that any travelling circus has such a magnificent stud of horses. At the evening performance the place was again crowded, and the various exhibitions of skill and daring within the arena were enthusiastically applauded.—Globe.

North Monaghan.

The Council met on June 21st at the call of the Reeve. All the members present.

The minutes of last meeting were read and signed.

A communication was received from the special Committee of the Town Council of Peterborough, stating that the Town intends opening up drains on the boundary to remove surplus water doing injury to parties in the vicinity, and wishing to know if the Municipality would be pleased to open out the lower part thereof. On motion of Councillor Leary it was ordered to be laid over for further consideration.

The Clerk reported that the voter's list for this year would contain upwards of 200 names, when a By-law for dividing the Municipality into two electoral divisions for Provincial election purposes, received its several readings and was finally passed.

The following orders were granted on the Treasurer:—Mr. Geo. Borsey $3 for services rendered, an account of procuring gravel pit at Meistenbee; M. Cissi, $8 charity, with the understanding that under similar circumstances no such grant would be made; Alex. McIntosh $150 for gravel put and right of way thereto for 21 years.

Councillors Leary and Birney were appointed a committee to procure materials for building a pound at James Brown's for the use of the Municipality, and to give in an account of same at next meeting of Council.

On the motion of Councillor Leary the Clerk was directed to write to the President of the M. R. Co., requesting him to give directions to have cattle guards erected at Curran's crossing; between 9th and 10th, and 10th and 11th conc. of the Township.

The Clerk informed the Council that he proposed being absent for five or six weeks, and hoped that Mr. John Weed, Ashburnham, would be appointed to act in his place during said absence, commencing about the beginning of July. Granted.

Council adjourned.—Cote

South Monaghan.

PORT HOPE.

DEATH IN THE POT.—Doctor Clemesha informs us that he has had two cases of poisoning by using stramonia, or the weed usually called thorn apple as greens One of the cases came very nearly being fatal. This should teach every one to be careful what they use of the wild herb nature. There are large quantities of the weed growing around town which should be destroyed.—Guide.

HASTINGS.

The following resolution was passed at the meeting of the Council of Northumberland and Durham:

Moved by Mr. Coughlin, seconded by Mr. McGaughton,—That the Clerk do notify the county of Peterborough that John Fisher, Esq., of Cobourg, has been appointed an Arbitrator on behalf of the Counties for the settlement of all disputes between the county and the village of Hastings.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Fowlds, seconded by Mr. Barnard,—That with reference to the communication received by the Warden from the County of Peterborough, as to rebuilding the Rom Bridge across the Otonabee River, that this Council cannot at present consent to said scheme, in as much as the Reeve of South Monaghan represents that it is the wish, and to the interests of that Township to have the bridge about a half a mile lower down the river, where the banks are dry, and the land not drowned, the distance to the bridge much shorter, and that he would be prepared with a report at next session, as the documents he expected in relation thereto have not come to hand. Carried.

"Patent right-to" swindlers are legion, and their devices for trapping the unwary are numerous. The latest is a "rotary motor," a patent advertised in the sale of which are said to be operating at present up in Hastings County. Farmers and others who are called to purchase "rights" will, if they are wise, have nothing to do with the parties; but if they do purchase, let them beware of signing a promissory note when they attach their signatures to what purports to be very innocent documents. A word to the wise is sufficient One has been through Cavan and succeed ed on one victim.

DORWOOD.

FIRE.—On Saturday last the warehouse attached to Mr. Finlay's spoke and hub factory caught fire, and from it the dwellings of his, Mr. [illegible] also caught. Mr. Dyer lost his feathers and wearing apparel. No insurance. Mr Hilliard suffered some loss, but our informant could not learn the amount. Mr. Finlay had over $3,000 worth of stuff in the place at the time, partly insured. Our informant could not tell how the fire originated.

CAVANVILLE.

The [illegible] Sunday School Tea was held in connection with the Methodist Church in Cavanville, on Dominion Day. The edibles were provided gratuitously by the ladies of the neighborhood and partook of the [illegible] upon them. After all had partaken of a rich and sumptuous repast, the meeting was called to order and suitable addresses were delivered by the Rev. Messrs. Barker, Mitchell, Ewing and Kinnear. The proceeds of the tea were nearly $30. The Rev. Mr. Barker pronounced the benediction.

PARKHILL.

On Thursday, June 24, Charles Hill, a lumber, South Cobourne, West Williams, was being lowered into a well which he was digging, and when about half way down he fell from the bucket to the bottom [illegible] fell in all. The [illegible] John Galbraith, a near neighbor, who was let down into the well, and on reaching the same caught also fell to the bottom At this time a third party was summoned, and successfully extricated the [illegible] On being lowered into the well he was met with the same disastrous fate. The ladies were [illegible] relieved by means of grappling irons. The names of the said parties is published to the credit of any of the lovers of the well, while most likely calculated the unfortunate men as soon as entering it.

SABBATH SCHOOL PIC-NIC.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

[illegible]—Thursday next being the only Sabbath School [illegible] the Parish [illegible] parties [illegible] Lakefield [illegible] for the [illegible] for [illegible] know lodge of it. The weather being dark and Lowering and every one regretting it very much on our account, we arrived at the Peterborough station. Our special train went on time and ready to start on the given word "all aboard." Leaving here at 8.40, a. m. we soon landed safely at the wharf at Lakefield, where we were met by some of our friends from Lakefield and vicinity, quite a number of whom went with us on board the steamer Chippewa. Having got all aboard we steamed up the lake to Young's Point, meeting on our route a very fine drive of new logs, belonging to Messrs. Gilmore & Co., of Trenton, but they did not interfere with our pushing forward rapidly. After getting quickly through the Locks at Young's, we passed up the channel to Clear Lake, passing by another drive of Logs owned by Mr. Hilliard. We arrived at Sandy Point on Clear Lake at 12.30. The Committee at once set to work to haul water for the party to partake of Lunch, which was very soon partaken of boat and once being used. We again got on board our craft and steamed up through the thousand [illegible] to Mount Julian. At 4 o'clock p. m. we started for Lakefield, which we reached in two hours and a quarter, re-again got on board our train, reaching home at 7 p. m. Every one seemed very much pleased with the trip notwithstanding the large quantities of rain which fell at intervals during the whole day. The whole party seemed very much pleased. Every one did his best to enjoy himself and we may add herself. The conductor of the train, together with the Captain and Purser of the boat, and the Committee did all in their power to accommodate and make the excursion a success in every particular one of them.

Disgraceful Attack on Hon. J. G. Currie by the Gentleman's Party.

From the St. Catherine's Daily News.

Last evening, after addressing a large number of electors and when leaving Thorold for St. Catherines, a crowd of roughs, exasperated no doubt at the result of the election, attacked Mr. Currie and Mr. Mills, late student in the office of Messrs. Brown & Brown. [illegible] was in the same [illegible] paying him homeward. Stones were thrown at Mr. Currie, and when, at the solicitation of Mr. Mills, the horse was urged to a faster pace, a perfect shower of missiles fell about the unoffending gentlemen. One large stone, weighing perhaps three or four pounds struck Mr. Mills fairly in the back, and then bounded out of the buggy. Its force was partially broken by glancing off the buggy, yet Mr. Mills received a blow the effects of which he feels sorely to-day. Another stone struck him on the side, but did not inflict a wound. Mr. Currie was more fortunate, having escaped being struck, but many stones passed in uncomfortable proximity to his head. The scampers would have fared much worse had it not been for the cover of the buggy which was partly up, and warded off numerous stones. The affair should be investigated. The scoundrels who participated in such a cowardly attack are certainly not Mr. Currie's friends, and whoever they are they may be set down as a discredit to the political party to which they are attached and a disgrace to the community in which they live. There is no excuse for such scandalous exhibition of venomous party feeling, and we hope those who figured in the outrage of last evening will not escape the punishment which their conduct so richly deserves. Mr. Bachner and his respectable supporters should interest themselves, in connection with Mr. Currie and his friends, in the prosecution of such a case.

CHARACTERISTICS OF A NOTICE TAILOR.

There was in the old town of Dunblane a famous man as a tailor, and who had a complete monopoly of the trade all around that part of the country, The Black Laird, as he was called, worked at the time when broad bonnets large buttons, and hodden-greys were the fashion of the day. The Laird lived for a long period after these good styles were laid aside. He saved money at his occupation, and left a considerable property after his death. He was mostly employed in country houses, where he wrought for fivepence a day and "his meat."

The Laird used to start early and cheerfully on summer Monday mornings from his own house, with his flute in his pocket, and his goose and his lapboard over his shoulder; and this for an employer's house many miles distant, where he would arrive before the family got up, and rouse the inmates at the window with one of his most lively airs. He seldom returned until Saturday evenings, having always at least a week's work before him near to the same place. Indeed, in the Laird's time, tailors performed most of their work in the neighborhood of towns and villages, itinerating through the villages, and receiving, with their apprentices, board and lodging in the houses of their employers. When they did get work to do in their own houses the Laird used to remark with virtuous indignation—"that ae'ther keeps a pairin' or a clippin' o' ither folks' claith but sent a' hame wi' the claes—every patch and thread owre stappit i' the pouches." The Laird liked all the new fashions—"as way and a' way" the new coats, he said, were "snippet things strait, swallow-tailed, bare, useless mocks, and nae dear was that English thin trash that nane but gentlemen sud buy it." He hated the perquisite system which now sprang into existence and thus became fashionable, he said, an honesty doo'd awa, and people gave their clothes to make to a set of new fangled scoundrels and land loupers frae goodness kens whaur.

It must be allowed indeed that at the Laird's time the craft to which he belonged were in general very much respected as men, perhaps so more than presently exists even in our own day. This may have been the case for their strict punctuality in returning every remnant of cloth their employers that was left over in the making. The old tailors were clean shirts, whole clothes, and were reputed for general cleanliness and integrity. The new fashioned men, not so long ago, were not always noted for possessing any of these good qualities. The general supposition, vulgarly expressed, was that the new hands were addicted to what has been generally understood as "cabbage," and that much of their riches which had sometimes been acquired in a hurried way, was gotten in this disreputable manner. The Laird, long before his death, saw what was coming, foretold this, and never could understand by what information the new tailors were admitted to offices of trust. Something must be allowed for the Laird here. Himself to the very core, and no doubt needed a little that the good old fashions were disused and himself not so well employed as in his younger years, his opinion might be rashly formed and as unguardedly expressed: yet he could never bear to see "ane o' the loony thieves at the plate i' the Sabbath day."

The Laird, like most of the citizens of Dunblane in those days, was very superstitious. His code of belief embraced the whole tribe of "ghaists," "wraiths," "water kelpies," and all the varieties of "bogles" and "fairies." He had, moreover, not only seen a specimen of them all, but had both seen and conversed with the de'il. His interview with Satan was in the neighbourhood of Lecropt, at a place called Mill-Sieve Bank, when returning that way one evening from Stirling. The particulars of that interview with the Prince of Darkness, the Laird would never divulge; only this much, that it was about some cantrips which had been cast by "Piece-Mornin'," a Logie witch, which the Laird had discovered, and which had so much displeased the De'il that he ventured to attempt terrifying the Laird from using his herbs in removing witch-spells for the future. The Laird knew, indeed, the virtues of many wild plants, and in his latter days became celebrated from his laudable endeavors to turn his knowledge in this respect into its proper channel, by administering decoctions for the removal of complaints and other charms.

Let it not be said that superstitious notions were inconsistent with the character of an honest upright man in those days. It is certainly true that he himself verily believed in the efficacy of his own nostrums in preventing evil spirits from doing mischief to erring mortals, and in averting the scaith after the charms had been prepared; and also, that he actually had an angry encounter with Satan on the subject. Even though this story were doubted, it is unquestionably true that the best of men have been known at some time in their lides to tell one fib to please their customers.

New Local Presbyteries.

In connection with the recent Presbyterian meetings in Montreal the Toronto Presbytery met in St. Paul's church to constitute presbyteries. We learn from the Globe's report that the bounds of Kingston Presbytery were made to include the territory formerly occupied by the two late churches. Professor Mowatt was elected Moderator of the Presbytery, which was appointed to meet at Kingston, on the second Tuesday in July, in Charles St. Church, Kingston. Proceeding westward, the decided that the next Presbytery have boundaries coterminus with those of Cobourg Presbytery, as existing under the C. P. Church. It was named Peterborough Presbytery, Rev. Mr. Roger was elected Moderator, and the first meeting was fixed to be held at Millbrook on the first Tuesday in July. The bounds of the next Presbytery were fixed to extend from Cobourg in the east to Clarke in the west, and north to Utica, Port Perry, and Williamsburg. It was named Whitby Presbytery. Rev. Mr. Kennedy of Dumbarton, was chosen Moderator, and Rev. [illegible] was appointed to take place at Whitby on the first Tuesday in July. A new Western Presbytery was struck extending from the boundary of the Whitby Presbytery to the North Pole, and was named the Presbytery of Lindsay. Rev. [illegible] Currie, of Brock, was appointed Moderator, and the first meeting was fixed to take place at Lindsay on the first Tuesday in July. A member facetiously remarked that the North Pole had not yet been reached, and it was dangerous to give the body a roving commission. (Laughter.) The Moderator thought it was desirable to wait for news from the Artic expedition.

Lumbering interests in Nova Scotia are suffering for want of rain. A large quantity of logs on the drives have been abandoned.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Brevity is the soul of wit.

Wishing—the constant hobby of a fool.

Wishing, of all employments is the worst.

Pardon injuries—because vengeance perpetrates hate.

Be grateful because gratitude nourishes liberality

Be modest—because pride is offensive to the fellow beings.

Wit is silly—unless a wise man has the keeping of it.

There are many men of wit to one man of sense.

It takes a man to know he is a fool.

Some men are wise and some are otherwise.

Selfish policies equity sustains the Artistic factor.

The wise learn both wisdom and folly from fools.

A wise and prudent man will reap a harvest of knowledge from his enemies.

The profoundly wise are willing and desirous to learn; the superficial to, teach.

Be a citizen, because thy country is necessary to thy security, and happiness and well being.

It is wise to begin life with the least show and expense; you can easily increase both, but not easily diminish either.

If you would win success be punctual, courteous, honest economical, agreeable, in your personal habits, and regardful of your health.

To be bodily tranquil to speak little and digest without effort, are absolutely necessary to grandeur of mind or of presence, or to proper development of genius.

The crying evils of this age among others, are intemperance, gambling, inordinate love of money, which is the mother of gambling and the root of all evil.

Be forbearing, temperate chaste—because voluptuousness, intemperance, and sensuality are destructive to your existence; and will render it miserable.

AN ELECTRIC MACHINE.

It is reported that the London Times has in contemplation a plan for printing its sheets simultaneously in several of the great towns, in order to compete with the local journals which are that diminishing the circulation and influence of the London press. There is an electric machine in operation at the London Stock Exchange which communicates the fluctuating quotations to a number of city offices, where an instrument records the changes by means of movable figures and a dial plate. It was conceived that if an electrical current can be made to manipulate movable figures a system of mechanical setting might be carried on simultaneously in a number of distant places, the operation being directed from a central office in London, where the news could be collected and the copy set in type at the provincial offices simultaneously by operating upon electric keyboards. Eight years ago the experiment of simultaneous type setting was successfully accomplished, but without the aid of electricity, and the various machines were not to be placed at distant points. The Times is testing the practicability of making the experiment, and the result will be watched with curious interest.

A sad and fatal accident occurred on Wednesday last, on the Grand Trunk track, near Lennoxville, to a young man about 23 years of age, named George J. Delcrouchy. He happened, so he was walking on the track when a freight train was approaching and stepped aside a little, but was so dizzy that he fell over the track and thirty cars passed over him, of course causing instantaneous death. His body was fearfully mangled and his head awfully smashed. An inquest was held in the afternoon by Coroner Woodward, of Sherbrooke, and a verdict of "accidental death" was rendered. He was engaged to a young lady, and was to have been married in a few days. He was a clergyman's son, and came to this country from England for the purpose of learning farming, and possessed a farm at Milley Mills. His fiancee feels his loss to be such an untimely and horrible death very much.

Messrs. Moody and Sankey seem to have caused quite a commotion in London by proposing to hold services at Eton. The subject was brought up in both Houses of Parliament, in the Commons by a notice that a question would be put to Mr. Gladstone as to whether he had given the Evangelists a letter of introduction to the Eton authorities, although it does not seem very clear why a private act even of an ex-premier, should be the subject of a Parliamentary enquiry. The London journals generally disapprove of the visit and a protest against it has received the signatures of 650 boys, while a memorial in its favour was signed by 300. The only question for the authorities of the institution should be whether the gathering would interfere with the studies which the boys have at heart, and to them to pursue, and they certainly seem to have no right to protest, for those who do not like the services will be at perfect liberty to stay away.

The Collingwood Enterprise says that over 1,500 men were missed this spring to go to Prince Arthur's Landing on the Lake Superior shore by Oliver Davis & Co., Sefton Ward & Co., and Carpenter & Co., to go on Government Works but when they had charred themselves to pay their fare were discharged and afterwards told they could get work if they would be content with five or six dollars a month. The consequence is that over a thousand men were thrown out of employment without the means of subsisting themselves, and cannot get away for the want of money. The destitution is great, starvation staring them in the face. So terrible is the destitution, these we are credibly informed, many able-bodied men on the arrival of the "Chicora" there on her last trip, rushed on board and greedily devoured the contents of the swill barrel.

A correspondent of Nature relates a curious phase of bird life. While he was crossing the Atlantic, last September, and 900 miles from the nearest point of Newfoundland, two land birds settled on the ship, and after a short rest, resumed their passage to the south-east. They seemed to be a species of lark. The question was—Where did they come from, whither were they going over that vast space of ocean, with no resting place nearer the continent than the Azores, how were they fed and what guided them? The writer is not of opinion that land birds are often driven out to sea by the force of the wind. Some other cause must influence their movements. Birds must possess strong affections as they are always seen in pairs on these long journeys.

A man named Daniel Walters at Hagerstown Md., the other day was digging a well, and having drilled into a huge rock at the bottom filled it with powder and fired the fuse, and being drawn up by his companions, when the rope broke and he dropped to the bottom, right on to the rock just ready to burst with the fury of a thunderbolt. He could do nothing of course, but shield as well as possible his head and the vital portions of his body. It exploded and he was not killed, his faithful dog upon which he reposed.

Several Hamiltonians have been fleeced to the amount of several thousands through the Toronto sent-butter enterprises. It is said that the amount of $45,000 altogether has gone clean out of sight. It is stated that a very prominent politician was a partner in the concern, but this is denied by some who ought know. The number of promissory notes which were roped in is remarkable, [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and elsewhere, and ought to have [illegible]

VINEGAR BITTERS

WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

[illegible] VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, assisting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

[illegible] tried it, know that it cannot [illegible] every community and among every individual where they have been introduced, but we [illegible] every neighborhood, and we [illegible] in all climates. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any mineral or poisonous drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them perfectly in any climate, rendering them pleasant to take, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic. Purify the blood, and the various fluids of the system are renovated by the remedial power they impart to them. Remove the obstructions of the stomach, liver, bowels, lungs, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting whatever disease may exist in them, they will make it disappear. Minister to the sick when they are prostrated by pain, and the operation of these Pills will generally restore them to health. Keep the bowels open, and the blood pure, and you will prevent disease. Take them for the slight ailments that derange the whole machine, and they will nip the real disease in the bud, for the following complaints which these Pills speedily cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Loathing, Nausea, Languor, and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to awaken the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs to healthy action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Biliousness, Jaundice, Bilious Colic, Dysentery, Constipation or Costiveness, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles, or Hemorrhoids, they should be taken as required, to obtain the desired effect of a mild cathartic.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pain in the Back, Kidneys, and Loins, and all symptoms of Kidney complaints, a few doses are required to change the diseased action of the system. With such changes disease disappears.

For Dropsy, and to prevent Fevers, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One pill a day is generally sufficient for adults. Some of these Pills are sugar coated, so as to suit those who dislike to take medicine. Being purely vegetable, no ill effect can arise from their use in any quantity. They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and restore the healthy action of the system, and remove disease. Their penetrating power to the remotest fibre of the body, restoring their invigorating action to health, and by correcting whatever disease may exist in them, they will make it disappear. Minister to the sick when they are prostrated by pain, and the operation of these Pills will generally restore them to health. Keep the bowels open, and the blood pure, and you will prevent disease. Take them for the slight ailments that derange the whole machine, and they will nip the real disease in the bud, for the following complaints which these Pills speedily cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Loathing, Nausea, Languor

HOW TO LIVE.

He liveth long who liveth well!
All other life is short and vain.
He liveth longest who can tell
Of living most for heavenly gain.

He liveth long who liveth well!
All else is being flung away.
He liveth longest who can tell
Of true things truly done each day

Waste not thy being; back to Him
Who freely gave it freely gave;
Else is that being but a dream—
'Tis but to be and not to live

Be wise and use thy wisdom well:
Who wisely spends a mint lives it too,
He is the wisest who can tell
How first he lived, then spake the wise.

Be what thou seemest; live thy creed;
Hold up to earth the torch divine;
Be what thou prayest to be made:
Let the great Master's life be thine.

Fill up each hour with what will last;
Buy up the moments as they go;
The life above is born this is past,
In the right front of life below.

Sow truth, if thou the truth wouldst reap;
Who sows the false shall reap the vain;
Erect and consult thy conscience keep;
From hollow words and deeds refrain.

Sow love, and taste its fruitage pure;
Sow peace, and reap its harvest bright;
Sow sunbeams on the rock and moor,
And find the harvest home of light.

WESTON.

The following from the Globe explains itself. It is evidently from the Rev. Mr. Johnston, and from it, few will feel disappointed on learning that he has found the church in going over to the Roman Catholic Church.

TO THE LORD BISHOP OF TORONTO.

Rev. Father in God,—I hope your Lordship will pardon me for addressing you through the public press, but as the matter on which I venture to address you concerns every son of Holy Church, and as your Lordship has by your own act made it public property, I have no alternative.

I trust you will also pardon me, my Lord, when I tell you that you have excited no small degree of alarm in my mind about the Church of England, which I must ask you to set at rest if you can. I have been taught and always believed that the Church of England was a branch of the Holy Catholic Church, and that it was evident to all men diligently reading Holy Scripture and ancient authors that from the Apostles' time there have been these orders of ministers, bishops, priests and deacons; but, my Lord, you have been acting lately as if this were all untrue, and as if you thought that the Church of England was not a Catholic Church but a Protestant sect, and that she had no such ministers as bishops, priests and deacons.

Your Lordship may ask, How have I done this? I will tell you. In the Synod last year I heard a cleric stand ing by your chair openly declare that he had never taught and never would the doctrine of Apostolical Succession, because he did not believe it, and yet you have taken no steps against him, and so I suppose that your Lordship must think that he is right, and that there is no such order as Bishop. Again, some time ago the Rev. W. A. Johnston, of Weston, was represented to your Lordship because that he did on Christmas Day place himself in the position of a priest, and that he professed to be a priest; that he did certain priestly acts, and that he did preach against Protestantism and uphold Catholicism, and that you gladly received this charge and at once appointed a commission to enquire whether the charges were true. Now as Mr. Johnston had been ordained priest by the imposition of apostolic hands (see form of ordaining Priests in the Prayer-book), and as he professed to be what the Bishop made him (a priest), and as he had done many priestly acts, of course the commission reported that the charges were true.

Now before going farther it would be well to ask who was it that caused these charges to be made against the Rev. Mr. Johnston? I answer, the same man who in Synod proclaimed his disbelief in the doctrine of Apostolic Succession, and the result is that you have withdrawn Mr. Johnston's license, again causing me many doubts and much trouble.

As I may have misunderstood your Lordship, you would greatly relieve my mind if you would answer the following simple questions:—

When I say I believe in the Holy Catholic Church, am I to understand that that is the Holy Church which contains the whole number of the baptized, the mystical body of Christ, which was founded by the Apostles, and is continued in existence by the perpetuation of an episcopal ministry; which holds the truth; which is divided into separate bodies, all having their own bishops, and yet one by being united to Christ her head; or am I to understand this to mean the numberless Protestant sects?

If the former of these definitions how can you condemn Mr. Johnson for upholding Catholicism and preaching against Protestantism?

And am I to understand that by you withdrawing Mr. Johnston's license, because he professed to be a priest, that you wish me to disbelieve in the order of the priesthood? Pray tell me my Lord is he a priest or not.

When the Bishop laid his hands on Mr. Johnstons head, and said to him, "Receive the Holy Ghost for the office of a priest," was he only acting a sham?
